Ravachol's Startling Joke.

PARIS, April 10.—The trial of Ravachol has been fixed for April 25. M. Beaurepaire, the Public Prosecutor, will personally conduct the prosecution. At the examination yesterday, Ravachol played a startling joke on the large crowd in the court room. During the proceedings he suddenly produced an article of cylindrical shape which had the appearance of a dynamite cartridge. The prisoner pretended that it was an infernal machine, and said that he was tired of life and was about to blow himself and all the other persons in the building to pieces, making at the same time a motion as if to hurl the object in the midst of the frightened crowd. Instantly there was a rush for the door by the greatly alarmed spectators, and the judge and the clerk of the court fled from the room in terror. The frightened officials would not return until they were assured that there was no danger. The article which Ravachol had in his possession proved to be, not a dynamite cartridge, but a banana.

Wants His Gifts Back.

OTTAWA, April 11.—An exceptional case was heard before Magistrate O'Gara Saturday. Mrs. Marcelline St. Germains of 89½ Church-street was married three years ago by Rev. J. O. Routhier to Nee Valiquette, a foreman for Mr. Edward Moore. Valiquette discovered later on that she had been married before and that his first husband was still living. He thereupon left her and began proceedings to recover his gifts to her, including among others a valuable gold watch. Adjourned till Tuesday.

An Engineer Killed.

INTERNATIONAL BRIDGE, Ont., April 11.—While a freight train was leaving Black Rock for Fort Erie, James Murray, a G.T.R. engineer, attempted to board it, but missed his hold and fell on the track before the cars and was killed. He was married and leaves a widow and three children. He was a member of I.O.O.F. No. 228.

Montreal's City Clerk Dead.

MONTREAL, April 11.—Charles Glackmeyer, City Clerk of Montreal and the oldest employe in the service of the city, passed away Saturday evening at the age of 72. The deceased was in the service of the city for a period of nearly 50 years. He entered the service in 1847 as Assistant City Clerk and was promoted to be City Clerk in 1859.

A RARE POEM.

It Was Written by a Poet Who Has Since Won Fame.

In the house of a gentleman in this city, says the Kokomo, Ind., Dispatch, we saw a poem written on the fly leaf of an old book. Noticing the initials "E. A. P." at the bottom, it struck us that possibly we had run across a bonanza.

The owner of the book said that he did not know who was the author of the poem. His grandfather, who gave him the book, kept an inn in Chesterfield, near Richmond, Va. One night a young man who showed plainly the marks of dissipation rapped at the door, asked if he could stay all night and was shown to a room.

That was the last they saw of him. When they went next morning to call him to breakfast, he had gone, but had left the book, on the fly leaf of which he had written these verses:

LEONAINE.

Leonanie—Angels named her
And they took the light
Of the laughing stars, and framed her
In suite of white
And they made her hair of gloomy
Midnight, and her eyes of glowing Moonshine, and they brought her to me
In the silent night.

In a solemn night of summer
When my heart of gloom
Blossomed up to greet the comer
Like a rose in bloom;
All forebodings that distressed me
I forgot as joy caressed me,
Lying joy that caught and pressed me
In the arms of doom.

Only spake the little lisper
In the angel's tongue,
Yet I, listening, heard her whisper:
"Songs are only sung
Here below, that they may grieve you—
Tales are told you to deceive you—
So must Leonanie leave you
While her love is young."

Then God smiled, and it was morning
Matchless and supreme,
Heaven's glory seemed adorning
Earth with its esteem;
Every heart but mine seemed gifted
With the voice of prayer, and lifted
Where my Leonanie drifted
From me like a dream.

Y.M.C.A. Notes.

On Saturday night the young men's rally was well attended, and being a praise, prayer and promise meeting a large number participated in this helpful service. The orchestra led the singing admirably. The after meeting was a time of refreshing.

The Bible study and consecration service on Sabbath morning was led by Mr. R. M. Russell. All present received a personal blessing and power for service.

Mr. Isaac Richardson's address at the personal purity meeting yesterday afternoon was thoughtful and helpful to the large number of young men present. The Y.M.C.A. band led the singing with profit to all.

Last night the hall was crowded at the gospel and song service. Mr. F. C. Stephenson, president of Albert College Y.M.C.A., gave a short, bright and earnest address which was very profitable. Pointed, brief testimonies and prayers, interspersed with sacred song, made the service a time of blessing and helpfulness.

Nailless Horse Shoes.

The tests that have been made by a street car company of Paris, of a new form of nailless horse shoe, have been so successful that the company has decided to employ this shoe exclusively in the future. The new shoe is made of Bessemer steel, and in appearance is similar to the ordinary iron shoe, except that it has a bent lever that attaches itself half way up the rear of the hoof without in any way compressing it. A clamp encloses the hoof, parting the two heels of the shoe, and is supported on the top of the lever, which wholly sustains it and thereby prevents compression of any part of the hoof. The shoe is also fitted with three small interior clamps, which penetrate the horn of the hoof, and prevent displacement of the shoe without the preliminary raising of the clamps. A number of private firms in Paris have also tested the shoe with success. It is considered by many that this form of shoe will sooner or later revolutionize the farrier's industry.

Photography's Latest Triumph.

News comes from Germany that a photographic apparatus has been constructed by the use of which the interior of certain parts of the body of men and the animals may be reproduced.

It consists of a small cylindrical camera placed in the interior of a rubber tube, the whole being inclosed in a case containing two hemispherical shutters. Before the lens are placed two small incandescent lamps. A battery for the lamps and a rubber bulb to open the shutters completes the apparatus.

A simple pressure of the bulb pushes the camera forward in its cylindrical case; at the same time the current is turned on the lamps and the shutters are opened.

As soon as the pressure ceases the camera returns to its place, the lamps are extinguished and the shutters closed. Experiments seemed to give satisfactory results.

Latest Medical Discovery.

An antidote for poisonous snake bites is reported as the latest discovery of medical science. The discovery is credited to Albert Calmette, a surgeon in the French Navy and a director in the Pasteur Institute at Saigon.

The antidote is a liquid having for a base a salt of gold. Subcutaneous injection of the preparation, it is declared, not only destroys the effect of a snake bite, but makes a man snake-bite proof for life.

Highest Electric Lighting Station.

What is believed to be the highest electric central station in the world is located at Pontresina, in the Swiss Alps, the altitude being 6,000 feet above the sea level. The inhabitants of this sequestered nook formed a co-operative society and introduced a dynamo, operated by the water falls near the place, which have a fall of 430 feet. Each lowly shepherd's hut is now supplied with electric light and power.

The Wedding Ring.

How many women who fondly love the golden symbol of their wedding vow know why they wear it on the third finger of the left hand? That particular digit was chosen because it was believed by the Egyptians to be directly connected by a slender nerve to the heart itself. And these ancient worshippers of Isis held this finger sacred to Apollo and the sun, and therefore gold was the metal chosen for the ring.

Ribbons Everywhere.

Wherever a piece of ribbon can possibly be used one is sure to find it. Many of the street as well as evening dresses have trimmings of ribbon. The ribbon ruching around the bottom of dresses is constantly gaining in favor. Mother-of-pearl ribbon is the very latest. This is most effetcive and comes in all the delicate shades. Double-faced satin ribbon is much used for sashes. The moire and watered ribbons are also popular.

The "Senorita" Bodice.

The "Senorita bodice" is decidedly popular in Paris. The jacket is of dark heliotrope velvet, trimmed with three rows of iridescent galon. The loose vest is of pinkish mauve crepon silk, the neckband, sash and jabot being of the same material. Full sleeves are shirred to the elbow with an artistic over drapery, and the deep cuff is of dark heliotrope velvet. Falling over the hand is a deep lace frill.

THE CANADA LIFE ASSURANCE CO'Y.

Forty-Fifth Annual Meeting of the Great Institution.

Remarkable Record for the Past Year—The Annual Report—Election of Directors.

The 45th annual meeting of the greatest of Canadian insurance institutions, the Canada Life Assurance Company, was held to-day in the board room of the Company's head office in Hamilton. There were present a gathering of the representative men of Canada, men whose names are known all over the country for solidity and business ability, with Mr. G. A. Ramsay, president of the company, presiding over the deliberations. The meeting was a most harmonious and eminently satisfactory one.

Mr. Ramsay took the chair shortly after 12 o'clock, with Mr. Roland Hills as secretary of the meeting.

President Ramsay submitted the following:

REPORT BY THE BOARD OF DIRECTORS OF THE CANADA LIFE ASSURANCE COMPANY, SUBMITTED TO THE ANNUAL GENERAL MEETING OF SHAREHOLDERS, HELD AT HAMILTON ON THE 5TH OF APRIL, 1892:

The business of 1891, being the company's 45th year, was again highly favourable. The new assurances applied for were 2,507 in number, and $5,929,088 in amount. Of these, 136 for $259,500 were declined, the lives not appearing to reach that standard of eligibility which it is in the best interest of our assurers should be maintained. Of the balance of $5,669,588, upon 2,871 lives, which were accepted by the directors, 204 for $414,562 were not carried out, leaving the actual new assurances of the year $5,255,021 under 2,167 policies, with a new annual income premium of $174,191.06.

At 31st December last there were in force $56,218,318.03 of assurances and bonus additions, upon 19,563 lives, under 26,484 policies.

The statement of receipts and payments, and the abstract of assets and liabilities, herewith submitted, show that the income of the year was $2,213,096.27, and that the assets amounted to $12,074,124 87, having being increased during the year by $1,041.684 78.

The death claims for the year were upon 192 lives under 243 policies for $511,879.11, including profits, a sum considerably under that of the previous year, 1890, when the amount was a good deal affected by the epidemic of la grippe which then prevailed, and its results.

The business at the various branches has been generally well sustained, and having last year alluded to anticipations of successful progress at the Michigan branch, it may be mentioned that these have been largely realized.

In compliance with the company's charter the following directors retire by rotation, but are eligible for re-election: The Hon. Sir Alexander Campbell, K. C. M. G., Toronto; Andrew Allan, Esq., Montreal, and Thomas Swinyard, Esq., New York State.

PRESIDENT RAMSAY'S REMARKS.

Mr. A. G. Ramsay moved the adoption of the annual report. In so doing he reviewed carefully and ably, the business of the year." He said:—

I beg to move the adoption of the directors report now before you, and although the statements which it, and the published accounts, which have been in your hands for some days, so clearly indicate the success of the past year's business, and the sound position of the company, that I need take up but little of the time of this annual meeting in adverting to them, it may be interesting. I dare say, that I draw your attention shortly to some of the features which these documents disclose. The new business of the past year amounted, you will see to $5,255,021, a sum so nearly approaching the best year we have ever had that I think we may well congratulate you upon it. It has happily been our good fortune each year for so long to be able to make a somewhat similar statement that I fear it may appear a somewhat monotonous one, for which, however, I need offer no apology. You will have noticed that the total assurances in force at the close of 1891 were $56,218,318, an amount which suggests a very large measure of public support and confidence in the company. The income continues to largely increase, and it amounted last year to $2,213,096, more than twice as much as it was ten years ago, and nearly seven times what it was twenty years ago. With the possibility of a corresponding progress in the future we may well be encouraged to continue that caution and care in the direction and in the management of the company's affairs, which in the past have made the Canada Life's name synonymous with that of integrity, liberality and stability. The large addition of over $1,000,000 was added to the company's assets last year, making them $12,074,12[illegible], or about twice what they were only seven years ago. While difficulty in obtaining satisfactory investments as they were wanted was experienced during the year, every effort and the best judgment of the board were exercised so as to make that difficulty as little felt as possible.

As you are well aware, there has of late years been a gradual reduction in the rate of interest obtainable on the best class of securities, and while our Company is of course affected by that, in common with all others, every exertion is made to diminish as far as we can any loss in that way.

The death claims during 1891 were $511,873, being a lower amount than they had been in 1890, when, largely by the grippe epidemic, they reached $603,184.

The statment of receipts and payments shows that during 1891, $316,370 was paid to policy-holders as profits, a return of nearly 20 per cent. of the year's premiums paid to the Company, a percentage of profits on premiums paid so rarely reached by other companies as to lead us to press upon intending assurers the advantages which our Company offers in that respect. In alluding to that I am very glad indeed to have the opportunity of saying that by the courtesy of the Superintendent of Insurance we were yesterday favoured with the result of the Government's quinquennial valuation of our Company's affairs. It shows that over and above the full reserve we are required by the Government of Canada to hold, and all liabilities, we have on hand a large profit surplus such as indicates no diminution in the Company's profit-making powers. You have been informed by the Director's Report of the generally favourable progress of the Company's various branches, and the efforts of our Managers and Agents are well deserving of our thanks and encouragement. Special allusion has been made to the branch established by the Company, in Michigan in 1890. Because it being somewhat of an experiment, you would naturally desire to hear specially as to it. I am very pleased to be able to say that the progress of the branch is so satisfactory as to have last year placed the Company in the fourteenth position, in point of new assurances, out of 32 companies doing business in the State. For a great deal of our success in Michigan, we are indebted to the support of the prominent and influential gentlemen who have been good enough to aid us by acting upon our Board of Reference. I am glad to tell you that we have entered upon the year 1892 with the most encouraging prospects. The new business up to the present date far exceeds that of any previous year, and I trust that at our next meeting we may be able to again record a continuance of such prosperity as has already been so satisfactory to you and to our various policy-holders.

VICE PRESIDENT GATES' REMARKS.

Mr. F. W. Gates, Vice-President of the Company, seconded the adoption of the report. In doing so he said:—

Mr. Chairman and gentlemen.—When it is borne in mind that there has been no perceptible improvement in business generally throughout the country during the past year, I think we must be compelled to admit that the statement which has been presented to-day ought to be considered highly satisfactory. It is true that the company might have done a much larger amount of business than has been done if we had been less scrupulously careful in the acceptance of risks which have been applied for. As the report shows, and as the president has pointed out, many applications have been rejected. We have exercised the greatest care in this matter in order that the company and the insured alike might be fully protected. We did not indulge in the extravagances which some companies have in order to increase our business, but have rather followed a policy of careful management in the interest of the company. I well remember some years ago that the president in his address referred with a good deal of pleasure to the fact that we had an income of $1,000 a day; now it is $7,000 a day, and it was easy then to invest $1,000 a day. It is not so easy to invest $7,000 now, even with the lower rate of interest, I may again refer to the remarkably small losses, and again congratulate the company upon that state of affairs. I have much pleasure, gentlemen, in seconding the motion for the adoption of he report.

President Ramsay put the motion, which was carried unanimously.

THANKS TO PRESIDENT AND DIRECTORS.

Mr. Byron E. Walker moved a vote of thanks to the President and Directors for their attention to the interests of the company during the year.

In offering the motion Mr. Walker said:—It gives me very great pleasure indeed to propose the thanks of the shareholders to our President and Directors. Reference has been made to the growth and success of the Canada Life in the past, and I consider that they are largely due to the excellent management. The big companies in the United States are beginning to realize that it may be possible to do too much business, but I am sure that if the policy which has been pursued by the Canada Life in the past is adhered to, another ten years of our career will show corresponding prosperity. I hope that our President may long be spared to direct the affairs of the company, and that he may have the advice and co-operation of such men as now constitute the directorate.

Mr. Henry McLaren—Mr. President and gentlemen, I have very much pleasure in seconding the motion.

The motion was put and carried unanimously, amid applause.

President Ramsay replied:—I expect that I shall have to reply to the motion you have just passed. I thank you very much indeed for the resolution and for the kind expressions made use of. I believe I can confidently say that every one of the Directors has done all that was in his power to further the interests of the company.

THREE DIRECTORS ELECTED.

The Hon. Mr. Justice Burton moved the appointment of Messrs. W. F. Findlay and Campbell Farrie as scrutineers of votes for the election of Directors in the room of the three retiring, and that the poll shall now be opened, and closed upon five minutes elapsing without a vote being tendered.

Mr. Matthew Leggat seconded the motion, which was carried.

The voting took a good deal of time, and while the ballots were being counted other business was proceeded with. The election resulted in the choice of Hon. Sir Alexander Campbell, K.C. M. G., of Toronto, Mr. Andrew Allan, of Montreal, and Mr. Geo. A. Cox, of Toronto. The last named gentlemen will take the place of Mr. Thomas Swinyard on the Board, the other two gentlemen being re-elected.

FOR MEDICAL PURPOSES BY THE

DORENWEND ELECTRIC BELT

And Attachments.

HEAD OFFICE—168 Yonge St., Toronto

THE WORLD'S BEST.

ALL diseases curable by Electricity can be treated at home by the Dorenwend Appliance. The Dorenwend is the only legitimate Electric Belt made which fulfils the requirements of Electro-medical science. It is a complete BODY BATTERY. It has an independent Battery, which generates a mild, continuous current of Electricity (without shocks) and can be regulated to suit the strongest man or the weakest child. It is a CURRENT OF QUANTITY, not merely a concentrated current, and the quantity current is the greatest curative. It is a successful treatment for INDIGESTION, RHEUMATISM, NEURALGIA, SCIATICA, LUMBAGO, LIVER AND KIDNEY TROUBLES, WEAK BACK, SPINAL DISEASE, HEART DISEASE, NERVOUS DEBILITY, PARALYSIS, VERTIGO, FEMALE COMPLAINTS, IMPOTENCE, SEXUAL DECLINE and all diseases of the Nervous and Muscular Systems.

Remember that the DORENWEND BELT is the very latest invention in this line, and was invented by a competent electrician, and makes us the best in the world; we defy anyone to bring proof to the contrary.

Do not class this Belt with the humbug combinations of leather and metal with which the country is being flooded. If you wish to experiment with cheap articles, buy them but, if you want to become a genuine Electric Belt and one that will be a benefit get a Dorenwend Belt.

"German Syrup"

Martinsville, N.J., Methodist Parsonage. "My acquaintance with your remedy, Boschee's German Syrup, was made about fourteen years ago, when I contracted a Cold which resulted in a Hoarseness and a Cough which disabled me from filling my pulpit for a number of Sabbaths. After trying a Physician, without obtaining relief—I cannot say now what remedy he prescribed—I saw the advertisement of your remedy and obtained a bottle. I received such quick and permanent help from it that whenever we have had Throat or Bronchial troubles since in our family, Boschee's German Syrup has been our favorite remedy and always with favorable results. I have never hesitated to report my experience of its use to others when I have found them troubled in like manner." REV. W. H. HAGGARTY, of the Newark, New Jersey, M.E. Conference, April 25, '90.

Burdock BLOOD BITTERS

CURES DYSPEPSIA

By acting upon the liver, stomach and bowels and purifying the blood, it removes every particle of the foul, impure or morbid matters which obstruct the proper working of the digestive organs and cause dyspepsia. This explains why B.B.B. succeeds in curing even the most obstinate cases.

Burdock BLOOD BITTERS

CURES CONSTIPATION

By regulating the bowels and removing all foul accumulations, it promptly and permanently cures this disease no matter of how long standing the case may be. B.B.B. acts in a natural, thorough and pleasant manner, never causing nausea or griping.

Burdock BLOOD BITTERS

CURES BILIOUSNESS

By regulating and toning the liver and removing excess of bile, this distressing disease, which is the frequent cause of sick headache, dizziness, etc., is cured without fail. No remedy has ever performed so many permanent cures in the same space of time as has B.B.B.

Burdock BLOOD BITTERS

CURES SCROFULA.

This scourge of humanity arises chiefly from bad blood, for which B.B.B. has proved itself the most successful remedy of modern times. It completely frees the blood of every impurity, from a common pimple to the worst scrofulous sore. Pimples, blotches, boils, rashes, eruptions, sores, etc., vanish at once before the wonderful purifying powers of B.B.B.

Coffee as a Disinfectant—A Simple and Inexpensive Means of Purifying the Air—Electricity from Niagara—To Tell How Fast a Steamer Goes.

Lady M. L. W. writes extolling the virtues of coffee as a disinfectant. She says: "I feel sure you will be ready to make known through your columns the use of coffee as an excellent disinfectant. A physican ordered its use many years ago, and I have four times over proved its efficacy in serious cases of measles, which so treated, never extended beyond the one patient. I also used it with great advantage during the influenza epidemic of the last two years, and I firmly believe it prevents the extension of infection, by changing and purifying the air with stimulating aromatic smell, which lasts some time, and which nothing can escape. Two or three red-hot cinders in a dustpan sprinkled over with, say, a quarter of a teaspoonful of ground coffee at a time, not enough to flame, but simply make a good smoke, not more than three or four teaspoonfuls in all, will in five minutes, if used, say, at the bottom of a staircase, the room doors being previously opened, pervade the whole house. Gently shaking the dustpan promotes the volume of smoke. Two servants do this regularly morning and evening, with very little trouble and trifling expense. In infectious illness, such as I have alluded to, coffee is also burned on landing outside the invalid's room. I hope this simple suggestion may become widely known and largely adopted."

ELECTRICITY FROM NIAGARA.

Transmission of Power to Distant Points Not Profitable.

In discussing the probable use of the power that will be obtained from Niagara Falls, a writer in the Electrical World declares that it is not at all probable that power will be electrically transmitted to Chicago, as suggested, or to any other distant points. While such transmission is entirely feasible from an electrical point of view, the cost and waste of such a plan would render it a profitless undertaking.

Supposing the pressure at the secondary of the Niagara Falls transformer to be 50,000 volts, and allowing a loss on line of 20 per cent. due to resistance and a loss at the Chicago transformer of 10 per cent., and leaving loss by leakage out of the calculation, it is found that a copper wire about one-third of an inch in diameter would be required to deliver 1000 net horse power to the motor at the Fair. The weight of this wire would be about 1,250 tons for a synchronous motor.

Should the power of Niagara Falls be utilized, as is promised, and if it be sold at a reasonable rate, Buffalo bids fair to become the electrical city. It is not 25 miles from the Falls and electrical energy in 1000 horse power, units (providing a potential of 50,000 volts were used), could be carried into the heart of the city with a loss of ten per cent. on the Buffalo transformer and but two per cent. loss on the line with a No. 4 copper wire weighing about 15 tons.

A Different View.

It is a noticeable fact that just as soon as a man begins to improve his herd he also begins to improve his surroundings, gets out of the old ruts all along the line, begins to read agricultural literature, makes a closer study of nature, takes a different view of farm life as he sees its great possibilities opening before him; in fact, he has a new aim in life. If we can only get our young men and farmers' boys interested in the improvement of our domestic animals and recognize the vast opportunity for both wealth and honor which lie before them in this branch of industry we will soon cease to hear so much talk about our young men leaving the farm.

Eyes and Ears

have we that we may see and hear; brains, that we may reason and understand: so there's little excuse for much of the suffering that is tolerated. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is fast becoming the one recognized remedy for all diseases resulting from thin, impure and impoverished blood

Indigestion and dyspepsia, scrofulous affections, liver and kidney diseases, sores and swellings, catarrh and consumption, are blood affections. With purified, enriched and vitalized blood, they flee as darkness before the light! Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is the only guaranteed blood-purifier and liver invigorator. Sold on trial! Money promptly returned, if it doesn't benefit or cure.

Cure For Dyspepsia.

As is well known, this troublesome complaint arises from over-eating, the use of too much rich food, neglected constipation, lack of exercise, bad air, etc. The food should be thoroughly chewed and never bolted or swallowed in haste, stimulants must be avoided and exercise taken if possible. A remedy which has rarely failed to give prompt relief and effect permanent cures, even in the most obstinate cases, is Burdock Blood Bitters. It acts by regulating and toning the digestive organs, removing costiveness and increasing the appetite and restoring health and vigor to the system. As a case in point we quote from a letter written by Miss L. A. Kuhn, of Hamilton, Ont.:—"Two years ago life seemed a burden, I could not eat the simplest food without being in dreadful misery in my stomach, under my shoulders and across the back of my neck. Medical advice failed to procure relief and seeing B.B.B. advertised, I took two bottles of it, and have been entirely free from any symptoms of my complaint since."

This gives very conclusive proof of the efficiency of this wonderful remedy. dw

As a blood purifier the Indigenous Bitters holds the first rank amongst medicines of any price or country, recommended for this purpose. These Bitters are sold at 25cts. package. 1d

Women with pale, colorless faces, who feel discouraged, will receive both mental and bodily vigor by using Carter's Iron Pills, which are made for the blood, nerves and complexion. dw

A Pleasant Herb Drink.

The best cure we know of for constipation and headache is the pleasant herb drink called Lane's Family Medicine. It is said to be Oregon grape root, combined with simple herbs, and is made for use by pouring boiling water onto the dried roots and herbs. It is remarkably efficacious in all blood disorders, and is now the sovereign remedy for ladies in clearing up the complexion. Druggists sell the packages at 50c and $1. dw

NEURALGIA.—MRS. JOHN McLEAN, Barrie Island, Ont., March 4, 1889, says: "I suffered severely with neuralgia for nine years and have been greatly benefited by the use of St. Jacobs Oil."

Keep the Works in good order.

NORMAN, Ont., January 15, 1890.
W. H. COMSTOCK, Brockville, Ont.
DEAR SIR,—Your "Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills" are the best regulator for the system that humanity can use. Life is as the time-piece: frail and delicate are many of its works. A tiny particle of foreign substance adheres to the smallest wheel in the works, and what is the result?—at first only a slight difference is perceptible in its time-keeping, but wait you; as the obstruction grows, the irregularity becomes greater, until at last, what could have been rectified with little trouble, in the beginning, will now require much care in thoroughly cleansing the entire works. So it is in human life—a slight derangement is neglected, it grows and increases, imperceptibly at first, then rapidly, until what could, in the beginning, have been cured with little trouble, becomes almost fatal. To prevent this, I advise all to purify the system frequently, by the use of Morse's Pills, and so preserve vigor and vitality.
Yours faithfully,
H. F. ATWELL.

Science & Progress

In all the large buildings and factories where buckets of water are kept in convenient places for use in case of fire the difficulty has been to keep the water from evaporating. The buckets should be examined regularly, but in practice the men having this work in charge become careless and the buckets are frequently found to be nearly empty in time of need. The plan of putting oil on top of the water is not to be encouraged.

STACK OF BUCKETS.

The London Engineering describes a new method of keeping the buckets, which is shown in the illustration. As will be seen the buckets rest in a tank which holds sufficient water to fill them all. This tank is covered with a heavy lid, the joint being made by felt, which effectually filters any air that runs through it; the water cannot, therefore, become dirty, while its evaporation is checked. The handles of the buckets have projecting ends, which slide between two guides, a lug being provided at each end of the handle, which fits into recesses in the guides and prevents a bucket being drawn out by the suction of the bucket above it. Taking hold of the handle to lift a bucket turns the lugs clear of the recesses into which they fit and the bucket can then be raised.

Metallic Glass, Now.

A Dresden, Germany, firm is introducing a compound of glass and wire, which possesses remarkable resisting power to sudden changes of temperature. The process of manufacture consists of furnishing glass, while in a hot plastic condition, with a flexible metallic layer, like wire netting, the metal becoming completely imbedded in the glass, and thereby being effectively protected from rust. As a proof of the toughness of the compound, it is said that the glass may be sprinkled with cold water while it is in a highly heated state, without the surface being materially damaged.

The glass made by this process is especially adapted for skylights, the powerful resisting qualities of the material rendering the use of the ordinary wire protectors unnecessary. It has also been successfully employed for the manufacture of hollow glassware, and is particularly suitable for making glass vessels which have to stand a high pressure or which are subject to hard usage. As the glass cannot be broken without causing considerable noise, and as it is not readily cut with a diamond, it is claimed that the substance is in a measure burglar proof.

Decorations for Women.

Prussia has several decorations for women. The oldest is the Order of the Swan, founded in 1440, allowed to lapse during the Reformation, and revived in 1843. The Order of Louise, named after Prussia's most beautiful Queen, was founded in 1814 by Frederick William III. Its decoration of the first class is given to women for meritorious service of nursing the wounded in war; of the second class, to women distinguished for philanthropic work generally. The Cross of Merit was instituted by Emperor William I. on his fiftieth birthday, "as a recognition of the grand self-sacrifice which the women of Germany showed for the soldiers in the last war." Special medals for women also were struck in 1807-14 and 1870-71.

Spring, with its rapid changes and wet weather, is the most trying season in our Canadian climate, and at this more than at any other time do the ravages of catarrh make themselves felt. As an immediate relief for cold in the head, and a thorough cure for catarrh, nothing yet discovered equals Nasal Balm. It is easy to use, pleasant and agreeable. Sold by all dealers or sent post-paid on receipt of price—50c. for small bottles or $1 for large bottle. G. T. Fulford & Co., Brockville.

Do not give up until you have tried Miller's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil, which makes flesh and blood, is a positive cure for coughs and colds, bronchitis, sore throats, and all lung troubles tending to consumption. THE DARK BLUES WIN

OXFORD AGAIN DEFEATS THE CAMBRIDGE CREW.

For the Twenty-sixth Time Since the Inauguration of the Oxford-Cambridge Boat Race the Former Won An Exciting Race and a Close Finish.

LONDON, April 11.—Oxford won the 'Varsity boat race Saturday, defeating Cambridge by one and one-half lengths.

Particulars of the Race.

For the twenty-sixth time since the inauguration of the Oxford-Cambridge boat race the crew of the Oxford University Boat Club have passed the winning line ahead of their opponenents. The dark blue of Oxford was again carried to victory to-day by the strong arms of its wearers, and thundering cheers greeted the oarsmen as they rested on their oars after their well-fought battle for supremacy.

The day was an excellent one for the oarsmen. The summer weather that has prevailed for the past week continued to-day and the banks of the Thames were packed with enormous crowds of people. Such a gathering as was present to-day has never been equaled in previous years, and the utmost enthusiasm prevailed among the supporters of the two clubs.

The dark blue of Oxford and the light blue of Cambridge could be seen in every direction. Old graduates wore the colors of their university, while sisters and other collegians showed their loyalty by decorating their handsome costumes with the colors of their favorites.

The crowd began to assemble at 9 o'clock, the early comers seeking the best points of vantage from which to view the contest; the wind, what there was of it, which was very little, was from the southwest.

Taken at the Flood.

The water was perfectly smooth and all in all the conditions for racing were perfect. The tide was in the flood.

Before the time for the race great crowds besieged the boat houses to get a glimpse of the crews. At noon, the time fixed for the race, the oarsmen appeared and this was the signal for thundering cheers that swept up and down the river again and again. Those about the starting point, though they could see nothing of the proceedings, eagerly gazed in the direction of the officials as the coin was tossed for choice of position.

Oxford Wins the Toss.

Oxford won the toss, and when this was known it was taken up by the supporters of that crew as a happy agency of victory. Oxford chose the Middlesex side of the river, where, if there was any advantage to be derived from the flood tide they would get it.

The crews took their positions at the starting point just above the aquaduct adjoining Putney bridge, and at exactly 12.05 the starting signal was given.

Oxford took the water first and their boat jumped to the front. Cambridge was quick to follow and then the struggle began with the perfect motion of a machine. The oars flashed in and out of the water but strain and struggle as they would Cambridge could not close the gap between themselves and Oxford.

Those on the shore were wild with excitement and yelled encouraging words to their favorites. But their cheers and cries fell on deaf ears. Bending to their oars Oxford crew saw nothing but their opponents behind them and the muscles of their arms and backs rose and fell as the steady stroke that kept them ahead was continued without a flaw.

At Hammersmith Bridge.

When Hammersmith bridge, one mile and six furlongs from the start, was reached, Oxford was still in front. There was barely any change in the relative position of the boats when the lead mills, one mile and seven furlongs from the start, were passed, Oxford was then a quarter of a length in front. Both crews were pulling at the rate of 36 strokes to the minute Cambridge was pulling steadily, but their strokes did not seem to have the power of their opponents and they dropped slowly but surely behind at Chiswick Mill.

About two miles and a half from the start Oxford had increased their lead and when Thornby Croft's works, a little distance further on, were reached they were two lengths in front.

This lead they maintained to the Devonshire Meadows, just beyond Thornby Croft's works, when, though pulling no faster, more strength seemed to be put in their strokes and their boat forged further ahead At Baine's bridge, about three miles and five furlongs from the start, they wore 2 1-4 lengths in the lead.

After passing Barnes bridge Cambridge spurted and gained a little on Oxford, but the latter bent sternly to their oars, and pulling a powerful, telling stroke fairly lifted their boat out of the water.

Past the osier beds, four miles from the start, the boats spun out, with the advantages all on the side of Oxford. Cambridge, however, did not lose heart in the least and did their utmost to close up the gap. Their efforts were fruitless, however, and they dropped astern amid an uproar that was deafening.

Crossing the Line.

Oxford crossed the line at the old ship inn a good winner. It was at first announced that they had won by a length and a half, but the officials announcement of the judges put the distance at two lengths and a quarter. Oxford's time was 19 mins. 21 secs.

The time is the best ever made over the present course. The best previous time was 20 mins. 5 secs., made by the Cambridge crew when they won in 1873 by three quarters of a length. The crews were as follows:

NICKEL-STEEL ARMOR.

Nickel Steel Armor is Applied to a War Ship for the First Time.

WASHINGTON, April 11.—A telegram from San Francisco Saturday stated that the first armor plate of American manufacture has just been fitted and secured in place on the water line belt of the coast defence ship Monterey. It was a plate of nickel steel, weighing 40,000 pounds, 13 inches thick. The last lot of armor for the Monterey is now on its way across the continent.

CAPTAIN AIRD DEAD.

The Commander of the Sarmatian Found Drowned—A Paralytic Stroke Suspected.

MONTREAL, April 11.—Captain Alexander D. Aird, well-known as the commander of the Allan liner Sarmatian, was found drowned near Cowanville, Quebec, Saturday, to which place they had retired. It is conjectured that he was seized with a paralytic stroke, and, losing the use of his limbs fell into the river. The Princess Louise and the Marquis of Lorne came to Canada on his ship, the Sarmatian, which the Princess also chose in her trips to and from England during her residence in Canada.

Had Never Been Ill.

OTTAWA, April 11. P. M. Merin of 179 St. Andrew-street died under very peculiar circumstances Saturday morning. The old gentleman, who had reached his 99th year, arose in his usual good spirits about 6 o'clock and sat down to smoke his pipe. Half an hour later he called his wife and son to where he was seated, and in a clear voice he bid them good-by forever, saying at the same time that he felt his soul was departing to eternity. A moment later he expired as if in a sleep. Deceased was possessed of a strong constitution. Throughout his long existence he was never troubled with any illness. Up to the time of his death he was in comparatively good spirits. He came to this part of Canada 60 years ago.

What Caused a Riot.

DELPHI, April 11.—Great excitement has been caused among the lower classes here by rumors circulated by religious fanatics that the Government had appointed secret agents to kidnap seven boys who were to be offered as a sacrifice to the water deity upon the site of the projected reservoir. The matter was discussed among the natives and the rumors were implicitly believed. The indignation grew intense and a watch was set to discover who the agents were. A number of persons, including several Sikh soldiers, were suspected of being the government emissaries to steal the victims. Yesterday crowds of natives set upon the suspects and beat them in a most cruel manner. The excitement spread and the natives are in a dangerous state. The police are doing their utmost to allay the excitement. A large number of the ringleaders in the assault have been arrested.

Home Decorating

The days for house cleaning, tearing up, and putting down, are once more upon us. Those who intend to decorate this Spring should act intelligently in the purchase of Carpets, Lace Curtains, &c., &c.

Whoever you are—Carpet buyers of present or future—we want a chance to sell you.

We have no outrageous prices or profits.

Do you remember what you paid for Carpets last time you had occasion to buy any That was the time when Peterborough people had to pay too much for them. The Golden Lion, however, has worked quite a revolution in Carpet prices, by importing direct from the manufacturers—the same as the wholesale men do—and saving you the "middlemen's commissions." People don't have to go to Toronto now to buy Carpets.

A Carpet is an every day companion—you have to live with it. Our Stock is Large, our Styles are New and correct and are the best expression of artistic furnishings in this line, to be had at moderate cost.

And it is the same with our Lace Curtains and other Drapery Fabrics. Curtailing prices all the time and giving better values, is what is making our store such a busy one. Nothing sets off a room more than a pretty set of Curtains; but you must have just what will harmonize well.

That's why we ask you to shop with us.

Surplus of Over One Million Pounds—Tobacco Responsible for the Increase in the Customs Revenue—The Revenue Tax from Tea Satisfactory.

LONDON, April 12.—Rt. Hon. George J. Goschen, Chancellor of the Exchequer, presented the budget in the House of Commons yesterday.

Mr. Goschen said good fortune again permitted him to submit a budget showing a surplus of £1,067,000. This was largely due to the expanding departments, for it was not to any extent due to an expansion of the revenue. There had been times when he suffered great anxiety. During January and February the prospect was not bright, but during March it was better and this enabled him to submit a satisfactory result.

In the last budget the estimate of expenditure was £90,264,000. The actual expenditures were £98,928,000, leaving a surplus of £336,000. This was a remarkably small difference between the estimates and actual expenditures.

The total estimate of expenditures during the last three years was £264,000,000. The total difference in the expenditures was only £137,000. This statement was received with cheers.

Analyzing the revenue Mr. Goschen said that the customs produced £19,736,000, being £36,000 above the sum calculated upon. It was not alcohol that caused the increase this year, but tobacco. The revenue tax from tea was exceedingly satisfactory, yielding £34,000 over the estimate. Tobacco produced £9,953,000, being £418,000 above the previous year. All this, Mr. Goschen declared, proved that wages had not fallen and that there was still widely diffused prosperity among workingmen.

The exise revenue showed £543,000 over the estimate. The increase in the consumption of home spirits was greater in England than in Ireland or Scotland.

Mr. Goschen estimated the revenue for the current financial year at £90,477,000 and the expenditures at £90,253,000, leaving a small margin of £224,000 This will not allow of a remission of taxation, with the exception of a minor reduction in patent fees absorbing £50,000 and the fixing of the duty on sparkling wines from 2s 6d and 1s per gallon to a uniform rate of 2s.

Mr. Goschen said he held himself responsible for the prudence of the estimate. The mighty river of national prosperity still remained broad, and he trusted the various water sheds of national wealth would continue the stream undiminished in volume. [Cheers.]

Mr. Goschen spoke for two hours. He announced the resignation of Mr. West, chairman of the Inland Revenue Board.

Mr. Gladstone suggested that the House follow the usual custom and avoid discussion of the budget until the day fixed for its mature consideration. He hoped the change of duty on sparkling wines, while benefiting some wine-producing countries, would not involve trouble on other countries. He eulogized the services of Mr. West.

The resolution concerning wines was passed.

Mr. Goschen fixed the general discussion of the budget for April 21.

WILL STICK TO ENGLAND.

Russia Would Make the Afghans Targets for British Bullets.

BOMBAY, April 12.—The Gazette publishes a translation of a State paper that The Ameer of Afghanistan has issued to the "Noble Chiefs of Afghanistan." The paper recites the events that led to the Penjdehin incident and the Ameer's reasons for preferring British to Russian friendship. The Ameer says Russia only wants Afghanistan as a high road to India and would place the Afghans in the van of her army as a special target for English cannons and rifles. The Russians would strip the Afghans of their arms and of food and would outrage and murder their women, because they must destroy the Afghans to obtain India. Therefore the Ameer declares the friendship between Russians and Afghans is next to impossible. Sheer Ali, who when Ameer of Afghanistan in 1878, became involved in a war with the British, was according to the present Ameer a fool and a madcap to bring such woe upon his people and ruin upon himself.

One of Prince Michael's Victims.

DETROIT, April 12.—Cordelia Clarke is at St. Mary's Hospital afflicted with insanity. Her home is at Madoc, near Belleville, Ont., which she left some months ago to come to Detroit, being cranky on religion. She naturally fell in with the Michaelites and took up her abode with Sister Belle. She appeared at the Poor Commissioner's office and applied for a ticket for Tonawanda, N.Y., saying she had a brother there to whom she wanted to go. As her mind seemed to be wandering she was sent to the hospital.

The Prince Again in Jail.

DETROIT, April 12.—Prince Michael (N. K. Mills) and his spiritual wife, Eliza Courts, were re-arrested and lodged in jail Monday, owing to the bail bonds furnished by the prophet not being deemed sufficient.

Will the Big Fight Come Off?

NEW YORK, April 12.—Late last night Charley Johnston announced that he had decided to put up the $2500 guarantee demanded by the Olympic Club for the appearance of the fighters in the club's arena on the day set for the fight. Johnston would not give his reason for his sudden change of mind, but it is said that he had information that Corbett was going to put up the amount required and he was afraid that if he made a fight on the question it might be construed in some quarters that the Sullivan party were looking for a loop-hole through which to avoid the meeting. The Sullivan party does not want to fight and will do all in its power to put off the match.

Bob Cook at Yale.

NEW HAVEN, Ct., April 12.—Robert J. Cook arrived in the city yesterday and the candidates for the crew were hustled off to the boathouse, where Mr. Cook boarded the launch. This is the first opportunity which Mr. Cook has had to see the crew row this year and the men who sat in the boat were: Stroke, Gallandet, '93; No. 7, Ives, '93; No. 6, Paine, '93; No. 5, Graves, '93; No. 4, Hartwell, M.S. (captain); No. 3, Van Huyck, '93 S.; No. 2, Ballistt, '93, and bow, Kinney, '93. The make-up was the same as that which has been rowing in the first boat for some time, save that Kinney was put in the place of Derby Rogers, '93, who has all along been rowing bow.

ONTARIO LEGISLATURE.

ANOTHER BUSY SESSION OF THE ONTARIO ASSEMBLY.

Many Important Acts Made Law—Insurance Legislation—Women as Lawyers—The Lord's Day Observance Act—Sunday Cars in Toronto.

TORONTO, April 12.—The Legislature met yesterday morning at 11 o'clock and passed Mr. Mowat's bill respecting the collecting of taxes in the districts of Muskoka and Parry Sound and Mr. Rose' bill to amend the act respecting elections of members of the Legislative Assembly.

Mr. Meacham moved for a return showing the number of bodies received by the Inspector of Anatomy during each of the past five years from charitable institutions, criminal institutions and all other sources in the province; showing also the number of persons dying from natural causes and at the hands of the executioner in each of the above named institutions during the same period, and the number of criminals who had been executed or who had died by natural causes after spending 10 years in prison. These returns will be brought down next session.

The House passed in committee Mr. Clarke's bill respecting sheriff's offices; Mr. Rayside's bill to amend the Timber Slide Companies' Act; Mr. Sharpe's bill to amend the act to encourage the destroying of wolves; Mr. Allan's bill to amend the act respecting dentistry; Mr. Biggar's bill to amend the act respecting wages; Mr. Guthrie's bill to amend the act respecting joint stock companies for supplying cities, towns and villages with gas and water; and Mr. Dack's bill to amend the acts respecting building societies.

Women As Lawyers.

When the House in committee took up Mr. Balfour's bill to provide for the admission of women to the study and practice of law, Mr. Meredith moved that the committee rise. He objected to the bill in its present form more than he did before. The House, he said, had no right to strive to shirk the responsibility off on the Law Society. If women were allowed to practice as solicitors the House had no right to forbid them to practice at the bar, and then they could with a good deal of force demand admission to the bench. He asked the Attorney-General if "may" in this case did not imply an obligation. Mr. Mowat answered that he was not sure that such was not the case. The bill passed the committee.

Mr. Merrith was much opposed to Mr. Awrey's bill to amend the act respecting the law of landlord and tenant. It provided that a landlord might seize the chattels of the tenant for one month's rent. The opposition raised against the bill was so strong that the time was finally changed to two months, after which it was made law on a vote of 39 to 29.

Insurance Legislation.

In the afternoon Mr. Gibson's bill respecting insurance corporations came up for third reading. Mr. Meredith was strongly opposed to the clause which prevented companies from offering rebates to induce the public to join. He held that it was very unfair, especially to new companies. It was an unwarranted interference with the private business of insurance companies. His amendment was lost on a straight party vote of 28 yeas and 47 nays.

Then Mr. Meredith moved that the bill be referred back to a committee of the whole House to strike out the clause providing for the registration of life insurance agents. This was lost on a vote of 30 yeas and 46 nays. Mr. Meredith's next amendment was that the bill be so changed as to allow of the registration of any friendly society incorporated by any colonial or foreign Government at the present time, provided that it has a membership of at least 250. This was lost by a vote of 39 to 47.

Mr. Kerns moved that the bill be referred back to committee of the whole to be amended so as to charge companies working under Dominion charter $25 for registration instead of $100. This was also lost by 29 to 48. Then the bill passed.

When Mr. Hardy's Assessment Amendment Act was up for third reading Mr. Clancy moved that the clause exempting farm lands in cities, towns or villages from taxation for waterworks, sidewalks, etc., be struck out. This was lost on a vote of 39 to 40.

Sunday Cars.

The bill to incorporate the Toronto Railway Company came up and seemed to be going through without any discussion or opposition, when Mr. Wood (Hastings) moved that the bill be not now read a third time, but be referred back to a Committee of the whole House, with instructions to add the following to the first section:

Provided that, notwithstanding anything in said schedule or in the Act contained, no car shall run on the Lord's Day, and further provided that nothing herein contained shall prevent the operation of any law which may hereafter be passed by this Legislature authorising the running of cars on said day.

This was passed.

Mr. Meredith moved in amendment that the company be not allowed to run cars on Sunday till permission be granted by the vote of the people, and then only in accordance with the Sabbath Observance Act.

Mr. Wood allowed this amendment to go instead of his own just passed.

Died of Apoplexy.

HAMILTON, April 12.—Yesterday morning, while the early service in St. Matthew's Church was in progress, Mrs. Clark, wife of Rev. C. R. Clark, assistant to Rev. C. E. Whitcombe, the rector, and second master in St. Matthew's Church School, died suddenly. She had had heart trouble and two strokes of apoplexy. The third and fatal visitation came at the hour indicated. Mrs. Clark came to this city from Toronto with her husband about two years ago. She was but 31 years old and leaves two children.

ALE IN THE PULPIT.

A Spirit of Woe in Place of a Spirit of Love.

BRANTFORD, April 12.—Saturday night Aylmer Smith broke into the cellar of Henry Johnston's Hotel and stole eight bottles of ale. He took them all and broke into the Oxford-street Methodist Church. Sunday morning at 10 o'clock when the church was opened for public service Aylmer was sitting in the pulpit with the ale spread out around him. He was ejected from the church and subsequently arrested.

At the Police Court yesterday Smith was sent up for 30 days for taking the ale.

NO MISSIONARIES TO CANADA.

The Latter Day Saints Report Adversely to the Proposal.

KANSAS CITY, April 12.—At yesterday's session of the international conference of the Church of Latter Day Saints the quorum of 12 reported adversely on the request of the Detroit branch that missionaries be sent to Canada. It also recommended that no appointments to the ministry be made of men who use tobacco contrary to the revelation of 1883.

DOMINION PARLIAMENT.

EXPORT DUTY ON LOGS NOT TO BE REIMPOSED.

After Debating Mr. Ives' Motion for Six Hours the Member for Sherbrooke Withdraws It—Hon. William Macdougall to be Made a Senator.

OTTAWA, April 12.—Yesterday was lumber day in the House, and although there was no log-rolling the talk was mostly about logs.

The member for Sherbrooke, Mr. Ives, began it by moving his long-standing resolution that an export duty should be imposed on sawlogs and spruce pulp wood, and from 4 o'clock until 11 we had the pros and cons of the wisdom or non-wisdom of the Government's action two years ago in removing the export duty on both pine and spruce logs in order to get the reduction of one dollar per thousand on pine lumber provided by the McKinley Bill.

At last Mr. Foster announced that although he sympathized with the spruce men the Government could not change its policy, and Mr. Ives then withdrew his motion.

There is a rumor afloat that the Hon. William Macdougall is shortly to be called to the Senate.

German Emigrants for Canada.

OTTAWA, April 12.—An Act to amend the Inland Revenue Act, of which Mr. Costigan gives notice, provides for the extension to the Northwest Territories of the operation of the Inland Revenue Act in consequence of the coming into force of the license law on May 1.

It also provides that bottlers shall place all bottles and flask labels plainly showing the name of the firm; also that cigars shall not be removed from a factory in less quantities than 100.

Dr. Seemen of Germany, who has been instrumental in promoting emigration to the Argentine Republic and Brazil, was introduced to Hon. Messrs. Abbott, Dewdney and Carling. He explained a scheme for bringing out emigrants from Germany to settle with friends in this country, and desired to be paid for each person so brought the amount of bonus the Government pays to actual settlers on land.

MONTREAL, April 12.—Judge Taschereau in the Superior Court Monday refused petition made by Mrs. McCarthy that her children, now in the Grey Nunnery, should be handed over to her. Have a Care Which you Select!

Be Not Deceived!

There will be imitators—we might almost call them forgers—so long as this big round world lasts. Men take advantage of the ignorance of a large class, and introduce goods and preparations with a name almost similar to the genuine and popular article. The Department of Medicine has recently been invaded by these imitators, and we find that Paine's Celery Compound and its extended popularity has received the attention of some who are anxious for fame and fortune.

It is our duty at this time to warn all sufferers and friends of sufferers that there are two remedies now on the market using the name "Celery Compound," but both far inferior to Paine's Celery Compound in power, worth and virtue, and the curing of disease. These imitation remedies occupy the same position towards Paine's Celery Compound, as cheap glass does to the diamond. Men and women are warned to be careful when buying. See that "Paine's" is on every bottle, as well as the "Bunch or Stalk of Celery." All preparations without these, are simply imitations, and cannot possibly give the satisfaction expected.

There is only one real and genuine Celery Compound, and it is known as "PAINE'S CELERY COMPOUND." It is the only one that has given such grand and wonderful results; it is the only one that has successfully grappled with disease; it is the only one that publishes honest and genuine testimonials. Again we say, avoid all imitations.

Condoning Corruption.

'It is doubtful if the Canadian Parliament ever listened to such a pitiable prostitution of a superior legal acuteness as that shown by the Minister of Justice in his anxious search for reasons why the Edgar charges against Sir Adolphe Caron should be burked. Take, as an example, his contention that Sir Adolphe Caron was not a member of the House of Commons of Canada from 1882 to 1891. 'No person,' he said, 'has been a member of this House from 1882 to 1891. There are periods during which the House ceased to exist.' The Opposition greeted this statement with ironical cheers, for which Sir John chided them, promising that this point would be seen to possess 'importance' as he progressed. He kept his promise to the letter, and the 'importance' proved to be that Sir Adolphe was charged with taking this money, not as a member of the House, but during election times as a man seeking to enter the House. This, Sir John claimed, removed all responsibility from the House, for it should only judge the conduct of its own members. Was hair-splitting ever more extraordinary, especially when it is remembered that, although Sir Adolphe Caron was of course not a member of the House after any of its dissolutions, he was, during these interregna, a member of the Government."

Our Ottawa Letter.

Condoning a Minister's Meddling—The Government Shirk Investigation—A Practical Confession of Guilt—Keeping Canada in Leading Strings.

OTTAWA, April 11.—Recent Conservative successes in bye elections have given those who make a reputation for wisdom by repeating platitudes, opportunity to remark that no man is indispensable, this having reference to the fact that the party seems to be doing pretty well even without the Old Chieftian upon whom they depended so completely up to a year ago. And even the closest observer of Parliament would be inclined, nine days out of ten, to agree with the man of platitudes. But on the tenth day something would occur which would remind him by contrast of the way the Old Man used to do things and he would begin to marvel at the Tories of these latter days and would be ready to predict their early downfall for the lack of competent leadership. All this would be perfectly consistent with the idea, which the keen observer must hold, that Sir John Macdonald had run the length of his tether and that if he chose the time of his death he never made a better stroke of policy in the interest of his party. The exceedingly wobbly nature of the present Conservative leadership has been shown in the first vote of the House of Commons this Session. It was the game of the Liberals, of course, not to expose their weakness by any recorded votes. There are just so many Conservatives in the House and just so many Liberals and no amount of recording of names is going to add to or take from the muster of strength on either side. Still not to have the thing too sharply emphasized or too often put down in black and white, and so they are doing as Bret Fox did, "laying low." The very opposite was the policy for the Government. They should have laid their pipes for as early a vote as possible, after the North Perth election, choosing a question upon which they would be sure of a thumping majority. Of course the Government is hardly in a position to force the fighting; about all they can do is to repel attack; still they at least have such control of the business of the House that they can always prevent votes being recorded on such questions as do not suit them, and this is the next best thing to being able to call such votes as the want.

Now the Liberals have never been strong in parliamentary tactics and they are not strong in that way to day. They seem to be so engrossed with the merits of every question that they are apt to be put in a false position by adroit opponents. Liberal members seem to bring forward motions at their own sweet will and they speak or refrain from speaking on no better principle. The effect of a brilliant speech of the leader is often lost in a perfect Scotch mist of soggy oratory by gentlemen on the back benches, or else an important advantage is lost by allowing a debate to collapse too soon. Moreover all advantage of a good course is minimized by the lack of united, decisive and insistent parliamentary tactics. It was not so in the old days when Hon. Alexander Mackenzie was in power. His opponents took the first session and lay out their plans, and the sessions following were marked by fighting that was enough to "rattle" any Government. After his return to power Sir John Macdonald seemed to have one paramount idea, to fill the benches on his side with his own creatures. But even of these men he never demanded too much. They had some pretty sharp corners to turn, some compromises to make that looked very absurd, but they always felt that the Old Man would not ask of them more than party exigencies imperatively required. But this Government allowed the first vote to be taken upon a question in which several of the most slavish of its own supporters had declared that they did not agree with the Government's action. The question was the voting to one of the disgraced officials of the Interior Department his salary for the whole time (bar one month) during which he has been under suspension. This man had put in accounts in fictitious names for "extra work" alleged to have been done, he had certified those accounts himself, endorsed the cheques with the false names, and drawn the money, and all this in the face of the plain declaration of the law governing the civil service, that permanent employees in the service shall not receive extra pay under any consideration. There was no reason in the world why this man should have been so leniently treated, and there was still less reason why the vote upon this absurd action should have been the first of the session. There was everything possible against it, including the fact that the object of the affair was to and Mr. Dewdney is the one man among all the freaks now on exhibition in the Dominion Cabinet, who is thoroughly and hopelessly unpopular. The vote, as might have been expected, resulted in a majority of barely twenty-five for the Government. Friends of the Administration here reconcile themselves with the idea that it doesn't matter—that the majority is much bigger than that anyway. Let them have such satisfaction as they can get out of that idea. But there are other conclusions equally sound, and equally obvious: One is that the Government has not the sense to treat its followers with due consideration, and the other is that the majority has no intention of being hauled off in the Abbott-Thompson cart without having some notion of where the dumping ground is to be. It was really laughable to see even Sir John Thompson himself trying unavailingly to induce men to vote. The division bell was kept ringing a good five minutes longer than usual in order to give the leaders a chance to drag their men in to take their medicine. Some of the Conservative members fled from the building, but a number of them remained in the party caucus room, which is just across the lobby from the Chamber, thereby emphasizing their contempt for the whole proceedings. Among these were Messrs. Earle, Cowden and Prior, of British Columbia, to which Province the appointment of Mr. Dewdney was supposed to be a special compliment. As against the faulty management of the Conservatives, the judgment of the Liberals in forcing the vote as they did, gives good ground for hope that the Opposition is at last awaking to the necessity of making every point that parliamentary strategy can give.

TO ASCERTAIN THEIR OWN STRENGTH

The Government seems bent on repeating this same mistake in

of the boodle charges against Sir Adolphe Caron. There seemed to be some force in Sir John Thompson's objections to going on with this affair, but after the opposition speakers got through it was evident that he had not a leg to stand upon. It seemed even that he himself did not know how weak his case was. The Conservative members would be glad to stretch a point to shield one like Haggart, who is popular with most of them, but when it comes down to Caron, they do not see why they should be asked to stand before the whole country as barring inquiry for his advantage. The feeling against the position taken by Sir John Thompson is much stronger than was at first believed and it is by no means impossible that he may reconsider his determination. The Liberals can afford to be satisfied with a refusal to the electors the refusal to investigate must be about the same thing as a confession of guilt. The Tories take great credit to themselves for exposing Mercier. They did it by a Senate investigation into the payment of Provincial railway subsidies to an outsider, a private citizen. Now, they decline to investigate the alleged payment of Dominion railway subsidies to a member of the House of Commons and one of Her Majesty's advisers. If they are right in this case they should restore Mercier to his place with apologies for having disturbed him.

CANADIAN RIGHT TO NEGOTIATE TREATIES.

The debate on Mr. Mills' resolution declaring Canada's right to make her own commercial treaties was the most hope-inspiring talk that Parliament has indulged in for years. It is the curse of the colonial status in which Canada exists, that the people are confined to the discussion of parish politics. Even the question of reciprocity or free trade is carried on amidst obstacles raised by considerations of what Britain will say and do in case Canada takes this, that or the other course. But in the debate referred to Canada's representatives got down very near to bottom principles and it was worth while being a citizen of Canada to hear such straightforward discussion. The fact was clearly brought out that there are naturally three parties represented in Parliament, and they were well represented by the men who voiced their views. In the first place there are the office-holding Tories. There is no better type of this class than Mr. Foster. This gentleman has his good points, he is sober, hard-working, and in a sense, clever. These things are quite consistent with selfishness and meanness and nobody denies that Mr. Foster possesses these qualities also. He argued that matters should be allowed to stand as they are. He is perfectly satisfied. His aspirations as a Canadian and a man are fulfilled by a good office and a certain show of power. Then there are the manly Tories. For these appeared Col. O'Brien, the member for Muskoka. Col. O'Brien is an Irish gentleman of the best school and shares with all true men the longing for to that of full citizenship. He desires to feel himself a man equal in power and responsibility with all others. His hope is fixed upon a federation of the British Empire. This may be a dream or it may not, but even though a dream it is worthy of a man with a soul and with some thought higher than those of making his daily bread and providing for his old age. Last there are the Canadians who love Canada beyond all else, and worthily were their feelings voiced by Mr. Laurier, the orator par excellence of the House. He is a radical of the English, not the French school. He hopes for evolution and believing that it is possible, regard revolution as absurd. His eloquent words were of hope for the continued growth of Canada so that in the future, with the consent and approval of Britain and of all the world, this country shall take its place among the nations of the earth.

—Serious complaints are being heard from many George street merchants to-day because the town watering carts are not out. The dust is blowing in clouds.

—An alarm of fire called out the brigade this morning at 11.45 o'clock. Their service was not required. A chimney blaze on Lake street, Ashburnham, was the cause.

—A regular meeting of the Peterborough Workingmen's Building and Loan Association was held in the office of Jas. Stevenson, M.P., last night. There was a large attendance of members. The applications for loans are keeping up.

—The Peterborough Base Ball club has commenced practice on the P.A.A.A. ground. The supplies ordered from New York are expected to arrive the latter end of the week. In all likelihood the Ellisons and the Peterborough's will play a match on Good Friday.

—A Kingston minister has been preaching a sermon on the pomps and vanities of this wicked world. He denounced feathers and furbelows and such things in language so forceful that some of his hearers at once discarded these ornamentations, some of them before they left the church.

—As the Philharmonic Society's concert comes off at the Opera House on May 3rd, it is absolutely necessary that all members should turn out to practice every Tuesday evening from to-day until the day of the concert. Mr. J. Crane, secretary, earnestly requests a large attendance of the members at practice to-night.

—Parlour No. 3 at the Constubular Hostelry on Water street, was occupied last evening by four honourable gentlemen in need. —The Philharmonic Society intend holding a grand concert in the Opera House on Tuesday, May the 3rd. Some of the best talent in the Dominion has been engaged for the occasion. This together with first class concerted work from the members of the Philharmonic Society will make the entertainment one of the most brilliant and meritorious of the season.

—The firemen think the too frequent clanging of the fire bell for every paper that is seen burning along the street, or for every chimney blaze, is getting to be too much of the good thing. This has been going on for the past month. Seven or eight times has the brigade been called out for practically nothing. It is getting so now that every time smoke is seen issuing from a chimney, or a man stops to light his pipe on the street, that some one runs off and bangs that fire bell. The evil is bad enough as it is, but it would be much worse if the bell could be heard.

—Something went wrong with the town clock yesterday, but the personal attention of the caretaker soon put the civic horologe on time. The internal economy of the town clock is something like a flirtatious female—it needs a great deal of attention to keep it in good humour, whereas the post office clock, of more modern type, is as regular as a hearty boy at his meals. Since last October—the 19th—when it was necessary to put the post office clock two minutes ahead, the post office clock has not been touched in the way of regulation. It is now one minute slow. The civic timepiece is so erratic that it it would risk the reputation of the veteran Seth Thomas if he undertook the duties of caretaker.

The Case Enlarged a Week.

Three county peddlers named S. J. Potter, Wm. Rowe and C. H. Conner, were brought up before County Magistrate Edmison this morning charged with peddling without a license, by Inspector Cochrane. Mr. R. M. Dennistoun appeared for the defendants and W. A. Stratton for the complainant. The county council passed a by-law several years ago compelling all peddlers to take out a license. The plaintiffs allege that their goods, which are ringers and washing machines, being manufactured in Ontario, they have a right to peddle without license. The magistrate enlarged the case a week for consideration.

No Evidences of Foul Play.

In response to the representations of the relatives of the late Richard Wigmore, whose body was found in Little Lake, a few days ago, the Attorney General directed an investigation. Accordingly, Detective Rogers was sent down and on his reporting to the authorities, Drs. Pettigrew and Ford of Norwood, were directed to make a post-mortem examination. The body was exhumed for this purpose, but the examination, which was made yesterday, revealed no traces of foul play or violence. The body was reinterred and no further proceedings are considered necessary, the family being satisfied that death resulted from accidental drowning.

A Pushing House.

Messrs. Grafton & Co., of Dundas, the Enterprising Ready-Made Clothing Manufacturers and Dealers, Open out a Large and Handsome Stock in our Midst.

Messrs. Grafton & Co., the noted ready-made clothing manufacturers from Dundas, have opened out a large and handsome stock at 293 George street, in Clarkson's block, next door to F. S. Schneider's jewellery shop, and opposite McKee & Davidson's hardware store. This large store, which was formerly occupied by Knowles & Co., has been thoroughly renovated and refitted throughout. A large plate glass mirror has been placed in the rear of the store and one in either of the handsome windows. The shelving, office and tables are all new and finished in a light colour, presenting a bright and attractive appearance. On these tables and shelves have been placed one of the finest and best assorted stocks of ready made clothing for men, youths', boys' and children's wear and use that can be manufactured. The firm runs four large stores in Dundas, one in Owen Sound, and the latest addition to their business enterprise and capacity are the large and airy store and the complete and immense stock of clothing which they have opened out in Peterborough. A member of the firms visits the great European markets twice a year and purchases the cloths and tweeds out of which the clothing is made, for spot cash. Grafton & Co. make a specialty of clothing only, and manufacture all their own goods at their large clothing manufacturing establishment in Dundas. They manufacture only from fine lines, all hand cut and all hand made goods, having fit and appearance of best custom work. They can, they claim, give the buyer a much better class of goods and at a lower price than other ready made clothing dealers, because they do all their own manufacturing and know what they deal in. Their store in Peterborough is a model of neatness and arrangement, and their immense stock of clothing forms an unrivalled collection of elegant styles and beautiful fabrics. Their doors will be thrown open to the public to-morrow, and all are invited to call and see its contents and become convinced. Mr. J. H. Deeks, a practical and experienced clothing hand of several years experience, will have charge of the Peterborough store. Doubtless Messrs. Grafton & Co. will soon take a foremost place in the line of George street business houses for energy, enterprise and honest dealing.

afresh. Dr. Pease amputated an inch of the bone, and it healed. Four years later it once more opened, and for eight years how I suffered! I do not believe it possible for a human being to suffer worse agony. During this time I had to go on crutches, being unable to wear a wooden leg. Whenever possible I relieved my sufferings by taking opiate, but when I was obliged to go without it, I suffered fearfully and thought I should go crazy. I tried everything I could get with my limited means. Physicians said I would never be any better. Finally my

The first dollar I got I sent and bought a bottle and began taking it. A week or two later, my wife in dressing my leg, said it seemed to be improving, and after taking

The Proposed Temperance Hotel.

Discussed at the Meeting Held in the R. T. of T. Hall Last Evening—A Fair Attendance—The Project Assuming Definite Shape—A Committee Appointed to Draft a Prospectus.

There was a fair attendance at the mass meeting of temperance people held in the R. T. of T. Hall, on Hunter street last evening, to consider the advisability of establishing and running a first class temperance hotel in Peterborough. On motion Mr. Frank Mason took the chair. He said all knew the reason why the meeting had been called. He thought a good temperance hotel, run on strictly temperance principles could be made to pay, providing it was run first-class, with good accommodation and situated in a central part of the town. He believed all of us had more or less influence on the other and the establishment of such a house could not fail to be of much good and would establish and strengthen the temperance cause. It was proposed to run the said hotel by means of a joint stock company, the shares to be placed at the low sum of five dollars each, so that all might take some stock in the concern. It would be necessary to have between $5,000 and $10,000 subscribed before proceeding with the undertaking. Temperance hotels, where they had been situated in a prominent place, run with first-class accommodation as to rooms and cuisine, had flourished in other towns and cities, and there was no reason why one, equal to the best hotel in Peterborough, could not be successfully established and run here. They were receiving the assistance and support of all the temperance people in the town, and many of the farmers had signified their intention of taking stock and patronising such a house. The chairman then threw open the meeting and invited discussion on the matter.

Mr. H. P. LINDSAY concurred in the words of the chairman. He believed such a hotel could be successfully established and run by a good host. It was proposed to have a restaurant in connection with the building. The dining room should be large and well appointed, the cuisine excellent and varied, the bedrooms large and roomy, and the whole building should be well furnished and provide the very best accommodation that it was possible to obtain in the town of Peterborough. He was assured that all temperance people would give it their hearty support and patronage, and all moderate drinkers would gladly go there, sooner than to a hotel and its bars, to spend an evening providing the place was bright and inviting, and the surroundings attractive and cheerful. He had talked with a great many people and found them favourable to the scheme. One farmer residing in Otonabee township has offered to put a $1000 in the scheme, taking 200 shares. Others had also expressed a desire and willingness to help in the good work. The shares being at $5 were so low that all could take stock.

Rev. J. E. TROTTER fully acquiesced in the remarks of the previous speakers. A large temperance hotel in Liverpool, Eng., the largest one in that great city, was successfully run on temperance principles and largely patronized. It was the grandest and finest equipped hostelry in that city. He stated he had been in communication with proprietors of temperance houses in order to gain something from their ideas, and profit by their experience and insight into the matter. He then read a letter from Mrs. J. Boggard, proprietor of the Temperance House in Picton. She wished them hearty success in their new move. She stated that she had run the Temperance House in Picton for a number of years, that when she assumed control of it the house was badly in need of alterations and repairs. She had made all these and the house had paid her well. She had a large number of highly respectable boarders who patronized her house in preference to hotels. Letters of a similar nature were read from Mrs. N. M. Craig, proprietor of a temperance hotel in Bryson, Que., and from Mrs. S. J. Armstrong, hostess of a flourishing temperance house in Bristol, Que. Mr. Craig stated that his house paid him much better, although in a small village, since it was run on strictly temperance principles, than when it had a bar.

Dr. FITZ heartily endorsed the scheme propounded. He thought a prospectus should be issued showing forth the plan of the work, the means of operation, etc. This should be largely distributed among temperance people, in order that they might have some plan of action and definite conception of the work. This prospectus should be sent to all R. T. of T. and I. O. G. T. lodges throughout the county in order to secure their cooperation and support. He suggested that a committee should be formed at once to draft a prospectus. The sooner they got to work the better.

Moved by H. P. Lindsay, seconded by J. Martin, that a committee consisting of Messrs. F. Mason, Dr. Fitz, Rev. J. E. Trotter and the mover be a committee to draft a prospectus at once.—Carried.

The meeting then adjourned.

NOTES.

The committee met this afternoon at the office of Mr. H. P. Lindsay and drafted a prospectus of the work.

Another mass meeting will be held next Monday night to further consider and discuss the temperance hotel question.

About $2,000 have already been voluntarily subscribed. No canvassing has yet been done.

A leading hotel on George street is being negotiated for as a suitable place for a temperance house.

On Good Friday a meeting of friends of temperance in the counties of Durham and Northumberland will be held in the Royal Templar's Hall, Port Hope, to consider what is best to be done. Friends are invited.—Port Hope Guide.

A Lively Semi-Civic Ruction.

A Set to Between a Citizen and a City Father.

There was a lively ruction on George street this morning between a merchant and a member of the Fire, Water and Light Committee. A passer by could have heard in stern and angry tones:—

"I tell you it is simply shameful, disgusting, disgraceful! Its worse than highway robbery to squeeze taxes out of a merchant and give him no return! Here's the dust blowing in clouds and ruining goods hung out for display, and we can't get you to bring out the watering carts! Ugh! you councillors are N. G.!"

"But, my good man; its too early—"

"Early be —— blowed!" it isn't too early to spoil our goods! Why man, where are your eyes? just look at that overcoat, only been hanging out twenty minutes and covered with dust! Gough Bros don't mind putting their beautiful spring overcoats down next thing to cost, for the public benefit, but they draw the line at allowing the neglect of the town council to spoil them with dust—

"But, my dear sir—"

"But me no buts—get your water butts out—that would be more to the purpose. Here Gough Bros have a splendid stock of spring overcoats, from the most stylish to the plainest, and its ruin to one of them to hang it out so that the people can see it. Its an act of charity to give the people a chance to see these splendid overcoats—they are so good and cheap—and here is the sleepy council, refusing us as well as other merchants, protection."

This talk about overcoats seemed suggestive to the councillor, and he was proceeding to peel off his own for hostile operations when the chief came along and quiet was restored, and within ten minutes Gough Bros. had the city father in the rear of their shop fitting a nobby and stylish spring overcoat on his aldermanic anatomy, which was declared to fit "like the paper on the wall." And the city father came down with the "dust," and the price was so much less than, from the style and quality of the goods he expected, that he telephoned to Terry Smith "trot out that watering cart p.d.q."

THE CANADA LIFE ASSURANCE CO'Y.

Forty-Fifth Annual Meeting of the Great Institution.

Remarkable Record for the Past Year—The Annual Report—Election of Directors.

The 45th annual meeting of the greatest of Canadian insurance institutions, the Canada Life Assurance Company, was held to-day in the board room of the Company's head office in Hamilton. There were present a gathering of the representative men of Canada, men whose names are known all over the country for solidity and business ability, with Mr. G. A. Ramsay, president of the company, presiding over the deliberations. The meeting was a most harmonious and eminently satisfactory one.

Mr. Ramsay took the chair shortly after 12 o'clock, with Mr. Roland Hills as secretary of the meeting.

President Ramsay submitted the following:

REPORT BY THE BOARD OF DIRECTORS OF THE CANADA LIFE ASSURANCE COMPANY, SUBMITTED TO THE ANNUAL GENERAL MEETING OF SHAREHOLDERS, HELD AT HAMILTON ON THE 5TH OF APRIL, 1892:

The business of 1891, being the company's 45th year, was again highly favourable. The new assurances applied for were 2,507 in number, and $5,929,088 in amount. Of these, 186 for $259,500 were declined, the lives not appearing to reach that standard of eligibility which it is in the best interest of our assurers should be maintained. Of the balance of $5,669,588, upon 2,371 lives, which were accepted by the directors, 204 for $414,562 were not carried out, leaving the actual new assurances of the year $5,255,021 under 2,167 policies, with a new annual income premium of $178,191.06.

At 31st December last there were in force $56,218,318.03 of assurances and bonus additions, upon 19,563 lives, under 20,484 policies

The statement of receipts and payments, and the abstract of assets and liabilities, herewith submitted, show that the income of the year was $2,213,096.27, and that the assets amounted to $12,074,124 87, having being increased during the year by $1,041.684 78.

The death claims for the year were upon 192 lives under 243 policies for $511,879.11, including profits, a sum considerably under that of the previous year, 1890, when the amount was a good deal affected by the epidemic of la grippe which then prevailed, and its results.

The business at the various branches has been generally well sustained, and having last year alluded to anticipations of successful progress at the Michigan branch, it may be mentioned that these have been largely realized.

In compliance with the company's charter the following directors retire by rotation, but are eligible for re-election: The Hon. Sir Alexander Campbell, K. C. M. G., Toronto; Andrew Allan, Esq., Montreal, and Thomas Swinyard, Esq, New York State.

PRESIDENT RAMSAY'S REMARKS.

Mr. A. G. Ramsay moved the adoption of the annual report. In so doing he reviewed carefully and ably, the business of the year. He said:—

I beg to move the adoption of the directors report now before you, and although the statements which it, and the published accounts, which have been in your hands for some days, so clearly indicate the success of the past year's business, and the sound position of the company, that I need take up but little of the time of this annual meeting in adverting to them, it may be interesting. I dare say, that I draw your attention shortly to some of the features which these documents disclose. The new business of the past year amounted, you will see to $5,255,021, a sum so nearly approaching the best year we have ever had that I think we may well congratulate you upon it. It has happily been our good fortune each year for so long to be able to make a somewhat similar statement that I fear it may appear a somewhat monotonous one, for which, however, I need offer no apology. You will have noticed that the total assurances in force at the close of 1891 were $56,218,318, an amount which suggests a very large measure of public support and confidence in the company. The income continues to largely increase, and it amounted last year to $2,213,096, more than twice as much as it was ten years ago, and nearly seven times what it was twenty years ago. With the possibility of a corresponding progress in the future we may well be encouraged to continue that caution and care in the direction and in the management of the company's affairs, which in the past have made the Canada Life's name synonymous with that of integrity, liberality and stability. The large addition of over $1,000,000 was added to the company's assets last year, making them $12,074,12[illegible], or about twice what they were only seven years ago. While difficulty in obtaining satisfactory investments as they were wanted was experienced during the year, every effort and the best judgment of the board were exercised so as to make that difficulty as little felt as possible.

As you are well aware, there has of late years been a gradual reduction in the rate of interest obtainable on the best class of securities, and while our Company is of course affected by that, in common with all others, every exertion is made to diminish as far as we can any loss in that way.

The death claims during 1891 were $511,873, being a lower amount than they had been in 1890, when, largely by the grippe epidemic, they reached $603,[illegible]84.

The statment of receipts and payments shows that during 1891, $316,376 was paid to policy-holders as profits, a return of nearly 20 per cent. of the year's premiums paid to the Company, a percentage of profits on premiums paid so rarely reached by other companies as to lead us to press upon intending assurers the advantages which our Company offers in that respect. In alluding to that I am very glad indeed to have the opportunity of saying that by the courtesy of the Superintendent of Insurance we were yesterday favoured with the result of the Government's quinquennial valuation of our Company's affairs. It shows that over and above the full reserve we are required by the Government of Canada to hold, and all liabilities, we have on hand a large profit surplus such as indicates no diminution in the Company's profit-making powers. You have been informed by the Director's Report of the generally favourable progress of the Company's various branches, and the efforts of our Managers and Agents are well deserving of our thanks and encouragement. Special allusion has been made to the branch established by the Company, in Michigan in 1890. Because it being somewhat of an experiment, you would naturally desire to hear specially as to it. I am very pleased to be able to say that the progress of the branch is so satisfactory as to have last year placed the Company in the fourteenth position, in point of new assurances, out of 82 companies doing business in the State. For a great deal of our success in Michigan, we are indebted to the support of the prominent and influential gentlemen who have been good enough to aid us by acting upon our Board of Reference. I am glad to tell you that we have entered upon the year 1892 with the most encouraging prospects. The new business up to the present date far exceed that of any previous year, and I trust that at our next meeting we may be able to again record a continuance of such prosperty as has already been so satisfactory to you and to our various policy-holders.

VICE-PRESIDENT GATES' REMARKS.

Mr. F. W. Gates, Vice-President of the Company, seconded the adoption of the report. In doing so he said:—

Mr. Chairman and gentlemen.—When it is borne in mind that there has been no perceptible improvement in business generally throughout the country during the past year, I think we must be compelled to admit that the statement which has been presented to-day ought to be considered highly satisfactory. It is true that the company might have done a much larger amount of business than has been done if we had been less scrupulously careful in the acceptance of risks which have been applied for. As the report shows, and as the president has pointed out, many applications have been rejected. We have exercised the greatest care in this matter in order that the company and the insured alike might be fully protected. We did not indulge in the extravagances which some companies have in order to increase our business, but have rather followed a policy of carefnl management in the interest of the company. I well remember some years ago that the president in his address referred with a good deal of pleasure to the fact that we had an income of $1,000 a day; now it is $7,000 a day, and it was easy then to invest $1,000 a day. It is not so easy to invest $7,000 now, even with the lower rate of interest. I may again refer to the remarkably small losses, and again congratulate the company upon that state of affairs. I have much pleasure, gentlemen, in seconding the motion for the adoption of the report.

President Ramsay put the motion, which was carried unanimously.

THANKS TO PRESIDENT AND DIRECTORS.

Mr. Byron E. Walker moved a vote of thanks to the President and Directors for their attention to the interests of the company during the year.

In offering the motion Mr. Walker said:—It gives me very great pleasure indeed to propose the thanks of the shareholders to our President and Directors. Reference has been made to the growth and success of the Canada Life in the past, and I consider that they are largely due to the excellent management. The big companies in the United States are beginning to realize that it may be possible to do too much business, but I am sure that if the policy which has been pursued by the Canada Life in the past is adhered to, another ten years of our career will show corresponding prosperity. I hope that our President may long be spared to direct the affairs of the company, and that he may have the advice and co-operation of such men as now constitute the directorate.

Mr. Henry McLaren—Mr. President and gentlemen, I have very much pleasure in seconding the motion.

The motion was put and carried unanimously, amid applause.

President Ramsay replied:—I expect that I shall have to reply to the motion you have just passed. I thank you very much indeed for the resolution and for the kind expressions made use of. I believe I can confidently say that every one of the Directors has done all that was in his power to further the interests of the company.

THREE DIRECTORS ELECTED.

The Hon. Mr. Justice Burton moved the appointment of Messrs. W. F. Findlay and Campbell Farrie as scrutineers of votes for the election of Directors in the room of the three retiring, and that the poll shall now be opened, and closed upon five minutes elapsing without a vote being tendered.

Mr. Matthew Leggat seconded the motion, which was carried.

The voting took a good deal of time, and while the ballots were being counted other business was proceeded with. The election resulted in the choice of Hon. Sir Alexander Campbell, K.C. M. G., of Toronto, Mr. Andrew Allan, of Montreal, and Mr. Geo. A. Cox, of Toronto. The last named gentlemen will take the place of Mr. Thomas Swinyard on the Board, the other two gentlemen being re-elected.

The usual votes of thanks were passed, and at a meeting of the directors subsequently held, Mr. A. G. Ramsay was re-elected President, and Mr. F. W. Gates, Vice-President.

"August Flower"

"I inherit some tendency to Dyspepsia from my mother. I suffered two years in this way; consulted a number of doctors. They did me no good. I then used your August Flower and it was just two days when I felt great relief. I soon got so that I could sleep and eat, and I felt that I was well. That was three years ago, and I am still first-class. I am never without a bottle, and if I feel constipated the least particle a dose or two of August Flower does the work. The beauty of the medicine is, that you can stop the use of it without any bad effects on the system. While I was sick I felt everything it seemed to me a man could feel. I was of all men most miserable. I can say, in conclusion, that I believe August Flower will cure anyone of indigestion, if taken with judgment. A. M. The question of discarding corsets is agitating the brains of many young women nowadays. The slim, shapely beauties do not so much object as do the fat and pudgy women, who seem to think that a trim waist is all that is necessary to carry them through life. A woman is reported in the San Francisco Chronicle as saying: "When you come to realize the freedom of having no stiff, hard, tight-squeezing affair holding you, as it were, you begin to get a little real enjoyment from life. At first there is a feeling as if a strong support were taken away from you—as if you could not sit up straight alone, and I confess, too, to having had a feeling of weakness in the sides and back. When you come to think of it that was natural enough, and there is no doubt that, had I laced tighter than I did, I would have felt still weaker and still more in need of support. Nothing in the world would tempt me to wear a corset again, now that I can feel the delicious comfort of being stayless and stringless about the waist; nothing but obesity. Were I to get fat, of course I would have to wear the hateful old things. A fat woman without a corset looks like a stall-fed cow."

TURKISH FREEDOM.

A physician said: "With some women I am told the main object of wearing a corset is that they shall have fine busts, but, as a matter of fact, corset-wearing is accountable for the lack of development that one sees in many young women of the day. Were they to throw away their corsets they would find that in a short time the longed-for development would come, and unless they were uncommonly lean or in poor health they would not have so very long to wait, either. In all the photographs of wild women that one sees, whether they are Sioux, Sumatrans, or South Sea Islanders, one observes that a lack of bust development is the exception and not the rule. Nature is nature every time, and natural woman is healthy woman, under ordinary circumstances and conditions. I may state that it is not always well to be to precipitate in this matter of throwing aside the corset.

A TIGHT FIT.

"The best way for a woman to rid herself of corsets is first to loosen them up and wear them that way for a few weeks. This will in itself give her great freedom, and will prepare her for the greater comfort which she is sure to enjoy later when she shall have finally cast off her tightly buckled shield and made of herself a wholly free woman. Then let the strings be let out still further and further, until the ribs of the corset give actually no support to the back, when they may be discarded. In this particular, you will see, there is no exception to the rule that radical and extreme measures suddenly applied often result disastrously. It is better to take the reform in hand with a determination not to pursue it too hastily. Yes, I have no objection to what are known as 'waists.' They are all well enough, if the women must wear something to keep them in shape, as they call it. There is a great deal of difference between the reeds and bamboos in the 'waists' and the steel and whalebone of the corsets. Compared with the corsets they are indeed quite harmless.

Spring, with its rapid changes and wet weather, is the most trying season in our Canadian climate, and at this more than at any other time do the ravages of catarrh make themselves felt. As an immediate relief for cold in the head, and a thorough cure for catarrah, nothing yet discovered equals Nasal Balm. It is easy to use, pleasant and agreeable. Sold by all dealers or sent post-paid on receipt of price—50c. for small bottles or $1 for large bottle. G. T. Fulford & Co., Brockville.

Keep the Works in good order.

NORMAN, Ont., January 15, 1890.

W. H. COMSTOCK, Brockville, Ont.

DEAR SIR,—Your "Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills" are the best regulator for the system that humanity can use. Life is as the time-piece; frail and delicate are many of its works. A tiny particle of foreign substance adheres to the smallest wheel in the works, and what is the result?—at first only a slight difference is perceptible in its time-keeping, but wait you; as the obstruction grows, the irregularity becomes greater, until at last, what could have been rectified with little trouble, in the beginning, will now require much care in thoroughly cleansing the entire works. So it is in human life—a slight derangement is neglected, it grows and increases, imperceptibly at first, then rapidly, until what could, in the beginning, have been cured with little trouble, becomes almost fatal. To prevent this, I advise all to purify the system frequently, by the use of Morse's Pills, and so preserve vigor and vitality.

Yours faithfully,
H. F. ATWELL.

My business is such that I spend much of my time away from home, and I would not consider my travelling outfit complete without a box of Morse's Pills. Yours, &c.,

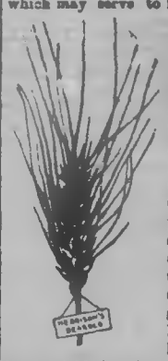
Seed Grain Tests at Guelph.

Last September we gave a review of the work on trial plots at the Ontario Agricultural College Farm, Guelph, a summary of which may serve to freshen the minds of our readers. Of the fifty plots of spring wheat at Guelph, although promising and very free from rust, few appeared to us to be growing close enough or sufficiently heavy to yield anything extraordinary. Of necessity, all reports of plots are slightly misleading, as the ground is measured only to the outside of the growing grain, while the crop has the benefit of a large field, hence the heavy yields here in proportion to the appearance when growing.



Colorado and Harrison's Bearded made much the best showing, growing closely. The heads of each were well filled.

Red Fyfe, the standard of the Northwest, was a moderate crop.

Ladoga did not promise well; was thin on the ground; straw weak, and head open.

Wild Goose was, if anything, still worse.

Red Fern promised more favorably, although it has never been considered a reliable sort. For general cultivation, it does well in some sections.

White Fyfe was very like the red variety in appearance.

White Russian was later, although yielding well some seasons.

It is not to be relied upon in many localities, though in some it does well.

CAMPBELL'S VELVET CHAFF.

As they appeared to us, the first two mentioned are most likely to prove useful in Ontario and Quebec.

Campbell's White Chaff was not grown.

Of the one hundred varieties of oats, only a few appeared to be worthy of cultivation on the best lands. Doubtless some of the earlier sorts should be tried in localities where oats ripen late. Of these, Early Calder and Early Racehorse are reliable.

Of the moderately early sorts, Banner, Magnet and Cluster are very much alike. The two former have yielded well.

The White Cave is a particularly heavy cropper; very heavy yields are reported last season. It has a strong, stiff straw, standing fully 4½ feet; berry heavy and light skinned; a good milling variety.

Early Gothland is a very handsome new sort from Sweden, and, like the White Cave, ripens earlier than the black varieties. It has a close, heavy head, stands well and is reported to have done exceedingly well wherever grown. It is certainly one of the most promising of the new oats. All the foregoing are white.

The Black Tartarian, than which there is no more reliable sort, should never be discarded on land which suits it, but growers must remember it requires care in the selection of seed.—Farmer's Advocate.

The New Hairpin.

New hairpins, which are thrust in the back of the coiffure to hold in place the small bonnets and crownless hats, are of gold, beautifully cut out in open-work pattern. These have almost superseded the knots and twists, so long in vogue. "It is so easy," say the exclusives, "to imitate those in cheap qualities." The new ones readily show whether they are choice or not.—New York Times.

Fashion Notes.

Crepon and crepe etamine are two of the fashionable fabrics for spring wear.

Fawn gray, tan, celery green, coral red and bright shades of heliotrope are favorites in colors.

It Opens the Eyes.

"My daughter is losing her sight," said an anxious mother, "and just on the eve of marriage, too! What shall I do?" "Let her get married, by all means," responded the doctor; "marriage is a regular eye-opener." A man's eyes open pretty widely, when he finds his wife's charms disappearing. Health is the best friend of beauty, and the innumerable ills to which women are peculiarly subject, its worst enemies. Experience proves that women who possess the best health, use Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It is the only medicine for women, sold by druggists, under a positive guarantee from the manufacturers, that it will give satisfaction in every case, or money will be refunded. This guarantee has been printed on the bottle-wrapper, and faithfully carried out for years. b

Cure For Dyspepsia.

As is well known, this troublesome complaint arises from over-eating, the use of too much rich food, neglected constipation, lack of exercise, bad air, etc. The food should be thoroughly chewed and never bolted or swallowed in haste, stimulants must be avoided and exercise taken if possible. A remedy which has rarely failed to give prompt relief and effect permanent cures, even in the most obstinate cases, is Burdock Blood Bitters. It acts by regulating and toning the digestive organs, removing costiveness and increasing the appetite and restoring health and vigor to the system. As a case in point we quote from a letter written by Miss L. A. Kahn, of Hamilton, Ont.:—"Two years ago life seemed a burden. I could not eat the simplest food without being in dreadful misery in my stomach, under my shoulders and across the back of my neck. Medical advice failed to procure relief and seeing B.B.B. advertised, I took two bottles of it, and have been entirely free from any symptoms of my complaint since." This gives very conclusive proof of the efficiency of this wonderful remedy. dw

A Pleasant Herb Drink.

The best cure we know of for constipation and headache is the pleasant herb drink called Lane's Family Medicine. It is said to be Oregon grape root, combined with simple herbs, and is made for use by pouring boiling water onto the dried roots and herbs. It is remarkably efficacious in all blood disorders, and is near the sovereign remedy for ladies in clearing up the complexion. Druggists sell the package at 50c and $1 dw

HER LIFE FOR HER SIN.

Annie Marshall Dies From Apparent Criminal Operation.

DETROIT, April 12. About five weeks ago Miss Annie Marshall, 21 years old, left her home in Langton, Ont., to visit her uncle and aunt in Windsor. After remaining there a week she came across to Detroit and took rooms at 120 Michigan-avenue, for the sake of securing the services of a professional nurse on account of some ailment from which she was suffering—at least, this was the reason she gave to her uncle and aunt. Her condition grew worse, and on March 18 Dr. Blakely was called in. He found her suffering from the effects of a premature birth, and says she must have been in a delicate condition at least five months before the miscarriage occurred. The girl died on Thursday, but Coroner Downs was not summoned until yesterday. He instructed Dr. Angus McLean to make a post-mortem. Miss Marshall's father and uncle are both in town, and after the post-mortem the remains will be taken back to Langton, Ont.

BREACH OF PROMISE.

Miss McEwen Valued Her Lost Love at $500.

BRANTFORD, April 12.—One of the most interesting cases down for trial at the Assizes yesterday was that of the action for breach of promise of marriage brought by Mary McEwen of Mount Pleasant against James G. Hanmer of Mount Vernon for $2000 damages. The case has been withdrawn, however, plaintiff having agreed to accept $500 in lieu of all damages and expenses. This sum has been tendered by defendant and the case settled out of court.

Plaintiff is a handsome, good-looking young lady and the faithless swain a well-to-do young farmer.

Defendant admitted the promise of marriage made to Miss McEwen, s that in any case it was merely a question of costs.

There were 16 letters passed between the parties, but they were of a platonic and matter-of-fact character and lacked the swelling sentiment that usually characterizes these effusions.

A FUNNY CASE.

A Bigamy Case Which Affords Food For Much Study.

WINNIPEG, April 12.—A year ago Francis Burk, farmer of Southern Manitoba, advertised in the paper for a wife, and was accepted by Helen Loder of London, Ont. They were married here July 24 last, but their marriage was an utter failure. The young girl transferred her affections to Burk's partner, Frederick Dale, and it was mutually agreed that the first marriage certificate should be destroyed and a second ceremony performed, Dale being the groom. The second ceremony was performed in Winnipeg last January, since which time Dale and his wife have lived happily. Two weeks ago she was arrested for bigamy at Moosejaw, being taken on the eve of confinement. The girl, who is in a very weak state, will be tried here to-morrow. All three claim that bigamy was committed purely through ignorance of the law, which was undoubtedly the case.

RAN IN THE FAMILY.

Mrs. Montagu's Brother Well Known in Western Ontario.

LONDON, Ont., April 12.—The recent trial and conviction in Ireland of Mrs. Montagu, daughter-in-law of Lord Montagu, for manslaughter in connection with the death of her child, recalls to the minds of many residents here the fact that her brother, Lord George Moore, was a familiar personage in the city some 20 or 25 years ago. He came out to this country with his young wife to engage in "farming," and like many others of these so-called aristocrats he was a genuine scalawag. He settled near Komoka, and spent most of his time roaming around with his gun and fishing rod. His treatment of his wife was said to be brutal. She died shortly afterwards and was buried near Komoka. Lord George returned to Ireland about ten years after he came to these parts. He was eccentric and disgusting in his habits. He preferred to camp out with the Indians in their wigwams rather than live at his own home. He was in the city a great deal and gained much notoriety through his misbehavior. The "castle," which he built near Komoka, was a monument to his folly.

MURDERED HIS BROTHER.

The Fratricide Was About to Marry the Dead Man's Fiancee When Detected.

MARSEILLES, April 12.—In Nov., 1890, the house of Guillaume Goubert, at Perpijuan, was destroyed by fire and he was burned to death. He had been engaged to be married to Marie Duplessis, a young milliner, to whom his brother Jean, a worthless loafer, also paid court. After Guillaume's death Jean reformed, became a steady-going citizen, and in the course of time proposed to Marie and was accepted.

Last New Year's he made her a present of a bracelet, in which was an ancient gold coin which she had given to her dead lover Guillaume. This led to the arrest and conviction of Jean for causing the death of his brother. He was sentenced to penal servitude for life.

London's Bond Robbers

LONDON, April 12.—The "Great Bond Robbery" case which has been before the courts for a year and which has excited much interest in stock, brokerage and other circles, was brought to an end yesterday by the conviction of the defendants, Walter Selwyn, a stock broker, and Frederick Peach, on the charge of conspiring to defraud John Willis Sears out of £890. Selwyn was sentenced to five years' penal servitude and Peach to 14 months' imprisonment at hard labor.

Death Ends His Disgrace.

PANAMA, April 12.—Gen. D'Andlau, once a well-known figure of Paris, died in poverty in Cayenne in French Guiana a few days ago. The general, it will be remembered, was involved in the scandal which brought about the disgrace and fall of M. Wilson, son-in-law of President Grevy. He was condemned to five years' imprisonment, to the loss of his title as senator and of his rights as a citizen. He had wandered about the world since then until death overtook him.

Panic Caused by a Bomb.

MADRID, April 12.—While a Jesuit priest was preaching in church at Bilbao last evening a cripple near the door found a bomb with a burning fuse behind a pillar. He made an outcry and extinguished the burning fuse. There was a rush for the door and women and children were trampled to the floor. A dozen persons were seriously injured.

THE GREAT FLOOD RECALLED.

By an Attempt to Abduct a Young Lad Who Was a Survivor.

ST. THOMAS, Ont., April 12. Among the victims of the Johnstown, Pa., flood of three years ago was a family named Kane, father, mother and several children being drowned. A little five-year-old son named Walter Kane was saved, and his uncle, James Kane of this city, brought him to St. Thomas and he has resided with him ever since.

Yesterday Victor Kane, a brother, and Mack Deater, both of Johnstown, arrived and attempted to abduct the boy. Deater claimed that he was appointed legal guardian of the boy, and that certain money having been left the latter it is necessary to produce him in person at Johnstown.

As the uncle has no legal documents to prove ownership the probability is that the Johnston delegation will come out successful. Meantime the judge and Police Magistrate have been appealed to.

Tom Persse Married.

COLUMBIA, S.C., April 12.—When the Grau Opera Company, which is playing a week's engagement here, finished its rehearsal, Thomas H. The couple were married last Wednesday afternoon at Trinity Church by Rev. Dr. Ellison Capers.

ONTARIO LEGISLATURE.

THE BUSINESS OF THE LEGISLATURE CONCLUDED

And the House Will be Formally Prorogued on Thursday — The Finishing Touches of Legislation—Inspectors and the Liquor Law — Provincial aid to Railways.

TORONTO, April 13.—When the Legislature met yesterday at 11 a.m. Mr. Whitney asked Mr. Mowat if the Government intended to employ young ladies as pages next session. He thought this would be but consistant with the position taken by the Government when it forced through the bill to allow young women to practise law. This query was made in such a humorous manner as to cause a good deal of merriment among the Opposition members.

Mr. Mowat congratulated the honorable member on the wonderful progress he had made since the bill just mentioned had passed. He had not thought of employing young women as pages, but since the Opposition had so strongly recommended that course the Government would very seriously consider it before assuming the responsibility of rejecting the services of the young women. This brought a storm of applause from the Government benches.

Inspectors and the Liquor Law.

Mr. Meredith called the attention of the Government to a letter he had received from a temperance man of Waterloo, complaining that the Government had taken no notice of complaints lodged against the license inspector of that district. The letter stated that their inspector had requested a magistrate to stay proceedings instituted against a tavern-keeper who was charged with violating the Liquor Law.

Mr. Harcourt had no recollection of the correspondence referred to by Mr. Meredith. There had been complaints received by the Department against that particular inspector, but nothing of so serious a nature as the honorable member had referred to had come the knowledge of the Department. Investigations had been made, but nothing could be proven against the inspector complained of. Two or three inspectors had been removed during the year as the result of investigations into their conduct by the Department.

Full Pay for Absent Members.

Mr. Hardy moved that Messrs. Fraser, Bronson, Porter and Smith (York) be paid as if they had been present during the whole session, as in reality they had attended during the actual work of the session; Mr. Whitney, that Messrs. Smith (Frontenac) and Miscampell, who had been absent part of the session through illness, be paid in full; and also that the widow of H. E. Clarke, deceased, be paid the full sessional indemnity. These motions were carried without comment.

Provincial Aid to Railways.

Mr. Harcourt's bill respecting aid to certain railways was passed the committee and given its third reading. It provides that there shall be granted out of the consolidated revenue fund to the Port Arthur, Duluth and Western Railway Company a cash subsidy of $3000 per mile and not exceeding in the whole the sum of $21,000 for the construction of seven miles of railway from a point near the east end of Gunflint Lake to a point near Magnetic Lake, and a cash subsidy of $9000 per mile and not exceeding in the whole $7000 for the construction of 3¼ miles of that portion of railway known as the Kakabeka branch, extending from a point at or near the junction of the said railway with the Kaministiquia River to a point at or near Kakabeka Falls.

Defining Corrupt Practices.

During the discussion of Mr. Ross' bill to consolidate the acts respecting the election of members of the Legislature Mr. Meredith moved in amendment that—

Every person having any contract with the Government for the performance of any work, the doing of anything or the furnishing of any goods or materials, and having or expecting to have any claim or demand against the Government by reason of such contract, and every person having a liquor license, who either directly or indirectly, by himself or by any other person on his behalf, subscribes, promotes, or gives, or promises to give any money or other valuable consideration for the purpose of promoting the election of any candidate, or of any member, class or party of candidates to the Legislative Assembly, or with the intent in any way of influencing or affecting the results of any such election. And every person who receives such money or valuable consideration or the promise thereof is guilty of a corrupt practice.

Mr. Mowat explained that the clause in the Dominion Statutes was made to apply as much to Provincial as to Dominion elections.

Central Prison Expenditure.

When the House went into Committee of Supply Mr. Meredith moved the following resolution:

A vote of $15,500 for the erection of new buildings for the extension of industries at the Central Prison, and of $25,000 for machinery for the same purpose is being asked; that without any appropriation for the purpose aforesaid by this House or other legal warrant the Government has proceeded with the said works and thereby assumed to commit the House to such expenditure, and that such action is subversive of the principle of Parliamentary control of public expenditure, and in derrogation of rights and privileges of this House.

This was defeated on a strict party division of 28 yeas and 50 nays.

Mr. Gibson (Hamilton) submitted that the Government had acted within its constitutional authority in proceeding to erect the building.

Mr. Wood (Hastings) said the action of the Government was unwarranted and unconstitutional. It was a paltry excuse to offer that a few convicts would be idle if the building had not been proceeded with. Better to have 1000 men idle than that the principles of constitutional Government should be undermined.

Mr. McMahon considered the point at issue differed from that involved in the Upper Canada College matter. The expenditure of money—if there was expenditure—in this case could not be avoided. He would support the Government.

Some Generous Words.

Mr. Meredith was glad to see in the supplementary estimates an item proposing to increase the Attorney-General's salary. He thought that Mr. Mowat earned even more than the House was called upon to vote, and he was sure the proposal would meet with the acceptance of every member on that side of the House.

Mr. Monk was rather surprised to see in the supplementary estimates several sums for roads in North Renfrew, although no money had been spent in that part of the province for several years. He was totally unable to account for the change in the policy of the Government unless the change in the representation of that riding had influenced the Government.

Mr. Hardy thought such an insinuation ought not to be sent across the House, especially as there were estimates for several other ridings represented in the House by members of the Opposition. If no money had been spent in North Renfrew for several years it was a good reason for spending something now.

The Closing Scene.

Spectators were hardly aware that the business of the session had been ended when Mr. Gibson of Huron rose in his place and started "Auld Lang Syne," singing and clapping his hands as do the Salvation lasses. All the other members sprang to their feet, and crossing their arms before them joined hands and tried to join in the song of the immortal Robbie Burns. Mr. Gibson's voice is a high tenor, and he pitched the tune so high that the other members failed to keep in the same key. The Attorney-General looked round for someone to join hands with, but there were none of his colleagues near, so he struck in, evidently intending to swell the parting chorus. But alas, the tune was too high and the first note stuck in his throat. It gave nearly all the honorable gentlemen a pain to strive to be jolly with the tune soaring away up near "G," so in the middle of the second stanza they all gave a whoop and sat down. They then seized their chair cushions and shied them at one another's heads.

Called on the Premier for a Song.

The Speaker had just restored order when Mr. Hudson rose and moved that the Attorney-General be requested to give the House a song. The motion was soon seconded and the Speaker in his most deliberate tone said: "It has been moved and seconded that the Attorney-General give us a song. All in favor say aye!"

The "aye" that followed shook the roof.

"Carried unanimously," said the Speaker.

Mr. Mowat moved in amendment that the hon. member for London be called on for a song.

This was also carried unanimously, but the song seemed not to be forthcoming, so another consignment of flying books and papers did lively duty.

Something Unexpected.

Mr. Mowat then stood up and announced that he was about to call the attention of the House to a duty yet undone which he felt sure would gladden every member's heart. All was expectancy when he plunged deliberately in the proposition to subsidize the Ottawa and Montreal Railway. He said he had long had it in his heart to make this grant because the County of Prescott had no railway at all but he feared losing the support of so many of his followers as to risk being defeated. But now as the Opposition had assured him that they would support the proposition he was glad to move that the railway be granted a cash subsidy of $2000 per mile for 50 miles.

Pleasant Raillery.

Mr. Meredith was glad to support the motion, but he was sorry that our notle province had been so humiliated as to have its Premier compelled to say that he was unable to do what he thought was just and right without the aid of an Opposition which had so far been powerless to prevent unlawful expenditure of the public funds or to defeat unjust and hasty legislation.

Mr. Balfour protested against the proposed subsidy because his own county Essex had never received a dollar from the funds of the province for its railways.

Mr. Gibson (Huron) explained that there was no comparison between Essex and Prescott. Essex had received large grants from the Dominion, but Prescott to this day had not a railway tie within its borders.

Prescott will get its subsidy.

The last session in the old Parliament buildings then closed its business with "God Save the Queen," and three cheers for everybody.

Prorogation will take place on Thursday at 3 p.m.

HE IS GOOD AT FIGURES.

Astonishing Feats in Multiplication Performed by a Michigan 6-Year-Old.

MANTON, Mich., April 13.—A remarkable boy mathematician is at present attracting attention to this village. Frank Northrup is the lad's name, and his age is but 6 years. The boy's parents are receiving letters of enquiry, many of them from amusement managers, but they are not willing to place him upon exhibition.

His mathematical powers have come to him naturally. He is boyish in all his acts and in his speech, yet is an old head at figures. He solves mentally and with wonderful rapidity any sum in multiplication, no matter how large the figures.

A correspondent gave him any number of apparently difficult examples. In each instance he would readily move his lips, lisp the figures given, and then return the correct answer. When the figures 4, 9, 7, 7 were placed upon a piece of paper the young man could not give the amount they represented, but readily figured it. He simply knows the figures singly, and has not the least idea of grouping them.

Last fall he could not count above 12, and it was at this time his skill in figures was first recognized. He has attended school but two months. That he has a system of his own by which he works is evident by the thoughtful expression of his face and his repeating difficult questions.

Anarchy in Brazil.

LONDON, April 13.—The Brazilian Minister here has made a sensational statement as regards the causes of the disturbances in Brazil recently. He says that the seditious moment has been promoted by Anarchists who have been imported in large numbers into the country lately from Poland and East Prussia. The Anarchists, he says, fomented sedition under the pretence of a celebration of Gen. Fonseca's recovery from his illness. The Government by its prompt measures frustrated the attempt at a revolution. Subsequently it was ascertained by Government officials that many members of Congress had been implicated in the Anarchists' conspiracy. An order was issued that all those implicated be imprisoned and punished. A state of siege was proclaimed and rigidly enforced for three days. The republic is now quiet, and the garrisons remain loyal.

One Year For a Spy.

LONDON, April 11.—Edward Holden, formerly a quartermaster in the Royal Engineers Department, who was arrested for trying to obtain information regarding the defences of Malta to sell to a foreign government, was convicted Saturday and sentenced to one year's imprisonment at hard labor.

WINNIPEG, April 11.—On Saturday night at Brandon McKelvy & Dunwoody's dry-goods store was totally destroyed by fire.

Caught Smuggling.

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., April 12.—One day this week Joseph Van Etter of St. Georges, Ont., entered at the Custom House in this place a car load of turnips of 600 bushels on which the duty is 2 cents a bushel, which he paid. While moving in the yard the car became disabled and had to be unloaded, when it was discovered that the car contained 515 bushels of turnips and 85 bushels of potatoes, the duty on the latter being 25 cents a bushel.

The whole car load was seized and confiscated and will be sold at auction for the benefit of the Government.

The shipper in his attempt to cheat the Government out of less than $20 loses about $160.

JOSS STICKS ON A GRAVE

FUNG ON LAID TO REST WITH HIGH CHINESE HONORS.

One of the Wealthiest and Most Respected of the Philadelphia Celestial Merchants is Buried With all the Pomp and Ceremony Befitting His Rank in the Masonic Fraternity.

PHILADELPHIA, April 13.—Fung On, the financier of the Chinese Colony on Race-street, who was found dead in bed on Friday morning by his devoted son, Chang, was buried yesterday at the Philadelphia Cemetery with all the pomp and ceremony that the religion of Confucius demands. The 50 Celestials who accompanied the corpse to the tomb put off for the nonce their customary stoical demeanor, and during the celebration of their peculiar Chinese burial service laughed and joked and chattered in a manner that was, when the solemnity of the occasion is considered, extremely unique.

The Chinese regard a corpse with mortal dread. As soon, therefore, as Fung On had shuffled off this mortal coil his body was removed to the establishment of Undertaker J. Lewis Good, where it remained until yesterday afternoon. It was then placed in a hearse, and about the coffin numerous perfumed joss sticks were arrayed, which, being ignited, gave out a peculiar and fragrant odor. The body was conveyed to No. 907 Race-street, and there the services began. First a chicken was roasted whole and several quarts of rice were boiled, each of the 50 Chinamen who had assembled to do the dead man honor being given some little office to perform in the preparation of this food. Then the rice and chicken, together with several bottles of white rice wine, a large pot of tea, numerous papers inscribed with Chinese hieroglyphics, and many bundles of cigarettes, were carefully packed in a large basket and placed in one of the carriages. The 50 mourners entered the other conveyances, and, after letting off several packages of large fire crackers and a few Roman candles, bade the procession to proceed.

The Ride to the Cemetery.

During the drive down Tenth-street the monotony was relieved by the smoking of innumerable pipes and cigarets. Thousands of little sheets of Chinese paper, upon each of which was written: Fung On is dead. He was good," were thrown incessantly from the widows of the cabs, and although the wind blew many of these sheets away, a snowy trail was left all the way from Race-street to the cemetery, which is situated at Twenty-first street and Pamyunk-avenue. The coffin was borne to the little Chinese burial plot, and the box that was to contain it was lowered into the grave.

"Now, gentlemen, what comes next?" asked Undertaker Good.

"This next," answered one of the mourners, selecting a small brick upon one side of which several sentences were inscribed, from the varied contents of the basket.

Mr. Good, directed by the Celestials, dropped the brick into the box, and instantly a terrific hubbub arose. Fists were shaken in his face; awful maledictions, couched in an unknown tongue, were uttered against him, and when the excitement had partially subsided, he was given to understand that he had dropped the brick upside down. In other words, the writing upon it was invisible. The undertaker parleyed for a while, and finally persuaded a little Irish lad, who was one of a group of about 200 spectators, to descend into the cavity and rearrange the brick.

Threw Tea on the Coffin.

Peace was then restored. A fire, composed entirely of Chinese paper, was lighted at the foot of the grave; the coffin was lowered into the box and five tea cups were placed before the flames. The cups were filled with tea from a large pot and the mourners, grouping themselves in companies of five, approached them, bowed thrice and threw their contents upon the coffin. Then they were filled again and emptied as before, until each Chinaman had performed this office.

Several quarts of wine were poured about the fire, and the diggers were ordered to fill the grave. As the dirt was thrown into the cavity, the chicken upon a china plate, the rice, the teacups and pots, a bundle of joss sticks and the smouldering remains of the fire, which, although of paper, had burned slowly, were tossed upon the coffin and the ceremony was over.

More wine was poured out and toasts were drunk to the happiness of the departed. Cigarettes, heavily charged with opium, were lighted, and the mourners, laughing and joking gaily, departed.

DIDN'T KNOW HE WAS HIT.

But Two Hours Later Fell Dead from a Bullet Wound.

RAT PORTAGE, April 13.—Monday some Indians living at the Northwest Angle were examining a new revolver, not being aware of the fact that it was loaded. One of the cartridges was discharged, the bullet entering in the head of an Indian. He claimed that the bullet did not hit him. Several hours afterwards one of the Indians discovered blood on the injured man, and upon examining the head found the bullet imbedded near the right ear. Two hours after the Indian fully realized that he was shot he died. Duncan Begg brought into town the Indian who did the shooting and brought him before Judge Lyon, and after a couple of witnesses were heard the judge decided that it was an accident.

Turned the Pictures Toward the Wall.

BRANTFORD, April 13.—A number of prosecutions for truancy have occurred here during the past few days. Last night some persons broke into the White school house and damaged everything in sight. Ink was thrown around the room indiscriminately. Books, maps, papers, etc., were torn and destroyed. A hole was broken in the woodwork of the organ, the pictures were punctured and turned toward the wall and demolition occasioned generally Seal Skins Advance.

VICTORIA, B.C., April 13.—"Seal skins are on the raise," said one of the sealing men yesterday. The reason advanced is the very poor coast catch. Mostly all the schooners have lost money and some of them have not made a cent, and consequently skins will be scarce this season.

The seals are not plentiful this year and the very rough weather outside has made it impossible to get seals. The coast catch has been a decided failure.

The local buyers were paying $10 and $10.50 per skin yesterday. Mostly all of the owners were glad to get this price, as it is only a few days ago that $7.50 and $8 were the best prices offered by the local buyers.

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 13, 1892.

WHILE Ontario is very largely an agricultural Province its manufacturing and other industries are not unsignificant. Therefore the compliment paid to the farming profession in appointing Mr. N. Awrey to represent Ontario at the World's Exposition in Chicago is a concession to the profession from Mr. Awrey's known interest in Agricultural matters. He will make an excellent commissioner, and the Government could not have made a wiser nor more popular appointment.

THE present Legislature in voting an increase of $2,000 to Hon. Mr. Mowat's salary did a grateful act, that is, so far as pecuniary compensation constitutes a reward for the faithful and efficient services he has rendered the province for the past twenty years, during which he has managed its affairs so wisely. His routine administration has always been of the most prudent and statesmanlike character, but the special benefits he has rendered the province, have made his services worthy of conspicuous recognition. He has energetically and successfully waged winning battles in defence of our territorial and legislative rights, and it is fitting that the partial recognition implied in the addition of $2,000 to his salary should be made. There will be few to question the fairness and justice of such an addition, in fact it is safe to say, that when that essence of journalistic Toryism, the Empire, approves of the addition, none will object.

THE session of the Ontario Legislature is over, and there is no fulfilment of the promise, or rather threat, of the Hamilton Spectator, and other rabid Tory sheets of its kidney, to the effect that the session now concluded would reveal corruption and wrong-doing on the part of the Ontario Government, before which the revelations of corruption in Ottawa Government circles from the cabinet minister to a coal heaver, would be mere peccadilloes. But nothing has been found the least particle crooked. An energetic attempt was nevertheless made, but the only item of public expenditure that was challenged was a matter of some tomato sauce furnished the Toronto Insane Asylum. Why were not the promises of unearthing corruption at Toronto redeemed? Because there was nothing corrupt; there was no charge laid against a cabinet minister, and consequently no "servile majority" was called on to stifle investigation. By the way, what a tremendously cowardly act it was for the late Minister of War to skulk into hiding behind a technicality.

The Family Medicine.

Trout Lake, Ont., Jan. 2, 1890.

W. H. COMSTOCK, Brockville.

DEAR SIR:—For a number of years I have used and sold your "Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills." I consider them the very best for "Family Use," and all my customers speak highly of them.

Yours truly,
dw R. LAWSON.

READ THIS CAREFULLY.—Professor Lallemand and Perrin, assisted by the chemist Duroy, after a thorough study of the effects of alcohol and a series of observations, on which they have written a book, have noticed the peculiar tendency of alcohol to accumulate in the brain, the liver, and the kidneys, where it is found after the death of inebriates. According to their observations the selective power of alcohol for the brain is nearly twice as great as that for the liver, and nearly three times as great as that for other tissues. The Father Mathew Remedy is the only specific known against the deleterious effects of alcohol.

Nearly every one needs a good spring medicine, and Hood's Sarsaparilla is undoubtedly the best, Try it this season.

An Important Warning.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

DEAR SIR. — The following paragraph, which recently appeared in the legal reports of the Toronto newspapers, is of vital importance to the people of Canada:—

Q. B. AND C. P. DIVISIONS.

Before STREET, J.

FULFORD V. HOWE.—Hoyles, Q. C., for the plaintiff, George Taylor Fulford, of the town of Brockville, druggist, moved for an injunction restraining the defendants, S. L. Howe and W. A. Howe, from selling pills in imitation of those sold by the plaintiff under the name of "Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People," and thereby infringing the plaintiff's trade mark for such pills registered under that name, which, the plaintiff alleges, by reason of his extensive advertising, is well known throughout Canada. Judgement granted for a perpetual injunction.

An old adage has it that "imitation is the sincerest flattery," but when imitation takes the form of palming off upon the public worthless, perhaps positively harmful drugs, in imitation of a popular remedy, it is quite time the public is aroused to the sense of the injustice done them. There is no other proprietary remedy in Canada to-day that approaches Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in the esteem and confidence with which it is regarded by the people. And justly so, as this remedy has to its credit cures in cases where even the most eminent men in the rank of medical science had pronounced the patients incurable. These cases have been thoroughly investigated by such leading newspapers as the Toronto Globe, Hamilton Times, Spectator and Herald, Halifax Herald, Detroit News, Albany Journal, Le Monde, Montreal, and others, and their accuracy vouched for. Thus Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have achieved a continental reputation, with the result that we find dealers here and there imposing upon the public by selling, in their stead, for the sake of extra profit, worthless imitations. These imitations are sometimes given names somewhat approaching the original, while in other cases the dealer, while not openly offering an imitation, impose upon the customer by declaring that he can give him something "just as good." In still other cases Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are openly imitated in size, color and shape, and are sold in loose form by the dozen or hundred as the genuine Pink Pills. Against all these imitations the public should be constantly on their guard. There is absolutely no other pill, or no other remedy, that can take the place of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills as a nerve tonic and blood builder. To purchase any imitation, any substitute, or any remedy said to be "just as good" is a worse than useless expenditure of money. The public can protect themselves against all imitations of this great remedy if they will remember that DR. WILLIAMS' PINK PILLS ARE NEVER SOLD IN BULK, OR BY THE DOZEN OR HUNDRED. They are always put up in neat round boxes about two and a half inches in length, the wrapper around which is printed in red ink, and bears the trade mark, "Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People." If offered to you in any other form depend upon it they are worthless imitations and should be rejected as such. If your dealer does not keep Dr. Williams' Pink Pills do not let him persuade you to take any substitute he may say is "just as good." Dr. Williams' Pink Pills may be had by mail, post paid, on receipt of price, 50 cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50, by addressing the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont., or Morristown, N. Y.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Mr. John McGregor an old resident of this place expired on Monday the 4th inst at the age of 72 years. The deceased was an invalid for over a year. He was generally respected by the public and will be missed by his old associates. His remains was followed to the Pine Grove cemetery, on Wednesday by a large concourse of friends and neighbours, where his body was deposited in its final resting place.

Many farmers in this neighborhood during the fine weather of the past week commenced the spring seeding operation but were checked in their progress by the recent cold snap. Fall wheat in this section looks first-class and promises to be an abundant crop providing the weather proves favorable.

On Sunday evening last as the congregation were dispersing from the Methodist church a vicious dog owned by a farmer who had a horse in the church shed made himself conspicuous and disagreeable by biting every person whom he came in contact with. We do not wish to be severe or personal, but would as a favor of this farmer to keep his dog at home in the future.

The organizer of the Select Knights held a meeting in the Agricultural Hall at Centreville lately in view of having a lodge organized. Mr. Thos. Donaldson, Mr. Geo. We are of the opinion that it is a splendid thing and Centreville will do well in having such a benevolent society organized.

Consumptives!

Do not give up until you have tried Miller's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil, which make flesh and blood, is a positive cure for coughs and colds, bronchitis, sore throats, and all lung troubles tending to consumption. Persons have been known to gain from five to ten pounds in weight by taking one bottle of Miller's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil, which contains hypophosphites of lime and soda. In big bottles, 50c. and $1, at Peterborough Drug Store's.

Cold Weather Trials

DEAR SIRS.—This fall and winter I suffered from neuralgia in my face and had the best medical advice without avail. I at last thought of trying B.B.B., and after using one bottle have not felt any symptoms of neuralgia since. I regard it as a fine family medicine.

Lines

Written on the death of Edith Mary, infant daughter of Mr. William Lewis, who died February 21st, 1892, aged six months.

Silent lies the little sleeper,
With the lilies on her breast;
Yonder, kiss or burst of weeping
Shall not stir her perfect rest.

Closed those sweet, dark eyes for ever,
On the changeful scenes below;
Never on the polished forehead
Shall care trace one line of woe.

Never more shall blast of winter
Rudely move her flaxen hair;
Ne'er shall those waxen fingers
Close on aught that is not fair.

Gone where endless summer smileth,—
Gone where all the air is love,
Mother, in the Saviour's bosom,
Nestles now your snow-white dove.

For the Ark of Peace she fluttered
From the storm, and wind and rain;
Surely for her feet the fowler
Now may spread his net in vain.

O'er the limit of sweet safety
Ever can her free wing rove,
For her joy's immense horizon
Stretches far as boundless love.

Till the day of festal glories,
Till the Lamb's sweet bridal morn,
Wears on radiant brow and bosom
Every jewel must be worn.

Then our treasures swift unlocking,
He will every gem restore;
Touching each with peerless lustre
That time may never tarnish more,

Then your pearl that dropped so lately,
From its fragile setting here;
And you laid aside so sadly,
Blinded by the falling tear.

Ye shall find a light-encircled,
Pure and precious spotless gem;
Through eternal years to sparkle on,
In your fadeless diadem.

J. H. M.

Interested People.

Advertising a patent medicine is the peculiar way in which the proprietor of Kemp's Balsam for Coughs and Colds does, it is indeed wonderful. He authorizes all druggists to give those who call for it, a sample bottle free, that they may try it before purchasing. The large bottles are 50c and a dollar. We certainly would advise a trial. It may save you from consumption. dw

The rush of land buyers keeps up. This will be the biggest week in our history. On Monday we sold four thousand acres; yesterday five thousand; to-day four thousand. Buyers from Red River Valley and Dakota are picking up the plums.

The Boscovitz Concert.

Another word about Mr. Frederick Boscovitz's concert, which will take place on Thursday evening, April 21st, at Bradburn's Opera House. It is to be remembered that, besides playing, the distinguished artist will intersperse his selections with brief "obats" relative to the compositions being treated. These, besides being of the utmost value in an educational sense, will be highly interesting and will prove a delightful novelty. Mr. Boscovitz's three concerts given in Toronto this season were patronized to such an extent that the hall was inconveniently crowded. This may be accepted as the strongest evidence of popularity. Prices for reserved seats has been placed at 50 cents. Seats can be reserved at Sohofield's Drug Store, on and after Tuesday 19th April.

Auctioneer.

Dr. Stephenson's Great Horse Sale.

A large number attended the great horse sale at Dr. A. R. Stephenson's stables on Chambers street this afternoon. Mr. John Haggart was the auctioneer and he did his work well. Forty five horses where entered altogether and they sold fast. Most of the animals were high class and some very fine young stock was sold at good prices. The prevailing price was from $120 to $150. One large brown horse sold at $190, which was the highest price realized for any animal. Horse buyers were present from Montreal, Toronto, Boston, Pennsylvania and other places. Mr. W. Shaylor, of Edwards, Penn., was in attendance and purchased a number of horses weighing between 1200 and 1400 pounds, and between the ages of four and ten years. A large number of the animals were bought for the Toronto Street Railway. On the whole the sale was a great success.

The Tankard Medals Here.

The annual meeting of the Royal Caledonian Curling Club was held in Toronto yesterday. Mr. E. B. Edwards, of Peterborough, and Mr. J. D. Flavelle, of Lindsay, were in attendance. Mr. Edwards brought back with him the medal awarded the Peterborough rink for the gallant struggle they made in the Ontario Tankard competition. Skips W. G. Ferguson and T. Rutherford were the men pitted against the Granites in the final competition for the Tankard. The medal is a handsome and costly silver one, in the shape of a maltese cross, and in the centre of the cross is the raised impression of a stone. On it are the words "Ontario Branch R.C.C.C., 1892." Mr. Edwards also has in his possession the medal given by the Caledonian Society for the district competition. It was won by Lakefield against Campbellford, and will be forwarded to the winning rink at once. On it are engraved the words "Royal Canadian Curling Club, Instituted July 25th, 1838. Won by Lakefield vs. Campbellford 1892". It is said only six of the district medals were competed for, of which nineteen were allocated.

The Long and the Short of It.

There was only one occupant of the cells last night. His name was John Martin, and he is the littlest man ever seen in Peterborough. He was to have been brought up before the police magistrate this morning charged with vagrancy, but his worship being out of town, Chief of Police Rogers sought to administer the required justice to the prisoner. So the man of diminutive stature stepped out beside the herculean constable in the alley way between the cells, when the following interview occurred:

CHIEF—How long will it take you to get out of town?

PRISONER—I can't walk out of town; I want to be sent to gaol for a few weeks as I am out of work.

CHIEF—What the reason you can't walk out of town? You are too lazy; that's the reason. (Then with a glance at the man's pedal extremities)—your feet are big enough to carry you out, I am sure.

PRISONER—Yes, I know that; but my boots are too big for them, and I can't walk. It isn't because I am too lazy to get out of town that I don't want to go.

CHIEF—Well, you can take your choice. If you want to you can come back to-night, and receive six months to-morrow in the Central. So take your choice.

The prisoner weighed the consequences carefully and after a moment's deliberation slowly started off and was soon lost to view in the noisy crowd.

Market Items.

The mart this morning was rather meagerly attended. A dozen waggons dotted the square while half a dozen woman sold butter and eggs upstairs. Potatoes and apples were in superabundance as usual. The former sold at 40, 45 and 50c. per bag, while the apples sold at 20c. per peck of from 75 to 90c. per bag. Maple syrup sold at $1.00 to $1.10 per gallon and nearly every one had to have a taste thrown in in order to tell whether it was good syrup or not. The miscellaneous articles sold and the prices they went for, are beans 55. per quart, cabbage 40c per doz., or 5c. a piece, onions 25c. per quart, etc. Eggs sold steadily at 11c. per. doz., and butter wavered from 20 to 22c. per lb. The supply of both was limited. A large number of loads of hay were offered, selling readily at $12 00 and $13 00 per ton. Straw is selling at $3.50 and $4 00 a load. Two loads of spring wheat sold at 79c. (straight) this morning, while a couple of loads of oats were knocked down at 33c. per bush. Then the presence of a patent medicine vender to extol in stentorian voice the merits of his panacea, and the appearance of a seven months old calf weighing 640 lbs., formed a fitting climax of the proceedings on the market square this morning.

Death of an Old Former Resident.

In our telegraphic despatches the death is noted at 93 Clinton Place, New York, of Mr. James McCarrol, who will be well remembered by the older citizens of town. Mr. McCarroll became a resident of Peterborough about 60 years ago. He was connected with the Despatch newspaper the prototype of the EXAMINER and he was a lively and vigorous writer. He was noted for his geniality and quick Irish wit. He was a man of very versatile qualities—he had unusual literary abilities both in prose and poetry, was an inventor, and was an accomplished musician—being one of the best flautists in Canada. He gave lessons on this instrument to Mr. Wm. Clinton, and their musical tastes cemented a strong friendship, which existed at the time of Mr. McCarroll's death.

Mr. S. G. Derry

Of Providence, R. I.,

Widely known as proprietor of Derry's Waterproof Harness Oil, tells below of his terrible sufferings from Eczema and his cure by

HOOD'S

Sarsaparilla

"Gentlemen: Fifteen years ago I had an attack of inflammatory rheumatism, which was followed by eczema or salt rheum, breaking out on my right leg. The humor spread all over my legs, back and arms,

A Foul Mass of Sores, swollen and itching terribly, causing intense pain if the skin was broken by scratching, and discharging constantly. It is impossible to describe my suffering in those years of agony and torture. I spent in futile efforts to get well, and was discouraged and ready to die. At this time I was unable to lie down in bed, had to sit up all the time, and was unable to walk without crutches. I had to hold my arms away from my body, and had to have my arms, back and legs bandaged by my faithful wife twice a day.

"Finally a friend who was visiting at our house, urged me to take Hood's Sarsaparilla. I began by taking half a teaspoonful. My

Stomach Was All Out of Order

But the medicine soon corrected this, and in six weeks I could see a change in the condition of the humor which nearly covered my body. It was driven to the surface by the Sarsaparilla, the sores soon healed, and the scales fell off. I was soon able to give up bandages and crutches, and a happy man I was. I had been taking Hood's Sarsaparilla for seven months; and since that time, nearly two years, I have worn no bandages whatever and my legs and arms are sound and well.

The Delight

of myself and wife at my recovery it is impossible to tell. To all my business friends in Boston and over the country, I recommend Young's Point Railway Extension.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

DEAR SIR,—Will you kindly give space in your valuable paper to a few words in reply to a letter which appeared in a recent issue of the Lakefield Chronicle re Railway Extension to Young's Point, and signed by "Tourist."

From the nature of "Tourist's" remarks it would appear that he is altogether unacquainted with the facts of the case, or he wilfully misrepresents it, for reasons of his own. He reminds me forcibly of the "dog in the manger," and probably has his own "axe to grind."

As I lived in the vicinity of Young's Point for a number of years, and spent a considerable portion of each summer on Stony Lake, I shall endeavour to dispel the erroneous impressions made by "Tourist's" remarks on many who are unacquainted with the facts.

Let us first examine the question from the camper's standpoint. On his arrival in Lakefield his luggage and camp supplies—no small item—are thrown upon the station platform, and have to be carted to the wharf, and in spite of the utmost efforts of the boat hands, the baggage of one party will get mixed up with that of another, who, probably, is travelling by a different steamer, and thus much trouble arises. Cases have frequently come under my notice, when the baggage of one camper was carried to another's island, where it remained for days waiting for the proper claimant. Thus much time is frittered away, and those passengers who are going up for the day only, lose the best part of it before the steamers can get under way.

"Tourist" refers to the sail from Lakefield to Young's Point as the most pleasant portion of the trip. Possibly this may be the case with him and a few others, who, probably, are engaged in the frog trade, and delight to hear the discordant croakings of these amphibious reptiles even while "on pleasure bent." But to the great majority of passengers a trip through a marshy weed-bed, or through a decaying bank of sawdust, is anything but agreeable, and even the most devout cannot fail to utter a smothered anathema when the boat strikes on a hidden rock and breaks the propellor, and he is unwillingly delayed in such an unpleasant place.

Nor are the boat owners particularly interested in this part of the trip, as the loss which they sustain annually through breakage, owing to shallow water, would in itself be sufficient to lay a considerable portion of the proposed railway track.

Lumbermen also frequently suffer loss, as their boom often gets caught in a narrow channel, and in order to give the steamers a passage they are compelled to "cut the boom," and thus they are put to the trouble of picking up the scattered timber again.

On arrival at Young's Point the steamers are delayed while looking, and also while waiting for tardy passengers, who in order to banish the disagreeable odors of the frog inhabited marsh, hasten over to the Carleton House to see what the genial "Mac" can provide by way of antidote.

Owing to the above mentioned causes at least two hours are lost, and the tourist instead arriving at his island in time to enjoy a hearty dinner, for which the bracing air has created a ravenous appetite, is forced to satisfy his cravings with a dry lunch, and thus he becomes ill-humoured for the rest of the day.

On the other hand, should the railway be extended to Young's Point and a suitable wharf built at the terminus at the foot foot of Clear Lake, all the annoyances and inconveniences would be avoided, and Stony Lake—than which there is no more delightful place in America on which to spend the summer—would become the resort of thousands of individuals who would flock there from all parts, could the place be conveniently reached.

As "Farmer" in his letter has ably pointed out the advantages of a railway from a business standpoint, it is unnecessary for me to refer to the matter in that respect, but I wish to endorse his statements in every particular.

I am pleased to see that the Peterborough Board of Trade have interested themselves in the matter, and hope that they may bring the matter to a successful issue, in the near future, overruling any objections raised by "Tourist" and the few others of the same class, who desire to reap pecuniary benefits at the expense and inconvenience of the vast majority.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, for your valuable space, I am,

Sincerely Yours,
OBSERVER.

The Boundary Bridges Legislation.

The Way the Law-makers Have Settled the Case.

The bill affecting these matters, introduced by the county of Victoria, has been amended in its passage through the House so as to admit of the question of the maintenance of the Bobcaygeon bridges, to which the Pigeon Creek bridge is added, being submitted to arbitration. The contest over this bill was a most vigorous one. Hardly any local bill has been the excuse for so energetic a fight. The member for Victoria, Dr. McKay, who had charge of the bill, did his duty faithfully by his constituents, but his case was weakened by the unreasonableness of some of his supporters in reference to the bill, in not consenting to the principle of arbitration, and the addition of the Pigeon Creek bridge to the schedule. Any fair-minded man who understands the case, could not object to the Pigeon Creek bridge being added; for it is palpable, that the Bobcaygeon bridges would be of no service to Peterborough, without the Pigeon Creek bridge. As the matter now stands, Victoria has gained nothing by her recent legislative move; on the other hand, she will have to share, as the arbitrators may decide, the cost of maintaining the Pigeon Creek bridge, which is much more expensive than the Bobcaygeon bridges to maintain. Peterborough has every reason to be gratefully satisfied with the result of the efforts of her representatives, both in the county council and Legislature.

However the matter is settled equitably for both counties have to use the bridges in question, and the proportionate liability for maintenance will be decided by a board of arbitrators consisting of three persons, two selected by the counties interested and the third by the Superior Court. It is to be hoped, however, that there will be no need of arbitrations, but that the two counties will come to an amicable understanding upon the subject of bridge maintenance.

Self Application of Electricity
FOR MEDICAL PURPOSES
BY THE DORENWEND ELECTRIC BELT
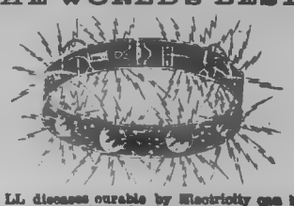
And Attachments.

HEAD OFFICE—103 Yonge St., Toronto

THE WORLD'S BEST.



ALL diseases curable by Electricity can be treated at home by the Dorenwend Appliance. The Dorenwend is the only legitimate Electric Belt made which fulfils the requirements of Electro-medical science. It is a complete BODY BATTERY. It has an independent Battery, which generates a mild, continuous current of Electricity (without shocks) and can be regulated to suit the strongest man or the weakest child. It is a CURRENT of QUANTITY, not merely a sensation current, and the quantity current is the greatest curative. It is a rejuvenating treatment for INDIGESTION, RHEUMATISM, NEURALGIA, SCIATICA, LUMBAGO, LIVER AND KIDNEY TROUBLES, WEAK BACK, SPINAL DISEASE, HEART DISEASE, NERVOUS DEBILITY, PARALYSIS, VERTIGO, FEMALE COMPLAINTS, IMPOTENCY, SEXUAL DEBILITY and all diseases of the Nervous and Muscular Systems.

Remember that the DORENWEND BELT is the very latest invention in this line, and was invented by a competent electrician, and ranks as the best in the world; we defy anyone to bring proof to the contrary.

Do not class this Belt with the humbug combinations of leather and metal with which the country is being flooded. If you wish to experiment with cheap articles, buy THEM but if you want to procure a genuine Electric Belt and one that will be a benefit get a Dorenwend Belt.

THE CANADA LIFE ASSURANCE CO'Y.

Forty-Fifth Annual Meeting of the Great Institution.

Remarkable Record for the Past Year—The Annual Report—Election of Directors.

The 45th annual meeting of the greatest of Canadian insurance institutions, the Canada Life Assurance Company, was held to-day in the board room of the Company's head office in Hamilton. There were present a gathering of the representative men of Canada, men whose names are known all over the country for solidity and business ability, with Mr. G. A. Ramsay, president of the company, presiding over the deliberations. The meeting was a most harmonious and eminently satisfactory one.

Mr. Ramsay took the chair shortly after 12 o'clock, with Mr. Roland Hills as secretary of the meeting.

President Ramsay submitted the following:

REPORT BY THE BOARD OF DIRECTORS OF THE CANADA LIFE ASSURANCE COMPANY, SUBMITTED TO THE ANNUAL GENERAL MEETING OF SHAREHOLDERS, HELD AT HAMILTON ON THE 5TH OF APRIL, 1892:

The business of 1891, being the company's 45th year, was again highly favourable. The new assurances applied for were 2,507 in number, and $5,029,088 in amount. Of these, 186 for $259,500 were declined, the lives not appearing to reach that standard of eligibility which it is in the best interest of our assurers should be maintained. Of the balance of $5,669,588, upon 2,871 lives, which were accepted by the directors, 204 for $414,562 were not carried out, leaving the actual new assurances of the year $5,255,021 under 2,167 policies, with a new annual income premium of $178,-191.06.

At 31st December last there were in force $56,218,318.03 of assurances and bonus additions, upon 19,563 lives, under 26,484 policies

The statement of receipts and payments, and the abstract of assets and liabilities, herewith submitted, show that the income of the year was $2,213,086.27, and that the assets amounted to $12,074,-124 87, having being increased during the year by $1,041,684 78.

The death claims for the year were upon 192 lives under 243 policies for $511,879.11, including profits, a sum considerably under that of the previous year, 1890, when the amount was a good deal affected by the epidemic of la grippe which then prevailed, and its results.

The business at the various branches has been generally well sustained, and having last year alluded to anticipations of successful progress at the Michigan branch, it may be mentioned that these have been largely realized.

In compliance with the company's charter the following directors retire by rotation, but are eligible for re-election: The Hon. Sir Alexander Campbell, K. C. M. G., Toronto; Andrew Allan, Esq., Montreal, and Thomas Swinyard, Esq., New York State.

PRESIDENT RAMSAY'S REMARKS.

Mr. A. G. Ramsay moved the adoption of the annual report. In so doing he reviewed carefully and ably, the business of the year. He said:—

I beg to move the adoption of the directors report now before you, and although the statements which it, and the published accounts, which have been in your hands for some days, so clearly indicate the success of the past year's business, and the sound position of the company, that I need take up but little of the time of this annual meeting in adverting to them, it may be interesting. I dare say, that I draw your attention shortly to some of the features which these documents disclose. The new business of the past year amounted, you will see to $5,-255,021, a sum so nearly approaching the best year we have ever had that I think we may well congratulate you upon it. It has happily been our good fortune each year for so long to be able to make a somewhat similar statement that I fear it may appear a somewhat monotonous one, for which, however, I need offer no apology. You will have noticed that the total assurances in force at the close of 1801 were $56,218.318, an amount which suggests a very large measure of public support and confidence in the company. The income continues to largely increase, and it amounted last year to $2,213,086, more than twice as much as it was ten years ago, and nearly seven times what it was twenty years ago. With the possibility of a corresponding progress in the future we may well be encouraged to continue that caution and care in the direction and in the management of the company's affairs, which in the past have made the Canada Life's name synonymous with that of integrity, liberality and stability. The large addition of over $1,000,000 was added to the company's assets last year, making them $12,074,12⅝, or about twice what they were only seven years ago. While difficulty in obtaining satisfactory investments as they were wanted was experienced during the year, every effort and the best judgment of the board were exercised so as to make that difficulty as little felt as possible.

As you are well aware, there has of late years been a gradual reduction in the rate of interest obtainable on the best class of securities, and while our Company is of course affected by that, in common with all others, every exertion is made to diminish as far as we can any loss in that way.

The death claims during 1891 were $511,873, being a lower amount than they had been in 1890, when, largely by the grippe epidemic, they reached $603,384.

The statment of receipts and payments shows that during 1891, $316,370 was paid to policy-holders as profits, a return of nearly 20 per cent. of the year's premiums paid to the Company, a percentage of profits on premiums paid so rarely reached by other companies as to lead us to press upon intending assurers the advantages which our Company offers in that respect. In alluding to that I am very glad indeed to have the opportunity of saying that by the courtesy of the Superintendent of Insurance we were yesterday favoured with the result of the Government's quinquennial valuation of our Company's affairs. It shows that over and above the full reserve we are required by the Government of Canada to hold, and all liabilities, we have on hand a large profit surplus such as indicates no diminution in the Company's profit-making powers. You have been informed by the Director's Report of the generally favourable progress of the Company's various branches, and the efforts of our Managers and Agents are well deserving of our thanks and encouragement. Special allusion has been made to the branch established by the Company, in Michigan in 1890. Because it being somewhat of an experiment, you would naturally desire to hear specially as to it. I am very pleased to be able to say that the progress of the branch is so satisfactory as to have last year placed the Company in the fourteenth position, in point of new assurances, out of 32 companies doing business in the State. For a great deal of our success in Michigan, we are indebted to the support of the prominent and influential gentlemen who have been good enough to aid us by acting upon our Board of Reference. I am glad to tell you that we have entered upon the year 1892 with the most encouraging prospects. The new business up to the present date far exceed that of any previous year, and I trust that at our next meeting we may be able to again record a continuance of such prosperity as has already been so satisfactory to you and to our various policy-holders.

VICE-PRESIDENT GATES' REMARKS.

Mr. F. W. Gates, Vice-President of the Company, seconded the adoption of the report. In doing so he said:—

Mr. Chairman and gentlemen.—When it is borne in mind that there has been no perceptible improvement in business generally throughout the country during the past year, I think we must be compelled to admit that the statement which has been presented to-day ought to be considered highly satisfactory. It is true that the company might have done a much larger amount of business than has been done if we had been less scrupulously careful in the acceptance of risks which have been applied for. As the report shows, and as the president has pointed out, many applications have been rejected. We have exercised the greatest care in this matter in order that the company and the insured alike might be fully protected. We did not indulge in the extravagances which some companies have in order to increase our business, but have rather followed a policy of carefnl management in the interest of the company. I well remember some years ago that the president in his address referred with a good deal of pleasure to the fact that we had an income of $1,000 a day; now it is $7,000 a day, and it was easy then to invest $1,000 a day. It is not so easy to invest $7,000 now, even with the lower rate of interest, I may again refer to the remarkably small losses, and again congratulate the company upon that state of affairs. I have much pleasure, gentlemen, in seconding the motion for the adoption of the report.

President Ramsay put the motion, which was carried unanimously.

THANKS TO PRESIDENT AND DIRECTORS.

Mr. Byron E. Walker moved a vote of thanks to the President and Directors for their attention to the interests of the company during the year.

In offering the motion Mr. Walker said:—It gives me very great pleasure indeed to propose the thanks of the shareholders to our President and Directors. Reference has been made to the growth and success of the Canada Life in the past, and I consider that they are largely due to the excellent management. The big companies in the United States are beginning to realize that it may be possible to do too much business, but I am sure that if the policy which has been pursued by the Canada Life in the past is adhered to, another ten years of our career will show corresponding prosperity. I hope that our President may long be spared to direct the affairs of the company, and that he may have the advice and co-operation of such men as now constitute the directorate.

Sir Henry McLaren—Mr. President and gentlemen, I have very much pleasure in seconding the motion.

The motion was put and carried unanimously, amid applause.

President Ramsay replied:—I expect that I shall have to reply to the motion you have just passed. I thank you very much indeed for the resolution and for the kind expressions made use of. I believe I can confidently say that every one of the Directors has done all that was in his power to further the interests of the company.

THREE DIRECTORS ELECTED.

The Hon. Mr. Justice Burton moved the appointment of Messrs. W. F. Findlay and Campbell Farrie as scrutineers of votes for the election of Directors in the room of the three retiring, and that the poll shall now be opened, and closed upon five minutes elapsing without a vote being tendered.

Mr. Matthew Leggat seconded the motion, which was carried.

The voting took a good deal of time, and while the ballots were being counted other business was proceeded with. The election resulted in the choice of Hon. Sir Alexander Campbell, K.C. M. G., of Toronto, Mr. Andrew Allan, of Montreal, and Mr. Geo. A. Cox, of Toronto. The last named gentlemen will take the place of Mr. Thomas Swinyard on the Board, the other two gentlemen being re-elected.

The usual votes of thanks were passed, and at a meeting of the directors subsequently held, Mr. A. G. Ramsay was re-elected President, and Mr. F. W. Gates, Vice-President.

"German Syrup"

A Farmer at Edom, Texas, Says:

"We are six in family. We live in a place where we are subject to violent Colds and Lung Troubles. I have used German Syrup for six years successfully for Sore Throat, Cough, Cold, Hoarseness, Pains in the Chest and Lungs, and spitting-up of Blood. I have tried many different kinds of cough Syrups in my time, but let me say to anyone wanting such medicine—German Syrup is the best. That has been my experience. If you use it once, you will go back to it whenever you need it. It gives total relief and is a quick cure. My advice to everyone suffering with Lung Troubles is —Try it. You will soon be convinced. In all the families where your German Syrup is used we have no trouble with the Lungs at all. It is the medicine for this country.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Cobb, town clerk, informing the council of a meeting which is to be held in town on the 16th inst, re the sewerage scheme, and asking the township to be represented. One from E B. Another petition in respect to schools was presented by John Johnston and signed by himself and 13 others, residents of Cavan and Monaghan, asking the council to detach a portion of the Union Section from the present Union Section with Cavan, and to attach to another section or to erect into a section by itself; also a copy of motion from South Monaghan council offering to expend $25.00 on the boundary, on condition North Monaghan would expend a like sum.

Councillors Hunter and McIntosh were appointed to attend the next meeting of the South Monaghan council to make arrangements about a grant, also about the statute labour on the boundary. The clerk was instructed to write the clerk of South Monaghan to that effect.

On motion Mr. Johnston was instructed to see the ditch at Eastland's, and make such an arrangement as he may think best. On motion the resignation of Mr. J. T. Green, was accepted.

The whole council was appointed a deputation to attend the meeting to be held to discuss the proposed sewerage system of the town of Peterborough. Also on motion the whole council was appointed a committee to secure if possible some gravel pits at various places for the township. The clerk was instructed to write to Mr. J. G. Forster was ordered to be paid; also on motion that no action be taken on any of the petitions in respect to remodeling, dividing or changing any of the boundaries of the school sections. It was decided on motion that a meeting of the council will be held on Monday, the 25th day of April, at 1 30 p.m. at the office of the clerk (at his residence) for the purpose of taking into consideration and deciding upon the advisability of asking the Lieutenant-Governor of Ontario (as provided by chapter 152, sections 38 and 39 R. S. O., entitled an an Act respecting Land Surveyors and Land Surveys) to survey and establish all road allowances on or adjoining township lots Nos. 13, 14 and 15 in the 11th concession, better known as the Park Lots south of the town. The council then adjourned.

Spring, with its rapid changes and wet weather, is the most trying season in our Canadian climate, and at this more than at any other time do the ravages of catarrh make themselves felt. As an immediate relief for cold in the head, and as a thorough cure for catarrh, nothing yet discovered equals Nasal Balm. It is easy to use, pleasant and agreeable. Sold by all dealers or sent post-paid on receipt of price —50c. for small bottles or $1 for large bottle. G. T. Fulford & Co., Brockville.

Cure For Dyspepsia.

As is well known, this troublesome complaint arises from over-eating, the use of too much rich food, neglected constipation, lack of exercise, bad air, etc. The food should be thoroughly chewed and never bolted or swallowed in haste, stimulants must be avoided and exercise taken if possible. A remedy which has rarely failed to give prompt relief and effect permanent cures, even in the most obstinate cases, is Burdock Blood Bitters. It acts by regulating and toning the digestive organs, removing costiveness and increasing the appetite and restoring health and vigor to the system. As a case in point we quote from a letter written by Miss L. A. Kuhn, of Hamilton, Ont:—"Two years ago life seemed a burden. I could not eat the simplest food without being in dreadful misery in my stomach, under my shoulders and across the back of my neck. Medical advice failed to procure relief and seeing B.B.B. advertised, I took two bottles of it, and have been entirely free from any symptoms of my complaint since." This gives very conclusive proof of the efficiency of this wonderful remedy. dw

At Home and Abroad.

Physicians, travelers, pioneers, settlers, invalids and all classes of people of every degree, testify to the medicinal and tonic virtues of Burdock Blood Bitters, the most popular and effective medicine extant. It cures all diseases of the stomach, liver, bowels and blood. dw

INTENSE SUFFERING!

Mr. William Buchanan, 24 years engineer in the Cunard Steamship Company's service, 8 St. John's Road, Kirkdale, Liverpool, Eng., writes: "I suffered two years of agony from an affection in the head which six physicians pronounced incurable.

They were divided in opinion as to whether it was acute neuralgia of the head or rheumatic affection of the brain, but all agreed that I could never recover. In my paroxysms of pain it needed two and sometimes three men to hold me down in bed. When at death's door, was applied to my head. It acted like magic. It saved my life. I am well and hearty, and have had no return of the trouble."

ST. JACOBS OIL

"ALL RIGHT! ST. JACOBS OIL DID IT."

NORMAN, Ont., January 15, 1890.

W. H. COMSTOCK, Brockville, Ont.

DEAR SIR,—Your "Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills" are the best regulator for the system that humanity can use. Life is as the time-piece: frail and delicate are many of its works. A tiny particle of foreign substance adheres to the smallest wheel in the works, and what is the result?—at first only a slight difference is perceptible in its time-keeping, but wait you; as the obstruction grows, the irregularity becomes greater, until at last, what could have been rectified with little trouble, in the beginning, will now require much care in thoroughly cleansing the entire works. So it is in human life—a slight derangement is neglected, it grows and increases, imperceptibly at first, then rapidly, until what could, in the beginning, have been cured with little trouble, becomes almost fatal. To prevent this, I advise all to purify the system frequently, by the use of Morse's Pills, and so preserve vigor and vitality.

Yours faithfully,
H. F. ATWELL.

ANOTHER CLUE AGAINST MURDERER DEEMING.

Portions of His Murdered Wife's Clothing Found in an Unclaimed Basket at a Railway Station—Shocking Murder by a Jealous Lover in England

LONDON, April 13.—The British authorities have applied for a warrant against Deeming, the murderer, so that he may be brought to England and prosecuted for the Rainhill crimes in case the prosecution in Australia should result in failure to convict. The application has been made at Widnes, Lancashire, within the magisterial jurisdiction where the Rainhill murders were perpetrated. One of the newspapers republishes an account of the banquet given by Deeming, alias Williams, at the time that he left England with Miss Mather, the wife whom he murdered at Melbourne. It reads queerly now:

On Wednesday evening, Mr. Albert O. Williams, an inspector of the Indian Army Service, who is on a short visit to England, and has taken up his residence in Rainhill while in this country, entertained at the Railway and Commercial Hotel, Rainhill, a number of the residents of the village whose friendship he has made during his sojourn among them. The menu was of an excellent character. After full justice had been done to the good things provided, Mr. Williams presided and Mr. Short occupied the vice-chair.

The usual loyal and patriotic toasts having been submitted and responded to, one of the guests in a felicitous speech proposed the 'health of their host, Mr. Williams.' He said that whilst that gentleman had been with them in Rainhill he had made many friendships which he sincerely hoped, now that he was going away again to foreign service, would tend for many hours, when ennui set in, to bring back to his mind the many pleasant and social evenings he had spent with them at Rainhill.

The toast was enthusiastically drunk with musical honors. Mr. Williams, in reply, thanked his guests for the hearty way in which they had received his name. He had been in many climes and countries, and had mixed with many nations, but he must say that he never in his life met a more sociable number of friends than he had done at Rainhill. During the evening musical selections were given by the host (Mr. Williams) and others. The party broke up at 11 o'clock, a happy evening having been spent.

His Murdered Wife's Clothes.

MELBOURNE, Australia, April 13.—An unclaimed leather-covered basket, which has lain in the Bairnsdale Railway Station since January last, has just been forwarded to the police here. It has been found that the name, "Mrs. Dobs," inscribed upon a label on the basket, is in Deeming's handwriting and a key found upon Deeming fitted into the lock.

The basket contained apparel formerly belonging to the murdered Mrs. Williams or Deeming (Emily Mather) and a portion of a Liverpool paper, another portion of which was found at the scene of the murder of Mrs. Deeming at Windsor.

Deeming continues to pretend that he is insane, although a number of physicians have testified that he is perfectly sane.

HE LOVED HER.

And Killed Her Uncle Because he Came Between Them.

LONDON, April 13.—A man named Hamilton, residing at Melksham, in Wiltshire-on-Avon, was engaged to be married to a young lady of that place. He, however, became convinced that the uncle of his fiance was seeking to influence her to break the engagement. Hamilton brooded over the matter and finally determined to kill the uncle. He procured a revolver and accused the uncle of taking advantage of his relations to the girl to prejudice her against him. But few words were exchanged, when Hamilton drew his revolver and shot and killed the uncle. Hamilton fled to Warminster, where the police found him yesterday. A sergeant attempted to take him into custody, but Hamilton made a desperate resistance. Finding the policeman was getting the better of the struggle, Hamilton drew his revolver and shot the officer dead. Other officers seized him before he could fire again and overpowered him.

THE TOKYO FIRE.

Six Thousand Houses Succumb to the Flames.

LONDON, April 13.—A despatch from Tokyo says the conflagration that broke out there on Sunday last did enormous damage. The despatch is vague as to which portion of the city is burned over, but states that 6000 houses were destroyed. The loss of life was heavy. Up to the present it is known that 50 of the natives lost their lives, and a number are still missing.

Another Charge Laid.

DETROIT, April 13.—Prince Michrel and Lizzie Courts have been unable to secure bail.

Yesterday Ellen Rawlinson, aged 19, arrived from Toronto and swore out another information against the Prince for assault. The character of the information is such that, if convicted, Mills may receive a sentence of imprisonment for life.

Suit Over an Option.

BRANTFORD, April 13.—At the assizes Tuesday, Isaac Hazel obtained a verdict for $638 against S. R. Potter, the amount of a promissory note given by defendant to plaintiff for an option for one year on the sale of a mining limit at Port Arthur. The defendant was to sell the property and got 10 per cent. of the proceeds of the sale. He gave this note for the option of selling.

OTTAWA NEWS.

Little Doing at the Dominion Capital Yesterday.

OTTAWA, April 13.—Colonel Fred Denison on the motion to go into Committee of Supply, rose to a question of privilege and read from the pay sheets of the Militia Department to show in connection with the Slater charges that the men who fancied they had been insufficiently paid were wrong, as they had been paid all they were entitled to, all that appeared on the pay roll. He demanded a retraction. Mr. Somerville made the amende honorable. This no doubt settles this matter.

The House then went into a Committee of Supply on military matters which gave an opportunity for the annual airing of the military clothing contracts.

The afternoon session was taken up in discussing the legal aspect of Sir John Thompson's motion that permission be given for the use in the prosecution of Connolly, McGreevy and others of the evidence taken before the Privileges and Election Committee last year.

The motion passed without division

Public Buildings at St. Mary's.

Mayor White and Mr. John Clark of St. Mary's waited on Hon. Mr. Ouimet, Minister of Public Works, Tuesday urging that a customs house and postoffice be erected at that place. The minister promised that he would call the attention of his colleagues to the matter, and it is very probable that a vote for the building will appear in the supplementary estimates. The deputation was introduced by Mr. Pridham, M.P., and was accompanied by about a dozen other Ontario members.

His Excellency came down to the Senate Chamber this afternoon and gave assent to a number of bills.

AFTER A BONUS.

To Help to Build a Road Between Tilsonburg and Port Burwell.

OTTAWA, April 13.—A large delegation arrived in the city yesterday from Brantford and vicinity. The object of their visit was to press upon the Government the desirability of granting a bonus to that part of the Tilsonburg, Lake Erie and Pacific Railway which lies between Tilsonburg and Port Burwell, a distance of about 17 miles. This forenoon the visitors, accompanied by Mr. Ingram, M.P., East Elgin, and Lieut.-Col. Tisdale, M.P., took in the various sights around the Parliament, and, according to appointment, had an interview with Premier Abbott and Mr Haggart, Minister of Railways, shortly before 4 o'clock. They laid their claims before Mr. Abbott, who promised that the matter would have the careful attention of the Government.

Banking and Commerce Committee.

OTTAWA, April 13.—A meeting of the Committee on Banking and Commerce was held yesterday. The first bill taken up was an act to authorize the Boiler Inspection and Insurance Company to insure motor machinery generally against accidents, and also to insure persons against injury or loss of life from boiler explosions or breakage of machinery named under the act. The bill was passed without any important amendments.

The bill to authorize the Montreal Board of Trade to hold a million dollars of real estate instead of half a million and authorizing the board to collect fees and fines was passed. The Bell Telephone Company made application to increase their capital stock to five millions. The bill was passed.

Fixed for July 12.

HALIFAX, N.S., April 13.—Judgment has been delivered in the Supreme Court in the election case of Hon. Angus McGillivray v. Sir John Thompson. This was a motion to fix the day for trial. The court granted the motion and fixed the hearing for July 12.

WORST FORM ECZEMA

Baffled Best Medical Skill for Eight Months. Cured in Two Months by Cuticura Remedies.

This is to certify that a child of mine had Eczema in its worst form, and which baffled the best medical skill that could be employed here. The little sufferer was wrapped in agony for at least eight months. Six months of that time its suffering was simply untold, then I began the use of the CUTICURA REMEDIES, in two months the awful disease had ceased its vengeance, and my darling boy had rest, and to all appearance the disease had yielded, but I continued the medicine for several months after no trace could be seen of it on any part of his body. The doctors here watched the disease with much interest, and could only say "Well done!" The case was known far and wide, and everybody was much surprised. But thanks to CUTICURA REMEDIES. Could there be anything on earth that would cause a father to rejoice it surely would be when the little innocent one could have such a remedy at hand. (See portrait herewith.) J. A. NICOLES, Bunker Hill, Ind.

A child was brought to me with chronic eczema that had defied splendid treatment from many good doctors. As a regular M. D., should have continued similar treatment, but thought it useless. So put it on CUTICURAS. The child is well.

A TORONTO STOCK BROKER SKIPS OUT

After Committing Forgeries Aggregating $30,000 — Attempted Suicide in the Queen City—Queer Case at the Brantford Assizes—Convicted of Shooting His Wife.

TORONTO, April 14.—The crime of Arthur J. Brown, stock broker, is the most consummate in its daring, extent, range of time, and cleverness of any known in the annals of Toronto. He left Toronto on Friday, and it is certain that he will never return unless brought by the law.

He was the youngest son of Mr. Gordon Brown, probably the most respected man in Toronto, and the sympathy for that gentleman and his family in their sorrow is widespread and of the most genuine kind.

The Modus Operandi.

And what was the crime? It was that of raising money from banks by means of forged powers of attorney to transfer stock. To the uninitiated this is best explained by example. John Smith is a stockholder in a loan company, holding say 500 shares. He is buying and selling these shares every now and then. He does it through a broker, say Thomas Robinson. When he wants to sell 100 shares he tells Robinson to sell 100 shares, and at the same time he signs and gives Robinson a power of attorney to transfer 100 shares to whomsoever he can sell it. Broker Robinson then goes on the Stock Exchange and sells the 100 shares to Broker Thomson, who buys them for a client of his. As soon as the deal is over Broker Robinson goes to the office of the loan company, presents his power of attorney and the 100 shares are thereupon transferred from John Smith's account to that of Broker Thomson, or Broker Thomson's client. Or if John Smith does not want to sell his 100 shares, but wants to get a loan on them, he in the same way gives a similar power of attorney to his broker, the broker goes to the bank, borrows a sum of money within a shade of their value, and transfers the shares to the bank manager in trust for the bank as a security for the loan. In every case there is such a power of attorney.

Well, Arthur Brown handled a great many such transactions. He presented genuine powers of attorney, and he presented a great many forged powers of attorney. The forgeries were clever and show him to have been an apt penman.

Why He Was Not Found Out.

Well, why was he not found out when these were going on for so long a time? Because he transferred the stock back to the original owner time after time, and always before the dividends were declared, so the stockholder when he got his dividend got it on the full number of shares he held. In other words, Brown was all the time "borrowing" 10, 20, 30, 40 shares from this man's stock account and that man's stock account and always putting them back by means of forged powers of attorney, and doing this for months and no one being the wiser. He was always robbing Peter to pay Paul, but always keeping the accounts straight before dividend time came round.

One reason that delayed discovery was that Brown's victims were in many cases his own relatives or friends of his family, who were large shareholders in the big loan companies, and who would naturally entrust their stock operations to the tall young broker of the family.

How Discovery Came.

But, of course, discovery had to come and it came last Thursday. Brown kept his account at the Bank of Montreal and in some way the bank became aware of the forgeries Either the discovery was made in Montreal or here. At all events the bank saw there was something wrong and they seized a lot of Commercial Cable stock that Brown had bought and which he had sent on to Montreal for sale, attaching the certificates to a draft that he drew on his Montreal brokers. The bank, so the story goes, grabbed the certificates and refused to collect the draft until Brown settled with them. They had him locked up in a room in the bank for some hours, so it is alleged. At all events the bank got out of Brown a portion if not all of the money it stood to lose, and it let the Commercial Cable go through and the brokers in Toronto who had sold this stock to Brown got the money for the checks he had given them. On Friday Brown was in his office but very nervous, and that day or Saturday he left ostensibly for Montreal but really for the States.

Brown's Victims.

Who are the losers it is hard to say. At present they are not any of Brown's fellow-brokers. Nor is his bank out. It is between the loan companies whose shares were "transferred," the real owners of these shares and the parties who accepted these shares, mostly as securities for advances to Brown. It looks pretty hard for these latter at present. How many there are of these it will take some days to develop. They are banks of course.

Brown's Record as a Broker.

Arthur Brown, when he left Upper Canada College, was put into the counting-room of The Globe some seven or eight years ago. After he had got some ideas of business he set up for himself as a broker in a small way, buying Northwest scrip and the like. Then he blossomed into a full-fledged stock broker. He made a lot of money, more than $40,000 within a year, so it is said, out of speculation in Chicago—and when the tenth comes to be learned he probably has since lost all that amount there and twice as much more and that this fact led him into crime.

He Squared His Fellow Brokers.

Another reason why Brown never was found out was that he not only took care to return the shares he "borrowed," but to quote the rhyme that recently appeared:

He never went back on his broker,
And he never went back on his bank.

He took good care to always settle with his fellow brokers, and of course he could always keep a good balance at his bank when he found it was easy to receive money on good shares that he "borrowed" from some fat shareholder who was possessed of them.

Besides many private individuals the following companies have suffered: Canada Permanent, Union Loan, Western Canada and Loan, Freehold Loan, British Canadian, Dominion Loan and the Western Assurance and same Standard, Quebec and Montreal Banks. None of the companies have been swindled to any serious extent, but they are sore over the matter just the same. As Brown already has a good start the financiers are in no desperate hurry to get detectives on his track; "but when he has been gone long enough to have settled in any one place officers will be sent after him with any amount of capital behind them, and he will be hunted and found if it takes 10 years to do it."

To Stop the Lotteries.

QUEBEC, April 14.—A deputation of the St. Jean Baptiste Society waited upon the Government to-day yesterday. They drew the attention of the Government to the fact that several lotteries have recently sprung into existence in this province notwithstanding that the only legal one was the Province of Quebec Lottery, which was authorized by Parliament, and asked that steps be taken to wipe those lotteries out of existence, with the exception of the Province of Quebec Lottery. They also asked the Government that a certain time be fixed for the existence of the provincial lottery.

Hon. Mr. De Boucherville said that he was opposed to lotteries in general and would immediately put a stop to all lotteries, with the exception of the Province of Quebec Lottery, but when the object for which the latter was established was attained it would also be put out of existence.

SERVED HER RIGHT.

A Brantford Mechanic Convicted of Having Shot His Faithless Wife.

BRANTFORD, April 14.—At the Assize Court yesterday Thomas R. Saunders was tried on a charge of having shot and wounded his wife on Dec. 23 last.

The evidence showed that Mrs. Saunders had a very shady reputation, while the husband was a hard-working mechanic. He came home on the day in question and found his wife seated on the sofa with a man named Kenrich, and opened fire upon the party, dangerously wounding the woman, but she eventually recovered. This letter was introduced in evidence:

BRANTFORD, March 24th, 1892.

DEAR HUSBAND,—I thought I would leave a few lines behind as I am going to the other side. I do not care to face the trial, as I know it was accidentally done. You did not intend it for me. I will know better than to run against a revolver again, for they are dangerous to fool with. Dear husband, don't be angry with me for going away, for I will never desert you nor the children. Good-bye this time. You will hear from me sooner or later. Yours truly,

SARAH SAUNDERS.
(Over the river).

A memorandum book was put into court giving the names of 13 Brantford men, several of them well known, who it is alleged were in the habit of visiting at the Saunders house.

The jury, after an absence of half an hour, brought in a verdict of guilty. The judge suspended sentence meantime.

Increasing Judges' Salaries.

OTTAWA, April 14.—Sir John Thompson has given notice of a motion to increase by $1000 the salary of each of the judges of the Provincial Courts. This will increase the salary of Chief Justice Hagarty, Chief Justice Armour, Chancellor Boyd and Chief Justice Sir Thomas Galt each from $6000 to $7000, and the salary of Justices Burton, Osler, Maclennan, Falconbridge, Street, Meredith, Ferguson, Robertson, Rose and McMahon each from $5000 to $6000.

An increase of $1000 a year is given to the Superior Court judges of nearly all the provinces, the exceptions being the 17 district judges in Quebec, who receive $500 each additional, and the two assistant judges in Prince Edward Island, who receive an increase of $1300 each, but the fees heretofore obtained by them are withdrawn.

Died in a Pool Room.

TORONTO, April 14.—Dr. Heriot Lindsay, an old man who for some years has acted as Abraham Orpen's private secretary, died very suddenly yesterday racing in a pool room at 23 Jordan-street. The deceased had been ill for about two months and yesterday he took a hack to the office, but collapsed on entering. He was carried upstairs and placed in his favorite chair, but died in a few moments without being able to speak. The deceased was a man of considerable culture, speaking several languages, and connected with some of the best families of Ontario and Quebec.

Drank Maple Sap and Died.

ANNAPOLIS, N.S., April 14.—William Dukeshire of Maitland went to the woods on Friday and tapped a maple tree. After securing a pint of sap he drank it and in a few minutes afterwards he was seized with cramps. He started for home, but before reaching there he fell down writhing with pain. He called aloud in his agony until some friends heard and came to his assistance. The man was taken home and died shortly after.

Albani Visits Her Father.

MONTREAL, April 14.—Mme. Albani, the famous diva, who arrived here from Toronto yesterday, left yesterday for Chambly to visit her aged father. Madame Albani, whose proper name was Najeunesse, was born at Chambly 45 years ago and she has always looked after her father, Mr. Najeunesse, who was a musician. On her return from Chambly to-morrow she will go to Boston, whence she sails for England.

Actor T. J. Herndon Insane.

NEW YORK, April 14.—Thomas J. Herndon, 61 years old, a veteran actor, was admitted to the insane ward at Bellevue Hospital at 10 o'clock last night. Mr. Herndon has been an actor nearly 40 years. He was known throughout Canada best in his characters of Old Solon Shingle and Rip Van Winkle.

Death of Passenger Agent Edgar.

MONTREAL, April 14.—William Edgar, general passenger agent of the Grand Trunk Railway, died at 11 o'clock yesterday. Mr. Edgar was born in Birkenhead, Eng., in 1841, and has been connected with railway work in Canada for the past 35 years, 25 of which were in the service of the Great Western Railway, now a part of the Grand Trunk, and the remaining 10 with the latter company.

PERRY AS A THIEF.

He Robbed Holden of Valuables and Left the Train at Night.

POMONA, Cal., April 14.—Another crime has just been traced to Oliver C. Perry, who made the sensational attempt to rob a New York Central train last February, when George E. Holden of New York identified the securities found on Perry and which were stolen from him while a passenger on a Pullman car last November.

Perry was on the train with Holden and represented himself as a New Mexico cattle rancher. After stealing Holden's valuables he left the train during the night.

DIED OF BROKEN HEARTS.

Peculiar Deaths of Two Business Men Follow Financial Troubles.

PROVIDENCE, R.I., April 14.—George W. Ladd and John A. Brown, the only members of the Ladd Watch Case Company, have both died within a short time, apparently of broken hearts. A heavy suit for damages was decided against them, financially embarrassing the company, when Ladd died without warning and without any known ailment. Brown immediately made an assignment of the great estate, involving not only his own and Ladd's fortunes, but also his wife's. With the business in this unsatisfactory state Brown also died.

ACROSS THE ATLANTIC.

DEEMING AS AN INSTRUCTIVE CRIMINAL.

Prince George of Wales to Visit Canada—Mrs. Osborne Soon to Be Released—Revival of the Report of an Amalgamation Between the Grand Trunk and Canadian Pacific Railway.

MELBOURNE, April 14.—Mr. M. Marshall Lyle, solicitor for Deeming, has employed a doctor to make an examination of the prisoner.

The doctor says that Deeming is an "instinctive criminal." His head measures only six and a half inches in diameter, which is exceedingly small compared with his height

The doctor describes his whole character as one of extreme stupidity and coarsest animality. His escape from arrest hitherto, the doctor says, must have been due more to accident than to any cunning he was capable of.

The doctor declines to give expert testimony at the trial on the ground that scientific evidence does not obtain a right hearing in the courts.

Deeming Imitating Birchall.

MELBOURNE, April 14.—Deeming, the murderer, passes most of his time in writing his defence. His counsel, Mr. Lyle, declines to see Deeming alone, lest he be suspected of prompting the murderer to feign madness. Mr. Lyle proposes to apply for a postponement of the trial on the ground that the present public excitement would prejudice a fair trial.

The Grand Trunk Railway's Annual Report Just Issued.

LONDON, April 14.—The Grand Trunk's annual report was issued yesterday. The report expresses regret that the expectations of heavy traffic from the abundant harvest and the revival of the lumber trade had not been more speedily realized, but an improvement has commenced.

It is stated that the utmost economy must be practised, and especially is the economy required which may be secured by assimilating the smaller systems with the parent line.

The whole system is to be incorporated in one system next season, and the president will complete arrangements during his next visit. The system will then be worked as one whole line, and many economies will thereby be obtained and greater efficiency provided.

That Railway Amalgamation.

LONDON, April 14.—The reports of a possible union of the Canadian Pacific and Grand Trunk are revived, and the union is much discussed in the city. It is stated that the Canadian Pacific's friends have been buying up large quantities of Grand Trunk stock to carry at the approaching meeting of the latter company in view of a scheme by which in return for certain concessions the Canadian Pacific will guarantee the four per cent. dividend on the Grand Trunk first preference stock.

The rumors have had a good effect on Grand Trunk stock, and the price has risen.

The Arsenic Apple Scare.

LONDON, April 14.—The arsenic scare respecting the importation of Canadian apples is abating here. The editor of The Horticultural Times writes to The London Times in reply to Mr. Shutt, stating that he had never said anything against Canadian apples, but had agitated against United States fruit.

He denies, however, that Prof. Fletcher's tests, which Mr. Shutt quotes, are final as proving that the spray used in Canadian orchards is harmless.

Fletcher Says It's Absurd.

OTTAWA, April 14.—In his examination at the Agricultural Committee, Mr. Fletcher, Dominion entomologist, characterized the statement which appeared in recent cables from London that Canadian apples were saturated with arsenic as absurd. Arsenic was so exceedingly corrosive that the outside of the apple would be burned away before the tissue was reached, so that it was impossible for them to become saturated with arsenic. Canadian apples were sprayed with Paris green, which only contains 40 per cent. of arsenic.

Canadian Exports to England.

LONDON, April 14.—The Board of Trade returns show that the exports to Canada increased 5 per cent. during March and 7 per cent. during the first three months of this year.

The imports from Canada increased 21 per cent. in March and 38 per cent. in the quarter.

Prince George of Wales to Visit Canada.

LONDON, April 14.—It is announced here that Prince George of Wales, only son of the Prince of Wales, will make a visit to Canada in 1893. After visiting Quebec, Montreal, Toronto and other places of interest in the Dominion, he will go to Chicago to attend the World's Fair. He will then return to England.

Mrs. Osborne to Be Released.

LONDON, April 14.—It is stated Mr. Matthews, the Home Secretary, has decided to release Mrs. Florence Ethel Osborne, who is serving a 10-months' sentence for the theft of Mrs. Hargraves' pearls and her subsequent perjury.

This is Rough on the "Talent."

LONDON, April 14.—A bill has passed both houses, and is now only awaiting the royal assent, making bets irrecoverable in a court of law, whether made directly or indirectly. Hitherto they could be recovered if made through an agent.

Died From Exposure.

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont., April 14.—Two men belonging to Sugar Island named Tate left here for Garden River in a small boat. On the way down the boat upset. One of the men was drowned, but Tate tied himself to the boat, which was bottom upward, and in this manner floated down to Garden River, where he was discovered yesterday evening. He was immediately taken into a house and cared for, but expired shortly afterwards from the effects of the exposure.

He Was Tired of Life.

TORONTO, April 14.—William Dooling, who professes to be homeless, yesterday threw himself from a wharf into the bay and tried to drown in three feet of water. H Wallace of The Mail and Albert Jacobs, 26 Lakeview-avenue, fished him out and he thereupon tried to cut his throat with a very dull pen-knife. He failed to make even a little gash, and he was lodged in No. 1 police station. There he attempted his life by means of his braces, but was once more unsuccessful.

The Proposed Temperance Hotel.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

DEAR SIR,—I see a lengthy report, published in the EXAMINER of a meeting held in the Royal Templars hall, in the interest of promoting the establishment of an exclusively temperance hotel in Peterborough. Now I am in sympathy with the movement in so far as the establishment of a temperance hotel, necessarily means, in the present condition of buildings suitable for such a purpose, the closing of at least one bar and to that extent a lessening of the temptations and facilities for indulgence of a taste for strong drink. The sentiment of the proposition is all right, but sentiment, no matter how commendable, is not sufficient to run a business enterprise. There must be business ability in the management and an adequate amount of patronage to insure success. No traveller or citizen, except with exceedingly rare exceptions, will patronize a temperance hotel unless its furnishes as good accommodations, and at as reasonable a figure as those furnished by a licensed hotel. The experience of the past in the town shows that a temperance hotel is not necessarily a paying enterprise. During the Dunkin Act regime the proprietor of the same hotel, which it is now, so I am told, proposed to run as a temperance hotel, converted it into a temperance hotel and within a short time Mr. Meloney was starved out. The same business ability which had made a licensed hotel a paying business, could not bring the rent out of a purely temperance house. So far as I can find out the cause of failure was lack of paying patronage. A temperance hotel might be made to pay if it had only similar institutions for opponents, but when it has the licensed hotels with their liberal profits from the sale of liquors, pooled with the less paying departments of the business, the possibility of success is reduced to a minimum. But I shall not oppose the movement; any man who feels that investing a money in a temperance hotel surrounded by a score of licensed houses, who could, from their extra profits in liquors, cut rates to such an extent that a hotel not assisted by these profits, would have to succumb, is welcome to do so. If he does so from sentiment, he does an act of moral heroism, for I feel certain that he will never see a cent of dividends on his outlay as a business investment.

Yours faithfully
VERITAS.

Pyramids of Egypt.

A Pyramid of Fame in Canada.

The Egyptian Pyramids are generally supposed to have been intended as mausoleums for the kings. They were begun, it is conjectured, about 1204 years before the birth of Christ, by Cheops and Cephrenes; four of these immense structures have attracted particular attention; the two largest are 460 feet in height; and one of them covers 13 English acres of ground.

These pyramids are wonderful in their construction, and have been visited by thousands from all parts of the world.

Our Canadian people have heard of these immense structures, but only a few have seen them. Canadians have in their own land a magnificent pyramid of fame, built by an agent which has conferred good on hundreds of thousands of our people. This agent and its indestructible pyramid of fame and popularity must remain a standing memorial of worth, honesty, greatness and goodness when the giant structures of Egypt will be reduced to dust, and their names forgotten. This agent of fame is Paine's Celery Compound—a preparation that gives a fresh life to the broken down and diseased of our land. While the pyramids of Egypt enclose and protect the dead, this agent restores to new life those whom the grave would claim as victims. It can be said with great truth and force, that Paine's Celery Compound is a strong and mighty deliverer.

This magnificent and wondrous remedy is now attracting and commanding more attention than ever the pyramids of Egypt did. Men, women and children speak of it, and sound its praises. The nervous, sleepless, weak, neuralgic, rheumatic, and broken-down are raised to the safe and solid rock of health, and years added to their lives.

Paine's Celery Compound is curing disease every day where doctors have failed. It is in this way its pyramid of fame has been reared in this Canada of ours. It is the only medicine possessing true worth and merit that has come to the notice of sufferers. It cures as surely as night follows day. One single trial is sufficient for the doubting and skeptical individual.

The Great Gift of God.

Powerful and Inspiring Address Delivered in St. John's Church Last Evening by Rev. W. C. Allen of Millbrook—The Closing Address of the Special Wednesday Evening Series During the Lenten Season.

The attendance at St. John's Church last evening at the special Wednesday evening Lenten service was rather larger than usual. The service was the last one of its character and on that account the more interesting. The Wednesday evening services held during the past eight weeks have been largely attended and have been a source of much benefit and profit. The addresses given have been inspiring and helpful and the subjects timely and instructive. The address last evening, the closing one of the series, was seasonably suggestive. The Rev. W. C. Allen, of Millbrook proved himself to be a clever and fluent speaker, possessed of a great deal of power and earnestness and acquired of the art of handling his subject in a pleasing and animating manner. He chose for his subject "The Gift of God" and based his remarks upon the words found in the 9th and 10th verses of the 4th chapter, First Epistle of John.

In this was manifested the love of God towards us because that God sent his only begotten Son into the world that we might live through him.

Herein is love, not that we loved God but that he loved us and sent His Son to be the propitiation for our sins.

The preacher said he would speak of GOD'S GREAT GIFT TO MAN.

He would tell them of the old, old story of Jesus and the Cross. It was a very old story, but it was different from any other story, because it would bear repetition; though old it was ever new. He compared the story of Jesus and the Cross to the surpassing grandeur and amazing picturesqueness of that magnificent Alpine scenery in Italy, which the traveller and the tourist never weary of viewing or studying. Their steep inclines, their rugged heights, their snow capped peaks might be viewed again and again under the glaring brightness of a tropical sun, and beneath a clear, azure sky as the glinted beams leapt from peak to peak, summit to summit and crag to crag. Still there was always something attractive and ever-changing about those stupendous mountains, whose massive grandeur and weird scenery were the wonder and the admiration of a nation, and the glory and proud monument of the world. So no language, however beautiful, could describe the beauties of the Cross. We see these in health and sickness, hope and despair, prosperity and adversity. The Cross of Christ had many new lessons, and there were a great many aspects from which we could look at it. The Cross launched us out in the love of God Almighty, our Heavenly Father. It implied very clearly that the love of God was a mighty and wondrous love, so much so, that He sent His only begotten Son into the world, that we might live through Him. There were thousands of manifestations of God's great and wondrous love towards us. God was here, and He has upon the world in a thousand ways. Our Heavenly Father watched us in many ways. We were under the guidance of a mighty God whose love for man is mighty. Man could not fathom by the plummet line of his intellect or by the flash of his genius the depth and immensity of such a love. We simply knew it by its power, manifestations and results. The first and greatest proof of this wonderful love was He sent His only begotten Son that we, each and all of us, through Him might live—might inherit eternal life. We were living in age of agnosticism and unbelief, an age where men had an increasing tendency to swerve from the church and the creeds. We should therefore all cling to this love, the love of Christ for us. It was a sure and steadfast anchor. The speaker thanked God that the church of England had an anchor, the doctrine of the Atonement. It was most binding that we should take hold of this doctrine. We recognize this gift not only because it was God's only begotten Son, but because that Son consented to die for us. He emptied Himself of His glory and died for our sins. He consented to die by a death ignominious and cruel even the death of the cross. There was something glorious in a man dying on the field of battle or as a missionary, but when Christ consented to die,

HE CONSENTED TO DIE NOT

like this, but the death of the malefactor and the slave. He died to redeem us. He died to set us free. What that Son consented to do was a part of His infinite love for man. When Christ died it was not because we loved Him, but because He loved us. Men was sinful, a rebel against God. He could not be saved by the Jewish law or by the Philosophy of Greek or Roman, but by the blood of the Atonement. God sought for man, but man had not sought after God. Christ had acted as the good Samaritan over the helpless one, lost and depraved humanity. Christ joins us to him and takes that conjunction to the skies, because of our condition, as act of free grace on his part and an act undeserved on ours. God's love for men was a mighty and wondrous love, because of its expansive and embracing character. No one was excluded from it. It was as boundless as the universe which he had made. Christ died for the darkest sinner and the highest moralist, and through his blood all may be saved. How sad was it to think that some could, yet their minds were occupied by earthly things and they say they cannot see it. There may be times when some earthly obstacle hindered us from seeing Him, but the Great and Immortal One his love was so great and so mighty. The purpose that Christ was sent was that we might, through Him, have life. Did we realize what a bleeding life was. On Easter morn we would see bud, blossom and singing bird, touching the blessings of life. There is a life in that higher sphere in which we live which is a part of our real nature, and Christ gives life to that spirit. Should we not respond? Should we not live unto Christ? He gave us only begotten son that we might live spiritually and unreservedly. He in turn demanded that we live the life of self sacrifice for Him. We should love one another. On it is inscribed over the cross, "Jesus of Nazareth." We sing King of Love in golden characters and let us say thou hast conquered by wondrous love to me, what shall I give in return? We should break down every idol and bring them to the foot of the cross before that stupendous sacrifice, that mighty exemplification of divine love, and render thanks unto God the Father, God the Son, and God the Holy Ghost.

NEVER ONCE LOST SIGHT OF US,

There were also several ladies present to pay a last tribute of respect to the memory of the late Mr. Capel.

A New Departure in Salvation.

The Salvation Army promises to become a matrimonial agency. The following notice has just been issued from the army headquarters:—"Safety matches are now made by the social wing without sulphur or phosphorus, which will flame without striking. Baker, Matrimonial Bureau, Queen Victoria street, and he will most probably supply you with just what you want, somebody loveable and good."

Maundy Thursday at St. Peter's.

There was an exceedingly large congregation at St. Peter's Cathedral on the occasion of the blessing of the Holy Oils, this morning. The clergy of the diocese were well represented, those in attendance including: Very Rev. P. D. Laurent, V. G., Lindsay; Rev. Fathers Brown, Douro; Casey, Campbellford; Conway, Norwood; Kielty, Douro; Larkin, Grafton; O'Connell, Enniskillen; and the Cathedral clergy. His Lordship, Bishop O'Connor, pontificated, and during the service of the mass the impressive and elaborate ceremony of blessing of the Holy Oils was performed.

On Friday at 9 o'clock there will be the ceremony of the Adoration of the Cross.

The Boscovitz Concert.

Another word about Mr. Frederick Boscovitz's concert, which will take place on Thursday evening, April 21st, at Bradburn's Opera House. It is to be remembered that, besides playing, the distinguished artist will intersperse his selections with brief "chats" relative to the compositions being treated. These, besides being of the utmost value in an educational sense, will be highly interesting and will prove a delightful novelty. Mr. Boscovitz's three concerts given in Toronto this season were patronized to such an extent that the hall was inconveniently crowded. This may be accepted as the strongest evidence of popularity. Prices for reserved seats has been placed at 50 cents. Seats can be reserved at Schofield's Drug Store, on and after Tuesday 19th April.

The P.A.A.A. and the Clubs.

At a meeting of the directorate of the Peterborough Amateur Athletic Association held yesterday afternoon, mutually satisfactory arrangements were concluded with all the clubs connected with the Association, including the Lacrosse club, in regard to whose affiliation with the P.A.A.A committee, had been appointed at the last meeting. Now the Association is in full running order and has prospects of a most successful season in all its departments. The directors also made regulations regarding the status of the different classes of members. Full course and non-players' admit tickets to any match of any club affiliated with the Association. Holders of tickets for individual clubs only gain free admission to games of clubs of which they are members. No member of any club will be permitted to play until the membership fee is paid, this rule is to be strictly enforced. All the members are urged to call on the secretary at once and procure their tickets. It is important that the Association should know what funds it can depend upon. This is urgent since the Association has the responsibility of keeping the grounds in proper order and it is necessary that this work be entered upon at once. The directorate of the Association desire to make this season the most successful of any in every department and to do so they must have the co-operation of every department. There is every prospect of a most successful season in the field of sport this year. Let every member of every club bear in mind that he has a share in bringing about this success.

The Council and Sewerage.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

DEAR SIR,—The individual appeals that have been made in your columns, praying the council that the town may have a system of sewerage, have so far met with no response.

We have in our midst societies for the prevention of cruelty to children and animals, and as 'Union is Strength," I suggest that these societies unite with the Board of Trade, and elect members to wait on the council, and use their combined eloquence in the interest of man and beast.

Yours truly,

HYENA.

P. S.—By abstaining from making any reference to the "Board of Health," I have, I trust, treated that august body with the silent respect (?) to which its past record and utility entitle it.

P. P. S.—I trust that our new councillors may be persuaded to exceed even the labors of Hercules, and not only cleanse the Augean stables on Simcoe street, but also to remove the sweepings from off the market square, and verify the proverb, "New brooms sweep clean."

as a general tonic to cleanse the blood and sharpen the appetite. "It is the best anti-malaria remedy," he says, "that I know of." Certainly the cordial endorsement of so prominent a man should convince you that Hood's Sarsaparilla is worthy your confidence. Mr. Charles F. Drexel, a well known former resident of Baltimore, Md., now Deputy City Treasurer of Omaha, Neb., writes that Hood's Sarsaparilla has effected a Phenomenal Cure in the case of his son, who when two years old became afflicted with Malignant Eczema. It first developed in his right eye, and the discharge from the same caused the whole face on that side to break out in a nasty, running sore. The poor little fellow was indeed pitiable to look at. Physicians gave him only temporary relief. He almost lost the sight of one eye, and the best oculists in Baltimore failed to benefit him. Finally Mrs. Drexel insisted upon trying Hood's Sarsaparilla and before he had taken half a bottle he looked like another child. The humor entirely disappeared, and His Eyesight was fully Restored. In fact, says Mr. Drexel, "he is the healthiest of our three children.

Special Changes Made—Secretary's Report Received.

The Board of Management met yesterday afternoon to discuss the work being done and to consider the best method of carrying it on. As there has been such a very small attendance Monday, Wednesday and Friday evenings, owing to their being church meetings on each of these evenings. It was decided to keep the rooms open on three nights of the week only, the attendance on these evenings being very large and encouraging, between five and six hundred having spent their evenings in the rooms since they were opened.

The class for Bible study under Miss Code's management has increased rapidly. At the last meeting of the class there were fifty present. We feel that a great work can be done and ask for sympathy from all those who are interested in "Woman's work for Women."

The regular meeting of the Board of Management will be held on Monday afternoon next, at 3 50 p.m.

The Secretary's report was presented as follows:—

It is now three months since our society was organised. It started with a membership of sixteen, now we number one hundred and seventy six—four of these being sustaining and two honourary members. Our rooms have been well patronized especially Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday evenings. Although not yet thoroughly in working order, we trust those persons who have attended our gatherings have derived some benefit. It is our aim to make these rooms something more than mere recreation rooms, and we ask the aid of the whole association to strengthen the hands of those who have this work so thoroughly at heart. We have not been able to form committies to aid the work, owing to our not knowing who were active and who were associate members. The difficulty having been overcome, we hope soon to get them all in working order. As our finances will not permit our engaging a general secretary, for the present, the rooms will be under the care of the Board of Management and Reception Committee.

There has been a good deal of expense connected with our starting, although kind friends aided us with donations. The Treasurer's report will contain a full statement of the money received and how spent We hope sincerely that God's blessing may rest upon our work, and that many may here find "the peace that passeth all understanding."

Bible study for young men to-night from 8 to 9. Topic—"Free," led by Mr. Isaac Richardson.

Good Friday—bright service for the boys at 10 a.m. Miss Code, Hazel Brae, will give the address. All boys welcome. Open house during the day to all young men. Welcome to our home at 8 p. m. A special programme of vocal and instrumental music, readings, etc., and also physical drill by the gymnasium class under Sergt. Major Rundle, will be given, and we bid all young men a hearty welcome—especially to strangers.

Mrs. Dr. Bell returned on Saturday after an extended visit to her sons in Toronto.

The Presbyterians hold their usual service in the town hall next Sunday, their church being cleaned and painted.

The ice is now all out of the lower lake, and the water is coming up very slowly, an inch in 24 hours. It is only 7 inches above zero now.

Major Sloan, of Boston, who owns an island in Stony Lake, and which is attached to Burleigh, was assessed last year for $100 as his schedule shows, he received a tax paper calling for the sum of $15 50, or a rate of 155 mills on the dollar. The Major used to think they knew how to raise a revenue in his country, but now concludes they would profit by taking a lesson from Burleigh.

GRAND CONCERT.

A grand concert will be given in Lakefield on Easter Monday, April 18th, under the auspices of the Lakefield Amateur Athletic Association, the proceeds of which will be devoted to the encouragement of different sports and games in Lakefield during the summer months. Some of the cadets of the R.M.C., Kingston, and several Peterborough gentlemen have kindly offered their assistance. We trust that many members of the P. A. A. A. will aid by their presence the efforts of their sister association.

SUPPOSED TO BE DROWNED.

A report has been in circulation in the village for the last few days that a man called Franklin, who has worked on, and taken care of Mr. Grundy's island, is drowned. It seems that a few evenings since Mr. S. Bryson heard someone calling out on the lake, he went out and down to the ice, and again heard calls apparently from the foot of Big island. He replied, but all was still, and as he was afraid to venture out in the dark for fear of geting into a crack or air hole, returned to the house. Franklin has been missing since and it is supposed he must have gone through the ice and it was his calls for help that Mr. Bryson heard.

NEW WOOLLEN FACTORY.

As will be seen by the council proceedings the Mann Brothers have rented the woollen factory from the Lakefield Lumber Co., and have asked the council for a loan of $3,000 for ten years and exemption from taxation for three years, the loan to be repaid by annual instalments The council chamber was well filled by ratepayers, who were unanimous in wishing a bylaw to be submitted to loan the amount. A bylaw has been prepared by the village solicitor and will be submitted to a vote on the 9th of May, if there is nothing in legislation to prevent.

Good Friday.

A correspondent draws attention to a paragraphic question which appeared at the head of brevities, in our issue of Wednesday, "How will you spend Good Friday?" He recognizes the different opinions to which people are entitled on this as on other questions, but submits a few facts and thoughts which may assist some men in coming to a reasonable conclusion on this matter:

(1) Good Friday by name and association stands out as utterly distinct and different from every other day in the year, and therefore, reasons, rules, and observances, which apply to general holidays, do not apply to Good Friday.

(2) Good Friday has been deliberately set aside by the Governments of Christian countries in memory of one great Fact for the solemn commemoration of it. If this Fact is not solemnly remembered, and this commemoration is not made, does not the reason for observing the day at all, cease to exist?

(3) Before we decide how we shall spend Good Friday, would it not be well to consider how it has been spent by others? The first Good Friday was spent by One in pain and agony on the cross. It was spent by His disciples weeping, and through all the centuries of the Christian era, in view of the nature of the drama then enacted, with its terrible background of the sin which caused it, the observance of Good Friday has been determined, not only by motives of solemn gratitude, but also of earnest sorrow for sin.

(4) But whatever opinions people may have as to the particular kind of observance of this day, is it not reasonable to expect that this great Fact will not be lost sight of, and that Good Friday will be made in some sense a religious day?

THE CANADA LIFE ASSURANCE CO'Y.

Forty-Fifth Annual Meeting of the Great Institution.

Remarkable Record for the Past Year—The Annual Report—Election of Directors.

The 45th annual meeting of the greatest of Canadian insurance institutions, the Canada Life Assurance Company, was held to-day in the board room of the Company's head office in Hamilton. There were present a gathering of the representative men of Canada, men whose names are known all over the country for solidity and business ability, with Mr. G. A. Ramsay, president of the company, presiding over the deliberations. The meeting was a most harmonious and eminently satisfactory one.

Mr. Ramsay took the chair shortly after 12 o'clock, with Mr. Roland Hills as secretary of the meeting.

President Ramsay submitted the following:

REPORT BY THE BOARD OF DIRECTORS OF THE CANADA LIFE ASSURANCE COMPANY, SUBMITTED TO THE ANNUAL GENERAL MEETING OF SHAREHOLDERS, HELD AT HAMILTON ON THE 5TH OF APRIL, 1892:

The business of 1891, being the company's 45th year, was again highly favourable. The new assurances applied for were 2,507 in number, and $5,929,088 in amount. Of these, 136 for $259,500 were declined, the lives not appearing to reach that standard of eligibility which it is in the best interest of our assurers should be maintained. Of the balance of $5,669,588, upon 2,371 lives, which were accepted by the directors, 204 for $414,662 were not carried out, leaving the actual new assurances of the year $5,255,021 under 2,167 policies, with a new annual income premium of $178,191.06.

At 31st December last there were in force $56,218,318.03 of assurances and bonus additions, upon 19,563 lives, under 26,484 policies.

The statement of receipts and payments, and the abstract of assets and liabilities, herewith submitted, show that the income of the year was $2,213,096.27, and that the assets amounted to $12,074,124 87, having being increased during the year by $1,041.684 78.

The death claims for the year were upon 192 lives under 243 policies for $511,879.11, including profits, a sum considerably under that of the previous year, 1890, when the amount was a good deal affected by the epidemic of la grippe which then prevailed, and its results.

The business at the various branches has been generally well sustained, and having last year alluded to anticipations of successful progress at the Michigan branch, it may be mentioned that these have been largely realized.

In compliance with the company's charter the following directors retire by rotation, but are eligible for re-election: The Hon. Sir Alexander Campbell, K. C. M. G., Toronto; Andrew Allan, Esq., Montreal, and Thomas Swinyard, Esq, New York State.

PRESIDENT RAMSAY'S REMARKS.

Mr. A. G Ramsay moved the adoption of the annual report. In so doing he reviewed carefully and ably, the business of the year. He said:—

I beg to move the adoption of the directors report now before you, and although the statements which it, and the published accounts, which have been in your hands for some days, so clearly indicate the success of the past year's business, and the sound position of the company, that I need take up but little of the time of this annual meeting in adverting to them, it may be interesting, I dare say, that I draw your attention shortly to some of the features which these documents disclose. The new business of the past year amounted, you will see to $5,255,021, a sum so nearly approaching the best year we have ever had that I think we may well congratulate you upon it. It has happily been our good fortune each year for so long to be able to make a somewhat similar statement that I fear it may appear a somewhat monotonous one, for which, however, I need offer no apology. You will have noticed that the total assurances in force at the close of 1891 were $56,218,318, an amount which suggests a very large measure of public support and confidence in the company. The income continues to largely increase, and it amounted last year to $2,213,096, more than twice as much as it was ten years ago, and nearly seven times what it was twenty years ago. With the possibility of a corresponding progress in the future we may well be encouraged to continue that caution and care in the direction and in the management of the company's affairs, which in the past have made the Canada Life's name synonymous with that of integrity, liberality and stability. The large addition of over $1,000,000 was added to the company's assets last year, making them $12,074,12[illegible], or about twice what they were only seven years ago. While difficulty in obtaining satisfactory investments as they were wanted was experienced during the year, every effort and the best judgment of the board were exercised so as to make that difficulty as little felt as possible.

As you are well aware, there has of late years been a gradual reduction in the rate of interest obtainable on the best class of securities, and while our Company is of course affected by that, in common with all others, every exertion is made to diminish as far as we can any loss in that way.

The death claims during 1891 were $511,873, being a lower amount than they had been in 1890, when largely by the grippe epidemic, they reached $603,184.

The statment of receipts and payments shows that during 1891, $316,376 was paid to policy-holders as profits, a return of nearly 20 per cent. of the year's premiums paid to the Company, a percentage of profits on premiums paid so rarely reached by other companies as to lead us to press upon intending assurers the advantages which our Company offers in that respect. In alluding to that I am very glad indeed to have the opportunity of saying that by the courtesy of the Superintendent of Insurance we were yesterday favoured with the result of the Government's quinquennial valuation of our Company's affairs. It shows that over and above the full reserve we are required by the Government of Canada to hold, and all liabilities, we have on hand a large profit surplus such as indicates no diminution in the Company's profit-making powers. You have been informed by the Director's Report of the generally favourable progress of the Company's various branches, and the efforts of our Managers and Agents are well deserving of our thanks and encouragement. Special allusion has been made to the branch established by the Company, in Michigan in 1890. Because it being somewhat of an experiment, you would naturally desire to hear especially as to it. I am very pleased to be able to say that the progress of the branch is so satisfactory as to have last year placed the Company in the fourteenth position, in point of new assurances, out of 32 companies doing business in the State. For a great deal of our success in Michigan, we are indebted to the support of the prominent and influential gentlemen who have been good enough to aid us by acting upon our Board of Reference. I am glad to tell you that we have entered upon the year 1892 with the most encouraging prospects. The new business up to the present date far exceed that of any previous year, and I trust that at our next meeting we may be able to again record a continuance of such prosperity as has already been so satisfactory to you and to our various policy-holders.

VICE-PRESIDENT GATES' REMARKS.

Mr. F. [illegible] Gates, Vice-President of the Company, seconded the adoption of the report. In doing so he said:—

Mr. Chairman and gentlemen.—When it is borne in mind that there has been no perceptible improvement in business generally throughout the country during the past year, I think we must be compelled to admit that the statement which has been presented to-day ought to be considered highly satisfactory. It is true that the company might have done a much larger amount of business than has been done if we had been less scrupulously careful in the acceptance of risks which have been applied for. As the report shows, and as the president has pointed out, many applications have been rejected. We have exercised the greatest care in this matter in order that the company and the insured alike might be fully protected. We did not indulge in the extravagances which some companies have in order to increase our business, but have rather followed a policy of careful management in the interest of the company. I well remember some years ago that the president in his address referred with a good deal of pleasure to the fact that we had an income of $1,000 a day; now it is $7,000 a day, and it was easy then to invest $1,000 a day. It is not so easy to invest $7,000 now, even with the lower rate of interest. I may again refer to the remarkably small losses, and again congratulate the company upon that state of affairs. I have much pleasure, gentlemen, in seconding the motion for the adoption of the report.

President Ramsay put the motion, which was carried unanimously.

THANKS TO PRESIDENT AND DIRECTORS.

Mr. Byron E. Walker moved a vote of thanks to the President and Directors for their attention to the interests of the company during the year.

In offering the motion Mr. Walker said:—It gives me very great pleasure indeed to propose the thanks of the shareholders to our President and Directors. Reference has been made to the growth and success of the Canada Life in the past, and I consider that they are largely due to the excellent management. The big companies in the United States are beginning to realize that it may be possible to do too much business, but I am sure that if the policy which has been pursued by the Canada Life in the past is adhered to, another ten years of our career will show corresponding prosperity. I hope that our President may long be spared to direct the affairs of the company, and that he may have the advice and co-operation of such men as now constitute the directorate.

Mr. Henry McLaren—Mr. President and gentlemen, I have very much pleasure in seconding the motion.

The motion was put and carried unanimously, amid applause.

President Ramsay replied:—I expect that I shall have to reply to the motion you have just passed. I thank you very much indeed for the resolution and for the kind expressions made use of. I believe I can confidently say that every one of the Directors has done all that was in his power to further the interests of the company.

THREE DIRECTORS ELECTED.

The Hon. Mr. Justice Burton moved the appointment of Messrs. W. F. Findlay and Campbell Farrie as scrutineers of votes for the election of Directors in the room of the three retiring, and that the poll shall now be opened, and closed upon five minutes elapsing without a vote being tendered.

Mr. Matthew Leggat seconded the motion, which was carried.

The voting took a good deal of time, and while the ballots were being counted other business was proceeded with. The election resulted in the choice of Hon. Sir Alexander Campbell, K.C. M. G., of Toronto, Mr. Andrew Allan, of Montreal, and Mr. Geo. A. Cox, of Toronto. The last named gentlemen will take the place of Mr. Thomas Swinyard on the Board, the other two gentlemen being re-elected.

The usual votes of thanks were passed, and at a meeting of the directors subsequently held, Mr. A. G. Ramsay was re-elected President, and Mr. F. W. Gates, Vice-President.

"August Flower"

What is It For? This is the query perpetually on your little boy's lips. And he is no worse than the bigger, older, balder-headed boys. Life is an interrogation point. "What is it for?" we continually cry from the cradle to the grave. So with this little introductory sermon we turn and ask: "What is AUGUST FLOWER FOR?" As easily answered as asked: It is for Dyspepsia. It is a special remedy for the Stomach and Liver. Nothing more than this; but this brimful. We believe August Flower cures Dyspepsia. We know it will. We have reasons for knowing it. Twenty years ago it started in a small country town. To-day it has an honored place in every city and country store, possesses one of the largest manufacturing plants in the country and sells everywhere. Why is this? The reason is as simple as a child's thought. It is honest, does one thing, and does it right along—it cures Dyspepsia.

Burdock Blood Bitters

CURES DYSPEPSIA

By acting upon the liver, stomach and bowels and purifying the blood, it removes every particle of the foul, impure or morbid matters which obstruct the proper working of the digestive organs and cause dyspepsia. This explains why B.B.B. succeeds in curing even the most obstinate cases.

Burdock Blood Bitters

CURES CONSTIPATION

By regulating the bowels and removing all foul accumulations, it promptly and permanently cures this disease no matter of how long standing the case may be. B.B.B. acts in a natural, thorough and pleasant manner, never causing nausea or griping.

Burdock Blood Bitters

CURES BILIOUSNESS

By regulating and toning the liver and removing excess of bile, this distressing disease, which is the frequent cause of sick headache, dizziness, etc., is cured without fail. No remedy has ever performed so many permanent cures in the same space of time as has B.B.B.

Burdock Blood Bitters

CURES SCROFULA.

This scourge of humanity arises chiefly from bad blood, for which B.B.B. has proved itself the most successful remedy of modern times. It completely frees the blood of every impurity, from a common pimple to the worst scrofulous sore. Pimples, blotches, boils, rashes, eruptions, sores, etc., vanish at once before the wonderful purifying powers of B.B.B.

The Paris Fire.

PARIS, Ont., April 12.—Nearly one hundred men are thrown out of employment by the destruction by fire of the Paris Manufacturing Co.'s knitting mill last night. The flames started in the card room, which was situated in the second flat, and was caused by a gas jet igniting the wood work. A number of the operators were working in the top flat of the mill when the fire broke out. All managed to escape. The loss is estimated anywhere from $75,000 to $100,000. The insurance carried amounts to $70,000.

Stomachache And Crime.

BOMBAY, India, April 12.—A native charged with having killed a child for the sake of the ornaments it had on its wrists and neck admitted the deed, but pleaded that it had been committed under the impulse of a severe affection of the stomach. As a proof of bona fides he moreover offered that the organ should be opened in order that the truth of his defence should be demonstrated.

Between the cutting open of a stomach and hanging there is not much choice. The judge, however, seems to have decided on the latter as a safer and more expeditious expedient.

Young's Point.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

It is with feelings of the deepest regret that we learn of the death of Mrs. William Pape, which occurred in Peterborough on Thursday, the 7th inst., after a lingering illness of over ten months. The deceased lady was the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Young, of this place, and sister of Mrs. McFarlane, of the Carlton House, and of Mrs. D. Costello of Peterborough, her brothers, Mr. C. C. and P. P. Young also residing here. She had been a resident of Young's Point for many years, it being her birth place and early home, and her large circle of friends and acquaintances unite in expressing their grief at the departure of one who was held in the highest esteem by all who knew her, and tendering to the bereaved husband and children their heartfelt sympathy in the irreparable loss which they have sustained.

Miss Nellie Young, who been confined to her bed for the last two months with an an attack of inflammatory rheumatism, has not been improving much of late, as she is at present completely prostrated with the disease.

Mr. W. A. Hopkins, who represents the Manufacturers' Insurance Company in Peterborough was around here during last week, securing a number of policies in Life Insurance. He has secured quite a number in this locality.

Spring, with its rapid changes and wet weather, is the most trying season in our Canadian climate, and at this more than at any other time do the ravages of catarrh make themselves felt. As an immediate relief for cold in the head, and a thorough cure for catarrh, nothing yet discovered equals Nasal Balm. It is easy to use, pleasant and agreeable. Sold by all dealers or sent post-paid on receipt of price—50c. for small bottles or $1 for large bottle. G. T. Fulford & Co., Brockville.

Consumptives!

Do not give up until you have tried Miller's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil, which make flesh and blood, is a positive cure for coughs and colds, bronchitis, sore throats, and all lung troubles tending to consumption. Persons have been known to gain from five to ten pounds in weight by taking one bottle of Miller's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil, which contains hypophosphites of lime and soda. In big bottles, 50c. and $1, at Peterborough Drug Store's.

Interested People.

Advertising a patent medicine in the peculiar way in which the proprietor of Kemp's Balsam for Coughs and Colds does, it is indeed wonderful. He authorizes all druggists to give those who call for it, a sample bottle free, that they may try it before purchasing. The large bottles are 50c and a dollar. We certainly would advise a trial. It may save you from consumption. dw

Cure For Dyspepsia.

As is well known, this troublesome complaint arises from over-eating, the use of too much rich food, neglected constipation, lack of exercise, bad air, etc. The food should be thoroughly chewed and never bolted or swallowed in haste, stimulants must be avoided and exercise taken if possible. A remedy which has rarely failed to give prompt relief and effect permanent cures, even in the most obstinate cases, is Burdock Blood Bitters. It acts by regulating and toning the digestive organs, removing costiveness and increasing the appetite and restoring health and vigor to the system. As a case in point we quote from a letter written by Miss L. A. Kuhn, of Hamilton, Ont.:—"Two years ago life seemed a burden. I could not eat the simplest food without being in dreadful misery in my stomach, under my shoulders and across the back of my neck. Medical advice failed to procure relief and seeing B.B.B. advertised, I took two bottles of it, and have been entirely free from any symptoms of my complaint since." This gives very conclusive proof of the efficiency of this wonderful remedy. dw

At Home and Abroad.

Physicians, travellers, pioneers, settlers, invalids and all classes of people of every degree, testify to the medicinal and tonic virtues of Burdock Blood Bitters, the most popular and effective medicine extant. It cures all diseases of the stomach, liver, kidneys and blood. w

Keep the Works in good order.

NORMAN, ONT., January 15, 1890.

W. H. COMSTOCK, Brockville, Ont.

DEAR SIR,—Your "Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills" are the best regulator for the system that humanity can use. Life is as the time-piece: frail and delicate are many of its works. A tiny particle of foreign substance adheres to the smallest wheel in the works, and what is the result?—at first only a slight difference is perceptible in its time-keeping, but wait you; as the obstruction grows, the irregularity becomes greater, until at last, what could have been rectified with little trouble, in the beginning, will now require much care in thoroughly cleansing the entire works. So it is in human life—a slight derangement is neglected, it grows and increases, imperceptibly at first, then rapidly, until what could, in the beginning, have been cured with little trouble, becomes almost fatal. To prevent this, I advise all to purify the system frequently, by the use of Morse's Pills, and so preserve vigor and vitality.

Yours faithfully,
H. P. ATWELL.

Not with a blind faith, but a confidence wrought by an actual personal experience of their value and merit. My business is such that I spend much of my time away from home, and I would not consider my travelling outfit complete without a box of Morse's Pills. Yours, &c.,

AN EPIDEMIC OF MEASLES.

Many Parents and Children Down With the Disease and Unprovided For.

ALANTA, Ga., April 14.—For the past three weeks an epidemic of measles has been prevalent in the factory district here and has resulted in much destitution. This evening a mass meeting of citizens was held in the First Baptist Church under the leadership of the Rev. Dr. Hawthorne, and steps were taken to afford relief.

The factory district consists of 150 one, two and three-room houses. They are not plastered, and the sick people are exposed to every change in the weather. The measles has spread rapidly, afflicting alike parents ann children.

Mrs. Adams, a widow, her 12-year-old paralytic son and their only support, a lad of 15 years, are down in one room with the disease. In another room in the same house Mrs. Owens and her two children are sick in bed, utterly unprovided for.

Another family of six children, orphans, are all in bed, and one family of seven, one of nine, one of eight and another of nine are all confined to their beds with the same disease They are starving, and this, with the filth, makes the district one not pleasant to visit.

NEW YORK, April 14.—As Mr. Taylor of Chicago was landing from the Servia this morning a gust of wind blew aside his coat, revealing a small hole from which a piece of gray silk protruded. Foul Play Suspected.

WINNIPEG, April 14.—A Dominion City despatch says that an Indian belonging to the Roseau band was found dead there yesterday morning with a mark on his cheek and temple as if struck with a club. Foul play is suspected and the case is to be fully investigated.

IN LOVE WITH PATTI'S NEPHEW.

The Physician's Wife Asked Her Husband for a Divorce.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., April 14.—Dr. M. F. Horine of Chicago filed suit in the United States Circuit Court yesterday against A. Barili of this city for $50,000 for alienating the affections of the doctor's wife. Signor Barili, who is a nephew of Adelina Patti, came here from Augusta, Ga., six months ago.

While he was living in Augusta Mrs Horine was visiting there. The petition in Dr. Horine's suit states that one day while his wife was visiting at Augusta he received a letter from her, in which she openly confessed that she had fallen in love with Alfredo Barili, a distant relative of Patti. She stated that she no longer loved her husband and begged him to apply for a divorce.

Dr. Horine Dumfounded.

Dr. Horine was astounded. His home had always been a peaceable one. Correspondence followed and Mrs. Horine finally sent to the doctor several of the letters which she had received from her lover. They were unusually devoted. In one the young man proposed that she fly with him to the sunny climes of Italy or some secluded place in Europe, where she could secure the legal separation desired. His obliging relative, Adelina Patti, he said, would furnish the funds necessary.

Patti Denounced Her Nephew.

It was about that time that Patti arrived in Chicago. Dr. Horine knew with what affection the diva regarded her nephew, and he determined to consult with her concerning the relations of his wife with Signor Barili. He accordingly consulted an attorney and the two called upon Patti. The story of the intrigue as revealed in the lover's letters was graphically told. Patti was deeply affected and denounced her nephew in the strongest terms.

She had made her will, bequeathing to him half her fortune, she said, but now she would cut him off without a penny. She telegraphed Signor Barilli to come to her at once. He went, and being unable to clear himself of Dr. Horine's charges, his divine aunt kept her word, disinherited him and told him she never wanted to see him again.

The threatened suits of Dr. Horine against his wife for divorce were at that time withdrawn, and it was supposed the doctor had arrived at a compromise with Patti.

It appears now that the Diva declined to mix in the matter at all and left her nephew to shift for himself the best he could. Barili came here from his visit to Chicago and established a school of music. He is an excellent violinist and has been very successful. He declined to discuss Mr. Horine's suit.

BETRAYED BY HIS FRECKLES.

They Lead to His Arrest on the Charge of Burglary.

NEW YORK, April 14.—But for his freckles Charles Hender would still be free instead of now languishing in jail awaiting trial on the charge of burglary. His disappearance right after the robbery of a store of which his father is janitor led to his being suspected, which, with the fact that a woman who lived in the rear on the night in question saw a red-headed young man with a freckled face in the yard of the building, caused his arrest on his return here yesterday.

Why the Fakir is Free.

BROCKVILLE, April 14.—William Simonds, a tramp arrested on suspicion that he was carrying a faked broken arm in order to assist his begging operations, was discharged yesterday morning at Police Court. Jail Surgeon Moore made an examination of the injured member, and found a skilfully applied set of splints. He was not prepared to undo the work and stand a chance of being proceeded against for malpractice, in case the arm was really found broken. There was therefore no other course open and the prisoner was discharged, although the general impression still prevails that he was a fakir pure and simple.

Brantford's Electric Railway.

BRANTFORD, April 14.—Ald. C. H Waterous, who has just returned from New York, met Mr. George W. Darling, manager of the Edison Electric Company. That gentleman told Mr. Waterous that there was no doubt that the Brantford electric street railway would be constructed at once. From this it would appear that the Edison company have acquired the option of the road.

To Re-Enter the Pulpit.

WINNIPEG, April 14.—Grace Methodist Church here, which had called the late Rev. Dr. Lane to its pastorate, now proposes to call Rev. Leonard Gaetz, formerly of the Metropolitan, Toronto, and St. James Church in Montreal. Mr. Gaetz some years ago settled in the Red Deer country, north of Calgary, for the benefit of his health.

Gave Up Its Dead.

BARRIE, Ont., April 14.—The body of William Shanacy of Grenfel, who left Barrie for home 10 days ago, was fished from the river at the foot of Mulcaster-street. He had evidently fallen into the water.

BIG BLAZE AT ST. KITTS.

SEVERAL BUILDINGS TOTALLY DESTROYED.

Including the Finest Skating Rink in Ontario—Disastrous Fire at Glencoe—Deeming at Moosomin—A Breezy Budget of Canadian News.

ST. CATHARINES, April 16.—Good Friday ended up very disastrous to St. Catharines. About 10.30 p.m. the fire alarm was sounded and all the companies responded, going to the extreme east end of the city, where Charles Smith's slaughter house was on fire.

While the fire companies were extinguishing this small blaze another alarm sounded in the west end, where the Palace ice rink was discovered to be on fire. This fire, when discovered, was very small and a few buckets of water would easily have quenched the flames, but entrance could could not be gained to the rink easily and the fire alarm was sounded.

By the time the brigades responded the fire had gained strength. Owing to the inflammable nature of the building it was in a few minutes a mass of flames, which set small fires going in every direction.

In Lake-street, opposite the rink, several houses were badly damaged, including Capt. Clifford's, Mr. McKindsey's, Capt. Sandy Irwin's and R. Ironsides'.

Two dwelling houses in Welland-avenue were also burned.

Several houses in Wellington-street, opposite the rink, were on fire many times, but were promptly put out.

At 1 a.m. the fire was under control. In all, five occupied dwelling houses, the rink and two barns were completely burned to the ground.

Several narrow escapes are reported where people escaped with only their night-clothes on, carrying children rolled up in blankets.

Captain Jeremiah Clifford, who was lying dangerously ill, was rescued from his burning home with difficulty. Many houses were slightly damaged with water.

The heroic efforts of the firemen only saved the dwellings in James-street, opposite the rink, from destruction.

The rink was one of the largest and finest in Canada, erected five years ago at a cost of $12,000. It was insured for $6000.

Glencoe Warehouse Burned.

GLENCOE, April 16.—Huston Bros. grain warehouse was burned to the ground yesterday. Loss $3500; partly covered by insurance.

NEWFOUNDLAND.

A Proposition to Impose a Tonnage Tax on United States Vessels.

HALIFAX, April 16.—In the Newfoundland Legislature Mr. Morine moved to impose a tonnage tax upon American vessels obtaining bait in Newfoundland waters until Newfoundland fish is admitted duty free into the United States, and to impose an export tax on frozen herring shipped in American bottoms, the revenue received from these sources to be applied to enforcing the bait law and encouraging the herring industry.

Sir William Whiteway said the question was now subject to negotiation between Canada, England, the United States and Newfoundland. He declared that Americans spent hundreds of thousands of dollars in Newfoundland in the winter time, and it was futile for Newfoundland to attempt to retaliate against the United States.

The resolution was defeated, 21 to 7.

DEEMING.

Proof That the Notorious Murderer Lived in the Northwest.

WINNIPEG, April 16.—The report that Deeming, who is now on trial in Australia for murdering his wife, had at one time been a resident in the Northwest, going by the name of Williams, and had departed suddenly, taking with him a considerable amount of property belonging to other people, is confirmed by Mr. Hewgill, public school inspector of Moosomin, who writes:

I noticed an item to the effect that Mr. Deeming (the murderer), under the name of Williams, had resided in the Territories. In the spring of 1884 a man named Williams arrived here and after hanging around for a time, rented a small office from me and started business as a watchmaker. After a few months he suddenly decamped, taking with him all the watches he had in for repairs, including a valuable gold watch belonging to a gentleman near Wapella. He was of a taciturn, morose and unsociable disposition. Doubtless this was the Williams referred to in your paper.

He Had Robbed His Judge.

VICTORIA, B. C., April 16.—At the trial of Lee Kie, a Chinese thief, a quantity of table knives, forks, spoons, etc., which had been found in the prisoner's cabin and were supposed to have been stolen, were handed up to the presiding magistrate, Mr. Ward. After closely scrutinizing a silver fork, Mr. Ward remarked. "Why, that fork belongs to me," and looking at the prisoner continued, "Why, you must be a professional, I send you to jail for three months."

Killed By a Tram Car.

VICTORIA, B.C., April 16.—John Hatcher, the 6-year-old son of Robert Hatcher, a gardener living at 207½ Douglas-street, was run over and instantly killed by a tram car almost in front of his home yesterday afternoon. He was standing on the side of the track watching a steam saw working when struck by the car.

Killed by a Flying Missile.

SUNDRIDGE, Ont., April 16.—Alexander Milsap of Nottawasaga was working in a mill near Sundridge, when a belt flew off and the balance wheel broke, a large piece of which, weighing about 75 pounds, striking him on the temple caused instant death.

Michael to Be Tried Tuesday.

DETROIT, April 16.—Prince Michael and Eliza Courts were arrigned yesterday on a charge of assault preferred by Ellen Rawlinson of Toronto. Next Tuesday was fixed as the time of trial. Their bonds are $1000 each. This brings total of security necessary to release Michael up to $3200.

Funeral of the Gypsy Queen.

ELIZABETH, N.J., April 16.—Imposing ceremonies marked the funeral of the Gypsy Queen yesterday. In life she was Annie Young, daughter of Chief Joseph Lovell. To attend the ceremonies gypsies came from the west as far as Cincinnati. Every man, woman and child in the caravan was dressed in black.

Woodhull and Claflin to Lecture in America—Death of a Famous English Novelist—The Recent Murder of a Bulgarian Representative at Constantinople

LONDON, April 1.—The revelations made in the evidence on the state of the British army given before the committee of enquiry presided over by Lord Wantage have been the sensation of the week. Recommendations which the committee previously published were a series of dry and formal propositions indicating nothing of the extraordinary statements of leading military chiefs. These were of such a nature as will lead to active agitation in Parliament as soon as recess is over. A group of military members of the House of Commons have already seen the War Secretary privately and extorted from him a promise that the Government shall not obstruct a full discussion and sequent reforms. The generals examined concurred in the opinion that there was hardly a single infantry battalion at home effective.

Adjt.-Gen. Sir Evelyn Wood declared that 50 per cent. of the men encamped at Aldershot were unfit for camp duties, that they could not even do a day's service on account of their youth and lack of stamina, and that the only practise he dared to put such men to was two hours carrying the pack or sentry duty.

The Duke of Cambridge, Commander-in-Chief, endorsed the startling statement, adding if called upon to mobilize two army corps on short notice the authorites could not do so and he did not think it possible to mobilize one corps.

Lord Wolseley, in response to a question whether the battalions as they now stand would be fit for home defence, replied: "If we were invaded to-morrow they would be better than nothing."

The Duke of Connaught: "I am perfectly certain if the battalion under my command at Portsmouth were ordered to service to-morrow one-half would not be allowed to go on account of unfitness."

The main cause of the weakness of home battalions is stated to be depletion of their best men for foreign and colonial service.

Lord Wolseley likened the home force to a squeezed lemon.

The Duke of Connaught held that men would not join the service, owing to the fact that wearers of the Queen's uniform are usually ostracised and also because soldiers are wantonly burdened with excessive sentry duty.

In regard to methods of reform there was a general opinion that substantial increase of strength of home battalions would come from more liberal pay and better pensions. Views differed on the period of service, but agreed on the need of periodic training for reserve men now proved with volunteers to be the sole reliance in the event of war.

Sensational Charge in Berlin.

BERLIN, April 16.—A great sensation was caused in military and political circles day by the appearance in Dresden of a pamphlet entitled "New Revelations about Jewish Guns." In the pamphlet the author, Rector Hermann Ahlwardt of Berlin, brings grave charges against the well-known Jewish firm of Ludwig, Loewe & Co., whom he accused of having defrauded the German Government and endangered the national defence by delivering several hundred thousand rifles of the latest, or No. 88 pattern, in bad condition.

The pamphlet asserts that the weapons are made of inferior materials, provided with unreliable sight pieces, are liable to explode in the hands of the men who use them, and in short contends they are infinitely more perilous to the German troops than they could be to the enemy.

A Prussian lieutenant-colonel of Jewish extraction and several other persons are said to be implicated in the alleged frauds.

Gladstone and Midlothian.

LONDON, April 16.—Communications passing between Mr. Gladstone and a committee of his constituents in Midlothian have elicited from Mr. Gladstone the declaration that he considers the Newcastle program a definite platform for the coming elections. If dissolution be precipitated he will be prepared immediately to enter the field and to address a series of meetings. If dissolution be deferred he still promises a short stumping tour. The tenor of the communications indicates that he does not intend to issue a special manifesto, but merely the usual address to the electors on the eve of a contest. A memorial from the Irish Baptists and other dissenters against Home Rule on religious grounds was recently sent to Mr. Gladstone. In reply he contended that the alarm lest the Dublin legislature might oppose Protestants ought not to be entertained, as any act passed by the Imperial Parliament would safeguard religious and civil freedom.

Three Steamers in Collision.

LONDON, April 16.—The British steamer Ripon City, which arrived at London April 2 from New York, the British steamer Culgoa at London from Sydney, and the Norwegian bark Argo from Amsterdam, were in collision to-day at Woolwich, the naval port on the Thames forming part of the metropolis. The three vessels came together with considerable force and all were badly damaged.

Married in a Hack.

VICTORIA, B.C., April 16.—In order to assist George J. DeFoy and Mrs. Mar Ellen Simpson to be married and catch the boat, Justice Sharp yesterday made them man and wife in a hack while the horses were being driven at a rapid pace to the wharf.

Tired of Life at 17.

QU'APPELLE, N. W. T., April 16.—Robert Strong, aged 17, who was engaged on Mr. Wismer's ranch at Touchwood Hills, made a determined attempt to take his life. He first took strychnine on bread and afterwards in milk. Dr. Collings was summoned in time to save his life. He was taken to Regina jail.

Different From Most Accidents.

GRANADA, Miss., April 16.—A serious railway accident occurred near here this morning in which the private car of E. P. Ripley, third vice-president of the Milwaukee and St. Paul railway, was badly damaged and Mr. Ripley and two officers were severely injured. A north-bound passenger train on the Illinois Central was running at a high rate of speed, when it collided with a freight train and a general smash-up occurred.

ACROSS THE ATLANTIC.

MOTHER AND SON EXECUTED IN GERMANY.

Queer Sentence of a Murderess—To be Hanged and the Body to Be Afterwards Cremated—The Montagu Children at the Mercy of a Governess.

LONDON, April 16.—In the Lord Mayor's Court a tradesman sought to recover from Viscount Royston, eldest son and heir of the Earl of Hardwicke, a sum of money which has been owing to him for a long time.

The solicitor for the plaintiff said he had left the summons in the case with the Viscount's valet. Assistant Judge Roxburgh said that a man who could afford to keep a valet could afford to pay his debts. He issued an order that unless Viscount Royston pays the sum of £17 within seven days he be committed to jail for 20 days.

COSTLY LYNCHING.

The U.S. Pays an Indemnity of $25,000 for the Mafia Massacre.

LONDON, April 16.—A despatch from Rome says a series of notes have passed between Mr. Blaine, the American Secretary of State, and Marquis Imperiali, Italian charge d'affaires at Washington, resulting in a settlement of the differences between Italy and the United States growing out of the lynching of the Italians at New Orleans. According to this despatch the Marquis Imperiali has advised the Italian Government that he has received from the United States Government the sum of $25,000 for the families of the victims. This money, the marquis adds, was accompanied by a note from Secretary Blaine in which he declared that, although the wrong was not committed directly by the United States, the latter nevertheless feels it its solemn duty in the premises. The note adds that Mr. Blaine declares that he feels great pleasure that the national Government should pay to Italy a satisfactory indemnity. In consequence of these instructions given to Mr. Blaine by President Harrison, the latter hopes that the arrangement will end the unfortunate incident, that the former good relations between the two countries will be firmly re-established, and that nothing in the future will occur to disturb such relations.

In his note in reply to Mr. Blaine's communication, the Marquis Imperiali says that Italy had already, with pleasure, noted the terms in which President Harrison referred to the matter in his message at the opening of Congress. The Marquis further says that Italy considers the indemnity sufficient without prejudice to any actions at law that may be brought by the aggrieved parties. He also expresses the hope that the payment of the indemnity will result in the happy re-establishment of relations between the two Governments.

A Murderess' Sentence.

ST. PETERSBURG, April 16.—Anna Sainio, wife of a professor at the State College at Tavastohuus, Finland, has been found guilty of murdering her husband. The court sentenced her to be beheaded and ordered that her body be afterwards burned.

Mrs. Sainio is only 22 years old. She was married to Prof. Sainio in 1890 and has one child.

Mme. Sainio had been engaged in questionable money transactions, had forged her husband's name, and had carried on an intrigue with a student in the college.

Mother and Son Executed.

BERLIN, April 16.—A woman named Krause, convicted of the murder of her husband, and her eldest son Wilhelm, who was an accomplice, were executed at Dortmund yesterday.

The prisoners confessed, saying they were weary of keeping the old man because he was unfit for work.

Death at the Dentist's.

BERLIN, April 16.—The sudden death of the well-known prima donna Frau Brandt-Goertz of the Hanover Court Theatre has once more shown the danger of resorting to anæsthetics without proper medical guidance. Frau Brandt-Goertz went to a dentist at Cassel two days ago to have a tooth drawn. She insisted on having "laughing gas" administered to her before the operation. Because of her obesity the dentist thought she would not be a proper subject and at first refused, but ended by consenting. Hardly had the singer inhaled the gas than she fell back in the armchair dead of heart disease.

An Indignant Protest.

LONDON, April 16.—There is a general outcry in the press against the giving of Mrs. Montagu's children to the care of the governess, Dozolle, who, they declare, ought to have been charged as accessory to the death of the little girl for which the mother is now in jail.

The governess, who was the first to lock up the victim in the dark room, defended her mistress stoutly throughout the trial, and shares with her in the bitter unpopularity which she has aroused.

The father is denounced for permitting the children to be removed from his own charge and placed in England with the governess.

Some journals demand that they be made wards in chancery for their protection.

Had a Narrow Escape from Cremation.

CALCUTTA, April 16.—What was nearly a case of premature cremation is reported from Kulu, near Lahore. A Hindoo had to all appearances died, but as it was getting late his relatives delayed burning the corpse until the next morning. As the corpse was being carried to the river side to burn it suddenly sat bolt upright on the bier, demanded its clothes and demanded to know where it was being carried.

Deeming Pronounced Sane.

MELBOURNE, April 16.—The official inspector in lunacy has made an examination of Deeming to ascertain his mental condition. Deeming was reported to be sane.

Killed a Bear a Day.

WALKERTON, Ont., April 16.—While Donald McLeod and Alexander McDonald of Stoke's Bay were in the bush with a collie dog a few days ago it commenced to bark at what they thought was a brush pile, but which on examination proved to be a den of bears. Having a gun with them they fired at bruin, who came out to fight them. They killed one and next day went out and killed another. Next day they went out again and killed the third.

Bible study for young men on Thursday evening, led by Mr. Isaac Richardson. Topic, "What is salvation ?"

A bright service was held for the boys at ten o'clock yesterday morning. Some forty-five junior members attended. It was led by Miss Code, and proved of much spiritual good.

Some two hundred young men, including a number of strangers, visited the rooms yesterday.

Last evening there was a large attendance, completely filling the hall, the young men turning out in large numbers. A special programme was successfully carried out, and meritoriously rendered. General Secretary Colville occupied the chair. The evening's entertainment opened with a selection from the band under the leadership of Mr. John Millar. After the reading of the Scripture lesson, and the offering up of prayer, the Y.M.C.A. quartette, composed of Messrs. Wesley, A. Millar, Gray and Shelton, favored the audience with a song, Miss Edna Jewett being the effective accompanists. Then followed a clever exhibition of Indian club swinging by the gymnasium class, composed of Messrs Hamilton, Mackie, Armstrong and Eastland. The number of difficult and intricate movements which they so deftly and easily executed reflects great credit upon their efficient instructor, Sergt.-Major Rundle. Mr. J. Coyle Brown gave a splendid reading, and Master Percy Owens, a clever young pianist, an instrumental solo. A dumb-bell exercise by the gymnasium class was well received.

Mr. A. Millar gave a vocal selection in fine voice, and Mr. T. W. Cochrane favoured with a good reading. The Y.M.C.A. band gave a second selection after which a physical drill was given, Messrs. Hamilton, Mackie, Armstrong and Eastland. A number of different movements and contortions were successfuly gone through with by the boys for the first time, under the directorship of Sergt.-Major Rundle. Their excellent drilling was rapturously welcomed. The Y.M.C.A. quartette gave a vocal solo, the gymnasium class a bar bell exercise, and Messrs. Alf. Millar and R M Gray, a very acceptable duet. A few words of congratulation and encouragement from Mr. G. M. Roger, vice-president of the association, brought to a close a most successful and highly enjoyable evening.

An Unpatriotic Correspondent.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

DEAR SIR,—Will you kindly give me space in your valuable paper to make a few remarks? In Friday's issue of the Review I notice an item in the Young's Point correspondence, which insinuated that the Justices of the Peace, Messrs. W. Graham, A. Kearney and C. Young were not capable of performing their duties as such. Now, Mr. Editor, why are they not capable of doing so? Perhaps you could give them a lesson, Mr. Correspondent. If you be our honourable correspondent, you would reason out your fault-finding and cease this continual stoking at our village at large. Is a fault-finder to be our resident correspondent? We do not wish it.

Anyway, what is the duty of a J.P.? Is it to roam the streets and surrounding country in search of culprits? If so, one in particular need not go farther than his next door neighbor in order to exercise his power. Pray do understand, Mr. Correspondent, that a case must be laid before a J.P. before he has authority to act, and that if you were a loyal resident you would have called a constable during that brutal fight in front of your door a few days ago, when then the J. P. would have to act; and you would not make a mail bag of the farmers' pockets (being refused by the stage driver) to carry your letters to Lakefield and Peterborough, thereby cheating the Government and leaving yourself liable to forfeit damages.

I thank you, Mr. Editor, for your favour.

a4w DAVID DOE

To Tell How Fast a Steamer Goes.

Among the various systems of signals required on board the ocean greyhounds one of the most important is a convenient means of determining quickly and accurately the number of revolutions of the engine shaft or shafts without waiting to count each turn. An ingenious electric device to accomplish this has recently been invented by an Englishman.

A circular contact maker is fitted to the shaft and over it work two contact brushes, so at each revolution of the shaft the circuit is made and broken four times. In the circuit is placed an electrical clock work, and when the button is pushed at one of the stations the counting circuit is thrown in. The apparatus begins to count the instant the button is pushed, the operation lasting fifteen seconds. At the end of that time figures appear at the openings of the indicator, and show the exact number of revolutions per minute.

When the button is pressed again the last indication is automatically cleared away and the wheels set at zero. A number of indicators may be placed on the same circuit, but while a record is being taken on one the others are locked automatically to prevent the upsetting of the record being made. The tests made with the device on English warships have been very successful, and engineers say that it fully meets every requirement.

Hogskin for Walls.

"Hogskin leather," says Hide and Leather, "is becoming fashionable for wall paper, in the homes of the rich. This may sound odd, but it is true nevertheless. Few people know what beautiful leather may be manufactured under skilful management from the skin of the hog, which closely resembles human skin. Mr. P. H. Martin, of Cincinnati, an authority on hogskins, said: 'Hogskins are shaved down and turned into a soft, velvety leather, which is embossed or stamped artistically, and owing to its peculiar grain, a very pleasing and rich effect is produced. The skins are tanned in bark liquors in about six weeks. They are considerably used for saddle seats, horse collars and other harness leathers. Some of the skins we obtain are immense. I remember one that weighed 133 pounds, and measured 6½ feet from head to tail. Another was 140 pounds, and contained 71 square feet of leather when finished. Here is a piece 1½ inches thick. It is a decided curiosity. As regards prices, we get $12 a dozen skins for hogskin collar leather, and $20 to $35 a dozen for seating.'"

Education at Home.

The German Froebel was the great apostle of the kindergarten, a word which means literally a garden of children, where young human beings are cared for as plants are cared for, that their growth may be symmetrical, and that the ripened fruits of character may appear in due time, writes Caroline Le Row in the March Ladies' Home Journal. He saw that the infant made constant use of its eyes; desired to use its legs and arms, and had a disposition to play; that with the first indication of intelligence it showed curiosity, and that its first connected words were in the form of questions. It is because his system of education is based upon these facts of the child's natural unfolding that it has proved itself to be the best, and, indeed, the only proper training for young children.

Cold Weather Trials.

DEAR SIRS,—This fall and winter I suffered from neuralgia in my face and had the best medical advice without avail. I at last thought of trying B B B., and after using one bottle have not felt any symptoms of neuralgia since. I regard it as a first family medicine.

REV. J. G. LAIRD.

A Past President of the Toronto Conference.

A Well-Known and Respected Minister of the Methodist Church Tells What Paine's Celery Compound has Done for Him—Magnetism, Electricity and Mineral Springs Failed in the Work—Strong, Clear and Honest Testimony that should Give Fresh Hope to every Sufferer.

The character and standing of the individuals who testify in favor of Paine's Celery Compound is of itself sufficient proof of the great worth and efficacy of that noble remedy. No other medicine known to the people of Canada has ever come forward with such honest and convincing letters. No other medicine has ever been favoured in the same degree by the best class of Canadians, who have not considered it derogatory to their dignity and standing to have their letters and photos published for the benefit of sufferers

Amongst the well-known people of our country who have cause for thankfulness and joy is the Rev. J. G. Laird, of London, Ont. For years he suffered terribly and made use of everything he could hear of—was treated by the best physicians—but no restoration came until Paine's Celery Compound was used. Mr. Laird says:

442 King street, London, Ont.
March 18th, 1892.

WELLS & RICHARDSON CO.,

DEAR SIRS,—Having received great benefit from the use of Paine's Celery Compound it affords me pleasure to give my testimony in favour of its beneficial effects. Six years ago this spring, I was prostrated with nervous debility. I was then closing my 38 h year in the active work of the ministry in the Methodist Church. Until then I had been a strong, vigorous man, and an earnest worker in church work. Suddenly I became so prostrated that I was forced to resign my charge. I could not sleep, was afraid to be left alone, and could not refrain from shedding tears when speaking to any person. My kidneys, liver and stomach became very much weakened, so that I was a helpless invalid.

For about two years I tried everything I could hear of, such as magnetism, electricity, Clifton Springs, etc.; and applied to several physicians but obtained no permanent relief. About four years ago a friend brought me a bottle of Paine's Celery Compound; I experienced some benefit from its use; I got some more and soon realized great benefit from it. Soon I slept well, my organs and nervous system became greatly restored, and my dread of being alone was removed.

I still continued to use it. If I go from home, to guard against sleeplessness, I take a supply with me. I do not expect to be made young again, as I am now in my 69th year, but I am a very different man compared with what I was four or five years ago. Had I known of this remedy when first afflicted with nervousness, my conviction is that, with the Divine blessing, I would not yet be on the list of retired ministers.—Yours respectfully,

J. G. LAIRD,
Methodist Minister.

In a subsequent letter, dated April 2nd, 1892, Rev. Mr. Laird says:—

I have not the slightest objection in your using my testimonial in your advertising work. I might have said more in favor of Paine's Celery Compound, as it has greatly helped me; it may be a benefit to others, and no doubt will. I am feeling very well at present; have not felt so comfortable at the opening of any spring since my first attack as I do now.

H. SPEARS.

Gets Three Months for a Lesson.

Jas. Allen, a plumber by trade and hailing, as he alleges, from Toronto, but who in reality is a Nova Scotian, was arrested by Police Officer McGinty on Thursday night for soliciting alms from pedestrians on George street and also for vagrancy. Yesterday morning he was brought up before Police Magistrate Dumble on these charges.

MAGISTRATE—Have you any home?

PRISONER—No.

MAGISTRATE—Have you any visible means of support?

PRISONER—No.

MAGISTRATE—Have you any money?

PRISONER—None.

MAGISTRATE—You fill the bill exactly. I shall give you three months in the Central prison at hard labor.

The prisoner, who is evidently a professional scoundrel and a notorious vagrant, rather demurred at his sentence and muttered to himself as he left the court room that if he ever got out he would send bag two or three of the officers.

Salvation Army Services.

The services at the Salvation Army barracks, Simcoe street, were of a social character yesterday. In the afternoon at three o'clock a meeting was held, which was well attended and resulted in much blessing and good. Envign Steele led the meeting and was assisted by Scribe Brown, one of the divisional secretaries from Hamilton. The "band festival" in the evening was largely attended, and the music rendered was of a pleasing and high class character. The brass band (under the leadership of Lieutenant Pennington) composed of nineteen pieces, rendered four fine selections. The string band, composed principally of the noted Green family, gave three pieces of music which were well appreciated. This band is a worthy acquisition lately added to the musical organization of the corps. Two duets, by Scribe Brown on the banjo, and Mr. Tighe on the rattle bones, were cleverly executed. On Easter Sunday special services will be held all day long. At six o'clock there will be a parade with the band and special knee drill. Services will also be held at 11 o'clock in the morning, three o'clock in the afternoon and at seven o'clock in the evening. The local corps are looking forward with pleasure to attending the special May meeting in Toronto from April 30th to May 5th. This annual May meeting, as it is called, will be led by Commissioner Rees and Colonel McKie, assisted by the staff and some 300 field officers. The army runs a special excursion to Toronto for the great occasion.

Died Suddenly in Toronto.

The many friends of Miss Minnie Clark and Mrs. J. A. The deceased lady was sixty-one years of age, and very much respected by all who knew her.

Light Overcoats.

This is the season when a light overcoat is a necessity. The time was when it cost all the way from $15 to $20 for a well made spring overcoat, but Grafton & Co. have brought about quite a change. You can now get just as good a coat for from $7 to $12 as if you paid a tailor $15, and have it without waiting, by calling at Grafton & Co's new clothing store, 392 George street. 2d

Easter Music at St. John's.

At the services to-morrow in St. John's the following music will be rendered by the choir, in addition to several new chants and hymns. Te Deum—Stainer in C. Anthem "Christ being raised"—Gill, Kyrie, Gloria Tibi Sanctus and Gloria in Excelsis. Tours in F. At the evening service the anthem will be repeated and Bennett's Magnificat and Nunc Dimittis—old favourites with the congregation, which have not been heard for some two years, will be sung.

Personal.

Mr. Jas. J. Grafton, of the well-known Manufacturing Firm of Grafton & Co., returned to Dundas to-day after spending a week to ten days with us opening out a branch of their fine clothing here. Messrs. Grafton & Co. are very large manufacturers of clothing for men and boys. We are pleased to welcome such an energetic and prosperous firm to our town, and only sorry that we cannot induce Mr. Grafton to settle here. Mr. Deeks will represent Grafton & Co. in Peterborough as manager of their finely equipped and neatly arranged store, 393 George street, opposite McKee & Davidson.

Many people are not aware that it is the wrapper of the tobacco which gives the color to the plug, and are therefore often deceived by a handsome outside appearance. The wrapper is a single film of leaf wrapped around the plug and is never good smoking tobacco. It is costly only because of its fine color. In the "Myrtle Navy" brand the chief attention is paid to the "filler," that is, the inside of the plug. It is this which determines the smoking quality of any tobacco. A tobacco can be made to look as well as the "Myrtle Navy" without much trouble or expense, but it may at the same time be a very inferior article.

I. O. G. T. Advancement.

Mr. Thos. Lawless, G. S., assisted by members of Carswell, Union and Selynn Lodges, re-organized Oak Leaf Lodge, No. 46, at Bridgenorth, Friday evening, April 15th. This lodge began new life under very favorable circumstances, having twenty-three charter members, all of whom seem eager to make the lodge an energetic instrument for the the advancement of the cause to which it is devoted. After routine short addresses were delivered by Bro. H. P. Lindsay, C.T., Bro. G. J. Earp, G.M., of Carswell Lodge and Bro. Young of Union. The meeting broke up about 11 o'clock, the visitors having spent a most enjoyable evening.

The Boscovitz Concert.

The programme for Mr. Frederick Boscovitz's concert to be given at Bradburn's Opera House on Thursday evening next, April 21st, is one calculated to enlist the sympathy and interest of the novices in music as well as the most advanced students and critics. It is extremely choice in this respect, and it also affords the artist an opportunity to display the versatility and virtuosity for which he is celebrated. Every lover of pure and simple music (the music which touches the heart independently of training) every student in music, and every teacher will do well to make a point of being present. We cannot too strongly emphasize the fact that the concert will be unique in its general attractiveness and value. Seats may be reserved at Schofield's drug store on and after Tuesday, April 19th. Reserved seats 50 cents. 1d

Shooting Match.

Port Hope Gun Club Defeats the Peterborough Gun Club Yesterday Afternoon by 8 Shots in a Trap Shooting Contest.

A large number attended the shooting match at Riverside Park yesterday afternoon between the Port Hope Gun club and the Peterborough Gun club. It was the first match of the season and resulted in a defeat for the home marksmen by 8 shots. A strong wind was blowing from the northwest, which militated against any very good scores being made. The Port Hope Gun club came down fifteen men strong. It was expected that the match would be with ten men aside, but the home team were only able to get six of their number together. Seven rounds were shot on each side. Messrs. H Reynolds and J. G. Jackson made the highest score for Port Hope, each scoring 15 shots out of a possible twenty-one. Capt. Tivey and E. J. Hartley made the highest score for Peterborough, each taking 14 shots out of a possible 21. The match was with clay birds. Mr. Wm. Logan was trap setter, and Mr. A. Terrill trap puller. The shooting lasted two hours and a half. It is probable that a return match will shortly be played.

Following are the names of the men on each side and their respective scores:

A Toronto Merchant's Confession!

He is Now Converted!

Quite recently a business man, in Toronto, confessed to a newspaper reporter that his views and opinions were completely changed of late. "I am not a political or a religious convert," said the merchant; "I am a convert to a great, a mighty truth—a truth that our people should know more about. Like thousands of others, I treated with contempt the fact, that there was a remedy that could cure rheumatism. I thought, when doctors failed to cure this terrible disease, that no other earthly agency could relieve or take it away. A few months ago I found out the fallacy of my reasonings and conclusions, and now candidly admit that there is a grand power that can do this work to every sufferer's satisfaction and delight. I was induced to try Paine's Celery Compound, and it has entirely cured me. I suffered terribly for two years, and spent money freely with physicians. I was treated with electricity and other methods, but all failed to do me good; truly this Paine's Celery Compound is a most marvellous remedy."

Here we have the honest and fearless statements of one of Toronto's best known business men; in addition to this, hundreds of the best testimonials attest strongly the value of Paine's Celery Compound as a cure for the worst cases of rheumatism.

In every section of this broad Dominion the power and worth of this great remedy is well known. It comes to our people well recommended by physicians, clergyman, lawyers, and our best public men. No other has given such universal satisfaction.

No need to suffer any longer, dear reader; this remedy will meet your case; if you are weak and nervous, it will build you up; if you are sleepless and irritable, it will give you natural and peaceful rest and sleep; if you are dyspeptic, it will give you a healthy and natural digestion and a good appetite. Paine's Celery Compound can do all this, and bring joy, hope and peace of mind.

The First Baseball of the Season.

An Exciting Match yesterday afternoon between the Edison and the Peterborough Baseball Clubs—The Latter Team win after a Difficult Struggle.

The baseball season was opened yesterday afternoon on the P. A. A. grounds by a match between the Peterborough Baseball Club and the Edisons. The diamond and the grounds were in a fair condition. This first event of its character was witnessed by a large crowd of interested spectators. The first five innings of the game partook of the nature of a scratch match, the playing and batting on both sides being about evenly divided. But as the game grew in number of innings and runs the contest began to wax warmer and warmer, while the enthusiasm among the on-lookers became keener and keener. At the end of the ninth innings the score stood 14 runs each side, and it was agreed to play another innings. The Peterboroughs went to bat determined to win—and win they did—F. Packenham scoring the needed run on a wild throw to third, and with that run, victory. At the time there were two put outs, and Tighe at bat had two strikes on him. McCabe had dropped to centre field, and Lipsett died at first, when Packenham scored first on a tip, stole second, and on a wild throw to third reached home with both feet. McCabe, for the Peterboroughs, filled the box acceptably during the whole game. Very few cracks were made of his twirls. The infield, Messrs. Lipsett, Evans and Packenham, held down their respective bags well, while O'Brien behind the bat did steady and effective work. The Edisons put Pomfret in the box for the first two innings. He then went out to centre and Arthurs pitched the next seven innings. In the tenth Pomfret again pitched. For the electricians first baseman Foster and Belnap as short stop did some brilliant playing. Catcher Parks is a good base thrower and held up the honors of the battery. Umpire Payne's decisions gave good satisfaction. In the third innings he retired and J. Callaghan decided the destinies of the players for the remainder of the game. Following are the names of the players and the score:—

NOTES.

A young fellow named Clancy who was a spectator, was struck on the foot with the ball during the game and severly hurt.

Third baseman Hunter of the Edison's lifted the leather over the fence in the early part of the game but it was counted a foul.

Pitcher Arshur ran into first baseman Lipsett during the game and had his mouth hurt.

The game lasted two hours and never was a more exciting game witnessed in the last four innings.

A good game was played by both teams although star players, brilliant cracks and home runs were not in the order of the day.

A Sewerage Symposium.

The Provincial Board of Health, the Local and Suburban Civic Representatives Confer En Route—Down the River and Return.

Last night the members of the Provincial Board of Health, Dr. P. H. Bryce, secretary of the Provincial Board of Health, Dr. Macdonald, of Hamilton, chairman of the Sewerage Committee of the Provincial Board of Health, Dr. Vaux, of Brockville, a member of the Board, and Allan MacDougall, C. E., arrived in town and had a consultation with some of the members of the town council. This morning the gentlemen above named and Messrs. Cahill, Dennistoun and Ferguson, town councillors, Messrs. Forster, reeve of North Monaghan, and Collins, clerk of North Monaghan, Dr Clarke, medical health officer, Peterborough, J. E. Belcher, town engineer, Geo. Pope, street inspector of the town, and representatives of the local press, embarked on the steamer Daisy to look over the ground and to investigate the circumstances and conditions connected with the emptying of the outfall of the proposed system of sewerage. The party went down the river about 12½ miles, in the careful charge of Mr. Clare Colcutt, and careful observations and estimates of the conditions that would effect the discharge of the town sewage into the river, were made, and materials were gained for discussion at the conference that was held this afternoon. The members of the Provincial Board of Health reserve their deductions from the excursion of this morning for the next meeting of the Board.

Good Friday's Church Chimes.

Service was held in the lecture room of the George street Methodist church yesterday morning at eleven o'clock. There was a fair attendance. The pastor Rev. J. H. Locke lead in a responsive reading from the 19th chapter of John. Rev. J. Thom, pastor of the Mark street Methodist church, assisted in the service and spoke a few earnest words basing his remarks upon the 27th chapter of Matthew. He dwelt upon the trial of Christ before Pilate, his cruel crucifixion and death, and how he rose triumphant from the grave for the remission of our sins.

The services at St. John's church yesterday were of a special and appropriate character. In the morning, a short service was held, led by Rev. C. B. Kenrick, M.A. At eleven o'clock a full service was held, conducted by the Revs. J. C. Davidson and W. M. Loucks. It was of a solemn character and appropriate to the occasion. The rector preached an earnest and spirited sermon from the words "Father forgive them for they know not what they do." The loving forgiveness of God towards man was pointed out, and which every follower of the Lord Jesus Christ was called on to share. In the afternoon at three o'clock, there was a special service for children. Rev. Mr. Kenrick in simple words told the little ones the story of the first Good Friday. In the evening at 7.30 o'clock, there was a very large congregation. "The Story of the Cross" was sung and an address delivered by the Rev. Mr. Kenrick. The service in the mission building in the evening was conducted by the Rev. Mr. Loucks. In the morning the collection was for the special conversion of the Jew, being appropriate to the spirit of the day.

St. John's church members have a problem before them to-day as to what amount they can place in envelopes for to-morrow for the special collection for reducing the debt on the church. This is the third great effort in that direction, the collections on the two former occasions reached $1,700 and $1,000 respectively.

Special preparatory services were held in St. Paul's Presbyterian church yesterday. In the morning the service was was largely attended and conducted by the Rev. Mr. Reed, of Lakefield. In the evening the Rev. A. McWilliams, pastor of St. Andrew's, preached an eloquent sermon from Christ's prayer in the garden.

THE CANADA LIFE ASSURANCE CO'Y.

Forty-Fifth Annual Meeting of the Great Institution.

Remarkable Record for the Past Year—The Annual Report—Election of Directors.

The 45th annual meeting of the greatest of Canadian insurance institutions, the Canada Life Assurance Company, was held to-day in the board room of the Company's head office in Hamilton. There were present a gathering of the representative men of Canada, men whose names are known all over the country for solidity and business ability, with Mr. G. A. Ramsay, president of the company, presiding over the deliberations. The meeting was a most harmonious and eminently satisfactory one.

Mr. Ramsay took the chair shortly after 12 o'clock, with Mr. Roland Hills as secretary of the meeting.

President Ramsay submitted the following:

REPORT BY THE BOARD OF DIRECTORS OF THE CANADA LIFE ASSURANCE COMPANY, SUBMITTED TO THE ANNUAL GENERAL MEETING OF SHAREHOLDERS, HELD AT HAMILTON ON THE 5TH OF APRIL, 1892:

The business of 1891, being the company's 45th year, was again highly favourable. The new assurances applied for were 2,507 in number, and $5,929,083 in amount. Of these, 136 for $259,500 were declined, the lives not appearing to reach that standard of eligibility which it is in the best interest of our assurers should be maintained. Of the balance of $5,669,583, upon 2,371 lives, which were accepted by the directors, 204 for $414,562 were not carried out, leaving the actual new assurances of the year $5,255,021 under 2,167 policies, with a new annual income premium of $178,-191.06.

At 31st December last there were in force $56,218,318.03 of assurances and bonus additions, upon 19,563 lives, under 26,484 policies

The statement of receipts and payments, and the abstract of assets and liabilities, herewith submitted, show that the income of the year was $2,213,096.27, and that the assets amounted to $12,074,-124 87, having being increased during the year by $1,041.684 78.

The death claims for the year were upon 192 lives under 243 policies for $511,879.11, including profits, a sum considerably under that of the previous year, 1890, when the amount was a good deal affected by the epidemic of la grippe which then prevailed, and its results.

The business at the various branches has been generally well sustained, and having last year alluded to anticipations of successful progress at the Michigan branch, it may be mentioned that these have been largely realized.

In compliance with the company's charter the following directors retire by rotation, but are eligible for re-election: The Hon. Sir Alexander Campbell, K. C. M. G., Toronto; Andrew Allan, Esq., Montreal, and Thomas Swinyard, Esq, New York State.

PRESIDENT RAMSAY'S REMARKS.

Mr. A. G Ramsay moved the adoption of the annual report. In so doing he reviewed carefully and ably, the business of the year. He said:—

I beg to move the adoption of the director' report now before you, and although the statements which it, and the published accounts, which have been in your hands for some days, so clearly indicate the success of the past year's business, and the sound position of the company, that I need take up but little of the time of this annual meeting in adverting to them, it may be interesting. I dare say, that I draw your attention shortly to some of the features which these documents disclose. The new business of the past year amounted, you will see to $5,-255,021, a sum so nearly approaching the best year we have ever had that I think we may well congratulate you upon it. It has happily been our good fortune each year for so long to be able to make a somewhat similar statement that I fear it may appear a somewhat monotonous one, for which, however, I need offer (o apology). You will have noticed that the total assurances in force at the close of 1891 were $56,218.318, an amount which suggests a very large measure of public support and confidence in the company. The income continues t thanply increase, and it amounted last year to $2.213.096. more than twice much as it was ten years ago, and nearseven times what it was twenty years ago. With the possibilty of a corresponding progress in the future we may well be encouraged to continue that attention and care in the direction and management of the company's affairs which in the past have made the Canada Life's name synonymous with that of integrity, liberality and stability. The large addition of over $1,000,000 was added to the company's assets last year, making them $12,074,12[illegible], or about twice what they were only seven years ago. While difficulty in obtaining satisfactory investments as they were wanted was experienced during the year, every effort and the best judgment of the board were exercised so as to make that difficulty as little felt as possible.

As you are well aware, there has of late years been a gradual reduction in the rate of interest obtainable on the best class of securities, and while our Company is of course affected by that, in common with all others, every exertion is made to diminish as far as we can any loss in that way.

The death claims during 1891 were $511,873, being a lower amount than they had been in 1890, when, largely by the grippe epidemic, they reached $603,[illegible]84.

The statment of receipts and payments shows that during 1891, $316,370 was paid to policy-holders as profits, a return of nearly 20 per cent. of the year's premiums paid to the Company, a percentage of profits on premiums paid so rarely reached by other companies as to lead us to press upon intending assurers the advantages which our Company offers in that respect. In alluding to that I am very glad indeed to have the opportunity of saying that by the courtesy of th Superintendent of Insurance we were yesterday favoured with the result of the Government's quinquennial valuation of our Company's affairs. It shows that over and above the full reserve we are required by the Government of Canada to hold, and all liabilities, we have on hand a large profit surplus such as indicates no diminution in the Company's profit-making powers. You have been informed by the Director's Report of the generally favourable progress of the Company's various branches, and the efforts of our Managers and Agents are well deserving of our thanks and encouragement. Special allusion has been made to the branch established by the Company, in Michigan in 1890. Because it being somewhat of an experiment, you would naturally desire to hear specially as to it. I am very pleased to be able to say that the progress of the branch is so satisfactory as to have last year placed the Company in the fourteenth position, in point of new assurances, out of 32 companies doing business in the State. For a great deal of our success in Michigan, we are indebted to the support of the prominent and influential gentlemen who have been good enough to aid us by acting upon our Board of Reference. I am glad to tell you that we have entered upon the year 1892 with the most encouraging prospects. The new business up to the present date far exceed that of any previous year, and I trust that at our next meeting we may be able to again record a continuance of such prosperity as has already been so satisfactory to you and to our various policy-holders.

VICE-PRESIDENT GATES' REMARKS.

Mr. F. W. Gates, Vice-President of the Company, seconded the adoption of the report. In doing so he said:—

Mr. Chairman and gentlemen.—When it is borne in mind that there has been no perceptible improvement in business generally throughout the country during the past year, I think we must be compelled to admit that the statement which has been presented to-day ought to be considered highly satisfactory. It is true that the company might have done a much larger amount of business than has been done if we had been less scrupulously careful in the acceptance of risks which have been applied for. As the report shows, and as the president has pointed out, many applications have been rejected. We have exercised the greatest care in this matter in order that the company and the insured alike might be fully protected. We did not indulge in the extravagances which some companies have in order to increase our business, but have rather followed a policy of carefnl management in the interest of the company I well remember some years ago that the president in his address referred with a good deal of pleasure to the fact that we had an income of $1,000 a day; now it is $7,000 a day, and it was easy then to invest $1,000 a day. It is not so easy to invest $7,000 now, even with the lower rate of interest, I may again refer to the remarkably small losses, and again congratulate the company upon that state of affairs. I have much pleasure, gentlemen, in seconding the motion for the adoption of the report.

President Ramsay put the motion, which was carried unanimously.

THANKS TO PRESIDENT AND DIRECTORS.

Mr. Byron E. Walker moved a vote of thanks to the President and Directors for their attention to the interests of the company during the year.

In offering the motion Mr. Walker said:—It gives me very great pleasure indeed to propose the thanks of the shareholders to our President and Directors. Reference has been made to the growth and success of the Canada Life in the past, and I consider that they are largely due to the excellent management. The big companies in the United States are beginning to realize that it may be possible to do too much business, but I am sure that if the policy which has been pursued by the Canada Life in the past is adhered to, another ten years of our career will show corresponding prosperity. I hope that our President may long be spared to direct the affairs of the company, and that he may have the advice and co-operation of such men as now constitute the directorate.

Mr. Henry McLaren—Mr. President and gentlemen, I have very much pleasure in seconding the motion.

The motion was put and carried unanimously, amid applause.

President Ramsay replied:—I expect that I shall have to reply to the motion you have just passed I thank you much indeed for the resolution and the kind expressions made use of. I believe I can confidently say that every of the Directors has done all that was his power to further the interests of company.

THREE DIRECTORS ELECTED.

The Hon. Mr. Justice Burton moved the appointment of Messrs. W. F. Findlay and Campbell Farrie as scrutineers of votes for the election of Directors in the room of the three retiring, and that the poll shall now be opened, and closed upon five minutes elapsing without a vote being tendered.

Mr. Matthew Leggat seconded the motion, which was carried.

The voting took a good deal of time, and while the ballots were being counted other business was proceeded with. The election resulted in the choice of Hon. Sir Alexander Campbell, K.C. M. G., of Toronto, Mr. Andrew Allan, of Montreal, and Mr. Geo. A. Cox, of Toronto. The last named gentlemen will take the place of Mr. Thomas Swinyard on the Board, the other two gentlemen being re-elected.

The usual votes of thanks were passed, and at a meeting of the directors subsequently held, Mr. A. G. Ramsay was re-elected President, and Mr. F. W. Gates, Vice-President.

When nearly worn out for want of sleep and rest, a friend recommended me to try thy valuable medicine, Gentle, Refreshing Sleep. Boschee's German Syrup. I am confident it saved my life. INTERESTING INFORMATION FOR CANADIAN AGRICULTURISTS.

Prof. Panton Discusses Weeds—Wild or False Flax—Its Description and What It Looks Like—The Soils Weeds Flourish in—Preparing Spring Manures.

An examination of soils in which weeds grow shows that some soils are more favorable for their development than others; fewest are found in clay; most in loam. Chicory and blueweed seem to prefer calcareous (limy) soil. We shall now enter upon a consideration of individual weeds belonging to the different orders of plants. Camelina Sativa (Wild-Flax or False-Flax).

This annual grows about 2½ feet high. The leaves are somewhat long, arrow-shaped at the base, and sessile (without a stalk). The silicles are rounded and flat—about one-fifth of an inch in diameter. The flowers are small, of a pale yellow color, and arranged along the top of the stem, the lower ones being in flower first—June or July. In the early history of this plant, it was often associated with flax, among which it became a common weed. It cannot be said to resemble flax, yet its association with that useful plant has led some to regard it as degenerate flax, and they probably have as good a reason for this theory as those who declare cheat to be degenerate wheat. It is readily recognized in the field, and where thorough cultivation is pursued it finally decreases, so that what remains can be pulled.—Prof. Panton, in Farmer's Advocate.

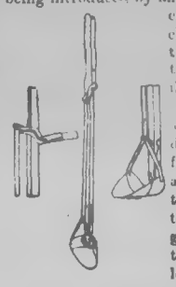
TO DIG POST HOLES.

A Simple Implement That Saves Time and Backache.

A new pattern of post hole digger, which possesses points of novelty and utility is being introduced by an Ohio manufacturing company. The mechanism of this contrivance is shown in the accompanying illustrations:



POST HOLE DIGGER.

This tool will make a hole of any desired diameter and three feet deep. By the action of the lever the blade can be thrown at right angles to the handle, thus permitting the loosened dirt to be readily lifted out. This operation is simple and easy and can be done very rapidly. In digging, the thrust comes on the blade, and none of it on the hinge. It is said that stones and boulders are easily loosened and removed by the compound lever.

Spring, with its rapid changes and wet weather, is the most trying season in our Canadian climate, and at this more than at any other time do the ravages of catarrh make themselves felt. As an immediate relief for cold in the head, and a thorough cure for catarrh, nothing yet discovered equals Nasal Balm. It is easy to use, pleasant and agreeable. Sold by all dealers or sent post-paid on receipt of price—50c. for small bottles or $1 for large bottle. G. T. Fulford & Co., Brockville.

Consumptives!

Do not give up until you have tried Miller's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil, which make flesh and blood, is a positive cure for coughs and colds, bronchitis, sore throats, and all lung troubles tending to consumption. Persons have been known to gain from five to ten pounds in weight by taking one bottle of Miller's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil, which contains hypophosphites of lime and soda. In big bottles, 50c. and $1, at Peterborough Drug Store's.

Interested People.

Advertising a patent medicine in the peculiar way in which the proprietor of Kemp's Balsam for Coughs and Colds does, it is indeed wonderful. He authorizes all druggists to give those who call for it, a sample bottle free, that they may try it before purchasing. The large bottles are 50c and a dollar. We certainly would advise a trial. It may save you from consumption. dw

Cure For Dyspepsia.

As is well known, this troublesome complaint arises from over-eating, the use of too much rich food, neglected constipation, lack of exercise, bad air, etc. The food should be thoroughly chewed and never bolted or swallowed in haste, stimulants must be avoided and exercise taken if possible. A remedy which has rarely failed to give prompt relief and effect permanent cures, even in the most obstinate cases, is Burdock Blood Bitters. It acts by regulating and toning the digestive organs, removing costiveness and increasing the appetite and restoring health and vigor to the system. As a case in point we quote from a letter written by Miss L. A. Kuhn, of Hamilton, Ont.:—"Two years ago life seemed a burden. I could not eat the simplest food without being in dreadful misery in my stomach, under my shoulders and across the back of my neck. Medical advice failed to procure relief and seeing B.B.B. advertised, I took two bottles of it, and have been entirely free from any symptoms of my complaint since." This gives very conclusive proof of the efficacy of this wonderful remedy. dw

Constipation claims many victims. Ward off this dread disease by the use of Small sugar-Coated Burdock Pills when needed.

Keep the Works in good order.

NORMAN, Ont., January 15, 1890.
W. H. COMSTOCK, Brockville, Ont.
DEAR SIR,—Your "Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills" are the best regulator for the system that humanity can use. Life is as the time-piece: frail and delicate are many of its works. A tiny particle of foreign substance adheres to the smallest wheel in the works, and what is the result?—at first only a slight difference is perceptible in its time-keeping, but wait you; as the obstruction grows, the irregularity becomes greater, until at last, what could have been rectified with little trouble, in the beginning, will now require much care in thoroughly cleansing the entire works. So it is in human life—a slight derangement is neglected, it grows and increases, imperceptibly at first, then rapidly, until what could, in the beginning, have been cured with little trouble, becomes almost fatal. To prevent this, I advise all to purify the system frequently, by the use of Morse's Pills, and so preserve vigor and vitality.
Yours faithfully,
H. F. ATWELL.

WILL BE INVESTIGATED.

The Caron Charges to be Enquired Into After Easter.

OTTAWA, April 16.—The immigration branch of the Department of Agriculture is gradually being transferred to the Department of the Interior. Only a few of the clerks will be taken over, as part of the machinery of the Dominion lands branch will be utilized in connection with immigration. Such of the clerks as will be retained in that branch will probably be transferred from the Langevin Block to the Eastern Block next week. There has been a rumor afloat that the Dominion lands branch of the Interior and Immigration branch will be made a separate department with a deputy minister, but there does not appear to be any foundation for this.

Prof. Selwyn to Be Superannuated.

There is another rumor afloat, however, for which there is probably more foundation. This is that on the transference of the Geological Department to the control of the Minister of Agriculture, Prof. Selwyn, director of the survey, will be superannuated and Dr. Dawson appointed in his place This is not at all unlikely, as Prof. Selwyn is about 68 years of age and has been over 33 years in the service.

The Caron Charges.

It is being bruited about that the charges against Sir Adolphe Caron will be investigated after the Easter recess. The story goes that the precedent set by Sir John Macdonald in 1873, when Mr. Huntington made his charges re the Pacific Railway, will be followed. Mr. Edgar's motion will be voted down and then Sir Adolphe will demand an enquiry, which will be granted. This is given for what it is worth, but there is some probability of its being correct.

Canadian Rye.

The British Consul at Bremen, in answer to a letter from a gentlemen in this city as to the possibilities of increasing the trade between Canada and that city, says: "There is only one article of note which is imported in some quantities from Canada, that is rye. Canadian lumber is not much used, but Canadian rye, on account of its superior quality against the more light German and Russian qualities, is greatly liked by our bakers to mix with the latter kinds." This should be a pointer for our farmers, who might pay more attention to raising rye, which is very largely used as an article of food in most European countries.

Good Friday was generally observed here, stores closed, nothing doing in the departments and no meeting of council, so that it has been "duller than ditch water."

It is understood that the act respecting the exportation of bait, of which Hon. Mr. Tupper has given notice, will enable the Canadian Government to apply to Newfoundland fishing vessels in Canadian waters the same treatment that is applied to Canadian vessels in Newfoundland waters. During the past season 108 Newfoundland vessels fished in Canadian Labrador, and took over 30,000 quintals of fish and 20,000 gallons of oil, and in addition to this six Newfoundland firms had fishing stations in Canadian Labrador and took 20,000 quintals of fish and 14,000 gallons of oil. Only nine Canadian vessels fished in Newfoundland waters last season, but these were forced to pay duty on salt and other supplies.

The Quebec Lottery Epidemic.

MONTREAL, April 16.—Mr. Atwater has received instructions from Hon. Mr. Casgrain, Attorney-General, to proceed at once against all the lotteries in Montreal with the exception of the Province of Quebec Lottery, the legality of the last named being under consideration. Mr. Atwater has taken no steps so far, but will proceed without further delay. It appears that even the scholars in the public schools are running lotteries on their own account and making money out of their fellow-playmates. A gentleman stated that he had discovered that his little son, a mere lad, and a pupil at one of our public schools, was running a remunerative lottery. He sold 75 tickets at a cent apiece and gave 10 prizes, ranging from one to 10 cents. When the prizes were all distributed the promoter of the schoolboys' lottery, as it might be called, was just 20 cents in pocket. Still another lottery has been organized in the city. The manager gives his name as John Henry Smith of New York. He says two-thirds of the profits of the lottery are to be given to the city hospital The first prize is $500.

Woodhull and Claflin.

LONDON, April 16. Mr. J. B. Martin, Mrs. Martin (Victoria Woodhull) and Lady Cook (Tennie C. Claflin) sailed on the Trave, Wednesday, for New York Mrs. Martin said she had been offered £50,000 for 50 lectures in the United States on humanitarian government and other subjects and would accept if her health permitted.

LONDON, April 16.—Miss Amelia B. Edwards, the well-known novelist and lecturer, whose serious illness was announced several weeks ago, is dead.

Calgary is Booming.

CALGARY, N.W.T., April 16.—Bylaws were passed yesterday for a bonus to a mill, tannery and soap factory, and a grant of $10,000 for a general hospital.

OBITUARY.

A Former Sergeant-Major of the Toronto Police Dead.

VICTORIA, B.C., April 16.—William Douglas Ferris, a native of Bristol, England, aged 77 years, died at the residence of his son-in-law, Herald-street. The deceased left his English home in 1856 to reorganize the Toronto police force, of which he was sergeant-major for five years. He came to British Columbia in 1862 and for a time carried on a stage and team business at Westminster, afterwards farming at North Arm. He was appointed a J.P., and for a time held the position of police magistrate at New Westminster.

Senator Stephens Dead.

MONTREAL, April 16. Senator Gardiner Stephens, until 1876 member in the Dominion House for the Bedford division, died at his home in Knowlton, at the age of 72. He was one of the Liberal senators appointed under the Mackenzie regime.

A Unit of Value for Labor.

WASHINGTON, April 16.—There is a novel proposition now before the House. Mr. Gladstone, Cardinal Gibbons, the late Secretary Windom, H. C. Baird, the economist of Philadelphia; Samuel Gompers, president of the Federation of Labor; Governor Pattison of Pennsylvania, T. V. Powderly and Robert G. Ingersoll have all had the proposition and the argument in its favor submitted to them and it is said most of them have approved it.

The proposition is the idea of W. M. Howard of Bethlehem, Pa., who looks on it as a solution of the labor problem. What is wanted of the Labor Committee is that it shall recommend an appropriation of $5000 for the publication of a circular setting forth the plan.

The mode of solution of the labor problem proposed is that the Government shall establish a unit of value for labor. The unit proposed, the wage unit as Mr. Howard calls it, is 60 pounds of good flour or its equivalent. The Government, Mr. Howard argues, makes a unit of measurement of land, a unit for products and a unit of money for values, and why should it not make a labor unit? It is proposed that all work performed shall be paid for in units.

An ingenious argument accompanies the proposition, but it is not made quite clear who is to determine how many units each man shall be entitled to receive for his labor, nor in what way the making of the wage unit will solve the labor problem.

The letter has been referred to Representative Dunganon for investigation and report to the full committee on labor.

A Freak's Crime.

BUFFALO, April 16.—Barney Baldwin, the man with the broken neck, who has been seen on exhibition by thousands of people, is wanted for robbing Major Hurd, the Georgia dwarf, out of $40, while the two were being whisked from Buffalo to New York.

Besides the dwarf and the broken-necked man there were in the car a tattooed man, a fat lady, a living skeleton, a pig-faced baby, a fortune-telling goose and some dramatic curios who produce thrilling dramas at the museums.

The broken-necked man and the dwarf emptied a whisky flask and the Major, whose alcoholic capacity is limited, curled up to sleep. He had a bag containing 40 silver dollars, his savings, and the broken-necked man took the Major and the money on his lap.

When the dwarf awoke the broken-necked man had vanished and so had the silver dollars.

Trend of Trade.

NEW YORK, April 16.—Special telegrams to Bradstreet's on the whole are rather the reverse of favorable with respect to the course of general trade throughout the country within a week. General trade in the Dominion of Canada is quiet, the only activity being in demand for drygoods and boots and shoes, mainly in the Province of Quebec.

Business failures in Canada have increased, numbering 60 against 23 last week and 39 and 29 respectively in like weeks one and two years ago.

WORST FORM ECZEMA

Baffled Best Medical Skill for Eight Months. Cured in Two Months by Cuticura Remedies.

This is to certify that a child of mine had Eczema in its worst form, and which baffled the best medical skill that could be employed here. The little sufferer was wrapped in agony for at least eight months. Six months of that time its suffering was simply untold, then I began the use of the CUTICURA REMEDIES, in two months the awful disease had ceased its vengeance, and my darling boy had rest, and to all appearance the disease had yielded, but I continued the medicine for several months after no trace could be seen of it on any part of his body. The doctors here watched the disease with much interest, and could only say "Well done!" The case was known far and wide, and everybody was much surprised. But thanks to CUTICURA REMEDIES. Could there be anything on earth that would cause a father to rejoice it surely would be when the little innocent one could have such a remedy at hand. (See portrait herewith.) J. A. NICOLES, Bunker Hill, Ind.

A child was brought to me with chronic eczema that had defied splendid treatment from many good doctors. As a regular M. D., should have continued similar treatment, but thought it useless. So put it on CUTICURAS. The child is well.

ALEX. MACKENZIE DEAD.

THE EX-PREMIER DIED IN TORONTO SUNDAY.

A Long and Useful Life of An Honest Man and All That the Term Signifies Passes Away After an Illness Extending Over Nearly a Decade.

TORONTO, April 18.—The end came at last. The period of hoping against hope closed in the opening hour of the glad Easter morn. At 12.40 a.m. yesterday Hon. Alexander Mackenzie breathed his last. The daily bulletins had foreshadowed dissolution, but it was only after a protracted struggle that the weary spirit found release.

Mr. Mackenzie, like so many of our prominent men, was a Scotchman, born at Logierait, near the famous Pass of Killicrankie, January 28, 1822. He had thus completed the allotted three score and ten when summoned hence. His father was in the middle walks of life, of a strong Whig family, and the future Premier got the usual schooling of a middle-class Scotch boy: some five years in all. When he was 14, his father died, and he set to work, as a stonemason's apprentice. When he was 20 he emigrated to Canada and settled in Kingston, working at his trade and taking a keen interest in politics. The late Sir John A. Macdonald and the Hon. Oliver Mowat were also in Kingston at the same time. In 1847 Mr. Mackenzie, together with his brother, Hope F. Mackenzie, moved to the neighborhood of Sarnia. For a time he continued in his business as a builder and contractor; then his interest in politics found a vent and in 1852 he was editing The Lambton Shield in the Liberal interest. His editorial work soon attracted attention, and in 1861 he succeeded his brother, Hope F. Mackenzie, as M.P. for Lambton. Once in Parliament, his powers of debate and acquaintance with politics present and past placed him in the forefront, and he was a prominent supporter of the Sandfield Macdonald-Sicotte and the Macdonald-Dorion ministries. That ministry having fallen, he was a supporter of Confederation. After Confederation he became leader of the Liberals in lieu of the Hon. George Brown, who had been defeated in South Ontario, and in 1873, in consequence of the Pacific Scandal, came to office.

From thence to 1878 Mr. Mackenzie was premier, and distinguished himself by the great amount of practical work he accomplished; among the acts passed by his Ministry may be mentioned the General Election Law, the Controverted Elections Act, the Postal Act, the General Insurance Act, the Independence of Parliament Act, the Public Accounts Audit Act, the Canada Temperance Act, the Homestead Exemption Act, the Acts relating to the Extradition of Criminals, the Canadian Pacific Railway Act, etc.

In 1878 Mr. Mackenzie's Government was overthrown on the tariff question, and he became once more leader of the Opposition, until April, 1880, when his party deposed him for Mr. Blake. In 1882 he gave up his old constituency of Lambton and was elected for East York, of which he was the member up to his death.

Mr. Mackenzie was married twice, his first wife being Miss Helen Neil of Irvine, Scotland. She died in 1852, and in 1853 he married Miss Jane Sym, who still survives. By his first wife he had one daughter, who is married to the Rev. John Thompson, Presbyterian minister of Sarnia.

A History of His Illness.

In April, 1879, the first symptoms of disease made their appearance in a partial loss of speech, followed by loss of power in the left side. These symptoms did not improve, but rather steadily advanced, the infirmity of speech increasing in its severity. Mr. Mackenzie, however, was able to attend parliament and to his other duties until Feb. 2, 1892. When about to enter his carriage to go to his office he fell and was carried into the house, when it was found that the loss of power and motion was complete on the left side, and to a lesser extent on the right side; also partial loss of sensation. His articulation became more indistinct and difficult to understand. He seemed to improve somewhat occasionally until about four weeks ago, when his mind became impaired, but he would answer questions correctly occasionally.

During a great portion of his illness to within a few days of his death he was able to take some food and enjoy it. The last week he took almost nothing of any kind of nourishment.

Widespread Confidence.

Hon. Mr. Mowat received a telegram last night from Sir John Thompson stating the House will be asked to adjourn Tuesday without transacting business as a mark of respect for the memory and public services of Mr. Mackenzie.

Mrs. Mackenzie received a telegram from the aide-de-camp to the Governor-General stating that "their Excellencies desire to express their sincere sympathy with Mrs. Mackenzie."

Hon. J. C. Patterson also telegraphed Mrs. Mackenzie: "Please accept my most sincere condolence. The whole country sympathizes with you in your great bereavement."

The Funeral Arrangements.

According to present arrangements the funeral services will be conducted as follows: On Wednesday at 2 p.m. a service will be held at the Jarvis-street Baptist Church, after which the remains will be taken to Sarnia, arriving at 9 p.m. The funeral services at that place will be held at 2.30 on Thursday and the interment will take place in the family plot in Lakeview Cemetery. A special train will be arranged to leave this city at 4.35 a.m. on Thursday to enable those who wish to attend the funeral at Sarnia to arrive there in time.

AT OTTAWA.

The House Will Probably Remain Adjourned Until After the Funeral.

OTTAWA, April 18.—Owing to the absence of Mr. Abbott in Montreal it cannot be learned officially last night what action the Government will take with reference to Mr. Mackenzie's death. When George Brown died the Government offered a State funeral, which was declined by friends. It is hardly possible any action in that direction can be taken on this occasion, as the funeral is fixed for such an early date. It is most probable, however, that the House, which now stands adjourned until Tuesday, will only meet pro forma on that day and adjourn, so that members now absent and wishing to attend the funeral at Sarnia may do so without feeling that their presence is required here. Flags have been flying at half-mast on the Parliament and departmental buildings, City Hall, clubs, hotels and private residences all day as a token of respect.

In His Old Home.

SARNIA, Ont., April 18.—The death of Hon. Alexander Mackenzie has caused profound sorrow here in his old home and constituency which he represented for so many years, and also when Premier of the Dominion. Flags are at half-mast on the public buildings and on many private residences, and both Conservatives and Reformers join in speaking highly of the deceased as a public man.

BEHEADED AT THE ALTAR

A PRIEST SLAIN WHILE ON HIS KNEES AT PRAYER.

An Insane Soldier Runs Amuck in a Spanish Church, Murders the Priest at His Devotions and Shoots Down a Female Worshipper—A Panic Ensues in Which Many Persons are Trampled to Death.

MADRID, April 18.—A most horrible deed was committed Friday in a church at Anglesola, a village in the Province of Lerido. The usual services of Good Friday were being observed, and the church was filled to its utmost capacity with devout worshippers. Everything was calm, as became the solemn ceremonies, and Father Francisco Marti, the priest in charge of the parish was preaching at the altar.

Suddenly and without a word of warning, a man armed with a revolver and a short sword sprang out from behind the pulpit at the left of the altar, where he had been concealed, and sprang on the priest, brandishing his sword.

The man's eyes fairly blazed with insane fury and his every appearance indicated that he was mad and bent on murder.

The People Paralyzed.

The people in the congregation were struck dumb with terror and not one of them could make a movement to save the priest from the doom impending. Even had they been able to attempt to reach him it is believed their efforts to save him would have been unavailing.

Father Martis, whose back was to the congregation, seemed to have had instinctive warning that danger threatened him and he partly turned his head in the direction of the man, but he was too late to do more than raise his hand to ward off the sword blow he saw aimed at him.

Nearly Beheaded.

The man stood over his kneeling victim, the bright steel flashed in a circling blow and in an instant the priest lay dead in front of the altar, where he had so long served.

The assassin's blow had struck the back of his neck and the keen blade almost severed his head from his body.

The corpse fell forward and a stream of blood poured down the altar steps.

Part of the hand of the priest which had been raised in his vain effort to ward off the blow was cut off and lay beside the bleeding body.

Women shrieked in horror and many of them fainted.

Some few of the more cool-headed men attempted to seize the murderer, but they were thwarted by the assassin, who had undoubtedly armed himself with a revolver for just such a contingency.

Shot Down Women.

Leveling this weapon he fired right and left and drove his would-be captors to seek safety in flight. One woman, shrieking and crouching close to the altar rails was hit by one of the bullets. She uttered a most piercing shriek, threw up her arms and fell dead to the floor.

Trampled to Death.

The worshippers were panic-stricken. A general rush was made for the doors and many of the people were thrown down and trampled upon by the excited throng behind them. Several of them were quite seriously injured in this manner, among the number some children, who, it is believed, will die.

The insane man, whose revolver was now emptied, sprang into the flying crowd and wielding his sword, still dripping with the blood of the massacred priest, he slashed right and left, cutting his way to the street. The crowd huddled closer together to avoid the vicious blows aimed at them, making as far as possible a clear path for the murderer, but quite a number of them were hit by the sharp weapon and dangerously wounded.

Once he reached the street the assassin started on a run and soon vanished. The civil guard was claimed by the frightened people and a pursuit was immediately organized. The village was thoroughly searched and members of the civil guards sent to scour the surrounding country.

Thus far every effort to capture the murderer has been in vain, but the search has not been abandoned.

A full description given of the murderer has been identified as a retired soldier.

The affair has caused widespread sorrow and indignation and the whole village of Anglesola is in mourning for Father Marti, who was universally loved and respected by his parishioners. It is thought probable that the assassin has sought some secluded place and there killed himself.

No reason is known for the crime and it is believed by almost everyone that the man was insane.

A CORSET-STEEL SAVED HER LIFE.

Mollie Scott Hit by a Bullet Fired From Ambush at Her Lover.

RICHMOND, Ind., April 18.—Edward Jacobs, who lives near Richmond, was out last night riding with his sweetheart, Mollie Scott. As they were driving through a heavy timbered spot someone fired at ambush at Jacobs.

The bullet missed its mark, but struck Miss Scott. A steel in her corset stopped the ball, saving her life.

Jacobs had whipped a fellow named Sweeney last Thursday and it is supposed Sweeney fired the shot to be revenged.

The Mother of 24 Children.

PUTNAM, Conn., April 18.—Mrs. Frank Sponcie of this town died a few days ago in giving birth to her 24th child. Mrs. Sponcie, who was 43 years old at the time of her death, had been married 23 years, and a child was born to her in each year except one, when she gave birth to twins. She was strong, hale and active, with a pleasant face and buoyant nature, and her children inherit her vigor and sturdy health.

Effect of the Durham Strike.

LONDON, April 18. Daily the effects of the strike of Durham coal miners, which was inaugurated March 12, are becoming more apparent. Stocks of works which have depended upon the Durham mines for their supplies, are either entirely exhausted or approaching the vanishing point. Never in the course of the history of trade has industry in the North of England has there been so great a crisis. It is impossible to correctly estimate the number of men who have been thrown out of work by the strike of the miners.

The Measles Bacillus Discovered.

BERLIN, April 18.—The Post to-day announces that Dr. [illegible] of the Moabit Hospital has discovered the measles bacillus.

ACROSS THE ATLANTIC.

TWELVE INCHES OF SNOW IN ENGLAND.

A Spectacle Without a Parallel in the Old Land—Intense Cold Prevails—Numerous Vessels Supposed to Have Been Lost in the Terrible Blizzard Which Has Prevailed the Past 24 Hours.

LONDON, April 18.—The inhabitants of southeast England were amazed yesterday on rising to see 12 inches of snow on the ground. Never in English memory had such a spectacle been witnessed. The budding crops were buried out of sight and everything wore a garb of the deepest winter.

The cold is intense, travel on roads and railways is obstructed and great hardship is reported among the poor, whom the sudden visit has found entirely unprepared.

In all the ports of southeast England vessels are delayed owing to the snowstorms which has been as heavy and as blinding as a channel fog, and it is feared a number of disasters have occurred. The trains coming to the metropolis from a southeasterly direction were detained by snow, while the streets are in an indescribable condition.

Every Salvation Army shelter in London was crowded last night, and many applicants could find no room. All experts agree that the unemployed and homeless of London have seldom, if ever, seen a time of greater suffering.

A woman who had fallen exhausted on London Bridge last night with an infant in her arms wrapped in a battered shawl, said she had not tasted food for two days. The babe was almost dead from exhaustion and and cold

Other cases of privation and suffering equally as bad are reported, and it is said thousands would have perished in the East End but for the charity of others but little removed above themselves in the grade of poverty.

The authorities are unable to adequately provide the necessities of life for the homeless and impoverished.

RUSSIA'S LATEST WAR MOVE.

LONDON, April 18.—Advices received here from St. Petersburg state that the Council of the Empire has adopted a series of drastic measures, which indicate that preparations are being made for war.

A plan has been approved by which all private railways and steamers will be turned over to the Government in the event of a mobilization of the forces being ordered.

The severest penalties are provided for anyone who shall communicate abroad any of the plans of the Government or any document containing information which, because of considerations of external security, should be kept secret.

The authorities will also punish without trial such persons as shall be discovered to be secretly teaching in the Polish language.

THE PARIS EXPLOSION.

Indictment of Ravachol, the Anarchist, and His Accomplices.

PARIS, April 18.—The indictment of Ravachol, the Anarchist, and his five accomplices, including Mariette Loubert, who lives with Bealot, one of the accomplices, was presented Saturday. This indictment gives the first connected history of the conspiracy in which the prisoners were implicated. The case opens in April, 1891, when Decamp, an associate of Chaumartin, was convicted of wounding a policeman in an affray. The plotters met at Chaumartin's house and arranged a program of revenge. The first victims selected were Judge Benoit, who presided at the trial that resulted in Decamp's conviction, and M. Boulot, who prosecuted him.

The indictment details the story of the stealing of dynamite and the making of the bombs by Ravachol, who filled them with a mixture of dynamite, grisoutine and bits of iron. The conspirators also planned to blow up the police station at Clichy on March 7. Ravachol, Simon and Bealot went to the police station, carrying with them a saucepan loaded with dynamite, and they had several fuses ready for use. When they arrived at the station they found an officer standing in the doorway, and his presence foiled their design.

The indictment next details the explosion at the residence of Judge Benoit, in the Boulevard St. Germain, and describes how, failing to kill the Judge, they made a second attempt; how Ravachol and his fellow-conspirators, working by receipts which they had procured from The International (newspaper), made a bomb and filled it with nitro-glycerine, mining powder and sebastine.

The evidence of a woman named Chevalier is embodied in the indictment. She describes how upon entering the room in which the conspirators were at work she saw Simon holding a vessel as large as the crown of a hat, while Ravachol was pouring some drops of something into the receptacle. Chaumartin was stirring the mixture with a spoon. Ravachol, the indictment continues, alone effected the explosion at the residence of M. Boulot, in the Rue Clichy. He placed the explosive compound under the staircase, in the belief that none of the inmates of the house could possibly escape death. The indictment also reveals the fact that the prisoners were engaged in a plot to blow up the Palais de Justice at a time when it was most crowded.

A member of the staff of La Soir to-day took Ravachol's brother to the prison where the Anarchist leader is confined. There was an immediate recognition between the two men—a fact which is regarded as having established the prisoner's identity beyond a doubt.

LONDON, April 18.—Since Thursday morning 40,000 volunteers have been marching from all points of the compass, concentrating upon Chatham, Dover and Portsmouth fo Easter manœuvres. The evolutions were mainly based upon the idea of repelling an imagined invasion of England.

Telfordian Temperature Topics

Remarks Regarding the Weather, Combining 1881 and 1892.

During the past two weeks hearing the remarks often made of this cold spell being the worst for a long time, thinking I might give some information and satisfy curiosity with your permission I will now go back to 1881, coming to the present '92 inclusive, and taking the thermometer at sunrise for the first two weeks, and dividing by 15 will give us the mean temperature for each year. Then in 1881 it being 21 4 15°, the lowest on the 5, indicating only 6° above zero, with 20 inches of snow on the 13th, but no rain in this month. In 1882 being 23 111-5°, the lowest on the 15th only 3° above zero, the highest 42° on the first; snow on 4 days to the depth of 9 inches, and rain on 2 days to the depth of 1¼ inches. In 1883 being 26 9 15°, the lowest on the 2nd at 18° above zero, the highest on the 15th at 40° above, only 40 100 of an inch of rain and 1¼ inches of snow. In 1884 being 32 9-15°, the lowest on the 12th at 23° above, and the highest on the 6th at 45°, with 14 inches of snow but only 22 100 of an inch of rain. In 1885 being 21 12-15°, the lowest on the 9th, 10th and 14th, each being only 10° above zero, the highest on the 9th at 38°, snow fell to the depth of 9 inches, and rain to the depth of 1 inch and 37-100 of an inch. In 1886 being 28 4-15°, the lowest on the 12th at 22°, and the highest on the 15th at 42°, snow fell to the depth of 14 inches and rain only to the depth of 21-100 of an inch. In 1887 being 24 0-15°, the lowest in this month on the morning of the first when the thermometer went down to 2° below zero, the highest on the 10th, going up to 45°, only 1 inch of snow and 65 100 of an inch of rain. In 1888 being 25 12-15°, the lowest on the 18th at 18°, the highest on the 14th at 36°, only 2½ inches of snow fell, and of rain 1 inch and 9-100ths of an inch. In 1889 being 30 1 15°, the lowest on the first at 25°, the highest at 40°, on the 9th we had only 5 inches of snow and no rain during this month. In 1890 being 34 6 14°, the lowest on the 2nd at 12°, the highest on the 4th, the 13th and 14th each of them at 50°, no snow, but 1¾ inches of rain. This is our finest half month in 1891 being 29 12-15, the lowest on the 6th at 15°, the highest on the 14th at 45°, no snow, but rain to the depth of 1 inch and 21-100 of an inch. In 1892 our present pet month being 31°, the lowest on the 12th at 18° and on the 6th at 18°, the highest on the 5th at 50°, and at 1 p.m. of that it went up to 72°. Flurries of snow on 4 days, but not enough to measure, while there only fell 47-100 of an inch of rain, 1885 lowest, 1890 highest, only 4 times had we thunder during the 12 years. In 1883 one storm, 1887 we had two storms, and in 1890 on storm. The reader by classifying the above will see 9 average lower than our present '92, and only 2 higher, but the cold piercing wind made us feel it worse, and then we always feel to-day worse than the bye-gone.

OUR EASTER GREETINGS

TO OUR THOUSANDS OF CUSTOMERS WHO HAVE, WHO WILL AND WHO MAY BUY OF US.

Easter brings with it the anniversary of an event that is joyously observed in the Christian lands of the world. It is a season of holiday and thanksgiving second only to Christmas time.

Easter is the season for putting off the old garments that have offered winter service. Shall we now suggest to you where you can buy to big advantage? GOUGHS claim to offer the buyer better inducements than can be obtained elsewhere, and why? because Goughs, of Peterborough are part and parcel of the largest clothing combination in Canada. Five Big Stores—Toronto, Belleville, Orillia, Brantford, Peterborough. The agitation of the day among Clothing men is how Goughs can sell a Beautiful Child's Suit for 87½c. and a full Man's Suit for $2.90, that cost $5.50 to make. Last week we bought from one of the largest importers

1700 BOYS' SUITS the average cost to make was over $4.60. We throw them on our tables and give you your choice for $2.99

Baseball and Bat thrown in. "How's that, umpire?" Don't you think the game is ours'?

LADIES are particularly requested to look at our Children's Clothing before going to the trouble of making. We can add greatly to the Boy's appearance without affecting your pockets. Don't forget the place—

Peterborough Charities.

The Protestant Home and the House of Providence.

The twenty-second annual report of the Inspector of Prisons and Asylums contains reference to two Peterborough charities that are the objects of governmental aid, the Protestant Home and the House of Providence (St. Joseph's). The inspector reports that the total cost of maintenance for 1891 was $1,819.10 and that the revenue of which, $485.85 was government grant, was $1,884.35 in 1891. The inspector reports that the institution was found as usual well managed, and "as comfortable as is possible in a building of this discription." The government aid for 1892 amounts to $536. The House of Providence, was also inspected. At this institution, which is connected with St. Joseph's Hospital, under the same management, the expenditures on the institution in 1891 were $920.00—$198.20 in excess of the revenue—which, however, included no government grant. The government aid for 1892 amounts to $288.20. The government aid to both institutions is based on number of days of maintenance of inmates.

"Your Money or Your Life."

Such a demand, at the mouth of a "six-shooter," sets a man thinking pretty lively! With a little more thinking, there would be less suffering.

Think of the terrible results of neglected consumption! which might be easily averted by the timely use of Nature's Great Specific, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery.

Consumption, which is Lung-scrofula, is a constitutional disease, and requires just such a thorough and effectual constitutional remedy! Taken in time, before the lung-tissues are wasted, it is guaranteed a radical cure! Equally certain in all scrofulous affections and blood disorders. Large bottles, one dollar, of any druggist.

HOW often do you find a cup of Coffee exactly to your taste? There may be so much difference between one cup of coffee and another as there is between a clam shell and a line of battleship. There are many reasons for this difference—it would take too long to tell them all. If you want a real Coffee, try our celebrated 40c. Coffee. There is nothing to equal its flavour and fragrance.

Fell Dead on the Street.

Heart Failure the Cause.

The newspapers from time to time report sudden deaths from heart failure. Amongst those who die in this way are many business men. They too often neglect the nervous weakness brought on by overwork, close application, and too little rest and sleep. The mind and brain, from great mental strain, often become unbalanced. Thousands of business men are sufferers from weak nerves, dizzy feelings, loss of memory, confused mind, palpitation, feelings of apprehension and insomnia. Continued worry and hurry make matters worse, and too often the victim of these ills is suddenly struck down.

This should prove a warning to all men who suffer from any of the symptoms mentioned above ; the statements we make are surely worthy of earnest thought. Neglect of any one of these troubles often means a sudden death.

At this time an honest opinion and a few words of truth, all based on a long and varied experience, should suffice to guide every man who desires to avoid the terrible consequences that result from a broken-down nervous organism. No treatment known to science and medicine can give such satisfaction as Paine's Celery Compound. When this great remedy is used, nervousness, insomnia, unrest, dizzy feelings, and weakness are soon banished, and the entire nervous system is strengthened. Flesh, bone and muscles are built up, and a glow of health is soon seen in the face. The eyes are made clear and bright, the mind and brain are cleared, and man is fitted to do his work well.

The power of Paine's Celery Compound is most astonishing, and its cures in nervous ailments are so satisfactory that doctors now regularly prescribe it. These great facts are so patent to the world that it is needless to enlarge upon them just now ; a word to the wise is sufficient.

Blood Will Tell.

Good blood will show its quality. So will bad blood, the one in a healthy body and ruddy complexion, the other in ill health, blotches, pimples, boils and sores, and frequently in intenser forms as ulcers, abscesses erysipelas, scorbutic diseases, salt rheum, etc. Every organ of the body depends upon the blood for force and vitality, and is but scantily served when the blood is impure. No remedy is so potent as a blood purifier or more rapidly produces new and healthy blood than Burdock Blood Bitters, which neutralizes the various poisons and restores the vitalising power of this all important fluid. As an instance of this read what Mr. J. S. Neff, of Algoma Mills, Ont., says in a recent letter :

SIRS,—A year ago I was troubled with spots breaking out all over my body, the effect of bad blood. I consulted three different doctors, who gave me medicine but did not cure me. I was advised to try B.B. B., and after using two bottles I noticed the spots getting less. I continued to use B.B. B, which entirely cured me, giving me also a splendid appetite. Since then I would use no other medicine.

Are free from all crude and irritating matter. Concentrated medicine only. Carter's Little Liver Pills. Very small ; easy to take; no pain ; no griping ; no purging. Try them. dw are for A Constipation and Headache Dr. Silas Lane, while in the Rocky Mountains, discovered a root that, when combined with other herbs, makes an easy and certain cure for constipation. It is in the form of dry roots and leaves, and is known as Lane's Family Medicine. It will cure sick-headache in one night For the blood, liver and kidneys, and for clearing up the complexion it does wonders Druggists sell it at 50 cents package. dw

Prominent Londoner Missing.

LONDON, Ont., April 16.—Ex-Ald. Charles Taylor is missing. Ex-Ald. Taylor was one of those who had assumed financial liability for certain indebtedness on the part of the Ontario Mutual Fire Insurance Company of this city, now defunct. He was a joint owner with Mr. Andrew McCormick, ex-Ald. Robert Smith and others. The affairs of this company are now being wound up, and, of course, these gentlemen are called upon to liquidate the debt. Mr. Taylor's share is estimated at from $5000 to $8000. He is not in the city and does not appear to have left his present address. Mrs. Taylor is ill in the General Hospital here.

Moyer, the foreman of the grand jury that tried Reinhardt, the New Germany resident acquitted on the charge of murder at Waterloo Assizes, have issued writs against W. H. Bowlby, Q.C., county attorney and clerk of the peace, and Mr. Sheriff Springer, for alleged slanderous expressions made use of by these gentlemen in reference to the verdict of the jury.

Brussels Bank Failure.

BRUSSELS, Ont., April 16.—The financial statement prepared by Dr. McTaggart for presentation to the creditors and depositors showed a surplus of assets over liabilities after all doubtful paper was taken out, and the expectation is that every depositor will receive dollar for dollar as soon as the amounts can be collected in.

Mr. McIntosh, who was in the States for a little time, has returned to London, and Dr. McTaggart met him there. A number of Brusselites have conversed with Mr. McIntosh over the telephone line and it is expected he may return to town to assist in closing up the business.

The Case to Come up To-morrow.

Sunday morning at one o'clock Chief of Police Russel and Constable Adams raided a house of ill repute on Sophia street Ashburnham. Complaints have been frequently made concerning the place and many letters have appeared in the press relative to this undesirable den. Two women were arrested as keepers of the house and one for being an inmate. The police arrested the trio, together with a man who was found in the house with them at the time and lodged them in the cells. This morning they were brought up before Police Magistrate Dumble and pleaded not guilty to the charges laid. Mr. E. B. Stone appeared for the prisoners, The case was enlarged until to-morrow afternoon at 4 o'clock to enable the police to subpœna witnesses to prove the case.

Another Incipient Fire.

An alarm of fire was rung at eight o'clock on Saturday night. The scene of the would-be disaster was in the house of Mrs. Chas. Perry, Brock street. A burning lamp had been left sitting on the table in a bedroom occupied by Messrs. C. H. Jellett and A. Crofton, both of the Bank of Montreal. By some means the burning vessel exploded. The flames, by the assistance of several men, were confined to the room and dashing several pails of water on the blaze it was extinguished. The furniture, carpet, ceiling and walls of the room are a total wreck. The damage done to the contents and the room is about $100 and is covered by insurance. Messrs. Jellett and Crofton lose several dollars worth of wearing apparel which was in the room at the time. It is fortunate that the fire was confined to the one room, otherwise a serious result might have followed.

Look out For the Rascal.

A man calling himself John D. Martin and representing himself to be a qualified agent for the Home Supply Association, 315 and 321 Wabash Avenue, Chicago, was in town about three weeks ago. He called on several medical men in Peterborough and exhibited several medical books and journals. He represented himself as being authorized to take orders and receive subscriptions for the Home Supply Association. Two or three physicians gave him orders and paid him for his publication and books. Nothing has been seen or heard of him since, and a leading physician of the town wrote the Home Supply Association in reference to the matter. To day he received a communication from Chicago, stating that the man was an unqualified fraud. The letter states he has done up Indiana and Michigan and is now making a tour through Canada. The firm have detectives on his track, and are endeavoring to bring him to justice.

Information Wanted.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

DEAR SIR,—Allow me a short space in your valuable paper to ask a few questions of our town councillors. I would like to know if they are aware of a valuable plot of ground, belonging to the town. It has a frontage of about 56 feet on Reid street, and extends along Sherbrook to Park—about 40 feet frontage on Park street. It is a valuable piece of ground. Now, I would like to know what our councillors are going to do about it. A private citizen has had it fenced in for some years. Are they going to let him keep possession of it till he can claim it by law, or are they going to make him a present of it? I claim sir he has a right to be compelled to remove his fence to the proper place. Hoping that our city fathers will give this their attention at their next meeting.

I remain, yours, etc.,

An Attempt at Burglary.

On Sunday night about ten o'clock a boy was noticed prowling around the grocery store of Mr. Wellington Bradshaw, corner of Aylmer and Hunter streets. He was noticed inside and the police telephoned for. Constable McGinty arrived on the scene and arrested Louis Dorris, a youth of nine years. The lad ran up to the third story of the building in order to escape. He had broken one of the panes of the front windows with stones and had crawled in with the intention of securing money. He went to the till but could not get into it. He then ransacked the drawers in his search for cash but was unable to secure any. The only thing the youth confiscated was some raisins which he found in a drawer. Strange to state he entered the store and planned the robbery all alone. This morning at the police court Dorris pleaded guilty to the charge of attempting robbery and was remanded a week for sentence.

Easter Chimes.

ST. ANDREWS.

The services in St. Andrew's church yesterday were largely attended. The pulpit and altar were finely and artistically decorated with flowers in commemoration of the glad Easter tide. In the morning the pastor, Rev. A. McWilliams, preached a powerful sermon on the resurrection. In the evening he continued his sermons on the parable of the sower, which he began last Sunday.

AT THE CHARLOTTE STREET METHODIST CHURCH

The Easter services in the Charlotte street church, were worthy of the great event they commemorated. The church was very beautifully decorated with blooming flowers, and the services, music and sermons were appropriate to the occasion. Rev. Mr. Edwards conducted the services, and preached the sermon. His morning text was "Christ is risen," and in the evening, 'Christ receiveth sinners."

ST. PAULS.

Yesterday was communion Sunday in St. Paul's and there was a very large attendance, and the number of communicants—about 600—was the largest in the history of the church. The services during the day were conducted by Rev. Mr. Torrance, and he preached sermons appropriate to the occasion. The music had special reference to the day. In the morning Miss Sophie Cameron sang with excellent effect Guonod's "There is a green hill far away," and in the evening the choir rendered with excellent effect the chorus from Trowbridge's "Emmanuel," "He is Risen," Miss Vair taking the solos in her accustomed artistic manner.

GEORGE STREET METHODIST CHURCH

There was a very large attendance at this church in the morning. The Easter floral decorations were very elaborate, in just taste, and the effect was very pleasing. Rev. Mr. Locke, the pastor, conducted both the services during the day. His sermon in the morning was the love of Christ considered in the respect of begetting our love in return. In the evening there was an unusually large congregation. There was a special service of song, which was very effectively rendered by the choir under the able direction of Mr. John Crane, who deserves special mention for the manner in which he has filled the position of choirmaster and organist during Mr. Seward's absence. At the service of song there were three well rendered anthems and two effective quartettes, suitable to the day. The music was a great treat; it was not only well sung, but was very attractive in character.

ST. PETER'S CATHEDRAL.

At St. Peter's Cathedral there were three masses, at 6 30, 8 o'clock and at 10 30. At the latter His Lordship Bishop O'Connor pontificated, assisted by the Cathedral clergy. Rev. Father Scollard preached the sermon on the subject of the Resurrection, giving an able and scholarly discourse. At the conclusion of the mass His Lordship spoke briefly upon the joy of Easter, and concluded by thanking the collectors, the choir and the orchestra for their efficient and warmly appreciated services. The music was special and was provided by the choir, assisted by by the orchestra. The mass was rendered under the direction of Mr. Jas. Coughlin, the energetic choirmaster who took some of the solos, the others being taken by Miss Mary Dunn, the Misses Mahony and Mrs. Somers. The choir are to be commended for the valuable assistance they rendered during the services. The Easter offering, though the exact amount is not known, was very liberal. In the evening His Lordship preached a sermon on the subject of perseverance in carrying out the vows made during the Lenten season. The congregations were very large at all the masses particularly at the 10 30 mass.

EASTER SUNDAY AT ST. JOHNS.

The services at St. John's yesterday were in keeping with the bright sunshine of the weather and the glorious significance of this, the greatest festival of the church. At the early celebration there was a very large attendance, the number of communicants being 200. At the eleven o'clock service there was an unusually large congregation, the ordinary seating capacity not only being filled, but also the chairs placed in all the aisles. The church was beautifully and liberally decorated with living flowers especially the chancel. Masses of blooming flowers tastefully disposed gave an air of Easter brightness to the sacred edifice. The morning services were conducted by Rev. J. C. Davidson and Rev. Mr. Louske, Rev. Mr. Kenrick preaching a short but appropriate sermon. The children's service at three p.m. brought out a large congregation of children, the two schools nearly filling the seating of the church. A bright and happy service was followed by an interesting address; the most interesting part was the Easter offertory of the children. The cheerful alacrity with which they placed their hearded pennies on the plates was a striking contrast to the ordinarily perfunctory alms-giving of adult Christians. The evening service brought out another large congregation. Rev. Mr. Davidson preached a most earnest and able sermon, the best, many think, of the many good ones he has delivered from the same pulpit. It was practical, timely and appropriate.

The music at all the services deserves especial praise. There was a full choir and the manner in which they rendered the music, chants, sentences, anthems and stirring Easter hymns was worthy of all commendation. The organist, Mr. Clarke, merits special mention for the able and effective manner in which he assisted the choir in rendering the service of song and praise.

The special Easter offering yesterday amounted to a total of $1,247.57 cents, contributed as follows:—At the 8 o'clock service, $111 67; at the midday service, $853.-65; at the evening service, $159.12. At the mission school in the morning, $20 35; in the evening, $19.50; St. John's Sunday school, $54 48; South Ward Sunday school, $20.80; total St. John's, $1,178 92; total South Ward, $68 65; grand total, $1 247 57.

One day I ran across a testimonial for Hood's Sarsaparilla stating what it had done in what seemed to be a case similar to mine. I got a bottle and in three or four days saw that I felt better. Before I had finished the first bottle, was greatly improved. Rested better, felt better, and knew I was

A GREAT STATESMAN GONE.

In the death of Hon. Alexander Mackenzie, ex-Premier of Canada, at Toronto yesterday, the country loses one of its greatest statesmen, a man who through a long political career wore "the white stone of a blameless life," both as a politician and a private citizen. In his death the country loses a genuine patriot, one who worked not only for the advancement of its best interests, political and material, but who worked by methods that will stamp him as possessing an honesty of character, an unbending integrity, and a fidelity to principle that will constitute him an example by which any young man may safely shape his life, and by which the statesmen, who survive him, may safely guide their course. Hon. Alex MacKenzie was a great statesman, not that he won that title by methods that commend themselves some of the statesmen, who were his contempories. That he refused to sacrifice principle to policy was one of the strong features of his character. He would rule rightly or not at all. The five years that he administered the affairs of Canada stand out conspicuous as five years of honest Government, to which Canada has, to a considerable extent, since been a stranger. A period of world-wide financial depression came during his time and with a prescience and a sound comprehension of the principles of political economy which years of experience have justified, he refused to delude the people who in their anxiety to find relief, were willing to sacrifice principle to expediency. This Hon. Mr. Mackenzie refused to do, and the people exchanged honest administration for another regime, which has not by any means fulfilled the promises of opportunist politicians, but on the other hand has set in strong and brilliant relief the straightforward and honest five years of righteous rule by the statesman who on Sunday passed away to his reward. He leaves behind him a name unsullied by the slightest smirch of political or personal dishonesty. It is a great thing to say of a statesman, as can be said of him that is gone, that he will stand as an example to which the fathers of Canada can point their sons, ambitious of achieving an honorable distinction, as one eminently worthy of faithful imitation. Hon. Alexander Mackenzie, while living a life of lofty and public usefulness, by the life he lived, served to illustrate both in that, and in private, the "righteousness that exalteth a nation," and to give added impressiveness to the saying that "an honest man is the noblest work of God."

In several of the churches in town reference was made yesterday to the deceased statesman. Rev. Mr. Torrance at the close of the service made the simple remark, after announcing Hon. Mr. Mackenzie's death, "A good man has been gathered to his fathers."

At St. Andrew's church, Rev. Mr. McWilliams upheld for admiration the sterling honesty and uprightness of a statesman who would stoop to no dishonourable act for political advantage, nor sacrifice principle for power.

Rev. Geo. Edwards, of the Charlotte street church, referred to his death as another great and upright man gone, and whose high moral character was beyond question.

Rev. Mr. Davidson, at St. John's, referred to Hon. Alexander Mackenzie's political career as one unsullied by a dishonourable act.

Oh, What a Cough!

A Sewerage Conference.

A General Discussion on the Subject—The Present Danger of Contamination not a Serious One

In the matter of the sewerage system proposed for the town, the beginning is at the end, that is the matter of the outlet of the sewer is proving to be the first bone of contention. The authorities of North and South Monaghan and Otonabee townships, which border on the river, naturally objected to the possibility of the contamination of the river, on their respective water fronts, took means to ascertain what the position of matters were by communicating with the Provincial Board of Health. Accordingly, as stated in Saturday's issue, representatives of the Provincial Board, and representatives of the town and townships interested, went down the river to view the situation, and on their return there was a conference held in the council chamber.

There were present: Dr. Bryce, secretary of the Provincial Board of Health, and Drs. MacDonald, (chairman), and Vaux, members of the Sewerage Committee of the Provincial Board, Councillors Meldrum, Cahill, Kelly, Dennistoun and Young, and J. E. Belcher, town engineer, representing the town; Messrs. W. R. Morrison, reeve, and A. Dawson, clerk, representing South Monaghan; Messrs. Warden Forster, reeve, Wm. Collins, clerk, A. Saunders and N. Maybee, of the Board of Health, and James Davidson, sanitary inspector, representing North Monaghan; Messrs. W. Anderson, reeve, Thomas Johnson, first deputy reeve, and Dawson Kennedy, representing Otonabee. Mr. Allan MacDougall, C. E., Toronto, was also present. Mr. T. A. Hay and Mr. G. W. Ranney were interested spectators during a portion of the conference. Dr. MacDonald took the chair and invited discussion upon the possible contamination of the river by the emptying of sewerage into it.

Mr. MacDougall said he did not think there would be any stuff lodging from the outflow of the sewer pips into the river to cause inconvenience or ill health. He stated this on his responsibility, and his reputation was at stake. If he thought that there would be any contamination or impurity caused by the outflow into the river he would frankly say so. He stated that until thousands would be using the sewer, there need be no fear of danger. There need be no alarm at the present time of any serious results. No offensive matter would float on the river, as the pipe lead out into the middle of the stream, where the water at the lowest water mark was nine feet deep. He assured them that farmers residing in those districts alongide the river need have no fear of their cattle drinking the water in the river.

Mr. Cahill stated that the townships of Monaghan and Otonabee objected to the sewerage emptying into the river because the farmers of these townships being largely engaged in the dairying and cheese interests were afraid that the water in the river which their cattle drank, would become impure through the emptying of the sewerage into the river. He thought that Mr. MacDougall had pointed out plainly and conclusively that there need be no fear on that point. It was not a case of force with the town, but one of necessity that Peterborough should have a system of sewerage. If the money for sewerage in the town was expended and sewerage put in, not only the town but the whole country would be benefitted. He would be sorry to injure the friends along the banks of the river, but there was no other way of getting over the difficulty. The council had engaged Mr. MacDougall to submit the plans, and he believed they were as perfect and practical as could be prepared. It was a case of prejudice because the country was objecting and the speaker thought Mr. MacDougall had removed that prejudice.

Mr. Dennistoun said all were interested in sewerage. They had prepared a plan for the town. The Provincial Board of Health very wisely required that all plans should be submitted to them for inspection and consideration, and that such plans should receive there approval. This had been done, the Board had approved of the scheme and were ready to hear any objection. The Board had the power to compel the town, if the system was injurious, to buy a sewerage farm. He did not believe that the emptying of the sewerage into the river would taint the water. The warden of the county had asked, in their trip down the river in the morning, if any offensive matter would be found floating on the surface of the water. The engineer had assured them beyond a doubt that there would not be any. The matter passing through a long connection of pipes would become disentegrated and sink to the bottom. He trusted that the matter could be arranged satisfactorily with the neighboring townships.

Mr. Forster, reeve of North Monaghan, said he thought it would be an injury to people living on the west side of the river, whose cattle drank the water. The engineer had stated, though, that the matter discharged from the pipe would not be visible more than half a mile, and that there would be no odour or taint to the water.

Mr. MacDougall stated that having a big steel pipe to carry the matter out into the middle of the river, where the water was nine feet, the discharge would mix with the water of the river. The sewerage of 5,000 people would be enough to give velocity to make the sewer self-flushing. It would want a pipe three-quarters full, and the matter would be diluted when it came into the river. He thought that there would be no injury to the dairying interests.

Mr. Anderson, reeve of Otonabee, said that they were unacquainted with sewerage, but the engineer had assured them that no contamination would result, and that there would be no injury to the interests of the townships along the banks, and that was all they wanted. He thought that they should be content with that guarantee.

Mr. A. Dawson, South Monaghan, said the subject of sewerage was a far away one to them. At a meeting of the Board of Health of the township they thought it would affect the river. They wanted the town of Peterborough to be a successful and prosperous town and would offer no unreasonable objection to the emptying of the sewerage into the river if no serious results would be caused. If no contamination or tainted effects would ensue, they were willing to allow the sewer pipe to enter the river.

Mr. Wm. Collins, clerk of North Monaghan, thought that serious results would follow the emptying of sewerage into the river. The Provincial Board of Health were very particular about what entered the river, even sawdust was not allowed to be put in, and millers had been brought up and fined for allowing it to enter the river. They wanted some safeguard against any evil effects following the discharge of the sewerage into the river. If the wind was from the west it would drift the matter to the Monaghan side, and if from the east to the Otonabee side. They did not want to agree now to a thing which twenty or thirty years after they would be sorry for.

Mr. Kennedy, of Otonabee, said the commission had not seen the large number of bogs and marshes alongside the river. The matter would strike a point east of this side of the Yankee Bonnet, and then by the eddy in the river at that point would be brought back to a point in the west side, directly opposite. He was of the opinion that the discharge would affect the water which their cattle drank. He thought it would be the case as even the sawdust in the river had lodged in the marshes along the shore, and in the the summer time there was an offensive smell from the vegetable and decaying matter. He was interested as his farm lay alongside the river. He believed that all the discharge of the sewer added to this filthy slime would have serious effects.

Mr. MacDougall stated that sawdust became saturated with the water and as its specific gravity became greater it sank to the bottom. It was not so with sewerage. The current at the point where the discharge would be is swift and there would be no smell like there was near the Island in Toronto, because of the still water.

Councillor Meldrum thought that the objections raised by Mr. Collins were reasonable, and they should receive some guarantee that no deleterious effects should follow the discharge. The county and towns interests were identical, you could not injure the one without hurting the other. He thought there was no danger for many years yet.

Dr. Bryce, secretary of the Provincial Board of Health, said the discussion resolved itself into a question of the future. The Board was persuaded that a system of sewerage should be built in Peterborough but at the same time they were resolved to protect the public. No danger could result at present, not for years until Peterborough became a large city. If at any time the system becomes a public nuisance the Board could compel the town to carry out its agreement with the townships and vice versa. For the present there could not be the least complaint of serious results.

Moved by Mr. Cahill, seconded by Mr. Kelly that a vote of thanks be tendered to Drs. MacDonald, Vaux and Bryce for their trouble in coming down and the information they had furnished.

Dr. MacDonald replied thanking them for their kindness.

Mr. Dennistoun moved, seconded by Mr. Young that a vote of thanks be tendered to Mr. MacDougall for his trouble, interest and consideration in the sewerage matter.—Carried.

The meeting adjourned at 4.45 o'clock.

THE CANADA LIFE ASSURANCE CO'Y.

Forty-Fifth Annual Meeting of the Great Institution.

Remarkable Record for the Past Year—The Annual Report—Election of Directors.

The 45th annual meeting of the greatest of Canadian insurance institutions, the Canada Life Assurance Company, was held to-day in the board room of the Company's head office in Hamilton. There were present a gathering of the representative men of Canada, men whose names are known all over the country for solidity and business ability, with Mr. G. A. Ramsay, president of the company, presiding over the deliberations. The meeting was a most harmonious and eminently satisfactory one.

Mr. Ramsay took the chair shortly after 12 o'clock, with Mr. Roland Hills as secretary of the meeting.

President Ramsay submitted the following:

REPORT BY THE BOARD OF DIRECTORS OF THE CANADA LIFE ASSURANCE COMPANY, SUBMITTED TO THE ANNUAL GENERAL MEETING OF SHAREHOLDERS, HELD AT HAMILTON ON THE 5TH OF APRIL, 1892:

The business of 1891, being the company's 45th year, was again highly favourable. The new assurances applied for were 2,507 in number, and $5,929,088 in amount. Of these, 136 for $259,500 were declined, the lives not appearing to reach that standard of eligibility which it is in the best interest of our assurers should be maintained. Of the balance of $5,669,583, upon 2,371 lives, which were accepted by the directors, 204 for $414,562 were not carried out, leaving the actual new assurances of the year $5,255,021 under 2,167 policies, with a new annual income premium of $178,-191.06.

At 31st December last there were in force $56,218,318.03 of assurances and bonus additions, upon 19,563 lives, under 26,484 policies.

The statement of receipts and payments, and the abstract of assets and liabilities, herewith submitted, show that the income of the year was $2,213,096.27, and that the assets amounted to $12,074,-124.87, having being increased during the year by $1,041,684 78.

The death claims for the year were upon 192 lives under 243 policies for $511,879.11, including profits, a sum considerably under that of the previous year, 1890, when the amount was a good deal affected by the epidemic of la grippe which then prevailed, and its results.

The business at the various branches has been generally well sustained, and having last year alluded to anticipations of successful progress at the Michigan branch, it may be mentioned that these have been largely realized.

In compliance with the company's charter the following directors retire by rotation, but are eligible for re-election: The Hon. Sir Alexander Campbell, K. C. M. G., Toronto; Andrew Allan, Esq., Montreal, and Thomas Swinyard, Esq, New York State.

(Signed), A. G. RAMSAY, President,
R. HILLS, Secretary.

PRESIDENT RAMSAY'S REMARKS.

Mr. A. G. Ramsay moved the adoption of the annual report. In so doing he reviewed carefully and ably, the business of the year. He said:—

I beg to move the adoption of the directors report now before you, and although the statements which it, and the published accounts, which have been in your hands for some days, so clearly indicate the success of the past year's business, and the sound position of the company, that I need take up but little of the time of this annual meeting in adverting to them, it may be interesting, I dare say, that I draw your attention shortly to some of the features which these documents disclose. The new business of the past year amounted, you will see to $5,-265,021, a sum so nearly approaching the best year we have ever had that I think we may well congratulate you upon it. It has happily been our good fortune each year for so long to be able to make a somewhat similar statement that I fear it may appear a somewhat monotonous one, for which, however, I need offer no apology. You will have noticed that the total assurances in force at the close of 1891 were $56,218,318, an amount which suggests a very large measure of public support and confidence in the company. The income continues to largely increase, and it amounted last year to $2,213,096, more than twice as much as it was ten years ago, and nearly seven times what it was twenty years ago. With the possibility of a corresponding progress in the future we may well be encouraged to continue that caution and care in the direction and in the management of the company's affairs, which in the past have made the Canada Life's name synonymous with that of integrity, liberality and stability. The large addition of over $1,000,000 was added to the company's assets last year, making them $12,074,12[illegible], or about twice what they were only seven years ago. While difficulty in obtaining satisfactory investments as they were wanted was experienced during the year, every effort and the best judgment of the board were exercised so as to make that difficulty as little felt as possible.

As you are well aware, there has of late years been a gradual reduction in the rate of interest obtainable on the best class of securities, and while our Company is of course affected by that, in common with all others, every exertion is made to diminish as far as we can any loss in that way.

The death claims during 1891 were $511,873, being a lower amount than they had been in 1890, when, largely by the grippe epidemic, they reached $603,884.

The statment of receipts and payments shows that during 1891, $316,370 was paid to policy-holders as profits, a return of nearly 20 per cent. of the year's premiums paid to the Company, a percentage of profits on premiums paid so rarely reached by other companies as to lead us to press upon intending assurers the advantages which our Company offers in that respect. In alluding to that I am very glad indeed to have the opportunity of saying that by the courtesy of the Superintendent of Insurance we were yesterday favoured with the result of the Government's quinquennial valuation of our Company's affairs. It shows that over and above the full reserve we are required by the Government of Canada to hold, and all liabilities, we have on hand a large profit surplus such as indicates no diminution in the Company's profit-making powers. You have been informed by the Director's Report of the generally favourable progress of the Company's various branches, and the efforts of our Managers and Agents are well deserving of our thanks and encouragement. Special allusion has been made to the branch established by the Company, in Michigan in 1890. Because it being somewhat of an experiment, you would naturally desire to hear specially as to it. I am very pleased to be able to say that the progress of the branch is so satisfactory as to have last year placed the Company in the fourteenth position, in point of new assurances, out of 32 companies doing business in the State. For a great deal of our success in Michigan, we are indebted to the support of the prominent and influential gentlemen who have been good enough to aid us by acting upon our Board of Reference. I am glad to tell you that we have entered upon the year 1892 with the most encouraging prospects. The new business up to the present date far exceed that of any previous year, and I trust that at our next meeting we may be able to again record a continuance of such prosperity as has already been so satisfactory to you and to our various policy-holders.

VICE-PRESIDENT GATES' REMARKS.

Mr. F. W. Gates, Vice-President of the Company, seconded the adoption of the report. In doing so he said:—

Mr. Chairman and gentlemen.—When it is borne in mind that there has been no perceptible improvement in business generally throughout the country during the past year, I think we must be compelled to admit that the statement which has been presented to-day ought to be considered highly satisfactory. It is true that the company might have done a much larger amount of business than has been done if we had been less scrupulously careful in the acceptance of risks which have been applied for. As the report shows, and as the president has pointed out, many applications have been rejected. We have exercised the greatest care in this matter in order that the company and the insured alike might be fully protected. We did not indulge in the extravagances which some companies have in order to increase our business, but have rather followed a policy of carefnl management in the interest of the company. I well remember some years ago that the president in his address referred with a good deal of pleasure to the fact that we had an income of $1,000 a day; now it is $7,000 a day, and it was easy then to invest $1,000 a day. It is not so easy to invest $7,000 now, even with the lower rate of interest, I may again refer to the remarkably small losses, and again congratulate the company upon that state of affairs. I have much pleasure, gentlemen, in seconding the motion for the adoption of the report.

President Ramsay put the motion, which was carried unanimously.

THANKS TO PRESIDENT AND DIRECTORS.

Mr. Byron E. Walker moved a vote of thanks to the President and Directors for their attention to the interests of the company during the year.

In offering the motion Mr. Walker said:—It gives me very great pleasure indeed to propose the thanks of the shareholders to our President and Directors. Reference has been made to the growth and success of the Canada Life in the past, and I consider that they are largely due to the excellent management. The big companies in the United States are beginning to realize that it may be possible to do too much business, but I am sure that if the policy which has been pursued by the Canada Life in the past is adhered to, another ten years of our career will show corresponding prosperity. I hope that our President may long be spared to direct the affairs of the company, and that he may have the advice and co-operation of such men as now constitute the directorate.

Mr. Henry McLaren—Mr. President and gentlemen, I have very much pleasure in seconding the motion.

The motion was put and carried unanimously, amid applause.

President Ramsay replied:—I expect that I shall have to reply to the motion you have just passed. I thank you very much indeed for the resolution and for the kind expressions made use of. I believe I can confidently say that every one of the Directors has done all that was in his power to further the interests of the company.

THREE DIRECTORS ELECTED.

The Hon. Mr. Justice Burton moved the appointment of Messrs. W. F. Findlay and Campbell Farrie as scrutineers of votes for the election of Directors in the room of the three retiring, and that the poll shall now be opened, and closed upon five minutes elapsing without a vote being tendered.

Mr. Matthew Leggat seconded the motion, which was carried.

The voting took a good deal of time, and while the ballots were being counted other business was proceeded with. The election resulted in the choice of Hon. Sir Alexander Campbell, K.C. M. G., of Toronto, Mr. Andrew Allan, of Montreal, and Mr. Geo. A, Cox, of Toronto. The last named gentlemen will take the place of Mr. Thomas Swinyard on the Board, the other two gentlemen being re-elected.

The usual votes of thanks were passed, and at a meeting of the directors subsequently held, Mr. A. G. Ramsay was re-elected President, and Mr. F. W. Gates, Vice-President.

"August Flower"

Mr. Lorenzo F. Sleeper is very well known to the citizens of Appleton, Me., and neighborhood. He says: "Eight years ago I was taken "sick, and suffered as no one but a "dyspeptic can. I then began tak- "ing August Flower. At that time "I was a great sufferer. Every- "thing I ate distressed me so that I "had to throw it up. Then in a "few moments that horrid distress "would come on and I would have "to eat and suffer "again. I took a "little of your med- "icine, and felt much "better, and after "taking a little more "August Flower my "Dyspepsia disap- "peared, and since that time I "have never had the first sign of it. "I can eat anything without the "least fear of distress. I wish all "that are afflicted with that terrible "disease or the roubles caused by "it would try August Flower, as I "am satisfied there is no medicine "equal to it."

SPRING MANURES.

Some Hints Concerning the Proper Method of Preparation.

The value of manure that is in a very fine condition, and which is well rotted, compared with that which is coarse and lumpy, is well-known to all farmers to be superior in every respect, because the manure that is fine has already passed through one stage that it would have to undergo if placed on the ground in a coarse condition. Compost is always used on those plants which require an abundance of plant food as soon as they begin to germinate. To reduce the manure in the manure heap the quickest method is to handle the mass by turning it over, saturating the whole with liquid manure, with an occasional sprinkling of quick-lime, which will cause heat to rapidly generate, which may be controlled by making holes in the mass and pouring cold water, should the heat become too great. The lime will do no injury if the heat is carefully watched, and it will be but a short time before the entire heap will be in a fine condition.

REDUCING BONES.

By placing broken bones in a hogshead, or in any suitable vessel, and covering them with unleached wood ashes, using a layer of bones and a layer of ashes, alternately, the bones will soon be reduced to a pasty mass and can be used with immediate results on the land. The heat necessary to reduce the bones may be hasteued by using urine and quicklime on the mixture, in the same manner as is suggested for the manure heap. Or, if preferred, the bones may be reduced by applying forty pounds of cheap agricultural sulphuric acid to 100 pounds of bones. If the urine from the stalls, the rakings of the stables, blood, or other refuge, be added to the manure, and the whole spread out on a floor, the sprinkling of the mass, by using a broom as a sprinkler, with a mixture of gill of acid and a quart of water, there will soon be a reduction and pulverization of the mass to a fine condition, while the acid will convert the ammonia and other ingredients into sulphates, thereby not only rendering the mass fine but also preventing loss of volatile matter.

THE FARM LABORATORY.

The manure heap is the laboratory of the farm, for in it many chemical changes occur. When manure is applied in the spring in a coarse condition the plants do not always derive immediate benefit, but when the work is bestowed upon it by the farmer, and the manure is rendered fine, with a large portion soluble, it will be just so much saving of the time that would be required for the manure to rot in the ground. When manure is applied in the fall it will become fine before spring, but at the present time the farmer should bestow some attention to the heap.

For Late Risers.

There is a novel method of delivering milk in Philadelphia, the essential features of which is shown in the illustration. A hole is made in the floor, to which is arranged an inside spring cover. On the interior of the door is a hook for holding the can, so arranged to uncover the hole when the receptacle is hung upon it. The milkman displaces the outside cover of the hole, and puts the funnel through the orifice, as shown in the cut. When the can is removed from the hook the hole is automically closed again. If it has been forgotten to place the can on the hook, the opening remains closed, so that it is impossible for the milkman to insert the funnel.

A NEW MILK CAN.

A New Advertising Wrinkle.

London tradesmen have discovered a little scheme which it might be worth while for our merchants to follow. The enterprising Englishmen have hired well-dressed young women to stand in front of their windows, and with "Ohs" and "Ahs" of admiration gaze upon the goods within. It works beautifully, for others naturally stop and swell the refrain until quite an imposing group is admiring the goods of these progressive advertisers.

It is the greatest blessing of the century to all in delicate health, or who suffer with coughs, colds and ailments that tend to consumption. For the past year I have been troubled to a very great extent with Dandruff, also a dullness of color in my hair, and through the advice of a friend (who spoke from experience) I tried your Anti-Dandruff, which, upon the application of less than a bottle of your liquid I find my head not only thoroughly cleansed but a vast improvement in the color and growth.

I have and do recommend it as highly beneficial to the profession and public generally as an agreeable and welcome innovation in the remedies put forth for public favor.

India Rubber Pavement.

A German engineer has paved a bridge with india rubber, and the result has been so satisfactory that it is to be applied on a large scale. It is found to be more durable than asphalt, and not slippery. A section of roadway under the gate leading to the departure platform of the St. Pancras Terminus, London, has for some years past been paved with india rubber, and many people must have been pleasantly surprised at the deadening of sound when passing over it on wheels, and at the grateful elasticity to the tread when traversing it on foot.

ANNA SAINIO CONFESSES.

She Tells How She Poisoned Her Husband With Strychnine.

ST. PETERSBURG, April 18.—Anna Sainio, condemned to death for murdering her husband, has confessed her crime.

The woman in her confession said that she bought a strychnine capsule like capsules of quinine which her husband had been in the habit of taking. For days she hesitated to administer the poison. Finally her husband asked for some quinine, when, enticed by the devil, she lost her self-control and gave him the strychnine capsule in a glass of water.

She then kissed him and went to her bedroom and put pillows over her head in order not to hear his screams when dying.

She said she had never been unfaithful, but she was in debt and wanted her husband's life insurance, amounting to $2500.

OTTAWA NOTES.

The Animals Amendment Order—Dr. Dawson Summoned to England.

OTTAWA, April 18.—The Minister of Agriculture Saturday received from Sir Charles Tupper a copy of the animals amendment order, which took effect on March 31 last, in relation to animals which may be landed in any part of the United Kingdom. A vessel carrying such animals must not have had on board within a space of 21 days any animals exported from the United States; or must not have had on board within 28 days any cattle exported from the Isle of Man; or must not have had on board within 21 days before again embarking cattle any animal from any port or place in any country other than Her Majesty's possessions in North America or New Zealand.

Mr. Dawson of the Geological Survey, who was one of the Behring Sea commissioners, will leave for England next week on business connected with the commission. His being summoned to England is regarded as an indication that some further steps are likely to be taken soon in the matter of the arbitration.

It is stated that when the Assize Court opens Monday counsel for Connolly and McGreevy will move for a further postponement of the case. It is not probable that this will be granted, but it is likely that the case will be set down for hearing on Monday week so that the minor cases may be disposed of first.

There was a short session of council Saturday, at which it is understood only routine business was transacted, after which the Premier left for Montreal to spend Easter.

FOUGHT OVER A LINE FENCE.

Serious Affray in Wellington County. A Dispute, a Shot Gun and a Man Under the Doctor's Care.

DRAYTON, Ont., April 18.—Saturday morning two farmers, John S. George and Daniel Eby, living in the township of Marlboro, about three miles southwest of Moorefield, quarrelled over the removal of a line fence. George objected to its removal by Eby and warned him if he did so he would shoot him. Eby proceeded to tear down the fence, when George ran back to his house and brought out a double-barreled shotgun, dropped on his knee, and took deliberate aim and fired. The shot struck Eby in one eye and the breast, making three dangerous wounds. Physicians are in attendance on the wounded man, and it is expected he will recover. George has been arrested. The shooting was witnessed by a number of neighbors.

Funeral of Mr. William Edgar.

MONTREAL, April 18.—The funeral of William Edgar, late general passenger agent of the Grand Trunk Railway, took place from his residence in Montreal Saturday and was the occasion of one of the largest and most representative gatherings ever witnessed in Montreal. Nearly all the leading American and Canadian lines were represented, several special cars having arrived in the morning bringing the American representatives. The remains were conveyed from his residence, 262 Bishop-street, to the Church of St. James the Apostle, where the funeral services were held. The remains were interred in Mount Royal Cemetery.

Caught at Lockport.

LOCKPORT, N. Y., April 18.—Robert McColl, a farmer near Toronto, Ont., arrived here a few days ago in search of his daughter, who had eloped from Toronto with a married man named Cyrus Noble, a grocer at the corner of St. Mary and Yonge-streets in that city. He located the couple here, and after an affecting interview Mary consented to return.

The condition on which the daughter consented to return was rather interesting. She specified that she might correspond regularly and without interference with the man whom she came with, and furthermore that she might marry him whenever he should get a divorce from his wife, which he intends securing as soon as possible. Noble has some time had a decree of separation from his late better-half, in consideration of which he turned over to her nearly all his property.

May's ancestor acquiesced to her condition with some hesitancy, but faithfully promised that they would go, and then all the parties started back to the Dominion.

QUALITY and COST.

QUALITY is a small word, but it has a big meaning.

COST is a still smaller word, but, when consistent with quality, is in every case the first consideration—especially in the purchase of Dress Goods.

Our customers are daily realizing the fact that in our Dress Goods Department, the HIGHEST quality and the LOWEST cost go hand-in-hand. Another advantage is the absolute NEWNESS of our stock. It isn't a rehash of last year's styles, however modern. The designs are the newest effects produced, with all the latest fashionable combinations of good taste.

Fancy a $16 costume being sold for $5! That's the benefit you reap by our extensive facilities in buying.

The attractions at our Millinery Parlors still keep up. In fact, you would think every day was an opening day. This may be attributed to our supplementary display of Pattern Hats and Bonnets, and later arrivals of Millinery Novelties, Jackets and Capes, Dress Silks and Fancy Dry Goods. The attraction is not only in the goods themselves, but in the BARGAINS OFFERED.

We can furnish a whole house from attic to drawing room, with new patterns of Carpets and Floor Coverings of all kinds; and we can also match the Carpets with Curtains, Draperies and Upholsteries of elegant designs in contrasting colours. Nothing is too high priced.

A RUSH ENDS IN DEATH

FRIGHTFUL CATASTROPHE AT HAMPSTEAD HEATH

Excursionists at a Railway Station at Hampstead Heath Become Wedged on a Staircase and Two Women and Six Children are Trampled to Death.

LONDON, April 19.—A terrible catastrophe took place at Hampstead Heath last evening by which two women and six children were killed, and 13 other persons were seriously injured.

Hampstead, which is a favorite holiday resort about four miles from London, was visited by the thousands of excursionists yesterday, and as the day closed there was a great rush of people to catch the trains to return home.

In the rush somebody fell at the foot of a staircase of the railway station and in a moment the hundreds of persons above were thrown into a struggling mass.

The police at once closed the doors and set to work to extricate the dead and injured.

Four of the dead have been identified as Emily Hamilton, age 35; Annie Aylon, age 40; John Connor, age 9, and Thomas Longford, age 14. The other bodies are those of boys of from 10 to 15 years. Many were injured.

Murdered on A Bridal Bed.

PARIS, April 19.—On a farm on the banks of the Seine, ten miles east of Rouen, lived Sieur Daptal and his pretty daughter. Sought by many suitors, her affection seemed to have been bestowed chiefly on Robert Dubodat, a Seine boatman, handsome but not good. Pere Daptal, however, interfered with the announcement that Jules Nicot, a worthy master boatman, had been accepted as Helene's suitor Robert at once set about to prevent the marriage. On Wednesday, the evening of the wedding supper, all the waterside population had been invited. While the guests were becoming more and more intoxicated Nicot watched the bride and Dubadot and finally surprised them in the hallway just as his rival was stealing a kiss. Nicot proceeded to wreak vengeance effective and terrible. The bridal chamber opened on the courtyard and was easily entered from without.

Going there to prepare for retiring, Helene brought the guests panic-stricken to her side by giving vent to a terrible shriek and falling in a swoon. On the bed she had seen her old lover lying dead with three mortal stabs in his breast. Nicot, who rushed in with the rest, wildly proclaimed himself the murderer, saying that he had good reasons for the deed, and then and there attempted to stab his bride, but was prevented. In the confusion he ran from the house to the river and escaped.

Giants With Ape-Like Heads.

LONDON, April 19.—An interesting discovery has just been made near Mentone, across the Italian frontier. Some workmen engaged in excavating the entrance of a large natural cave at Rochers Rouges came across three skeletons in a perfect state of preservation at a depth of 24 feet below the surface. They evidently belong to the flint period, and the largest is that of a man, which measures seven feet without the head, which has been removed, with that evidently belonging to a female which lay by its side.

The skulls are of a very animal type, almost resembling an ape, and the teeth in the smaller skull are quite perfect, while in both jaws there is a distinct indication of the growth of the wisdom teeth.

Prince Rudolph's Widow to Wed.

LONDON, April 19.—The Archduchess Stephanie of Austria, widow of Crown Prince Rudolph, is about to marry Duke Miguel of Braganza, brother of the Archduchess Maria Theresa. The Emperor, who mourns sincerely for the Crown Prince, is bitterly opposed to the match, but does not forbid it. Stephanie will lose by her marriage her appanage, but will retain her Belgian inheritance. The marriage is a love match, and will take place almost immediately after the official announcement, which is expected shortly.

A Cure for Hydrophobia.

LONDON, April 19.—An important experiment has recently been made by Professor Murri of Milan at the institute for the cure of hydrophobia. A man who had been bitten by a dog and had undergone the regulation Pasteur treatment was attacked with all the symptoms of hydrophobia, and paralysis had set in from the waist down. His life was despaired of when Professor Murri made a series of subcutaneous injections of the virus in its fixed form, and, little by little, all the serious symptoms disappeared and the man is now cured.

Abingdon Baird Has the Lily Again.

LONDON, April 19.—Mrs. Langtry has resumed her intimacy with Abingdon Baird of sporting notoriety, who, at her request, has bought Lord Gerald's fine place at Moulton, near Newmarket, for which he paid £85,000. Baird allows his bachelor friends to occupy Bedford Lodge, while he sojourns with his inamorata in their newly acquired country seat.

Married on Their Future Graves.

CARROLTON, Ga., April 17.—W. N. Green, a farmer living in Haralson County, selected a novel spot to be married yesterday. Green, who was a widower, courted Mrs. Sanford, a widow, and an agreement to marry was made between them. Mr. Green sent for Squire Newt Tillman to perform the ceremony. Mr. Green has a beautiful home, and near it is a grassy knoll, and on this elevated spot Mr. Green selected his family cemetery and also selected the exact spot where he and his future wife must be buried. Here Squire Tillman made Bill Green and Martha Sanford man and wife in the presence of half a dozen witnesses. ad cha

ACROSS THE ATLANTIC.

A LUTHERAN PASTOR CONVICTED OF LARCENY.

Doctors Satisfied Deeming is Sane—British Liberals Worried—A Fourfold Split Among the Anti-Parnellites Imminent—Gladstone Might Prevent Open Rupture By Outlining His Home Rule Scheme.

BERLIN, April 19.—The criminal court in Oldenburg has condemned the Lutheran pastor, Muller, to 14 years' hard labor for embezzlement, obtaining money by false pretences and forgery.

The trial has been one of the most notable in recent years. More than 50 witnesses were summoned to testify to their losses through Muller, and about 75 more were ready to testify, but were not called upon, as the case against the pastor was complete without them.

It was shown at the trial that Muller began swindling his parishioners as soon as he settled in a village near Oldenburg several years ago, and that he had continued the practice without intermission until fear of exposure induced him to flee. He told the peasants that he could invest their money for them at a large rate of interest in Berlin, and more than 100 of the petty land-owners and shopkeepers entrusted to him sums varying between 1000 and 1500 marks. He induced the parish to buy a lot next to the church for 30,000 marks on representation that the Roman Catholics were about to buy it. He collected the purchase twice, but paid only 10,000 to the seller, saying that the rest would be paid in instalments. As secretary of the church council in Oldenburg, the councillors testified he manufactured and incorporated in the records of the meetings resolutions authorizing him to collect large sums. He made the collections, but spent the money in wild living in Berlin, during his occasional visits to the city. Altogether he obtained about 350,000 marks. The constable who arrested him testified that Muller, after his flight and before his arrest, spent thousands on fast women, posing as a wealthy horse-breeder, and when caught was sitting in a country tavern, with but four marks left, discussing the enormity of his own crimes as related by the newspapers.

In pronouncing sentence the judge said that in his whole experience on the bench he had not seen another such abandoned scoundrel as the prisoner.

British Liberals Worried.

LONDON, April 19.—The Liberals are much disturbed in mind over the increasing dissensions in the Irish party. A prominent Irish member said last night that the report of a fourfold split of the anti-Parnellites was untrue, but that trouble had been brewing in the ranks for a long time and a crisis seemed imminent. There was, he added, no leader with sufficient influence to cement the party together. There were various cliques, of which that headed by Healy was the strongest, the one led by O'Brien and Dillon being next in importance. Many members were "on the fence" and would join whichever faction proved its ability to dominate.

Mr. Gladstone is being urged to give an outline of the Home Rule scheme that he intends to bring forward in case of his return to power. This, it is thought by many, would have the effect of keeping the Irish party together, as they would then have something tangible to concentrate their patriotism upon. Whether or not Mr. Gladstone will accede to the appeal for a manifesto in order to check the stampede among the Irish supporters of his party cannot as yet be conjectured.

T. P. O'Connor denies that there is any trouble in the ranks or any serious divisions, but he admits that differences of opinion are developing which it would be well to harmonize if possible. He looks to the elections to heal these minor dissensions. If Mr. Gladstone's Home Rule program is satisfactory to Ireland, he says all the Irish members will unite in assisting the Liberals to put it through. The Parnellites will not lag behind in this work.

If, on the other hand, the bill is not what the people of Ireland demand, the members will unite in causing its rejection. Mr. O'Connor does not think Gladstone will publish his scheme before the elections, but these cannot be delayed much beyond July.

LONDON, April 19.—Henry Seymour King, Conservative member for the Central division of Kingston Upon Hull, is going to raise the question of bi-metalism on a motion that, in view of the extreme danger to all interests in India arising through the depreciation of silver, prompt measures ought to be taken to establish a gold standard in that country.

LONDON, April 18.—Robert Grant Webster has an amendment ready declaring that a Dublin parliament, controlling judicial appointments and the police, would be ruinous to the welfare of Ireland and the Empire generally. CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOURERS

Of the Town and County Hold their First Rally,

In the Charlotte Street Methodist Church all Day Yesterday—List of Delegates—A Large Attendance, and Much Interest taken in the Proceedings—Officers of the County Association and the Peterborough Local Union Elected for Next Year—A Fit Commemoration of Easter Monday.

The first Peterborough county Christian Endeavour rally opened Monday morning in the Charlotte street Methodist church at ten o'clock with a large attendance. About seventy delegates were present from all parts of the county, auguring well for the success of to day's convention.

Mr. R. J. COLVILLE, president of the Local Union of Christian Endeavour, presided, and in a few opening remarks expressed his pleasure at the large and representative attendance, and extended to them cordial greeting. He implored Divine blessing upon the convention and its meditations, and hoped that its would result in much spiritual profit and good.

REV. JAS THOM, B. A., pastor of the Mark street Methodist Church, lead the devotional exercises. He read a portion of the xxiii chapter of Exodus, and offered up prayer for the success of the convention and its sittings. Afterwards several of the delegates led in sentence prayers. Mr. W. F. Nelson was elected secretary pro tem.

The introduction of the delegates was then proceeded with. Each visitor stood up and stated the name and place represented. A list of the delegates could not be obtained as no official record was made of their names and the places represented. The reports from all the societies in the town and county followed, all showing Christian Endeavour organizations to be in a prosperous condition.

An organization committee was then appointed to report this afternoon relative to the succes of a county convection. The committee, Miss M. Quinn, Hazel Brae; Harry Kennedy, Cold Springs; and Rev. Mr. McEwen, Lakefield, will report this afternoon.

Mr. E. A. Hardy, B.A., Lindsay, gave an interesting account of the great international conventions which will take place at New York on July next, and at Montreal in July of the year 1893. Some 25,000 delegates are expected from all over the world to attend these conventions. Mr. Hardy also gave an account of how the next provincial convention which meets in London in October would be conducted. He thought that the World's Fair would increase largely the attendance of these great international conventions.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

The afternoon session of the Peterborough County Christian Endeavour Rally opened in the Charlotte street Methodist church at two o'clock, Mr. R J Colville, president of the Local Union, in the chair.

The proceedings opened with a praise service led by Rev. Mr. Barker, of Smith, who read Psalm cxxii for instruction. After singing a hymn, Rev. Messrs. Hooske and McEwen led in prayer. Then a hymn was sung and Rev. Mr. Trotter offered up prayer, asking God to bless the mission.

REPORTS OF COMMITTEES.

At 2 30 o'clock the Free Parliament was introduced by Mr. Colville who urged the different members to work at his or her committee with the utmost zeal.

The Sunshine Committee was opened by Miss Quinn. The object of the Sunshine Committee is to try and prevent quarrels among those who attend the meetings, and report all those who need help and comfort among those who attend, to the superintendent, and collect flowers and fruits for the sick and disabled among the members.

The Sunday School Committee was opened by Rev. Mr. McEwen. He said many schools have to carry the teacher, but he thought the teacher ought to carry the school, as was the case in his Sabbath School at Lakefield. The Christian Endeavour Society should prevent such drifting from the school as we see every day.

Mr. G. S. Bean spoke on the reservation of Sunday School teachers. He said the Epworth League, of George street church, helped fill the vacancies in the Sunday School.

Miss Quinn gave some information as to the Sunday School. Mr. W. S. Leslie spoke on semi-mission schools. He spoke of the invitation system for the school.

Miss Kennedy opened the Missionary Committee. She said no other committee of the society suffers as the missionary society. The people cry "charity begins at home," and as the majority of the Christian people adhere to this rule, of course the Foreign Missionary Society reaps the profit. She recommended that more missionary tracts be distributed. More labourers must be had for the vineyard.

Miss Wrighton stated some facts regarding the systematic giving pursued in the George street church.

Mr. E. A. Hardy, B.A., then explained Fulton's system of systematic giving. The system was to raise money for all missionary purposes by each member giving two cents a week for the cause.

Rev. Mr. McEwen spoke of the beneficial results of the system and its work in Ottawa.

Miss Best, of Denver, Colorado, spoke in the same line. A variety of missionary meetings should be held to enthuse all in this great cause.

Miss Kennedy, in the absence of Mrs. Price, read a paper on Temperance Committee work. The paper was carefully prepared and full of information and sound advice. They should go to work on the plans they know. That is what is wanted. It was easy to discuss this committee at their meetings, but it was very hard to put their knowledge in practice. The Christian Endeavour Temperance committee should be up and doing.

Miss Nellie Wrighton introduced the Music Committee. This committee was very necessary to the success of the meeting. They should have spirited and lively singing. Some societies had regular choirs.

The work of the Junior Endeavour and Social Committees was responded to by Mr. W. F. Nelson and Miss Quinn respectively.

OFFICERS OF THE COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

President, R. J. Colville, Peterborough, Vice-Presidents, Miss Duff, Lakefield; R. A. Ward, Keene; J. Snoee, Bridgenorth; Miss L. Kennedy, Cold Springs; Secretary-Treasurer, Miss J. Mercer, Peterborough; Superintendent of Junior Endeavour work, W. F. Nelson, Peterborough; Delegate to the New York Convention, R. J. Colville.

A question drawer was then opened, Mr. W. S. Leslie, editor of the Christian Endeavour Herald, Toronto, had charge. Several questions were read and answered. A long discussion followed on the propriety of active members indulging in card playing and dancing. Both amusements were condemned as being derogatory to the cause of Christ and unworthy of a professed follower of His. The discussion was taken part in by Messrs. R. J. Colville, Rev. Mr. McEwen, W. F. Nelson, Miss Quinn and others. After a cordial invitation from President Colville for all present to participate in the Christian Endeavour social in the Sunday School room, the meeting closed at five o'clock with the benediction.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOUR SOCIAL

Six large tables were set in the school room and laden with delicacies, enticing and dainty. Thither repaired a hundred and fifty guests to do justice to the occasion. From five and until seven o'clock passed rapidly away in social intercourse. The visitors were waited upon by lady members of the Local Union and they did their work admirably and well.

THE EVENING SESSION.

In the evening the Charlotte street Methodist church was crowded to its very doors, mostly with young people. Great interest was manifested in the proceedings during the evening. The session was opened by the Rev. Geo. Edwards. An opening hymn was sung, after which the Rev. Mr. Barker led in prayer. Another hymn was sung and prayer was again offered. A closing hymn was then sung, after which the 133rd Psalm was read by Mr. Colville, and the Rev. E. F. Torrance led in prayer. Another hymn was then sung, and Mr. Colville introduced Mr. E. A. Hardy, B. A., of Lindsay, who gave an interesting and earnest address on "Practical Methods in Christian Endeavour." The society had two aims: to win souls for the Lord Jesus Christ, and to train them after they get them. The Christian Endeavour would not be much if it did not take the pledge, which he thought was its backbone. They must stick to the Lord Jesus Christ, and not wander off on side tracks. If the Christian Endeavour was tacked on to the church—as it is—the pastor had a right to preside at any of its meetings. The practical side was the introduction of the Christian Endeavour into our churches. The circulation of good literature was another work which it would be well to introduce. The president of every association should thoroughly understand the Christian Endeavour work and be heartily in earnest for the cause. The corresponding secretary should be very careful, and he and the president ought to attend to business very earnestly and energetically. Every committe should open and close with prayer, and reports should never be neglected at a business meeting.

Mrs. (Dr.) Harrison of Keene, then sang a solo, "Speed Away," with much feeling and in fine voice.

Rev. Alex. McWilliams, pastor of St. Andrew's Presbyterian church followed in a half hour's spirited and powerful address on "Systematic Giving." Many were under the wrong impression of giving in the olden time. It may have been a direct command from God as we have two examples of those who did. God's word teaches us to give not only one-tenth nor one-half, we are told to give all, all we have. We must give ourselves to Christ, consecrating ourselves and our lives to Him. God will just use us, any man or woman for his work, just to the extent that we live in Him. If we were to be a mighty power in this land, it would only be by perfect devotion and earnest consecration. The speaker strongly advised regular and systematic giving, and urged all to give as God had prospered them. He believed that the first day of the week was the correct day to give. Taking up collections two or three a year for missions seemed as if putting missions in the back ground. He would impress the people that they should give offerings weekly.

Miss Sophie Cameron rendered a solo entitled "Sometime, somewhere," in excellent voice and with splendid effect.

A collection was then taken up to defray the expenses of the convention.

OFFICERS OF THE LOCAL UNION.

The Secretary, Mr. W. F. Nelson, read the names of the officers for the ensuing year of the Peterborough local Union of Christian Endeavour:—Hon. President, Rev. E. F. Torrance; President, R. J. Colville; first Vice President, A. Hamilton; second Vice-President, H. Fife; Corresponding Secretary, A. J. Johnston; assistant Corresponding Secretary, Miss E. Glass; Treasurer, A. M. Morrison.

Rev. David Roddick, of Port Hope, then introduced the topic, "How to reach an interest in Christian Endeavour in relation to young men. He was the first to introduce a young people society in any church in Canada. At that time the society had no pledge, the backbone of success and prosperity of the modern Christian Endeavour Society, and it was called the Young Peoples' Society of Christian Work. We should look after the young men, they were the future hope and rising generation of our country. They were worth teaching, and before we can do anything for them, we must have the desire to win them for Christ and the church. Young men were the hope of the church and we must win them for Jesus, for they are soon to take a prominent place in the church and state. Over fifty per cent. of the members of the church were converted before they were twenty years of age. He advised young men to think of the great heart of Christ overflowing with love and compassion for them. They were liable to many deep and vile temptations and they should have the gospel as a safeguard and shield against them. We must reach the young men by hand picking them, and when we reach them they are precious trophies in the sight of God. He believed the boys' society of Christian Endeavour was a mighty agency in winning young men for Christ and impressing upon them the love of Christ. If the church was not congenial to the youngest member, it was not what it ought to be. Christ reaches after the boys, for where there is life there is hope. Do not pursue one way of seeking souls, but use several ways and various means. How were young men to be interested in Christian Endeavour work? It was the very dream of enjoyment. There were joys in business, school and college, but the very highest pleasure was to work for Christ. Whatsoever we undertook we should do it with all our might. Place the responsibility—or at least a portion of it—on the young men. The new-born soul looks up and feeds on Christ. We should find work for all the members. We should impress the knowledge which we find in God's word upon the minds of young men. Many young men were in the dark, and many were given to doubt. These could only be drawn away by coming to the light of God's Word. We should study the means of instruction which we see all around us.

CLOSING PROCEEDINGS.

After a few remarks by Mr. Colville, the choir lead in the singing of "What a wonderful Saviour."

Miss Quinn, of Hazel Brae, then spoke a few words, urging upon all to work of Christ and fulfil the pledges of the society. She earnestly advised all to let has no opportunity to work for Christ.

A short consecration prayer meeting was then held, in which several members took part. Afterwards an experience meeting was held and several testified to the power of Christ to save from sin, and the blessing and profit the convention had been to them. "God be with you till we meet again" was sung with a pathos and a vim, after which the Rev. Mr. Barker pronounced the benediction, and the first convention of the Peterborough County of Christian Endeavourers was brought to a close.

LIST OF DELEGATES.

Methodist Mission Church.

A meeting of representatives of the George street and Charlotte street Methodist churches was held in the office of Mr. A. L. Davis yesterday to consider the building of a Methodist Mission church in the south ward, and Messrs. D. W. Dumole, H. C. Stabler, J. L. Hughes and A. L. Davis were appointed a committee to select a suitable site, the committee to report at a meeting to be held next Monday.

Secure Tickets for Boscovitz.

We again remind our readers of the great Hungarian pianist, Fredrick Boscovitz's concert, which will take place at Bradburn's Opera House on Thursday evening, April 21st. Tickets, reserved seats, 50c, may be secured at Schofield's drug store, from this date. The Paris, France, Figaro, of May 10th 1891, said:—Mr. Boscovitz gave his lecture, "An hour with the Spinet, Harpsichord and Pianoforte," to a crowded house, at the Salle Erard. Taking us back to the 15th century, he brings us to a period of Handel in a most delightful way, and his entertainment may well be called "A Dream of the Past." Secure your seats early for the greatest musical treat of the season.

Another.

On Monday morning about three o'clock, a couple of workmen, with a horse and wagon, had a very narrow escape from death at one of the many level railway crossings. They were driving along Reid street, and were just on the crossing, when a south bound G. T. R. freight passed. The engineer, it is averred did not whistle nor ring a bell, and the rapidly gliding train passed within a few inches of the hind wheels of the wagon. A box car, lying fully half way across the street, obstructed the view of the crossing from the road. A few more coroner's inquests are probably required to direct attention to the great danger that exists from fast trains and unprotected crossings.

A Faithful Servant Rewarded.

A presentation of an address and a substantial token of regard to Mr. Owen Curran, by his fellow employees of the Grand Trunk, is a fitting recognition of long and faithful service. For thirty two years Mr. Curran, night watchman in the engine shops of the Grand Trunk here, has been in the employ of the company, which has no more faithful, steady and reliable man on its pay roll. His many friends congratulate him on the recognition of his services and the possession of the sterling qualities that justified it.

Meeting of Miners.

A meeting of the syndicate of those interested in the silver mine property in Frontenac County, was held last evening at the office of A. P. Poussette, Q. C. Those present were: Judge Weller (chairman), A. P. Poussettee, George Edmison, Thomas Brooks, J. W. Taylor, George Stevenson, Alex. Elliott, J. W. T. Fairweather, A. V. R Young, W. H. Manning, J. W. Butcher, Frank Bell, H. LeBrun, J. E. McIntyre and Mr. Ireland, discoverer of Myers' Cave. The evidences produced were such as to satisfy all of the practical development of the mine. Work will be proceeded with at once. Another meeting will be held shortly.

A "Century" Bicyclist.

Mr. Walter H. Thomas, of the Toronto Bicycle Club and the "Century" Road Club completed his second 100 miles spin of the season here last night. He covered the distance from Toronto to Peterborough—91 miles—in 10½ hours. He started at 7 a.m., took two hours en route for luncheon and rest. Mr. Thomas easily completed his 100 miles within the sixteen hours by riding out the remaining nine miles on the street here. He would have made the time from Toronto to town much sooner but for the difficult nature of the last thirty miles, against a stiff head wind, between here and Port Hope. In a day or two Mr. Thomas will complete his third century by riding from Trenton to Toronto—102 miles.

Honorably Acquitted.

Mr. David Doig was in the police court this morning, charged with purchasing iron castings which he knew to be stolen. County Crown Attorney Wood said he thought it desirable to withdraw the charge as Mr. Doig had always borne an honest character, and no blame could be attached to him in the present transaction. The defendant was engaged in an honest business, and it was hard to find out where the iron and bones which he bought always came from. The magistrate acquitted Mr. Doig and concurred in the remarks of the counsel. He advised him to be careful when purchasing iron from little boys, to ascertain where it was obtained. Mr. Doig stated that if any one informed him not to buy any iron from certain boys he would do it. He never bought any new iron to his knowledge and was as careful as he could be.

Y. M. C. A. Notes.

The young men's rally Saturday evening was well attended, and much interest was manifested. Many bright testimonies were given. The singing was very helpful, the orchestra rendering good service in leading the same.

Mr. J. H. Heal led the Bible study and consecration service in a very profitable manner to all present. It was good to be there.

The personal purity meeting Sunday afternoon was addressed by Mr. Harry Kennedy, who gave a very thoughtful and practical address, and was followed by Mr. E. A. Hardy, B.A., Lindsay, in a short, pointed and helpful talk. We regret there were not more present to enjoy the feast provided. The Y. M. C. A. band led the singing very effectively.

Sunday evening the hall was crowded at the gospel and song service. Messrs. W. S. Leslie, Toronto, and E. A. Hardy, B. A., Lindsay, gave two very impressive gospel addresses, which were opportune, and which will result in much blessing.

A Terpsichorean Entertainment.

The Second Annual Ball of the Peterborough Iron Moulder's Union held in the Opera House last Night was a Grand Affair.

The first ball of the season and the second one given under the auspices of the Peterborough Iron Moulder's Union, No. 191, was given in the Opera House last evening. The success of the affair and the crowning glory of the evening is due to the untiring energy and indefatigable perseverance of the managing committee composed of Messrs. Joseph Crowe (chairman,) J. L. O'Brien (secretary,) Geo. Ahearn, Robert Scott, Wm. Robertson, and John Johnson. For the festive occasion the Opera House was gaily and artistically decorated by Mr. Alfred Kingscote. Strung across the beautifully adorned stage was a white banner bearing that significant word "Welcome." Flags and banners and bunting hung around the walls and galleries in an endless yet beautiful profusion. The music by which the sprightly spirits and nimble feet tripped, was rendered by J. Butcher's orchestra, composed of nine excellent pieces. A hundred and thirty couples dotted the floor and went through the whirl of the many dance and the twirl of the labyrinthine waltz until five o'clock in the morning before the thirty dances on the programme were completed. Visitors were present from Toronto, Port Hope, Campbellford, Norwood, Millbrook, Lakefield and other places to worship at the Terpsichorean shrine. Mr. J. Coughlin was the efficient master of ceremonies and as the words of command fell from his lips, the happy throng moved with graceful and easy precision. During the evening refreshments were served in excellent style in the Opera House hall. Mr. Wm. Bowman had charge of the edibles and Mr. Wm. Overend was the caterer. During the evening Mr. Charles Grant, President of the Moulders Union, thanked all present for their attendance and expressed the hope that the evening would be one of excellent enjoyment to them. He congratulated the moulders upon the success of the evening's affair.

having 30 on her limbs, and being unable to walk. I had heard of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and bought a bottle, half of which cured entirely. Two years after, another child was afflicted as badly. I used the other half bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla with like results. About four years after, the child first afflicted was again tormented like Job, and I bought a bottle (on Sunday at that) and again a cure. I gave some of the medicine to a poor woman and two children; they were helped as were mine. Through a testimonial sent to C. I. Hood & Co., inquiries came from all the country, asking if it was a 'bona fide' testimonial, and of course I wrote all that it was, and have the knowledge of

In the art of Watch Repairing, there are many elements which go to make successful work. The cleaning and regulating is easily performed, but the replacing of any broken parts is far more difficult and it takes a workman of long experience and first class practical ability to make a new place which is as well finished and fitted as the original was. Easter Vestry Meetings.

Vestry Meetings at St. John's and St Luke's.

At the meeting of the Easter Vestry of St. John's the rector presided and Mr. W. Salisbury acted as Vestry clerk. After prayers the chairman pointed out that the affairs of the church generally were in a satisfactory state, indicating a gratifyingly progressive condition. There was an especially gratifying improvement in the financial condition.

The annual financial statement, was received and referred to the auditors, Messrs. R. Fair and W. Salisbury, to report at an adjourned meeting to be held a fortnight hence. Resolutions of thanks were adopted to the choir, Rev. Mr. Kenrick, and Mr. Clarke, organist, to the ladies of the chancel guild, to St. Andrews brotherhood and the ushers, for the valued services rendered in their several departments.

The chairman took occasion to remark upon the present satisfactory condition of the choir, whose members seemed to perform their duties as an act of devotion to the interests of the church.

OFFICERS ELECTED.

The following officers were elected:—

RECTOR'S CHURCH WARDEN—(re-appointed), Mr. G. A. Smith.

PEOPLE'S CHURCH WARDEN—(re-elected), Mr. Harry Rush.

SIDESMEN—Messrs Harry Long, F. L. Somerville, Jos. Mills and R. Fair.

A committe of ladies was requested to act as a committee to solicit envelope contributions.

At the conclusion of the Vestry meeting a congregational meeting was held and the following gentlemen were appointed lay delegates to Synod:—His Honour, Judge Weller, Dr. Boucher and Dr. Halliday.

ST. LUKE'S EASTER VESTRY.

The annual Easter vestry meeting of St. Luke's, Ashburnham, was held last evening, the Rev. J. W. McCleary presiding. Those present were: Messrs. J. Burnham, H. T. Strickland, H. C. Rogers, A. Ingram, R. Barfield, Wm. Manicee, Mark Curtis, H Fitch, E. A. Peck, S. Gaskins and others. After routine, the churchwardens presented their annual report and financial statement for the past year, showing a balance due the churchwardens of $35 34. The financial statement was referred to Messrs. F. Adams and R. B. Rogers for audit, who investigated the accounts and reported them correct. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: Mr. H. T. Strickland by the vestry, and Mr. John Burnham by the rector, were re-appointed churchwardens. Messrs. H. C. Rogers and F. Adams were re-elected assistant churchwardens. Messrs. A. Ingram, F. Adams, W. Manicee, F. Packenham and B. Orde were re-elected sidesmen. The Finance Committee appointed were: Messrs. J. Heap, B. Orde, Nimmo, Mills, Tivey, Peck, Jameson, F. Adams, R. B. Rogers, H. C. Rogers, Nesbitt, Ingram, McFadden and R. Manicee. The delegates to Synod are the church wardens and Mr. H. C. Rogers.

Rev. Mr. McCleary then retired and the chair was taken by Mr. H. C. Rogers. Mr. Burnham presented a letter from Mr. McCleary which stated that owing to the uncertain condition of his health he had found it necessary to tender his resignation to the Bishop.

The following committee was appointed to arrange in reference to the appointment of a successor, and report to the congregation at a meeting to be called for that purpose:—Messrs. H. C Rogers, (chairman,) H. T. Strickland, J. Burnham, E. A. Peck, F. Adams, A. Dawson, H. Nesbitt, R. W. McFadden, F. J. Jameson, M. Curtis, W. Manicee and R. B. Rogers. A resolution was adopted directing the church wardens to pay the rector's taxes, which under the recent change in the law, he had been called to pay upon the parsonage, amounting to $42.

A Fifty Million Combination.

To Make Electric Goods in Canada for the Outside World.

The Montreal Witness says:—"A Thomson-Houston authority to-day smiled at the notion expressed by Edison men that there is no amalgamation in Canada of the Edison and Thomson-Houston companies. 'If it is not now united it soon will be,' said he He also stated that when the union of the two companies took place in Canada their factory in Peterborough would make goods not only for the Canadian but for the foreign market. "Just you fancy what it will be to have a combination with $50 000 000 at its back making goods in Peterborough for outside use. They find that they can make goods cheaper in Peterborough for the foreign market than they can in the United States. Of course they will do it. As to such a combination in the United States remaining apart in Canada is absurd."

Zopyrus.

An Old Persian Nobleman.

Zopyrus was a nobleman of Persia, who, when Darius had long besieged Babylon in vain, maimed himself by cutting off his nose and ears, and fled to the Babylonians; they, being moved with pity, and taking him to bear a deadly hatred to the king, made him their general; and he, taking a convenient time, delivered the city to his master, who gratefully said, "he would rather have Zopyrus whole than take twenty Babylons."

Strange as it is but all too true, that even at the present time we have men and women around us who prefer wealth, name, position and rank to strong and rugged health. How can a sane mortal enjoy the wealth and luxuries of this world, when he or she is enchained with disease and suffering? Riches possessed by such individuals seem to mock their possessors owing to their incapacity, weakness and misery. Health, without lands and gold is still wealth, it is true life, peace and contentment.

Could every wealthy sufferer realize the fact that weakness, nervousness, sleeplessness, morbidness, moroseness, dyspepsia, indigestion, rheumatism and bad blood can be swept away by the use of Paine's Celery Compound, they would not hesitate a moment about using it. With many, who doubt, the reason seems to be that the remedy is too simple—the treatment is not complicated enough, and the cost is too insignificant. They look for something more costly and elaborate. This, of course, can be had by placing themselves under the long suffering care of some physicians. The end of such a course, what does it mean? Often, very often it means failure and death. Paine's Celery Compound is simple, but it is effective—strong—powerful—mighty to cure.

There is no royal road to health for the wealthy; they must submit to the same agent that works with such great power on their poorer brethen.

It is with pleasure that we note the fact, that our best and wealthiest people are now making Paine's Celery Compound a family medicine. It has been found honest, and worthy of confidence as a true life restorer.

THE CANADA LIFE ASSURANCE CO'Y.

Forty-Fifth Annual Meeting of the Great Institution.

Remarkable Record for the Past Year—The Annual Report—Election of Directors.

The 45th annual meeting of the greatest of Canadian insurance institutions, the Canada Life Assurance Company, was held to-day in the board room of the Company's head office in Hamilton. There were present a gathering of the representative men of Canada, men whose names are known all over the country for solidity and business ability, with Mr. G. A. Ramsay, president of the company, presiding over the deliberations. The meeting was a most harmonious and eminently satisfactory one.

Mr. Ramsay took the chair shortly after 12 o'clock, with Mr. Roland Hills as secretary of the meeting.

President Ramsay submitted the following:

REPORT BY THE BOARD OF DIRECTORS OF THE CANADA LIFE ASSURANCE COMPANY, SUBMITTED TO THE ANNUAL GENERAL MEETING OF SHAREHOLDERS, HELD AT HAMILTON ON THE 5TH OF APRIL, 1892:

The business of 1891, being the company's 45th year, was again highly favourable. The new assurances applied for were 2,507 in number, and $5,929,088 in amount. Of these, 136 for $279,500 were declined, the lives not appearing to reach that standard of eligibility which it is in the best interest of our assurers should be maintained. Of the balance of $5,669,588, upon 2,371 lives, which were accepted by the directors, 204 for $414,562 were not carried out, leaving the actual new assurances of the year $5,255,021 under 2,167 policies, with a new annual income premium of $178,191.06.

At 31st December last there were in force $56,218,318.03 of assurances and bonus additions, upon 19,563 lives, under 26,484 policies.

The statement of receipts and payments, and the abstract of assets and liabilities, herewith submitted, show that the income of the year was $2,213,096.27, and that the assets amounted to $12,074,124 87, having being increased during the year by $1,041.684 78.

The death claims for the year were upon 192 lives under 243 policies for $511,879.11, including profits, a sum considerably under that of the previous year, 1890, when the amount was a good deal affected by the epidemic of la grippe which then prevailed, and its results.

The business at the various branches has been generally well sustained, and having last year alluded to anticipations of successful progress at the Michigan branch, it may be mentioned that these have been largely realized.

In compliance with the company's charter the following directors retire by rotation, but are eligible for re-election: The Hon. Sir Alexander Campbell, K. C. M. G., Toronto; Andrew Allan, Esq., Montreal, and Thomas Swinyard, Esq., New York State.

PRESIDENT RAMSAY'S REMARKS.

Mr. A. G Ramsay moved the adoption of the annual report. In so doing he reviewed carefully and ably, the business of the year. He said:—

I beg to move the adoption of the directors report now before you, and although the statements which it, and the published accounts, which have been in your hands for some days, so clearly indicate the success of the past year's business, and the sound position of the company, that I need take up but little of the time of this annual meeting in adverting to them, it may be interesting. I dare say, that I draw your attention shortly to some of the features which these documents disclose. The new business of the past year amounted, you will see to $5,255,021, a sum so nearly approaching the best year we have ever had that I think we may well congratulate you upon it. It has happily been our good fortune each year for so long to be able to make a somewhat similar statement that I fear it may appear a somewhat monotonous one, for which, however, I need offer no apology. You will have noticed that the total assurances in force at the close of 1891 were $56,218,318, an amount which suggests a very large measure of public support and confidence in the company. The income continues to largely increase, and it amounted last year to $2,218,096, more than twice as much as it was ten years ago, and nearly seven times what it was twenty years ago. With the possibility of a corresponding progress in the future we may well be encouraged to continue that caution and care in the direction and in the management of the company's affairs, which in the past have made the Canada Life's name synonymous with that of integrity, liberality and stability. The large addition of over $1,000,000 was added to the companys assets last year, making them $12,074,124, or about twice what they were only seven years ago. While difficulty in obtaining satisfactory investments as they were wanted was experienced during the year, every effort and the best judgment of the board were exercised so as to make that difficulty as little felt as possible.

As you are well aware, there has of late years been a gradual reduction in the rate of interest obtainable on the best class of securities, and while our Company is of course affected by that, in common with all others, every exertion is made to diminish as far as we can any loss in that way.

The death claims during 1891 were $511,873, being a lower amount than they had been in 1890, when, largely by the grippe epidemic, they reached $603,184.

The statment of receipts and payments shows that during 1891, $316,370 was paid to policy-holders as profits, a return of nearly 20 per cent. of the year's premiums paid to the Company, a percentage of profits on premiums paid so rarely reached by other companies as to lead us to press upon intending assurers the advantages which our Company offers in that respect. In alluding to that I am very glad indeed to have the opportunity of saying that by the courtesy of the Superintendent of Insurance we were yesterday favoured with the result of the Government's quinquennial valuation of our Company's affairs. It shows that over and above the full reserve we are required by the Government of Canada to hold, and all liabilities, we have on hand a large profit surplus such as indicates no diminution in the Company's profit-making powers. You have been informed by the Director's Report of the generally favourable progress of the Company's various branches, and the efforts of our Managers and Agents are well deserving of our thanks and encouragement. Special allusion has been made to the branch established by the Company, in Michigan in 1890. Because it being somewhat of an experiment, you would naturally desire to hear specially as to it. I am very pleased to be able to say that the progress of the branch is so satisfactory as to have last year placed the Company in the fourteenth position, in point of new assurances, out of 32 companies doing business in the State. For a great deal of our success in Michigan, we are indebted to the support of the prominent and influential gentlemen who have been good enough to aid us by acting upon our Board of Reference. I am glad to tell you that we have entered upon the year 1892 with the most encouraging prospects. The new business up to the present date far exceed that of any previous year, and I trust that at our next meeting we may be able to again record a continuance of such prosperity as has already been so satisfactory to you and to our various policy-holders.

VICE-PRESIDENT GATES' REMARKS.

Mr. F. W. Gates, Vice-President of the Company, seconded the adoption of the report. In doing so he said:—

Mr. Chairman and gentlemen.—When it is borne in mind that there has been no perceptible improvement in business generally throughout the country during the past year, I think we must be compelled to admit that the statement which has been presented to-day ought to be considered highly satisfactory. It is true that the company might have done a much larger amount of business than has been done if we had been less scrupulously careful in the acceptance of risks which have been applied for. As the report shows, and as the president has pointed out, many applications have been rejected. We have exercised the greatest care in this matter in order that the company and the insured alike might be fully protected. We did not indulge in the extravagances which some companies have in order to increase our business, but have rather followed a policy of careful management in the interest of the company. I well remember some years ago that the president in his address referred with a good deal of pleasure to the fact that we had an income of $1,000 a day; now it is $7,000 a day, and it was easy then to invest $1,000 a day. It is not so easy to invest $7,000 now, even with the lower rate of interest. I may again refer to the remarkably small losses, and again congratulate the company upon that state of affairs. I have much pleasure, gentlemen, in seconding the motion for the adoption of the report.

President Ramsay put the motion, which was carried unanimously.

THANKS TO PRESIDENT AND DIRECTORS.

Mr. Byron E. Walker moved a vote of thanks to the President and Directors for their attention to the interests of the company during the year.

In offering the motion Mr. Walker said:—It gives me very great pleasure indeed to propose the thanks of the shareholders to our President and Directors. Reference has been made to the growth and success of the Canada Life in the past, and I consider that they are largely due to the excellent management. The big companies in the United States are beginning to realize that it may be possible to do too much business, but I am sure that if the policy which has been pursued by the Canada Life in the past is adhered to, another ten years of our career will show corresponding prosperity. I hope that our President may long be spared to direct the affairs of the company, and that he may have the advice and co-operation of such men as now constitute the directorate.

Mr. Henry McLaren—Mr. President and gentlemen, I have very much pleasure in seconding the motion.

The motion was put and carried unanimously, amid applause.

President Ramsay replied:—I expect that I shall have to reply to the motion you have just passed I thank you very much indeed for the resolution and for the kind expressions it contains of. I believe I can confidently say that every one of the Directors has done all that was in his power to further the interests of the company.

THREE DIRECTORS ELECTED.

The Hon. Mr. Justice Burton moved the appointment of Messrs. W. F. Findlay and Campbell Farrie as scrutineers of votes for the election of Directors in the room of the three retiring, and that the poll shall now be opened, and closed upon five minutes elapsing without a vote being tendered.

Mr. Matthew Leggat seconded the motion, which was carried.

The voting took a good deal of time, and while the ballots were being counted other business was proceeded with. The election resulted in the choice of Hon. Sir Alexander Campbell, K.C. M. G., of Toronto, Mr. Andrew Allan, of Montreal, and Mr. Geo. A. Cox, of Toronto. The last named gentlemen will take the place of Mr. Thomas Swinyard on the Board, the other two gentlemen being re-elected.

The usual votes of thanks were passed, and at a meeting of the directors subsequently held, Mr. A. G. Ramsay was re-elected President, and Mr. F. W. Gates, Vice-President.

"German Syrup"

Here is something from Mr. Frank A. Hale, proprietor of the De Witt House, Lewiston, and the Tontine Hotel, Brunswick, Me. Hotel men meet the world as it comes and goes, and are not slow in sizing people and things up for what they are worth. He says that he has lost a father and several brothers and sisters from Pulmonary Consumption, and is himself frequently troubled with colds, and he often coughs enough to make him sick at his stomach. Whenever he has taken a cold of this kind he uses Boschee's German Syrup, and it cures him every time. Here is a man who knows the full danger of lung troubles, and would therefore be most particular as to the medicine he used. What is his opinion? Listen! "I use nothing but Boschee's German Syrup, and have advised, I presume, more than a hundred different persons to take it. They agree with me that it is the best cough syrup in the market."

Yardmaster Bowman Killed.

NIAGARA FALLS, ONT., April 18.—Thomas J. Bowman, night yardmaster of the Michigan Central at Victoria, was run over and killed in the yards at that place Saturday evening. He had started to walk over the top of a moving train when he fell between two cars, and was instantly killed by the train passing over his body. He was born in Conneaut, O., about 53 years ago. At an early age he began railroad work, taking service with the Philadelphia and Erie. He ran the first train on the Falls division of the Michigan Central. In 1875 he moved to Buffalo, where he engaged in business till 1880, when he accepted a position as conductor on the Michigan Central and moved to St. Thomas, Ont. Five years later he entered the employ of the Huron and Erie, and four years ago came back to Buffalo. Since that time he has been yardmaster of the Michigan Central at Victoria.

Inside History of Bismarck's Fall.

HAMBURG, April 18. Prince Bismarck's newspaper organ, The Hamburger Nachrichten, says that there was at one time a proposal that Bismarck was to resign the offices of Prussian Premier and Imperial Foreign Minister, which were to be taken respectively by Count von Caprivi and Count Herbert Bismarck, the prince remaining Imperial Chancellor. The scheme offered so many difficulties that it was abandoned and Bismarck was dismissed. This is interesting in view of Caprivi's recent resignation of the Prussian Premiership.

The Shot Proved Fatal.

LONDON, Ont., April 18. Fred Wilson, the boy who was accidentally shot by a companion yesterday, succumbed to his injuries at the hospital here about noon Sunday. The bullet had struck a vital part.

Discount was in moderate demand in London during the week. Money was firmer early in the week, but Saturday cheap money again ruled owing to the payment of half-yearly coupons of Egyptian bonds. On the stock exchange business was extremely limited.

Arthur Blackmore, a lithographer in the employ of the Richmond Lithographing Co., Buffalo, who resides at Victoria, Ont., where he sleeps and eats his breakfast and supper, merely partaking of his dinner—which he carries with him at Buffalo, was deported across the border as an alien yesterday.

Annie Saisio, condemned to death at St. Petersburg for murdering her husband, has confessed that she substituted capsules of strychnine for capsules of quinine, which her husband was in the habit of taking. She then kissed him and put pillows over her head in order not to hear his screams when dying. Her husband's life was insured for $2500.

Rev. Dr. Armstrong of Moore, who makes a business of importing young Englishmen with money and planting them on Canadian farms, has got hold of a real nobleman, Count Loubens de Verdal of France, whom he proposes to initiate into the mysteries of manure drawing and cow punching. The nobleman arrived in London last week.

In North Verulam Township, Ont., Farmer Andrew Findlay was partaking of dinner and ate some cold meat. Noticing it was bitter Mr Finlay ejected the mouthful, which his dog ate and died in five minutes. Finlay was seized with cramps and almost followed the dog to the happy hunting grounds before a mustard emetic relieved his stomach of the strychnine. Walker, the hired man, is now in jail charged with attempting to poison his employer.

The Neglect of Languages.

The present system of linguistic education gives the most unsatisfactory results. Languages are first very laboriously and very imperfectly learned, and then generally abandoned in after-life. Even the learned themselves rarely pursue them unless they have some special reason for doing so connected with their professional business. Modern languages are neglected almost as much as the ancient when they are not wanted for business purposes or travel. An Oxford man who is a ripe Italian scholar tells me that young ladies in England invariably give up thier Italian after leaving school, as young men throw aside their Latin. University degrees are evidence of past labor, but not of interest, affection, or facility. Lord Dufferi said that although he had taken a degree he could not really read Greek until he had learned it over again for himself, and in his own way. An English judge who had taken his degree at Cambridge told me that he could not make out Greek in mature life, even with the help of the lexicon. A fellow of the French university, a prizeman specially for Latin in a severe competitive examination, told me that he should never think of reading Latin for his pleasure—he did not know it well enough. An English professor, reputed to be one of the best Latin scholars in his own country, gave up Latin and Greek entirely when he turned his attention to modern laugnages. The principal of a French college once confessed to me that he never read Latin or Greek, which were taught in the place by the specialist masters under him. All these are what are called "learned men," certainly educated men. What, therefore, are we to expect from the half-educated?—Philip Gilbert Hamerton, in the April Forum.

Cultivation of Forests.

A forest is like any other crop in its growth and development. After it reaches maturity it begins to decay, and if not interferred with, growth and decay will just about balance each other, and no progress or increase of crop can follow. The true way is to cut the timber as fast as it is fit, thinning exactly the right distance apart as may be, permitting the young timber to come as fast as the natural timber is removed. It would take many years to get a forest in just the right condition; but when once fairly started, no other known crop can be made to yield so large a profit.—Farm, Field and Stockman.

Cardinal Taschereau Ill.

QUEBEC, April 18. Alarming reports are current respecting the condition of Cardinal Taschereau. His physical strength appears to be unimpaired, but there are indications that his mental balance is gradually becoming unstrung.

Fell Dead at His Work.

ST. CATHARINES, April 18.—Mr. Gage Casselman, aged 33, a well-known resident of Virgil, died very suddenly on Friday when at work. He was a blacksmith by trade and while working in his shop accidentally ruptured a blood vessel leading to the brain, and he fell dead.

O, woman, despairing and wretched,
Dreading, yet longing to die,
Hear the glad chorus that rises,
Filling the dome of the skies!

"Sisters, be glad, there's help to be had;
No longer be miserable, gloomy and sad;
Lest health regain," rings out the refrain,
"Poor creatures, be healthy and happy again."

How? By taking Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, the world's greatest remedy for all kinds of diseases peculiar to women. It brings back tone and vigor to the system weakened by those distressing complaints known only to women, which make life such a burden. It restores relaxed organs to a normal condition. It fortifies the system against the approach of diseases which often terminate in untold misery, if not in death—which is preferable to the pain and torment of living, in many instances. It is the great gift of scientific skill and research to women, and for it she cannot be too grateful. It cures her ills when nothing else can. It is guaranteed to give satisfaction or price ($1) returned. Absolutely sold on trial! b

Blood Will Tell.

Good blood will show its quality. So will bad blood, the one in a healthy body and ruddy complexion, the other in ill health, blotches, pimples, boils and sores, and frequently in intenser forms as ulcers, abscesses erysipelas, scorfulous diseases, salt rheum, etc. Every organ of the body depends upon the blood for force and vitality, and is but scantily served when the blood is impure. No remedy is so potent as a blood purifier or more rapidly produces new and healthy blood than Burdock Blood Bitters, which neutralizes the various poisons and restores the vitalizing power of this all important fluid. As an instance of this read what Mr. J. S. Neff, of Algoma Mills, Ont., says in a recent letter:

SIRS,—A year ago I was troubled with spots breaking out all over my body, the effect of bad blood. I consulted three different doctors, who gave me medicine but did not cure me. I was advised to try B.B.B., and after using two bottles I noticed the spots getting less. I continued to use B.B.B., which entirely cured me, giving me also a splendid appetite. Since then I would use no other medicine.

POSTPONED TILL NEXT TERM

The Connolly Conspiracy Trial Put Off All the Books Seized at Quebec.

OTTAWA, April 19.—The legal fight between Uncle Thomas and Nick Connolly on the one side and the Government on the other, which opened in the Assize Court yesterday before Judge MacMahon, ended in a draw, McGreevy and Connolly carrying their point for a postponement until next term, but only on the condition that all the books grabbed at Quebec, which are not the personal property of the Connollys or McGreevy, shall be restored to the Government and all the books of the firm placed in the custody of Sam Blake within three weeks on the understanding that Mr. Osler is to have access to them for preparing the civil suits.

Immediately after the judge's charge to the grand jury, which, by the way, contained no allusion to the conspiracy case, Mr. Blake asked for a postponement on the ground of Perley's illness. Affidavits by Nicholas Connolly and Dr. Cousens were read in which it was stated that Mr. Perley was improving in health but was not able to attend court, and the motion for postponement was made. Mr. Osler opposed it, but after some argument the motion was granted on conditions named above. This will admit of the civil suits being decided in the meantime, and these civil suits are understood to be the real reason why a postponement was asked, for, if Larkin, Connolly & Co win them, as they confidently expect to, the criminal suits against McGreevy and Connolly will practically break down. If the Exchequer Court decides that Larkin, Connolly & Co. owe the Government nothing it will be hard to convince a jury that there was a conspiracy. On the other hand the defendants are taking big chances, for if the court decides against them in the civil suits and the Government gets judgment for half a million dollars Uncle Thomas and Nick may not think it worth their while to risk a trip to the penitentiary, but may join Bob McGreevy and Owen Murphy in New York.

The next case called was that of Arnoldi, and in this a postponement was also granted, this time at the request of the Government, on account of the absence of an important witness. This is Wilson, the Montreal man in whose name the admiral of the Joe made out the accounts for hire. Wilson has gone to England.

Talbot and Larose have not yet asked for a postponement, and it looks as if these little fish are the only ones who stand any chance of being caught in the meshes of the law this term.

Hon. Mr. Chapleau returned to the city Monday after nearly three months' absence. He looks fairly well and states that he is ready to go into harness again.

TEN MEN KILLED.

Frightful Explosion at a Glycerine Factory Near Newark, N.J.—The Superintendent and Many Employes Slain.

NEWARK, N.J., April 19. Hector Decastro & Co.'s powder mills, near the landing station of Lake Hopakong, blew up at 3.30 this afternoon. Ten men were killed, among them Superintendent Smith, who was in charge of the buildings and works.

The report of the explosion was terrific. Buildings in the vicinity rocked on their foundations.

The main building of the works was completely torn asunder. Huge pieces of timber were sent flying through the air and landed hundreds of feet distant from the wrecked building.

The nitro-glycerine mill was the first building to blow up. Within a few minutes afterwards six other buildings were rent by terrible explosions.

NEARLY $200,000.

What the Bait Act of '91 is Said to Have Cost Newfoundland.

HALIFAX, N.S., April 19.—A St. John's, N.F., despatch says the Bait Act of last year cost the colony $20,000 more than in 1889, and that "as no fees were exacted from Americans, and the Canadians were prevented from coming to our shores for bait, we lost in license fees and light dues a sum of fully $20,000 which would have been contributed to the revenue of the colony.

"Besides the loss to the revenue there has been a loss to the people of more than $80,000 that they would have obtained from the sales of their bait and ice. At the lowest it is a total loss to the colony of from $120,000 to $200,000."

He Is Larger Than Jumbo.

NEW YORK, April 19.—Rajah, a big elephant, who came from East Indian ports on the steamer City of Bangkok, reached this city this morning. He came from Rangoon, is about 40 years of age, and is said to measure 11 feet 11½ inches in height, or two inches more than Barnum's famous Jumbo, who was imported from England and was killed in a railroad accident at St. Thomas, Ont.

Prince Michael Waives Examination.

DETROIT, April 19. Prince Michael was arraigned in the Police Court this morning on the charge of adultery. He pleaded not guilty and waived examination to the Recorder's Court. Judge Haug refused to take bail.

The writ of habeas corpus for the dismissal of Bernice Bickle was dismissed.

SATISFIED DEEMING IS SANE.

He Says That Without a Lawyer He Can Prove His Innocence.

MELBOURNE, April 19.—The Medical Board that has examined the murderer Deeming as to his sanity pronounces him mentally sound and perfectly responsible for all his actions. The statement that Deeming was mad when a boy and committed the murders at Rainhill and Windsor while suffering from instictive insanity received no credence from the board.

Deeming maintains his indifference and continues to talk of what he will do when he goes back to England. He said to-day that without the help of a lawyer he could convince any jury if he tried that he was an innocent man. He ate heartily, saying that he does not intend to go into a decline because the authorities keep him in jail a few weeks.

A chaplain was admitted to him Friday. Deeming told him he did not care much for religion, as the woman who got him in trouble by her unfaithfulness (Miss Mather) was always reading her prayer book.

A London, Ont., Couple Divorced.

VICTORIA, B.C., April 19.—Justice Crease yesterday granted a judicial separation (with costs) to Beatrice Maria Green from her husband, Rev. J. Wastie Green, on the ground of cruelty, violent and offensive language and habitual drunkenness.

In the case of Welsh v. Welsh and J. O'Flaherty as co-respondent. Mr. Justice Crease granted a rule nisi to bring it up six months hence at the same hour and place. The petitioner, H. H. Welsh, was born in London, England, where he married the respondent in July, 1887. He came with his wife to London, Ontario, in January, 1890, and in May of the same year came to New Westminster, where he at present resides. While there he had information of his wife's improper relations with the co-respondent, O'Flaherty, and took proceedings with the view of obtaining a divorce on the grounds of adultery and desertion. A commission took evidence in London, Ont., where the fact of her intimacy with O'Flaherty was clearly proved, as also that she now lived in Port Huron under the name of "Nellie Howard."

Fell From an Electric Light Pole.

HAMILTON, April 19.—Samuel Williams, a lineman in the employ of the Electric Light Company, fell from a pole on which he was working in King-Hughson-streets yesterday and alighted upon his head on the pavement 30 feet below. When picked up blood was gushing from his nose and mouth, and a large gash in his forehead was also bleeding freely. He was taken to the hospital, where his wounds were pronounced fatal. Besides the injuries from the fall, one finger of his right hand was badly burned from contact with a live wire. He complained of a slight giddiness in his head before climbing the pole, and it may have been that in falling he caught at the wire which he had just opened to make a connection and received the shock which burned his hand.

Behring Sea.

WASHINGTON, April 19.—The President sent a message to the Senate Monday transmitting the most recent correspondence on the subject of seal fisheries. It relates almost exclusively to negotiations between this Government and the Government of Great Britain in regard to the measures for the protection of the sealing industry pending the settlement by arbitration of the question of the jurisdictional rights of the United States in Behring Sea. It includes a modus vivendi agreement substantially the same as that of last year with an additional clause providing for indemnity for losses sustained by each Government in consequence of agreement. It was finally referred to the Committee on Foreign Relations.

Mrs. Rammage's Body Found.

MOOSOMIN, N.W.T., April 19.—The body of Mrs. Rammage, the woman who was lost in the snow storm of March, was found near the place near Cannington Manor where Mr. Evans reported to have left her. She will be buried to-day by the Salvation Army, of which she was a member.

Cut Her Throat.

QUEBEC, April 19.—Mrs. Leda Belland, aged 34 years, wife of Mr. Melville Dussault, wheelwright, Renaud-avenue, St. Sauveur, cut her throat this morning with a carving knife while temporarily insane. Her dead body was found by her husband lying on the floor of his workshop.

QUALITY and COST.

QUALITY is a small word, but it has a big meaning.
COST is a still smaller word, but, when consistent with quality, is in every case the first consideration—especially in the purchase of Dress Goods.

Our customers are daily realising the fact that in our Dress Goods Department, the HIGHEST quality and the LOWEST cost go hand-in-hand. Another advantage is the absolute NEWNESS of our stock. It isn't a rehash of last year's styles, however modern. The designs are the newest effects produced, with all the latest fashionable combinations of good taste.

Fancy a $16 costume being sold for $5! That's the benefit you reap by our extensive facilities in buying.

The attractions at our Millinery Parlours still keep up. In fact, you would think every day was an opening day. This may be attributed to our supplementary display of Pattern Hats and Bonnets, and later arrivals of Millinery Novelties, Jackets and Capes, Dress Silks and Fancy Dry Goods. The attraction is not only in the goods themselves, but in the BARGAINS OFFERED.

We can furnish a whole house from attic to drawing room, with new patterns of Carpets and Floor Coverings of all kinds; and we can also match the Carpets with Curtains, Draperies and Upholsteries of elegant designs in contrasting colours. Nothing is too high priced.

THE LATE MR. MACKENZIE

ELOQUENT TRIBUTES TO THE WORTH OF DECEASED

Parliament Adjourned Out of Respect to His Memory—Testimony From Sir John Thompson, Hon. Mr. Laurier and Hon. David Mills.

OTTAWA, April 20.—The proceedings in the House yesterday were exceedingly brief, lasting only twenty minutes, and consisted merely of the pro forma report of petition and the delivery of eulogies on the late Mr Mackenzie by Sir John Thompson, Hon. Mr. Laurier and Mr. Mills. The speeches were all exceedingly brief, Sir John occupying only three minutes, while Mr Laurier and Mr. Mills took five minutes each.

Sir John Thompson bore a manly testimony to Mr. Mackenzie's noble qualities as a statesman and as a man, and regretted that his personal acquaintance with him had not been of a more intimate character as Mr. Mackenzie had almost ceased to take an active part in politics before he (Sir John) became a member of the House of Commons.

Mr. Laurier, on rising to second the motion, showed signs of deep emotion and his usually clear and ringing voice trembled so that at times he was partially indistinct. He paid an eloquent and touching tribute to the memory of his old colleague and erstwhile leader, dwelling briefly on the many strong and sterling qualities which marked the character of the deceased statesman. He touched on Mr. Mackenzie's well-known devotion to what he considered his duty, and referred to the strong Puritan feeling that permeated his life. Briefly but tenderly, he dwelt on the years of suffering which Mr. Mackenzie had undergone, and marked the contrast between the death of Sir John Macdonald less than a year ago, who had been struck down suddenly while still in the height of life, and the slow wasting away of Mr. Mackenzie, to whom death at last must have been a relief. He very happily alluded to the fact that Mr. Mackenzie died early on Easter morning, that day of all days in the year which Christians regard as the anniversary of the great victory over death, and ended a brief but brilliant speech with a few touching words of sympathy for the bereaved members of the family.

Meetings of the two parties were held immediately after adjournment to make arrangements for attending the funeral. The Conservatives met in room 16 and appointed delegates from each of the provinces to represent the party at the funeral. The following telegram was drawn up and sent to Mrs. Mackenzie:

DEAR MADAME,—The Conservative members of the House of Commons of Canada have learned with deep regret of the death of their late distinguished colleague, the Hon. Alexander Mackenzie, and beg leave to tender you their heartfelt sympathy in this hour of your great sorrow. They desire to express their genuine appreciation of the many noble qualities that marked in your lamented husband the character of patriot and statesman, which will cause his name to live in the history of our country as one of Canada's best and truest friends.

Signed on behalf of our colleagues.

At the same time the Liberal Senators and members held their meeting in room No. 6, when this resolution of condolence was drawn up and despatched to Mrs. Mackenzie:

The Liberal members of the Senate and House of Commons assembling immediately after the adjournment of the House to-day tender to you their deep sympathy at the great loss the whole country has sustained by the death of your husband, their late leader, whose eminent public services form an honorable and unsullied page in the history of Canada.

A Corpse On the Driver's Seat.

RENFREW, Ont., April 20.—Robert Cameron, who lives about three miles from Renfrew, walked into the village yesterday afternoon. Returning home, when on the outskirts of the village, he was overtaken by a man with a buggy, whom he asked for a drive. Soon after taking his seat in the rig the driver heard a gurgling noise and on looking at Cameron saw that his face had become livid. This was followed by a deathly pallor and a moment afterwards the man was dead. The cause was attributed to heart failure.

THE ONTARIO TEACHERS

HOLD A SERIES OF MEETINGS IN TORONTO.

A Large Amount of Business Transacted—Good Work in the Sections—A Movement Towards Unity—Many Able Papers—Interesting Discussions—Valuable Suggestions.

TORONTO, April 20.—The Ontario Teachers Association opened their thirty-first annual convention yesterday morning in the Public Hall, Education Department. The Board of Directors met at 9 a.m. and transacted the routine business connected with the arrangement of the program. The association was called to order shortly after 10 by the president, Mr. William Macintosh, P.S.I., Madoc, and Mr. R. W. Doan, Toronto, in the secretary's chair.

The usual business over, Dr. I. J. Richard, Ph.D. of Brantford, presented the report of the Committee on Revision of the Constitution. This report recommended radical changes, involving a change of name to the Ontario Educational Association and an amalgamation of all branches of educational work into the one great association. On motion of Dr. A. P. Knight, Kingston Collegiate Institute, the discussion of the report was postponed till Thursday. Some discussion took place, the main difficulty being the relations the various special associations—modern languages, science, classical, mathematical, etc.—shall bear to the general association. The meeting then adjourned.

Several of the sections held short meetings for organization. After this, while in the public school section, Mr. S. B. Sinclair, B.A., of Hamilton, the president, delivered an able address on the influence of teachers' conventions upon the public school teachers' environment, and on the means of increasing the good influence exerted upon teachers by conventions. He welcomed the delegates that were strangers in the convention and urged them to take an active part in the proceedings on the ground that it would benefit the meeting and would interest individuals. He closed with a plea for specializing in convention work and sat down with hearty applause. The meeting then adjourned.

In the Afternoon.

The afternoon was devoted to the meetings of the various sections, the public school section as the most numerous having the public hall. After the treasurer's report had been read, showing receipts amounting to $721.04, and a balance on hand of $247.61, Rev. W. J. Somerville, M.A., of Owen Sound opened proceedings by reading an outspoken and valuable examination of County Model schools. While recognizing the valuable work done in the past, Mr. Somerville was of opinion that the time has come for greater strides. He held that at present the system is halfway between a mere theoretical training and a regular apprenticeship, and expressed himself in favor of making the Model school a supervising principal and amalgamating his functions with those of the inspector would reduce to a minimum the hurt done the school by the presence of the teachers in training, and give more efficient instruction. In the discussion, it was pointed out that much progress on these lines has already been made. Mr. Sinclair outlined a radical but thorough plan which is to meet the consideration of the association this morning.

Mr. W. Wilkinson, M.A., Brantford, then read a paper on "Character Training in Public Schools," strongly advocating moral training and discipline as a means of character formation.

There was but little discussion upon this and the meeting adjourned.

Among the Scientists.

The science section met in the afternoon and first heard an exceedingly interesting address from Dr. A. P. Knight, Kingston Collegiate Institute, entitled, "Peninsulas and Wood Hall." The first part of this paper was an unusually attractive sketch of the great biological schools of the United States, that of Peninsula being Agassiz's laboratory, the latter the one now existing. After a strong appeal for a similar biological laboratory for Ontario for the benefit of teachers and university men, Dr. Knight passed to some practical biological work which elicited high praise from those present. Prof. T. H. Smyth then read an able and technical paper upon "The Borderland of Physics and Chemistry," illustrating in many ways the light that each throws upon the other.

The Modern Language Association.

This section or association was remarkably well attended, the room assigned to it being too small, Vice-President G. A. Chase, B.A., in the chair. Vice-Chancellor Boyd, the honorary president, read his address, speaking strongly in favor of education in political functions and of British connection.

A paper on "American Speech and Standard English" was sent by F. H. Sykes, M.A., of Johns Hopkins University, Baltimore, and was read by Mr. J. H. Cameron of University College.

Mr. Sykes considers the peculiarities of American-English to be derived in great part from the provincialisms and dialectal forms imported from England with the first colonists. These peculiarities are largely confined to the colloquial speech, though they are not, and in the nature of things cannot be, entirely eliminated from the written language. A very large list of words can be given which have been created, or which is much more usual, modified from others, to designate objects and operations that are distinctively American. The phonetic differences between English and American speech were not treated in detail, as the subject is very extensive, but attention was called to the several important points, such as the nasal quality of the American voice, the bringing forward of the articulation from the throat and palate to the front of the mouth, the manner of forming the "r" and so on. This interesting paper closed with the words of Charles McKay, who thinks that "our noble speech promises to become the predominant language of civilization of the coming centuries, and is already heard like the morning drum beat of British power in every part of the globe."

Miss Eliza Balmer, B.A., then read an interesting paper upon the methods in use in German schools, it being remarked in the discussion which followed that considerable use is made of dancing. The association adjourned after several votes of thanks.

Classical Association.

The Classical Association met in a classroom at 2 p.m. and was opened by Mr. A. B. Nicholson, M.A., Lecturer in Philology Queen's University, with an excellent paper on "Aryan Culture Before the Separation." After insisting on the continuity of all history, ancient and modern, Mr. Nicholson directed the attention of his audience to the common origin of the Aryan or Indo-European family of nations and languages, and from the discourses afforded by the comparative study of languages drew a most interesting picture of the civilization of pre-historic ages. Their manner of living, their social customs, their progress in war, agriculture, pastoral life and their religious convictions can largely be ascertained from the comparison, and the speaker gave many instances of words found in enough of the related languages to prove that the objects they represent were known to the primitive people. The paper closed with a sketch of the transition from primitive culture to the later Greek civilization as shown in Homer.

Mr. J. Henderson, M.A., St. Catharines, read a paper on "The Matriculation Examination," in which he took up the cudgels on behalf of Greek in the High school course, especially urging the greater teaching of it in the lower forms and outlining on the blackboard a plan of study for primary and leaving examinations which would give Greek a better chance of being taken up early in the course. All present favored any feasible way of encouraging Greek, but many feared that the tendency of the proposed scheme would be the reverse—to drive pupils to moderns, and particularly science.

Notes.

The Mathematical Association met for a few moments and organized its program for the succeeding days.

There was perceptible a general struggle towards greater unity, and to-day and to-morrow the question will be answered. From the spirit shown it is likely that some kind of amalgamation will be tried.

A Good Night's Business.

In the evening two meetings were held; the science, modern language and classical associations combining in the library of the Canadian Institute, and the public school section in the Normal School. At the Canadian Institute, the lecture of the evening was by Mr. Seath, High School Inspector, on "University Matriculation." In it he showed the practical inferiority of the matriculation standard to that of the junior leaving examination, to which it is supposed to be assimilated, and made a strong plea for the raising the standard of matriculation, vigorously assailing the arguments advanced against this reform. He then submitted a scheme of study for primary and for senior and, junior leaving examinations, differing from the present plan in advocating the abolition of the supplemental matriculation, the compulsory amalgamation of the junior leaving and the matriculation examinations, and some details of obligatory and optional work. He was questioned a good deal, and fear was expressed by classical men that the study of Greek would be even more discouraged than at present, while the modern language men were alarmed for the safety of French. The meeting lasted for a long time, but finally adjourned, only to have a supplementary meeting held, in which the question of drawing closer to the Teachers' Association was discussed, the general feeling being earnestly in favor of general unity. Finally it was resolved to postpone the discussion till noon to-day.

The Public School Teachers

held their open meeting in the Public Hall at 8 p.m. Mr. Macintosh, the president, was in the chair, supported on the platform by the Hon. G. W. Ross. The president's address was the first thing on the program and in it Mr. Mackintosh acquitted himself well. He reviewed his 25 years' connection with the association and uttered an earnest appeal for unity of all educational interests so as to most increase the influence of the profession and to improve its position, instancing the great Educational Association of the United States.

The paper of the evening then came on, "Education in the Twentieth Century," by Mr. J. E. Bryant, M.A. Mr. Bryant went about his subject in a thorough manner, first treating of the intellectual and social trend of events, and concluding that the tendency is towards the securing of absolutely equal civil rights to every citizen and the greatest possible amount of local self-government. Then, after a review of the work of the 19th century, regarding it in the most roseate manner as the most wonderful period in mechanical progress with literature and religious and moral progress that the world has ever seen, Mr. Bryant proceeded to declare himself strongly in favor of the Socialistic idea. Outlining the present wretched condition of life he predicted a period of collectivism, somewhat resembling that outlined by Mr. Bellamy. From these premises he proceeded to assail the present university ideal of education, and to put forth a scheme of education, of a utilitarian type, in which he advocated a great reduction of arithmetic and grammar and a scheme of state-aided free university education, in which classics should be all but eliminated and moderns and science, elevated to the chief place.

A Miser's End.

MONTREAL, April 20.—Patrick O'Reilly, 81 years of age, who for the past 30 years has eked out a livelihood by picking up cigar ends and selling the dried tobacco to small storekeepers, died in the General Hospital last night. He was brought to the hospital on April 1 suffering from internal injuries, having been knocked down by a cart. He was clad in filthy rags, but would not allow his clothes to be taken away. A nurse accidentally discovered that the old man's hat was lined with bank bills. When she spoke about the matter he tried to scratch her eyes out, but only succeeded in badly marking her face. In one pocket a City and District Bank book was found, showing a deposit of $947.75. The account has been running since 1876. A will was also found leaving the money to St. Patrick's parish.

The Brantford Bigamy Case.

Three years ago Read deserted his first wife and six children and they have not heard from him since. The prisoner elected to be tried by magistrate.

The prisoner pleaded guilty to the charge and was remanded until Monday.

A Buffalo Murder.

BUFFALO, April 20.—Mrs. Edward Beaver was discovered dead in her bed yesterday at 2.10 o'clock, with her skull crushed in and an ax covered with blood lying beside her. She lived with her husband in three little rooms in the rear part of the house at 278 Carroll-street. Her husband is missing, and he it was that did the bloody deed. He is a lake fireman, and the crime was probably done Sunday night. Both husband and wife had been drinking.

An Undesirable Change.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

DEAR SIR,—There is no scarcity of rumour to the effect that the agencies of the Bank of Commerce and the Toronto Bank are to be removed, respectively, to the buildings popularly known as Dolan's corner and McClelland's corner. Now, as a citizen I beg to respectfully enter my protest. I admit the right of Messrs. Stevenson and Cox, to lease their property to whom they like, but from a citizen's and a public point of view I think the removal would be a mistake. Banks are for the accommodation of the merchants, and merchants who wish to do business with a bank do not object to going to a place not quite so public as the places above mentioned. A bank's business does does not necessarily demand so public a site as a mercantile business, and I doubt if the removal of either or both of the above banks, would add a dollar to their annual volume of business. I think it would be a shame to displace the enlivening business bustle, which now prevails, for the slow though eminently respectable and decorously dull aspect of a bank. Just fancy those places being closed at one o'clock on Saturday, and the present business brightness of Saturday night turned into shuttered blackness and gloom. This would be a big blow to the business briskness of the central portion of George street. I sincerely hope that the rumoured change of business will not be made, and I sure nine-tenths of the community will agree with a

Obituary.

The Late Thomas Shanahan, of Texas.

The following from a Jefferson, Texas, journal, refers to Mr. Thomas Shanahan, brother of Mr. Daniel Shanahan, Eanismore. Mr. Shanahan removed from Eanismore 26 years ago, and has never revisited that place. His was engaged in the mercantile business in Texas. The high esteem in which he was held is shown by the following extract from a Texas journal:—

On Thursday, December 17th, at 2 p.m., the pure spirit of Thomas Shanahan left its earthly abode and winged its way to heaven. The deceased was born in Ireland in 1845, and came to America when a child, and lived for a number of years in Canada. After the death of his father he came to Louisville, Kentucky, and graduated in the Bryant and Stratton College, and after graduating, married Miss Lauler in 1867, and moved to Jefferson, Texas, in 1870, where he resided up to the time of his death. He was a man of sterling qualities, generous and benevolent, a loving husband, kind father and a true friend. During his long and painful illness he was never known to complain, but was resigned to the will of God, and his peaceful death was an evidence of his Christian life. He was a devoted member of the Catholic church.

Jefferson has lost by his death a good citizen, and one who ever believed in her rehabilitation. He leaves a bereaved wife to whom we tender our heartfelt sympathy, and four children to mourn his loss. May they receive consolation in the fact that their loss was his gain, and that he is now enjoying that heavenly kingdom which God has promised to the pure in heart.

Our Ottawa Letter.

The Incubation of Electoral Inquity—Hatching the "Redistribution" Bill—The Burked Boodle Investigations—Sir John Thompson's Tactical Inconsistencies.

OTTAWA, April 18th.

Secretary of State Patterson and his fellow committeemen are still on the nest hatching out the big fighting bird of the session, the redistribution bill. They were just getting down to business before the Easter recess came on, if one may judge by the number of Tory wire-pullers coming into town. When the Gerrymander of 1882 was in preparation, its approaching birth was heralded by a most unusual stir among the numerous party workers all over Ontario. It may be that Mr. Patterson at that time learned so well the trade of draughting Acts of Parliament for "hiving the Grits" that he requires less assistance than before, or it may be that the real work has hardly been undertaken yet. Certain it is, whatever the cause, that there is not as much stir, so far, over the gerrymander of the whole Dominion, as there was in 1882 over the gerrymander by the Dominion Government, of the Province of Ontario. The Government has given a kind of promise that the bill shall be ready shortly after Easter. The way in which this whole affair is regarded is one of the many proofs of the fact that public opinion on political matters has got into a perfect slough of indifference to real questions. Our system of representation is about as clumsy and antiquated a machine as could well be contrived anyway. This I well illustrated by the fact that the change of a few hundred votes in close constituencies in bye-elections has completely altered the complexion of the House. The answer is ready

IN THE MOUTHS OF TORY PARTIZANS

that the Grits would like to get that advantage if they could, but even if this were true it would be but a poor argument to the mind of the man who is more interested in the people than in either of the parties. The fact is that the "Grits" seem to be about as blind to the real facts of the case as their opponents. If they had been alive to their rights as representatives of the people, the Liberal contingent would have demanded that this vitally important measure should be laid before the House in ample time for consideration. No excuse should be allowed. To say that the Government is too busy to look after the matter, would be about as reasonable as for a body of farm hands to say that they were too busy to harvest the crop at the proper time. Worse, for while the crop comes on whether labourers are ready are not, the Government commands its own seasons. If they were not ready with this, the most vital of all the measures since the Franchise Act, they had no right to call Parliament together. Judging by past experience and by the character of the men who have the matter in hand, this gerrymander will be to the former one as a self binding reaper to a sickle, with this addition—that it will get into all the corners as well as a pair of lawn shears would. Mr. Patterson is one of the most genial gentlemen in the House, but he has no more compunction about taking advantage of his opponents in a matter of this kind than a whist-player would in making the best use of his hand. He expects the other people to treat him in the same manner when they get a chance. Nearly, if not quite all, the though many of them do not redeem this defect in their character as public men by the courteous ways, personally, of the Secretary of State. It is all the more necessary that there should be some man on the Opposition side who will insist upon it, in the public interest, that the party system shall be run for the public benefit (which is the only excuse for its existence) and not wholly for the benefit of either or both the parties. Talking about gerrymanders, they tell a story about the great bill of 1882 which is not without interest. It may or may not be exactly correct; take it for what it is worth. Shortly before the bill came down, Mr C. W. Bunting, then M.P. for Welland, and a most violent Tory partisan came into the chamber one morning and engaged in chat with Mr. James Trow, then M.P. for South Perth. Mr. Bunting was one of those engaged in arranging the gerrymander and he was looked upon as the father of the scheme. "I'm sorry for you Trow" said the big man of the pulpit power; "you are not to be in the next Parliament." Mr. Trow knew that this was an indication that the attempt was to be made to kill him politically by the gerrymander. He put his hand in his pocket and pulled out a small paper. Unfolding this he held it up to Mr Bunting who saw that it was a one quarter draft for a thousand dollars. "See here Bunting" said the solid man from Perth, "I'll endorse that and put it in responsible hands for the benefit of any charity you like to name, if you'll put up the same amount, I to lose if I'm not the member for South Perth in the next House." The money was not covered. James Trow came back with flying colours; Bunting did not even get the nomination in his former constituency.

CONSERVATIVES TAKE THE SAME VIEW,

THE BOODLE INVESTIGATIONS.

The Government seems to be floundering along into greater and greater trouble over the boodle investigations. It was intimated in this correspondence last week that Sir John Thompson might be forced to re-consider his determination refusing a committee on the Edgar charges of boodling against Sir Adolphe Caron. The independent newspapers, including the Montreal Star, which is, in election times, one of the most serviceable of the Tory henchmen of the press, have shown themselves so savagely disappointed over Sir John's speech that he can have no doubt how his excuses will be received when he goes out on the stump to retail them to the people. More than that there are many Conservative members who do not like the idea of appearing as the apologist for corruption. Then there are the many French-Canadian Conservative factions all of whom unite against every other. Sir Adolphe's faction is about the weakest of the lot and the others would like to see it deprived of its leader. But, as if these things were not enough, Sir John himself has clumsily put himself in a position where he must either insist upon investigation or look like a fool. It happened the other day that Mr. Somerville read some papers reflecting upon Lt. Col. Denison, the member for Centre Toronto. Now the gallant colonel is the most insignificant man in the House except a few whose identity is lost in the gloom of the backmost benches. He denied the allegations at the time and not content with that,

HE CAME BACK TO THE POINT

on a later occasion and with much circumstantiality re-affirmed his denial and read papers in support of it which must have convinced everybody that he was in the right, particularly as the charges did not amount to much on their own merits. Mr. Somerville had previously protested that he did not intend to offend the Colonel or hurt his feelings, that he had only asked for an explanation and that so far as the explanation went he accepted it. But Sir John Thompson, was much hurt that the character of his friend and supporter had been impugned and threatened that if Mr. Somerville did not take back what he had said with all possible formality, he should have the choice between proving his charges and being expelled from the House. This little exhibition of temper was absurd enough in itself, but it is too unreasonably funny when contrasted with Sir John's attitude towards Mr. Edgar. Mr. Edgar, it will be remembered, has made charges against Sir Adolphe of boodling over a hundred thousand dollars of public money and spending it corruptly in elections. He asked for a chance to prove these charges. But Sir John Thompson's answer so far is that the privilege of investigation cannot be permitted until the charges are put down in more specific form. If Mr. Edgar insists upon writing the indictment to suit himself Sir John will have to let the beautiful Knight of Rimouski get along as best he can with this stain upon his escutcheon, while all the Liberals in why then Col. Denison should be defended with such Quixotic formality. In the McGreevy Connolly cases in the courts also, the Government runs great danger of getting into trouble. There is probably no man in this Dominion who doubts in his own heart that McGreevy was the "fence" with whom these high-toned political crooks dealt in placing the money misdirected from the public treasury to the election shop. The trouble is to prove it. For what has been found out thus far the honest people may thank the cause of quarrel which made a falling out among the rogues. Whether others of the crew will turn informers or not, cannot be definitely known. One thing is sure: the longer the case is kept in court the better the chance, of something valuable being discovered. But the Government has boasted so much to friends, foes, and the general crowd that it will investigate that case to the bottom that it does not dare to back out now. The question on this question is the position of the gentleman who shouted for somebody to help him let go the bear.

THE COUNTRY WILL WANT TO KNOW

Generally speaking proof accumulates that the Government of this time is not nearly so adroit as that which preceded it. On the other hand the Opposition is decidedly improved in this respect. The new Chief whip, Mr. James Sutherland, M.P. for North Oxford, is entitled to a fair share of the credit. Mr. Sutherland is better equipped by nature for the position he now holds than any other man in the House.

HE IS THOROUGHLY POPULAR

and deserves to be so. He knows every move on the parliamentary chess board and has the qualities of leadership which show to best advantage in the work of organization. His position is one to try the temper of a saint, but in the matter of keeping his temper and smiling in the face of ten thousand annoyance, he could give anybody but a saint valuable pointers, Added to all his other good qualities, Mr. Sutherland has that of industry. The whip has all the work of detail to look after, he has to arrange debates, votes, leaves of absence, pairs and everything else to suit the convenience of every member of the party, yet in such a way as to preserve the best interests of the party as a whole. This involves a sort of juggling, which is nearly allied to magic. But keen political insight and hard work, backed by the perfection of courteous and kindly manners, will accomplish wonders.

Graceful and winning too were the pianist's own compositions. The audience was lavish in expressions of pleasure and appreciation.—Boston Evening Transcript. Good Templar's Entertainment.

Ashburnham Lodge of Good Templars held an entertainment, consisting of songs, readings and instrumental music, in their hall last evening. The programme was concluded by an interesting debate on the subject of Art vs. Nature, with Mr. A. D. Russell, champion for the negative, and Mr. N. Munro, champion for the affirmative; after hearing the arguments of both sides the audience was left to settle which side made out the better case. A vote was taken and the decision was in favour of the negative. The entertainment ended with a taffy-pull, and all present enjoyed the sticky "sweetness long drawn out." The evening was very pleasantly spent by those who were present.

More Boys Before the Magistrate.

This morning four boys were charged at the police court with creating a disturbance and acting in a disorderly manner at the corner of Sherbrooke and Stewart streets, near St. John's church mission. Frequent complaints have been made to the police of this gang. It is alleged they throw stones, break windows and use vile language to pedestrians. On Sunday evening when Officer Stewart hove in sight, the boys hurriedly dispersed, but agile as they were, they were not quick enough for the doughty constable. A stone was thrown through the window of Mr. Stewart Rose one day last week, in a room where some members of the family were sleeping, and the deed is pointed towards this gang. The magistrate gave the boys a severe warning. He said this was the second offence of a like nature on which they had appeared before him, and he declared that if a third time they were brought up, he would give them a sentence which they would remember all their lives.

Their Annual Conversazione.

The Peterborough Lodge Sons of England Held a Most Successful and Highly Enjoyable "At Home" in their Lodge Rooms Last Night.

The annual conversazione given under the auspices of Peterborough Lodge, No. 64, Sons of England, was held in their large and handsome lodge rooms on Hunter street last night. About one hundred availed themselves of the opportunity of being present. The rooms were gaily and artistically decorated for the occasion by Bros. Fred Foote and W. Brandreth, and presented a very pretty appearance. The numerous flags and bannerettes were much admired. Bro. F. L. Somerville, D.D., presided. An opening selection by J. Butcher's orchestra was the meritorious forerunner of an interesting and creditable programme. Bro. Somerville then made a few neat remarks welcoming all present and expressed the hope that those present might thoroughly enjoy themselves. A quartette rendered by Messrs. Harris, Sweetlove, Nevis and Walton was loudly applauded. Mrs. H. Stapleton favored the audience with a fine solo, and Mrs. (Dr.) Goldsmith with an excellent reading. Mr. W. F. Harris sang a capital song and responded to an encore. The orchestra then rendered an overture. Miss Stevens gave a solo in fine voice and Mr. W. F. and Miss Harris a duet which was loudly applauded. Miss Harris again gave a solo, and the quartette another cheerful selection. The entertainment closed by a rendition by the orchestra. Afterwards refreshments were served in the adjoining room and partaken of by many with the relish of an epicure. The fantastic was then tripped on canvas floor until one o'clock when all separated, sorry to part but hoping to meet at the next annual conversazion of the Sons of England.

Missionary Society Convention

A Successful Meeting Held in Millbrook.

The first convention of members of the Women's Foreign Missionary Society of the Methodist church, was held at Millbrook in the Methodist church, on Tuesday beginning at 9.30 o'clock. There was a large attendance of delegates, Peterborough being represented by the following ladies: From George street, Mesdames Locke, Kendry, Fitzgerald and Meharry; from Charlotte street, Mesdames Clarke, Hamilton, Sutherland, Blaestock, Price, Dobson and Brooke.

Miss Winerbottom, of Millbrook, presided at the morning session. After devotional exercises the roll was called, and encouraging reports presented of the work of the society in the several fields represented. At the afternoon session further reports were presented. It was decided that all members of an auxiliary should be entitled to vote. Rev Mr. McQuade, Pontypool, and Rev. Mr. Clark each gave addresses, followed by a testimony meeting. Several papers were read on mission work. The "question drawer" closed this session. At the evening session Mrs. Jas. Kendry, Peterborough, presided. Mrs. Sherin, of Lakefield, read an interesting paper on "giving." Then followed music by the choir and two very enjoyable vocal solos by Mrs Dr Harrison, of Keene.

Rev Mr. Campbell gave a brief pointed address.

It was decided to hold the next convention in Lakefield.

The convention was a very gratifying success, and will prove an important aid to the progress of the work of the society, which has from the date of its organization increased the contributions to mission purposes from $2,551 to $31,338,—the figures for last year. The delegates are delighted with the cordial treatment extended them by the Millbrook ladies.

A Coming Canadian Prima Donna.

The following paragraph refers to the daughter of Mr. Glover, a former resident of Ashburnham, and nephew of Mr. Peter Glover of that village. The young lady is only 14 years of age, and if the coming years fulfil the promise of the present, she has a brilliant future:—

Madame Albani graciously accorded Miss Florence Mabel Glover a hearing in several vocal selections on Tuesday last. Miss Glover is a young Torontonian, as yet but in her early teens. The great prima donna was enthusiastic over her singing, saying, amongst many other things: "You have a wonderful soprano voice and a correct technique; you should at once go to either New York or, preferably, to Europe, to study for opera." Subsequently Miss Glover received a flattering letter from Madame Albani, the following being an extract:

QUEEN'S HOTEL, April 12, 1892.

DEAR MISS GLOVER.—I write you just before leaving, to tell you just how delighted I was with your musical talent, etc. If I can be of any service to you in London I shall be very pleased to see you there. Wishing you success,

Believe me,
Yours sincerely,
E. ALBANI GYE.

Miss Glover is to appear at the concert of the Toronto Vocal Society, Thursday, April 28, of which her singing master, Mr. W. Edgar Buck, is the musical director.

BIRTH.

HUNTER—At Mount Pleasant, on Sunday April 17th, 1892, the wife of W. B. Hunter, of a son.

Miss Lettie Huntley,

Is the sister of Mr. W. S. Huntley, of Cortland, N. Y., a well known carpenter and builder. Her frank statement below gives only the absolute truth concerning her illness and marvelous recovery by the aid of Hood's Sarsaparilla. She says:

"C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.:

"Dear Sir: Twelve years ago I began to have hemorrhages and four years ago became so low that the physicians told me

There Was No Hope

and I should soon die. I could not be moved from my bed. Under my face were napkins continually reddened with blood from my mouth. I could eat nothing and had no action of the bowels for a week. The doctors said the cause was ulcers in the stomach. At this time my mother said she wanted to make one more trial, and asked if I would take Hood's Sarsaparilla. I told her it would be

A Waste of Money

but finding it would comfort her, I began taking it. In a few days the bloating began to subside, I seemed to feel a little stronger, but thought it only fancy. I was so weak I could only take ten drops of Sarsaparilla at first. In two weeks I was able to sit up a few minutes every day. In a month I could walk across the room. One day I asked what they were to have for dinner, and said I wanted something hearty. My mother was so happy she cried. It was the

First Time I had Felt Hungry for Two Years

I kept on with Hood's Sarsaparilla and in six months was as well as ever in my life. It is now four years since I recovered, and I have not had a day's sickness since, nor any hemorrhage. If ever a human being thanked the good Lord on bended knees it was I. I know that Hood's Sarsaparilla, and that alone, unquestionably Saved my Life."

Messrs. Sawyer & Jennings, the well known druggists of Cortland, say that Miss Huntley "is a highly respected lady; her statement of what

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Has done for her is worthy the highest confidence." Hood's Pills cure Liver Ills.

In the art of Watch Repairing, there are many elements which go to make successful work. The cleaning and regulating is easily performed, but the replacing of any broken parts is far more difficult and it takes a workman of long experience and first class practical ability to make a new piece which is as well finished and fitted as the original was. MUNCASTER invariably finishes his work equal to new. The New Store is next to the "Examiner" Office.

LeBRUN'S OLD STAND,

GEORGE STREET.

An Ashburnham Disorderly House.

The Law, Order and Morality of the Village Vindicated by the Court.

The trials of the three women, two for keeping a house of ill fame on Sophia street, Ashburnham, and one for being an inmate, and a young man from the country, for being a frequenter came up before Police Magistrate Damble yesterday afternoon. Mr. E. B. Stone appeared for the prisoners and R. E. Wood for the Crown. The evidences of several respectable married men was taken which went to show that the house in question was commonly dubbed "The Black House," and bore a bad reputation in the neighborhood and rumor showed strongly that it had been a house of ill fame for some months past. The evidence went to show that numbers of young men had been seen frequenting the house at all hours of the night and even during the day, that swearing, carousing and even discharging fire arms were frequent occurrences. The general appearance of the inside of the house and characteristics of the inmates all pointed to impropriety. Several neighbors testified that the place was a public nuisance and was a disturber of the peace and a violation of the standard of morality in the village of Ashburnham.

Mr. STONE for the defence said that no direct evidence had been brought against the character of the house or its inmates, except what rumour and slander had done. No specific acts of immorality had been shown, and he asked for the release of the prisoners.

The Magistrate ruled that in a case of the nature in question rumour could be regarded as evidence according to law. No specific charges were necessary to be proven. He then found the prisoners guilty and sentenced the two keepers, who gave the assumed names of Lena Johnston and May Wilson, to a fine of $50 each and costs, or 50 days in gaol. The young girl of fifteen, from Toronto, giving her name as Cyrena Davis, whom it was alleged was inveigled to Peterborough under the guise of a domestic to be used for immoral purposes, was sentenced to one year in the Mercer Reformatory. She took her sentence heavily and wept like a child. The man found in the house at the time of the raid was fined $5 and costs ($11 50 in all) or ten days in gaol. The female prisoners, not having paid their fines, were sent to gaol.

Personal.

Mr. W. S. R. Marsh, merchant, Kingston, is in town to day.

Mr. T. G. Hawthorne, of Oshawa, is visiting friends in town.

Rev. D. C. McDowell, of the Whitby Ladies' College, is in town.

Mr. William Schomberger, Cobourg, is the guest of Judge Weller for a few days.

Misses Nellie and Annie Wood, daughters of John Wood, J.P., Ashburnham, are visiting relatives in Toronto for a few days.

The Hastings Star has the following personal paragraphs:—Miss Simons, of Peterborough, was in town on Friday.... Mr. Jas. Drain, book-keeper for H. Calcutt, Peterborough, dropped in to see us on Thursday.

Mr. John Armour, who went to Toronto for treatment for one of his eyes, had an operation performed on Friday by Dr. Wishart, who has good hopes that a cure will result. Mr. Armour is expected home at the end of the week.

Mr. A. Peterson, representing Frederick Boscovitz, the eminent Hungarian pianist, is in town arranging for the lecture-piano recital in the Opera House to-night. The house should be packed. The chance of hearing Mr. Boscovitz to-night is that of a life time. The great musical centres of Paris, London, Leipzig, Boston and Toronto have accorded him frequent hearing and unstinted praise. He is an artist in the highest sense of the word, and no one who loves music should miss this chance, of not only hearing something elevating, entertaining and instructive, but of aiding the work of the excellent institution under whose auspices the entertainment is given, the Young Men's Christian Association.

A Noon-Day Fire.

The Barn of Dr. Boucher and a Shed in Rear of Mr. Sam Ray's Residence Destroyed by Fire this Forenoon—The Trim Little Yacht "Mystic" Lost in the Blaze.

At half-past eleven o'clock this morning an alarm of fire rang out. The scene of the blaze proved to be the barn of Dr. R. P. Boucher, Water street, between McDonel and London. The firemen quickly responded to the call of duty, and soon had four streams playing on the devouring element.

The building being a frame structure, and the flames being fed by a quantity of hay and straw in the barn, the structure was soon in a seething mass of flames. The black smoke filled the air all around, while the flames leapt higher and higher. An adjoining shed on a neighboring lot abutted the barn of Dr. Boucher. This, too, caught fire and was soon burning with remarkable brilliancy. When the alarm was given the place was all afire so that the firemen had to direct their attention to the adjoining sheds in order to save them. The woodsheds of Mrs. Ann Graham, Dr. Boucher, Sam Ray and R. E. Wood's terrace were in imminent danger of catching fire. They several times caught, and it was not until the roofs were well saturated with water that all anxiety was dismissed. The barn and stables of Dr. Boucher, together with the adjoining shed, occupied by Mr. Ray, are a total ruin. They are burned to the ground. Dr. Boucher estimates his loss on the barn and its contents at $400. In the building were 100 bushels of oats, two sets of single harness, a ton and a half of hay, a large quantity of straw, some boxes, buffalo robes, and other articles. These were all burned. Happily no conveyances were in the building at the time. The doctor was away on Antrim street at the time the alarm was rung attending a patient and did not know that it was his place which was suffering until he looked out of a window. The loss to building and its contents is covered by insurance in the Royal Canadian. How the fire originated is a mystery. Children have been in the habit of playing with matches on the flat roof of Mrs Graham shed. It is probable that they entered hay loft, as there was where the fire originated when first discovered. The doctor's little boy went to go out to the barn shortly before noon, and came running in the house stating the barn was on fire. The loft was then a mass of flames. In the adjoining shed, Mr. Sam Ray loses a tent, some camping utensils and materials, stoves, etc. His loss is about $75. In the same building stowed away was the trim little steam yacht "Mystic", owned by Messrs. John Craig and T. Rutherford. The "Mystic" was a handsome little bark with thirty feet keel, capable of carrying a dozen persons. The yacht, which was to be launched on Mud Lake next week, is a total wreck, both the boat and machinery. Messrs. Craig and Rutherford sustain a loss of some $500. The craft is insured with Mr. Felix Brownscombe in the Caledonian of Scotland for $350. The building is owned by Mrs. Sarah Harvey, of Oak Lake, Manitoba, and the loss is about $75, uninsured. The George street church sheds had a close shave. The large intervening brick wall kept back the flames.

Sneak thieves are on the war path again. The clothes line of Mr. John Clancy, proprietor of the Peterborough House mourns the loss of several pairs of woollen socks and underclothing. THE CANADA LIFE ASSURANCE CO'Y.

Forty-Fifth Annual Meeting of the Great Institution.

Remarkable Record for the Past Year—The Annual Report—Election of Directors.

The 45th annual meeting of the greatest of Canadian insurance institutions, the Canada Life Assurance Company, was held to-day in the board room of the Company's head office in Hamilton. There were present a gathering of the representative men of Canada, men whose names are known all over the country for solidity and business ability, with Mr. G. A. Ramsay, president of the company, presiding over the deliberations. The meeting was a most harmonious and eminently satisfactory one.

Mr. Ramsay took the chair shortly after 12 o'clock, with Mr. Roland Hills as secretary of the meeting.

President Ramsay submitted the following:

REPORT BY THE BOARD OF DIRECTORS OF THE CANADA LIFE ASSURANCE COMPANY, SUBMITTED TO THE ANNUAL GENERAL MEETING OF SHAREHOLDERS, HELD AT HAMILTON ON THE 5TH OF APRIL, 1892:

The business of 1891, being the company's 45th year, was again highly favourable. The new assurances applied for were 2,507 in number, and $5,929,083 in amount. Of these, 136 for $259,500 were declined, the lives not appearing to reach that standard of eligibility which it is in the best interest of our assurers should be maintained. Of the balance of $5,669,583, upon 2,871 lives, which were accepted by the directors, 204 for $414,562 were not carried out, leaving the actual new assurances of the year $5,255,021 under 2,167 policies, with a new annual income premium of $178,191.06.

At 31st December last there were in force $56,218,318.08 of assurances and bonus additions, upon 19,563 lives, under 26,484 policies.

The statement of receipts and payments, and the abstract of assets and liabilities, herewith submitted, show that the income of the year was $2,213,096.27, and that the assets amounted to $12,074,124 87, having being increased during the year by $1,041.684 78.

The death claims for the year were upon 192 lives under 243 policies for $511,879.11, including profits, a sum considerably under that of the previous year, 1890, when the amount was a good deal affected by the epidemic of la grippe which then prevailed, and its results.

The business at the various branches has been generally well sustained, and having last year alluded to anticipations of successful progress at the Michigan branch, it may be mentioned that these have been largely realized.

In compliance with the company's charter the following directors retire by rotation, but are eligible for re-election: The Hon. Sir Alexander Campbell, K. C. M. G., Toronto; Andrew Allan, Esq., Montreal, and Thomas Swinyard, Esq, New York State.

PRESIDENT RAMSAY'S REMARKS.

Mr. A. G. Ramsay moved the adoption of the annual report. In so doing he reviewed carefully and ably, the business of the year. He said:—

I beg to move the adoption of the directors report now before you, and although the statements which it, and the published accounts, which have been in your hands for some days, so clearly indicate the success of the past year's business, and the sound position of the company, that I need take up but little of the time of this annual meeting in adverting to them, it may be interesting. I dare say, that I draw your attention shortly to some of the features which these documents disclose. The new business of the past year amounted, you will see to $5,255,021, a sum so nearly approaching the best year we have ever had that I think we may well congratulate you upon it. It has happily been our good fortune each year for so long to be able to make a somewhat similar statement that I fear it may appear a somewhat monotonous one, for which, however, I need offer no apology. You will have noticed that the total assurances in force at the close of 1891 were $56,218,318, an amount which suggests a very large measure of public support and confidence in the company. The income continues to largely increase, and it amounted last year to $2,213,096, more than twice as much as it was ten years ago, and nearly seven times what it was twenty years ago. With the possibility of a corresponding progress in the future we may well be encouraged to continue that caution and care in the direction and in the management of the company's affairs, which in the past have made the Canada Life's name synonymous with that of integrity, liberality and stability. The large addition of over $1,000,000 was added to the companys assets last year, making them $12,074,124, or about twice what they were only seven years ago. While difficulty in obtaining satisfactory investments as they were wanted was experienced during the year, every effort and the best judgment of the board were exercised so as to make that difficulty as little felt as possible.

As you are well aware, there has of late years been a gradual reduction in the rate of interest obtainable on the best class of securities, and while our Company is of course affected by that, in common with all others, every exertion is made to diminish as far as we can any loss in that way.

The death claims during 1891 were $511,873, being a lower amount than they had been in 1890, when largely by the grippe epidemic, they reached $603,284.

The statment of receipts and payments shows that during 1891, $316,376 was paid to policy-holders as profits, a return of nearly 20 per cent. of the year's premiums paid to the Company, a percentage of profits on premiums paid so rarely reached by other companies as to lead us to press upon intending assurers the advantages which our Company offers in that respect. In alluding to that I am very glad indeed to have the opportunity of saying that by the courtesy of the Superintendent of Insurance we were yesterday favoured with the result of the Government's quinquennial valuation of our Company's affairs. It shows that over and above the full reserve we are required by the Government of Canada to hold, and all liabilities, we have on hand a large profit surplus such as indicates no diminution in the Company's profit-making powers. You have been informed by the Director's Report of the generally favourable progress of the Company's various branches, and the efforts of our Managers and Agents are well deserving of our thanks and encouragement. Special allusion has been made to the branch established by the Company, in Michigan in 1890. Because it being somewhat of an experiment, you would naturally desire to hear specially as to it. I am very pleased to be able to say that the progress of the branch is so satisfactory as to have last year placed the Company in the fourteenth position, in point of new assurances, out of 82 companies doing business in the State. For a great deal of our success in Michigan, we are indebted to the support of the prominent and influential gentlemen who have been good enough to aid us by acting upon our Board of Reference. I am glad to tell you that we have entered upon the year 1892 with the most encouraging prospects. The new business up to the present date far exceed that of any previous year, and I trust that at our next meeting we may be able to again record a continuance of such prosperity as has already been so satisfactory to you and to our various policy-holders.

VICE-PRESIDENT GATES' REMARKS.

Mr. F. W. Gates, Vice-President of the Company, seconded the adoption of the report. In doing so he said:—

Mr. Chairman and gentlemen.—When it is borne in mind that there has been no perceptible improvement in business generally throughout the country during the past year, I think we must be compelled to admit that the statement which has been presented to-day ought to be considered highly satisfactory. It is true that the company might have done a much larger amount of business than has been done if we had been less scrupulously careful in the acceptance of risks which have been applied for. As the report shows, and as the president has pointed out, many applications have been rejected. We have exercised the greatest care in this matter in order that the company and the insured alike might be fully protected. We did not indulge in the extravagances which some companies have in order to increase our business, but have rather followed a policy of careful management in the interest of the company. I well remember some years ago that the president in his address referred with a good deal of pleasure to the fact that we had an income of $1,000 a day; now it is $7,000 a day, and it was easy then to invest $1,000 a day. It is not so easy to invest $7,000 now, even with the lower rate of interest. I may again refer to the remarkably small losses, and again congratulate the company upon that state of affairs. I have much pleasure, gentlemen, in seconding the motion for the adoption of the report.

President Ramsay put the motion, which was carried unanimously.

THANKS TO PRESIDENT AND DIRECTORS.

Mr. Byron E. Walker moved a vote of thanks to the President and Directors for their attention to the interests of the company during the year.

In offering the motion Mr. Walker said:—It gives me very great pleasure indeed to propose the thanks of the shareholders to our President and Directors. Reference has been made to the growth and success of the Canada Life in the past, and I consider that they are largely due to the excellent management. The big companies in the United States are beginning to realize that it may be possible to do too much business, but I am sure that if the policy which has been pursued by the Canada Life in the past is adhered to, another ten years of our career will show corresponding prosperity. I hope that our President may long be spared to direct the affairs of the company, and that he may have the advice and co-operation of such men as now constitute the directorate.

Mr. Henry McLaren—Mr. President and gentlemen, I have very much pleasure in seconding the motion.

The motion was put and carried unanimously, amid applause.

President Ramsay replied:—I expect that I shall have to reply to the motion you have just passed. I thank you very much indeed for the resolution and for the kind expressions made use of. I believe I can confidently say that every one of the Directors has done all that was in his power to further the interests of the company.

THREE DIRECTORS ELECTED.

The Hon. Mr. Justice Burton moved the appointment of Messrs. W. F. Findlay and Campbell Farrie as scrutineers of votes for the election of Directors in the room of the three retiring, and that the poll shall now be opened, and closed upon five minutes elapsing without a vote being tendered.

Mr. Matthew Leggat seconded the motion, which was carried.

The voting took a good deal of time, and while the ballots were being counted other business was proceeded with. The election resulted in the choice of Hon. Sir Alexander Campbell, K.C. M. G., of Toronto, Mr. Andrew Allan, of Montreal, and Mr. Geo. A. Cox, of Toronto. The last named gentlemen will take the place of Mr. Thomas Swinyard on the Board, the other two gentlemen being re-elected.

The usual votes of thanks were passed, and at a meeting of the directors subsequently held, Mr. A. G. Ramsay was re-elected President, and Mr. F. W. Gates, Vice-President.

An Amateur Athletic Proposition Which May Carry.

DETROIT, April 19.—Secretary Wilkins of the central division of the Amateur Athletic Union has sent letters to the other representatives of the division suggesting that a meeting of the directors be held at Detroit April 27 to adopt some measures which it is desirous to place before the meeting of the union at New York on the 30th inst. The most important of these measures, and in fact the only one of general interest, is a proposition to admit Canada to the athletic union. Secretary Wilkins is ardently in favor of bringing Canada into the union. If the central division recommends its admission the delegates can go before the New York meeting with fair prospects of getting the proposition adopted. The adoption of the proposition would undoubtedly make Ontario a section of the central division and bring Toronto amateurs into the same field with the amateur clubs of Detroit. The proposition has been discussed for some time and no opposition has been discovered to it so far.

Among other business to come before the New York meeting will be a measure to increase the number of representatives from each division to three.

Digging Opals in Oregon.

Opals have been found in great numbers of late in Oregon. A dredger at work pumping gravel from the bottom of the Willamette river has brought up quantities of the gems and several mines of considerable extent have recently been opened in Multnomah county. Most of the stones are cloudy, but a few of rare quality have been found. As high as $60 has been obtained for one stone in the rough.

Trial Trip of the Blenheim.

The trial trip of the new first-class cruiser Blenheim, of the English navy, was a failure, the tubes of three of her boilers leaking so badly that the trial had to be abandoned. This is the sister ship of the Blake, which failed in her preliminary trials to develop the required 20,000 horse-power.

Volcanoes That Belch Forth Silver.

It has been discovered that silver exists in the ashes of two volcanoes in the Andes of Ecuador, in South America. The quantity of silver is exceedingly minute, however, being about two-fifths of an ounce to a ton of ashes at Cotopaxi, and about three-tenths of an ounce at Tunguragua.

A New Silver Plating Process.

A new silver plating process has been introduced in London, in which the coating produced is only slightly tarnished by atmospheric influences and is not easily affected with acids. The process is similar to present methods except that a secret alloy is used.

A Brantford Bigamist.

BRANTFORD, April 19.—Yesterday a man named John Read was arrested on a charge of bigamy. Read came here about a year and a half ago and began paying his respects to a young woman named Mary J. Leller of Waterford, who was living here at that time.

On May 20, 1890, the two were married by the Rev. James Awde and have since been living in the East Ward. Read has been working on the sewers. It seems that before he came here Read deserted a wife and six children, who have since been living in the County of Cardwell. The first wife arrived here yesterday and made enquiries for her husband, which resulted in his arrest.

Smothered to Death.

BRANTFORD, April 19—An infant child of John Lalor, a laborer at Bow Park, was smothered to death in bed by its mother. The affair was purely accidental and an inquest was not necessary.

A large gang of men working at Little Current attempted to cross some rotten ice. One of the men named Kelly of Toronto went through and was drowned.

At Dayton, Ohio, Sunday afternoon John Geist, while drunk, accused his wife, to whom he had been married 19 years, of infidelity, and drawing a revolver shot her dead and then blew his brains out.

"Pat Doctor Ellis Make Lean Wills," but Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy costs less than one doctor's visit. Catarrh is a loathsome, dangerous disease, and the time has come when to suffer from it is a disgrace. No person of culture and refinement cares to inflict upon his friends his offensive breath, disgusting hawking and spitting and disagreeable efforts to breathe freely and clear the throat and nose—hence the cultured and refined use Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy. And no wise and prudent man cares to run the risk of leaving his family without a protector, by letting his "slight catarrh" run into serious or fatal throat and lung troubles, hence the wise and prudent use Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy. The proprietors of this remedy are so confident of its curative properties, that they have made a standing offer of a reward of $500 for a case they cannot cure.

Blood Will Tell.

Good blood will show its quality. So will bad blood, the one in a healthy body and ruddy complexion, the other in ill health, blotches, pimples, boils and sores, and frequently in intenser forms as ulcers, abscesses erysipelas, scorfulous diseases, salt rheum, etc. Every organ of the body depends upon the blood for force and vitality, and is but scantily served when the blood is impure. No remedy is so potent as a blood purifier or more rapidly produces new and healthy blood than Burdock Blood Bitters, which neutralizes the various poisons and restores the vitalizing power of this all important fluid. As an instance of this read what Mr. J. S. Neff, of Algoma Mills, Ont., says in a recent letter:

SIRS,—A year ago I was troubled with spots breaking out all over my body, the effect of bad blood. I consulted three different doctors, who gave me medicine but did not cure me. I was advised to try B.B.B., and after using two bottles I noticed the spots getting less. I continued to use B.B.B., which entirely cured me, giving me also a splendid appetite. Since then I would use no other medicine.

Self Application of Electricity

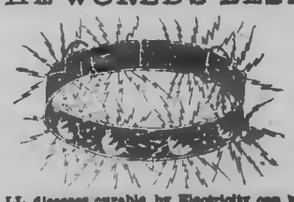
DORENWEND

ELECTRIC BELT

And Attachments

HEAD OFFICE—103 Yonge St., Toronto

THE WORLD'S BEST.



ALL diseases curable by Electricity can be treated at home by the Dorenwend Appliance. The Dorenwend is the only legitimate Electric Belt made which fulfils the requirements of Electro-medical science. It is a complete BODY BATTERY. It has an independent Battery, which generates a mild, continuous current of Electricity (without shocks) and can be regulated to suit the strongest man or the weakest child. It is a CURRENT of QUANTITY, not merely a sensation current, and the quantity current is the greatest curative. It is a powerful treatment for INDIGESTION, RHEUMATISM, NEURALGIA, SCIATICA, LUMBAGO, LIVER AND KIDNEY TROUBLES, WEAK BACK, SPINAL DISEASE, HEART DISEASE, NERVOUS DEBILITY, PARALYSIS, VERTIGO, FEMALE COMPLAINTS, IMPOTENCE, SEXUAL DECLINE and all diseases of the Nervous and Muscular Systems.

Remember that the DORENWEND BELT is the very latest invention in this line, and was invented by a competent electrician, and ranks as the best in the world; we defy anyone to bring proof to the contrary.

Do not class this Belt with the humbug combinations of leather and metal with which the country is being flooded. If you wish to experiment with cheap articles, buy THEM. But if you want to procure a genuine Electric Belt and one that will be a benefit get a Dorenwend Belt.

ANOTHER ASSAULT IN A COMPARTMENT CARRIAGE.

The Accused, a Brother of Lord Greville, Charges that the Complaint Was Made for the Purpose of Blackmail—The Russians Shoot at a Comet.

LONDON, April 20.—Hon. Patrick Greville-Nagent, brother of Lord Greville, was yesterday arraigned in the Police Court on the charge of having indecently assaulted a young lady named Price. The offence is alleged to have been committed last night in a compartment of a train running to London from Brighton.

Miss Price stated she made a most desperate struggle against her assailant and that he only succeeded in his attempt after she was exhausted by her fighting against him.

The prisoner was remanded in bail of £400. He strenuously denies the charge and declares the case is one of attempted blackmail.

The affair has caused a tremendous sensation.

Russians Shoot at a Comet.

BERLIN, April 20.—The latest reports tend to confirm the Czar's visit to Berlin this summer and an agreement between Germany and Russia on the question of trade. Altogether the outlook is most peaceful and nothing disturbs the air but balloons. An article republished here today gives details of the appearance of a balloon over Grodno, with the names of the witnesses. It is certain that something has been seen, but the question is what was it.

Oddly enough the details confirm the view of the staff officers here who supposed that the balloon was really a comet. It appears about dusk and disappears in the west like all heavenly bodies, and there is no known war balloon of sufficient lifting power to carry an electric light plant, if free, but the streamers from comets are very like the illuminated cords of a balloon. As yet Maxim's laurels are not in danger.

This theory also explains why the Russians cannot hit the supposed balloon. It is a remarkable fact, but well authenticated, that the Chinese also shoot at comets to drive them away.

A Londoner Dines With Females and Then Kills Them.

LONDON, April 20.—The Stamford-street poison case, in which two girls named Marsh and Shrivell were found dying after having had supper with an unknown man whom they called "Fred," continues to be a mystery. The girls appear to have died by strychnine, and the police have been unable to find "Fred," who is also known as the "Doctor." This case has some points of similarity with that of the girl mysteriously poisoned in the Waterloo-road some months back.

Cursed Out of Church by a Priest.

DUBLIN, April 20.—When Mrs. Conners and her family entered Ballyclough Church, near Mallow, this morning to attend mass several persons in the congregation cried, "Grabber, grabber." Father Leadre, the priest, at once left the altar, and as those who made the outcry started for the door he followed them, calling:

"May the curse of God fall upon you for promoting such sacrilege in God's house."

The excitement in the church was intense, and when Father Leadre turned back to the altar the congregation, except Mrs. Conners and her family, left the building. The service, however, was carried out as usual.

Wagging Tongues. Beware.

ST. PETERSBURG, April 20.—The measures adopted by the Council of the Empire to prevent the divulging of any facts in connection with Russian army affairs provides that any civilian who betrays official secrets to a foreign power will be exiled to the most remote part of Siberia. In the case of officials betraying the trust reposed in them, they will first be condemned to seven years' imprisonment in the fortress of St. Peter and St. Paul, after which they will be exiled to Siberia for life. Officials whose negligence leads to the betrayal of secrets will be liable to several years' imprisonment.

A Reserve for Breeding Beavers.

MONTREAL, April 20.—Mr. Robert Kilgore of Bascom, Ga., is in the city on his way to the northern section of the St. Maurice, where he intends to establish a reserve for the breeding of beavers. Mr. Kilgore's father has already a similar establishment in Georgia, where there are at present nearly two hundred of these interesting animals, but he believes that the climate of this province is more advantageous for the carrying out of this industry, which should be a paying one considering that beavers have now become very scarce and their furs bring high prices.

The Chain Broke.

BRANTFORD, April 20.—Roger McKinnon, aged 50, employed at the Waterous Engine Works, was operating a lathe and the chain which held up a heavy piece of work which he was working on broke, allowing it to fall on him, crushing his hip and breaking both legs. He was taken to the hospital.

CURED SICKNESS WITH A GUN.

The Message Thomas Garde Wrote Before Shooting Himself.

VICTORIA, B.C., April 20.—Thomas Garde, suffering from an incurable illness and apparently with but a few weeks to live, shot himself dead at his residence in Ford-street yesterday. A card was found near the body addressed to his brother, on which was this message in the dead man's handwriting:

Ead, old chum. Your brother, T. W. Garde. I have decided to let her go. I see see there is no chance for my lungs to improve; you might notice if I only get into bed I am out of breath; it's only in the last three weeks I have been so bad (over). Besides in another week I will need moving around and then it might take a couple of months to do it. TOM.

Send Me Home to My Mother.

BUFFALO, N.Y., April 20.—Mrs. Maud Delby, because of the recreancy of a lover, committed suicide last night, leaving the following note:

"Please send me home to my mother, 231 Seneca-street."

Some of the inmates of the house where the suicide took place robbed the corpse of some jewelry, but were compelled by the coroner to return it.

Death During the Honeymoon.

MALLORYTOWN, Ont, April 20.—Eabert Shippey, who resides on Grenadier Island, went out on the river accompanied by his young wife to inspect some nets which he had set for pike. The couple did not return and an inspection of their house revealed some bread which had been set the night previous running over the pan into the oven. Later the boat which the young couple left home in was found in the river, and there is every reason to suppose that they have met a watery grave. Searching parties are now out looking for the bodies. The couple have been married but a few weeks.

A Stratford Fire.

STRATFORD, April 20.—An old frame block of stores situated on the corner of Ontario and Market-streets was destroyed by fire early yesterday morning. The stores were occupied by John Poland, tailor; W.J. Post, barber; John C. Anthony, boots and shoes; John Way, boots and shoes; J. Hartley, barber; John Brown, C.P.R. ticket and telegraph office; W. Nichols, small goods; John M. Bentler, jeweler; W. J. Becker, photographer; R. Puddecombe, money lender, and Miss Scanlan, dressmaker.

Most of the stocks and furniture in the various stores were removed and the loss generally will be comparatively small.

The building owned by William Gordon is a total loss, with insurance of $1500 in the Guardian and $800 in the Commercial Union. Only a few of the tenants had any insurance on their property.

The origin of the fire is uncertain.

Elevator Burned at Cobourg.

COBOURG, April 20.—At 10 p.m. Tuesday fire destroyed Macdonald's elevator, owned by the G.T.R. The elevator contained about 8000 bushels of grain, consisting of barley, peas and wheat.

The Pope the Antichrist.

MONTREAL, April 20.—At the regular meeting of the Boyne Loyal Orange Lodge last evening that body placed itself on record against the Roman Catholic Church by passing a resolution, which has been given out for publication. The resolution ran thus: "Resolved, That, whereas we believe that the time has come when Orangemen should speak out more plainly and let the world know what is their belief concerning the Roman Catholic Church, we hereby place on record our firm conviction that the said Roman Catholic Church can in no way be considered as a part of the Christian Church, and we also believe that the Pope of Rome is identical with the antichrist of scripture."

For Pointing a Revolver.

BRANTFORD, April 20.—Edward Denton belongs to the category of fools who monkey with loaded revolvers. Saturday night he pointed a revolver at William Harper with the words, "Keep back, or I'll blow your brains out." Harper stepped toward Denton and knocked his arm aside. It was followed by a discharge of what appeared to be a firearm of some kind. Denton then ran for his home.

At the Police Court this morning he was assessed $20 for his tomfoolery.

A BURNING SORE LEG

Ulcers Form. Hospitals and Doctors useless. Crazed with Pain. Cured by Cuticura Remedies.

About eight years ago I wrote you from Wilkesbarre, Pa., describing how your wonderful remedies completely cured me of a terrible case of eczema or salt rheum. I must now tell you what CUTICURA REMEDIES have again done for me. On the 22d of last September, I had the misfortune to bruise my leg, and I put a piece of sticking plaster on it. Inside of a week I had a terrible leg. My wife became frightened and advised me to go to a surgeon. I went, and doctored for two months, but no good was done me, besides costing me big money. My leg had by this time formed into an ulcer, and got worse every day. I could not stand it any longer, and made up my mind to go to a hospital and see if I could be helped. I went to several here in the city, in turn, but none could do me any good. I had a terrible leg, with a hole in it as big as a dollar, and pain that almost set me crazy. I got scared about it, and determined to try CUTICURA REMEDIES. I obtained a set, and inside of five weeks my leg was healed up as well as it ever was, except the terrible scar it left for a reminder of what was once a terrible sore leg. These REMEDIES are worth their weight in gold.

QUALITY and COST.

QUALITY is a small word, but it has a big meaning.

COST is a still smaller word, but, when consistent with quality, is in every case the first consideration—especially in the purchase of Dress Goods.

Our customers are daily realizing the fact that in our Dress Goods Department, the HIGHEST quality and the LOWEST cost go hand-in-hand. Another advantage is the absolute NEWNESS of our stock. It isn't a rehash of last year's styles, however modern. The designs are the newest effects produced, with all the latest fashionable combinations of good taste.

Fancy a $16 costume being sold for $5! That's the benefit you reap by our extensive facilities in buying.

The attractions at our Millinery Parlours still keep up. In fact, you would think every day was an opening day. This may be attributed to our supplementary display of Pattern Hats and Bonnets, and later arrivals of Millinery Novelties, Jackets and Capes, Dress Silks and Fancy Dry Goods. The attraction is not only in the goods themselves, but in the BARGAINS OFFERED.

We can furnish a whole house from attic to drawing room, with new patterns of Carpets and Floor Coverings of all kinds; and we can also match the Carpets with Curtains, Draperies and Upholsteries of elegant designs in contrasting colours. Nothing is too high priced.

MACKENZIE'S FUNERAL.

AN IMMENSE CONCOURSE IN ATTENDANCE.

One of the Most Imposing Corteges Ever Witnessed in Toronto—Arrival of the Remains at His Former Home—The Order of Proceedings for To-day.

TORONTO, April 21.—With every token of respect and sorrow the remains of the late Hon. Alexander Mackenzie were yesterday conveyed from Toronto, the city he loved so well, to Sarnia, where till the Resurrection morn the dust of the dead statesman will rest. All sorts and conditions of men did reverence to his memory: Workingmen, from whose ranks he had by indomitable energy sprung; politicians of rival political parties, clergy of all denominations. Cabinet ministers, Ministers of the Dominion and Provincial Houses, the Bench and the Bar, City Fathers, representative societies—all united in honoring the memory of the man they admired. Crowds were on the streets on the extended line of route, blinds were drawn, offices and stores closed, flags floated half-mast and to the solemn tolling of the St. James' Cathedral bell the cortege passed from the house of mourning to the favored sanctuary and thence to the Union Station.

In the House of Mourning.

The unpretentious dwelling in which the ex-Premier passed his latter days was the centre of attraction yesterday in St. Albans-street. From a comparatively early hour in the morning friends and admirers came dropping in to take a last look at the body as it lay in a room whose atmosphere was sweet and heavy with the scent of the flowers that composed the many exquisite wreaths and tributes that filled the room. Among them were an anchor of cream roses, representing the family; a wreath of Easter and calla lilies and roses from the Governor-General and Lady Stanley; a wreath from the Hon. Wilfrid Laurier, and wreaths from the Toronto Reform Association, the Liberals of East York, the Liberals of Stratford, Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Cook, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Blake, William Mulock, M.P., Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Irving, Edward Nicoll of Ottawa, R. S. Grant and many others. The Globe employes contributed a beautiful pillow of carnations, roses and lilies, and the Liberal Association of Nova Scotia sent a splendid standing cross.

The Cynosure of All Eyes.

The casket was of Spanish cedar, covered with English broadcloth and lined with tufted white satin. The handles and plates were composed of sterling silver, and the inscription read:

ALEXANDER MACKENZIE,
DIED 17TH APRIL, 1892.
AGED 70 YEARS.

The outer casket was of polished solid oak with handles and name plate of brass and lining of purple plush.

The darkened windows, the portrait draped in black, the awed silence, all spoke of the presence of the Great Conqueror. Outside the sun was shining brightly, and the weather was the perfection of a spring day, but there was the black crape upon the door, and the sorrowing throng grouped in the garden and the street that spoke of a feeling far removed from the happy brightness of the day. Even the presence of the inevitable photographer, who took up his stand upon the steps of St. Joseph Academy opposite, could not mar the solemnity of the spectacle.

The house was filled with distinguished men: Canada's best blood had assembled for the last time to pay the tribute of respect to him who had been the peer of any in the Dominion.

Some of Those Present.

Among them were: Sir John Thompson, Hon. Mackenzie Bowell, Hon. Frank Smith, and Hon. J. C. Patterson, representing the Dominion Government; Lieut.-Col. Dawson, representing the Governor-General; Capt. Greville Harston, representing the Lieut.-Governor; Hon. Wilfrid Laurier, leader of the Opposition; Hon. Edward Blake, Sir Daniel Wilson, Sir W. P. Howland, Sir Richard Cartwright, Sir Donald Smith, Hon. Oliver Mowat, Hon. David Mills, Hon. James Young, Col. Fred Denison, M.P.; Hon. George W. Allen and scores of members of Parliament.

The Pastor's Pathetic Words.

About half past twelve silence was called for, and Dr. Thomas, the dead statesman's pastor, read from II. Cor., 4th chapter, the solemn words of spiritual triumph over physical death ringing out impressively through the crowded rooms. Dr. Thomas followed up by a brief address directed to the audience before him as to members of the inner circle of friends who had personal reason to mourn the loss of him for whom a nation sorrowed, though it knew him not. It was fitting, he said, that this service should be in the inner circle of near and dear friends, who knew better than the multitude his qualities as a father, husband, friend. Yet, while sorrowing for the loss, there were consolatory thoughts. He was at rest—out of the burden and labor and bondage of life—he is free from pain at last. Again, he has left a precious legacy, the legacy of a good name, which he has left alike to the nation and to those that love him as friends, for he lived a life in harmony with righteousness. And once again, it has been permitted those who are left to have ministered unto him, and love delights to minister. Finally, it is a scene of triumph. Death is swallowed up in a life of fuller development.

Then came the last fond look at the well-known features of the dead statesman, and the house of mourning was left for the house of God.

In the Temple of His Praise.

When the doors of Jarvis-street Baptist Church were opened at 12.30 there was already a large crowd awaiting admission. Inspector Armstrong and six policemen stood at the entrance and on the street corner to keep the way clear. Inside it was not long before a large number had congregated. The body of the church was reserved for the prominent public men and friends of the deceased, wide black ribbon being stretched across the aisles.

An Impressive Sight.

The pallbearers were Hon. Oliver Mowat, Hon. G. W. Ross, Hon. Edward Blake, Hon. G. W. Allan, Justice Burton, Justice Maclennan, Sir Richard Cartwright, Hon. T. W. Anglin, J. K. Blake, Robert Jaffray, T. C. Irving and Major Gregg.

The decorations, plain and non-assuming, were in keeping with the life of the great man they were meant to honor. All that showed that the solemn ceremony was about to take place was the deftly draped organ and pulpit.

The city officials present were: City Clerk Blevins, James Somers, Chief Ardagh, Commissioner Coatsworth and Treasurer Coady.

Representing the East York Conservative Association: Messrs. Milligan, W. F. Maclean, Henshaw, Jones and Summerhayes: Mr. Gibson was absent owing to ill health.

The solemn stillness that reigned in the church, notwithstanding the numbers present, was not broken till the procession entered the church, when "The Dead March in Saul" from the powerful organ rolled through the church.

The mourners Charles Mackenzie M.L.A., Rev. Dr. Thompson and William Mackenzie, followed the remains, accompanied by Lieut.-Col. Dawson, Capt. Greville Harston, Hon. W. Laurier, Sir John Thompson and Hon. Mackenzie Bowell.

Arrival of the Remains at Sarnia.

SARNIA, April 20.—The special train bearing the remains of Hon. Alexander Mackenzie arrived here last night at 9.10 and was met at the depot by a vast concourse of people from the town and surrounding municipalities. The special brought a great many who had come through from Toronto, and the immediate relations of the deceased statesman who accompanied the remains were Mrs. Alexander Mackenzie, widow of the deceased, Mrs. Thompson, daughter, Charles Mackenzie, M.L.A., brother, Rev. John Thompson, D.D., son-in-law, and William Mackenzie, nephew.

A Sarnia delegation had gone down from here at noon to meet the special at London and came back on it. The delegation consisted of Dr. McLean, Dr. Johnston, David Milne, James King, George N. Matheson, Thomas Doherty, J. J. Carter, R. S. Good, E. P. Watson, J. S. Symington, John Brebner, Thomas Symington, Joseph Lawrie, A. C. Clark, Judge Mackenzie, David Hossie, William Farr and Thomas M. Donnelly.

From the depot the remains were taken to the residence of Charles Mackenzie, M.L.A., being followed by a large crowd of mourners.

This forenoon the remains will be taken to St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, and from 12 to 3 o'clock the public will be allowed to pass through the church to view the remains.

At 2 o'clock the services will commence, and at 2.30 the funeral will leave the church and proceed to Lake View Cemetery, where is the family burial plot.

The whole town is in mourning, flags are at half-mast on private residences, public buildings and on all shipping in the harbor.

It is expected that there will be a very large crowd here to-day to do respect to the deceased. Delegations are expected from a great many points and already have numbers come to town.

The pallbearers at the funeral here will be six nephews of the deceased—two sons of Charles, two sons of James and two sons of John. Rev. John Thompson, D.D., of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, will conduct the services at the church and at the grave, assisted by the rev. gentleman who accompanied the remains here from Toronto. Business in town will be suspended during the funeral.

SHOT ON THE STAGE.

"Oklahoma Frank" Does the William Tell Act With Disastrous Result.

PITTSBURG, Pa., April 21.—During a performance at the World's Theatre at McKeesport last night Frank Seargeant, known as "Oklahoma Frank," shot and fatally injured his assistant, Frank Ferguson.

At 9.30 Seargeant came out to perform his act of shooting an apple from the head of Ferguson. Seargeant turned his back to the target and, after adjusting the mirror, fired. Ferguson threw up his hands, staggered a few steps and fell upon the stage, blood gushing from his head.

The ball struck in the centre of the forehead, just above the eyes and, it is feared, entered the brain.

A Storm in the Tyrol.

VIENNA, April 21.—A terrific storm, causing the loss of a number of lives and the destruction of an immense amount of property, prevailed in Trent, a city in the Tyrol on the left bank of the Adige. The roofs of houses were torn off and carried to a considerable distance, trees were uprooted and signs, shutters and other articles were torn from their fastenings and sent flying through the air.

As far as known six persons have been killed by falling debris, while a large number of others have received injuries.

The large roof of the military barracks was ripped completely off and fell with a great crash to the ground, burying two soldiers beneath it. Both were dead when taken out.

The fall of a huge mass of rock caused an avalanche by which four persons were killed and three others were badly injured.

His Colossal Steal.

BERLIN, April 21.—A sensation was caused yesterday by the report that Herr Jaeder, chief cashier for the banking house of the Rothschilds at Frankfort, was a defaulter to the amount of over 1,000,000 marks. Jede Jaeder has absconded.

Herr Jaeger's father had been head cashier of the Rothschilds house for a period of 40 years. The absconding cashier is married and has several children. It is reported that he speculated in the bourse and that his ventures proved unsuccessful, and to this fact is attributed his downfall.

MR. MERCIER SUMMONED.

The Ex-Premier Must Answer a Charge of Conspiracy.

MONTREAL, April 21.—The new Quebec Government has at last carried out its threat to take criminal proceedings against Mr. Mercier, the ex-Prime Minister, and late yesterday High Constable Gale of Quebec arrived in Montreal and proceeded to Mr. Mercier's residence. The former chief of the Province was ill in bed, so the representative of the law simply served him with a summons to appear before the Criminal Court at Quebec on April 28 to answer to a charge of conspiracy to defraud the Government of a sum of $60,000 in connection with the Langlais contracts. The summons is issued on the complaint of Attorney-General Casgrain and is signed by Judge Chauveau of Quebec.

Mercier makes a general denial of the charges and says he will appear in court.

The proceeding against Mercier has created a sensation and is expected to lead to important developments.

WRECKED A HAPPY HOME

A WOMAN'S WEAKNESS AND SHAME LAID BARE.

A Trusted Wife, the Mother of Five Innocent Children, Carrying on an Intrigue With a Stable Boy Who Was Physically and Mentally Unattractive.

HAMILTON, April 21.—Scandal involving some of our most respected citizens has just been made public. The wife of one of Hamilton's leading citizens has been discovered to have been carrying on an intrigue for months with a stable boy employed by the family. The discovery of the shameful affair has resulted in the wrecking of what was one of the happiest homes in Hamilton. The guilty woman has gone to a married sister in Chicago, after turning over all her property to her husband in trust for her five children, and the latter have been taken in charge by their grandfather and an aunt.

The Erring Wife and Mother.

The woman who has thus dragged her fair name in the mud is the wife of James Balfour, one of Hamilton's leading architects. She is the daughter of James Munro, senior partner in the old firm of Munro & Henderson, merchant tailors and clothiers, and now employed by the W. E. Sanford Manufacturing Company in a responsible position. Mr. and Mrs. Balfour have been married for a number of years, and have five children, all of tender years, none of them old enough to fully understand the disgrace their mother's conduct entails. Their home was at the corner of Grant-avenue and Main-street, and to all appearances there was in Hamilton no happier family than theirs. Until this blow fell the trusting husband had the utmost confidence in his wife.

The Man in the Case.

What renders the affair so much more strange and disgraceful than ordinary cases of a woman's weakness is the character of the man whom she chose to be her partner in infamy.

He is described by those who know him as dirty, coarse and altogether disreputable looking. He was employed by the family as a stable boy and coachman, and to the neighbors and to all who tell this unfortunate story of a woman's infatuation he is known as Frank, his other name not having been disclosed.

The shameful intrigue went on for more than a year before discovery brought the only end that could come—sorrow to a confiding husband, the wreck of a happy home, and the departure of the woman who had sinned so deeply and so irreparably. How it commenced can be told only from the statements made by the villain, who seems to glory in his work, and whom no sense of shame prevents from publishing to the world all the disgusting details of a woman's weakness and sin. According to his story, the first occasion when there was any departure from the path of virtue occurred during the absence of Mr. Balfour at a dinner of the Architects' Association in Toronto, and he alleged that it was the woman who tempted him.

He Kept a Memorandum Book.

This was the first of many lapses from the straight and narrow path of virtue, and frequently thereafter this infatuated woman betrayed her husband's trust by clandestine meetings and improper relations with the stable boy. And of all these times and circumstances the unprincipled villian took notes, jotting them down in the memorandum book, which he produces now to confirm, wherever confirmation is needed, his tale of a woman sinning and a husband betrayed. The intrigue was continued for more than a year.

A Quarrel Led to Discovery.

In some way not fully disclosed Frank and his mistress differed about the performance of a household duty, and she appealed to her husband to support her. When Mr. Balfour spoke to the stable boy on the matter the latter was angry, and he told his employer on the spot of his wife's shame. The husband naturally thought the man was crazy and refused to believe a word against his wife, but when the charge was repeated and when, on being appealed to for a denial of the story, Mrs. Balfour only confirmed it, the husband could doubt no longer.

A Happy Home Wrecked.

The immediate result of the discovery of the wife's baseless conduct was the determination on the part of her husband to take her innocent little ones from the care of a woman who had proved herself in every way unfit for so sacred a trust. Three of the five children were placed in the care of Mr. Balfour's sister, and the other two he took with himself to the home of his father.

Gave Up Her Property.

So complete had been her husband's confidence, and so high a place had she held in his affection and esteem, that he had made over to her considerable city property, on the understanding that it was to be held for the benefit of their children. When the fact of her perfidy and shame came to his knowledge, he decided that she should give this back, and after some negotiations the transfer was completed, and the property, which consists of two houses in Markland-street and five in Main-street east, and cannot be worth much less than $15,000, is now held by Mr. Balfour in trust for the five little ones who have been worse than orphaned by their mother's sin. Mrs. Balfour, it is understood, has left the city for Chicago, where she has a married sister.

Frank, the stable boy, who has been the means of thus bringing ruin and shame to the home in which he was employed, remains in the city. He has made several attempts to borrow from acquaintances a few dollars with which to leave, but has not succeeded, and is said to have secured employment at the only occupation for which he is fitted with a Hamilton family.

Among all who have heard the story there is felt and expressed nothing but the deepest sympathy and sorrow for the husband whose trust was betrayed, for the children whose lives will be embittered forever and for the relatives of the woman.

Died During the Operation.

PROFESSION AND PRACTICE.

WHEN the first crop of boodle investigations had resulted in such damaging disclosures, the Dominion Government professed to be virtuously anxious to expose all boodling and to punish all offenders. Sir John Thompson, at Halifax, Jan. 16th, 1892, said that: "He repeated the invitation made elsewhere that if anyone has any evidence of wrong-doing against any official or member of Parliament, be he private member or Minister, he pledged his honour that the fullest investigation should be made and the information used in the prosecution and punishment of the guilty party. Mr. Abbott's Government was fully determined and pledged to investigate, root out and punish wrong-doing wherever they found it." And Hon. J. J. C. Abbott, Premier, speaking on the Baie des Chaleurs Railway scandal in the Senate, August 7th, 1891, said: "I would ask the hon. gentlemen opposite to join with us in trying to find out what the facts are about this alleged rascality. We ask them to give us the benefit of their experience in this inquiry, to assist us in ascertaining the facts and placing them before the public, in order that they may be dealt with properly, and, if found guilty, that summary vengeance may be exercised upon those who are found guilty of appropriating public money—stealing—be they high or low. That is the determination of this Government and this side of the House." Yet when Mr. Edgar from his place in Parliament charged a member of the Cabinet, Hon. Adolphe Caron, with having used money to the extent of about $160,000, derived from subsidies voted by Parliament, in bribing the electors of Quebec, we find Sir John Thompson, who made the above virtuous declarations of the intention of the Government to pursue boodling to the bitter end, by the most miserable pettifoging rejecting the motion for investigation.

THE Empire in the face of facts, reason, common sense and common decency, still keeps up its fatuous boom of the National Policy. In its issue of Tuesday it has the hardihood to quote the establishment of a large carriage works in Brockville as a proof of the benefits of the National Policy to that town. But it omits to say that the carriage works cost Brockville 50 000 good dollars, and that Gananoque mourns their loss. Taking money out of one pocket and putting it into another is a poor way of increasing one's capital; and robbing one part of the country of an industry and transplanting it to another is a very indifferent promotion of the industrial prosperity of the country.

A Former Peterborough Pastor Remembered.

Address and Presentation to Rev. A. L. Adam.

The following from the Deseronto Tribune refers to Rev. A. L. Adam, of the Shannonville circuit, Methodist minister, son-in-law of Mr. George A. Elliott, Smith, and at one time pastor of the Hall's Bridge circuit:—

The concert given by the Methodist Sunday school at Milltown was a grand success. At the close of the entertainment the following address, accompanied by an easy chair, was presented to Rev. Mr. Adam:—

REV. A. L. ADAM:

DEAR PASTOR AND TEACHER.—We feel that your faithful and untiring efforts on our behalf during the past four months ought to call forth expressions of appreciation from the most ungrateful hearts. During your labors among us for nearly a year, we have not been so blind as not to recognize the great interest you take in us and our welfare, and the earnestness you show in coming down every week to talk with and teach us in our class here.

We have learned to love and respect you more than we can express. You have shown an interest in us that would soften the most hard hearted. You have come among us as one of ourselves and have led us to so that we only live when we live for the good of others. You have set before us the principles of true manhood and Christianity.

Our hearts are eager to express our gratitude for your valuable labors which you have so cheerfully devoted on our behalf.

We are most devoutly grateful to God who has made your visits to our school so interesting and instructive, and we earnestly desire that he will so order events in His kind providence that you may still continue to be our teacher while you remain on this circuit.

As a mark of our esteem for you, and our appreciation of your labors, we respectfully request of you to accept of this chair. We trust you will cherish it as a memento of our friendly feelings for you, and our gratitude to you for your untiring efforts on our behalf.

Please accept of our best wishes for your future prosperity and happiness. Ever remember that we shall welcome you in our midst, and may God help us to benefit by your kind advice from week to week.

A Good Word For a Good Windmill.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

DEAR SIR:—It is now about four months since Geo. McWilliams Esq. erected one his Queen Windmills on our place, and had it not been that I was afraid of speaking rashly or jumping at conclusions, I would have given it the credit, it richly deserves, in your paper before this. It has proved itself, during the hard frosts we have had this winter, to be able to resist the frost and work as well in cold weather as it does in warm. It is a pleasure to say here to all farmers, and stock raisers, that I consider it the best labour saving machine on the place, and the longest in season, working twelve months of the year. We have a continual supply of water through all our stables, and did not require to turn an animal out all winter unless we chose to do so. We intend running pipes into the house when the seeding is done. Any person desirous of having water convenient for stock, if they will just drive over to our place we will show them the whole apparatus with pleasure. This recommend is not in any way solicited by anybody, as Mr. McWilliams or anybody else knows nothing about it until he may see it in your paper if you will be kind enough to print it.

Yours truly,
ED. M. ELLIOTT,
Lot 17, con. 4, Smith.

[A paragraph respecting Mr. McWilliam's business, stated, on the strength of incorrect information, that he had gone out of the business of manufacturing pumps, and was devoting himself exclusively to the manufacture of windmills. This is not the case. Mr. McWilliams still continues, and will continue to manufacture the best pumps in the market.—ED. EXAMINER.

Wesleyan Methodist Cemetery

To the Editor of the Examiner:

SIR,—At a meeting of the plot owners of the cemetery at the north of the town held in the council chamber many months ago, a committee was appointed to meet the trustees of the George street Methodist church, who we understood were ready to meet them and consider the best means of settling the dispute between the church and the proper owners, who had paid for the land, but for some reason we have yet heard nothing as to the result of this meeting. Permit me to enquire, have they met yet? If not, why? If they have not, what has been done? If some member of this committee would be kind enough to enlighten the public in respect to the matter, he would confer a favor on all parties interested, and receive the thanks of your enquirer.

A PLOT OWNER.

Gladstone, Tennyson and Prof. Newman.

Their Great Years!

Do you wish to live long and attain a ripe age, and at the same time enjoy life legitimately? You can do it only in two ways, both of which are easily followed if you have sufficient good sense and determination.

First, there is the path that has been tred by Gladstone, Tennyson, Prof. Francis William Newman, and scores of other men who have attained great ages—passed fourscore years. They lived wisely and well, they observed Nature's laws to the letter, they ate, drank and rested when Nature demanded, and in this way maintained health, strength and freshness.

Second, there are instances to-day of thousands of men who were fast hastening to the grave through irregularities of living, but who fortunately were brought to see the folly of their course and changed their mode of living, and are now looking forward to a long life. These men were obliged to recuperate; they used a remedy to restore them to strength, they took advantage of a great flesh, bone and blood builder, and are now living examples for others to follow.

Many will wonder, and ask to be informed about this life-renewing agent which prolongs existence on earth. We simply reply, "the agent is Paine's Celery Compound." It was used by men who were nervous, sleepless, weak, dyspeptic, rheumatic and broken-down, and has set them on the rock of health and strength. These former sufferers, rescued from peril and disease through the use of Paine's Celery Compound, have been convinced that a regular life must be pursued to maintain the good that they derived from Celery Compound: and, as far as we can learn, are going on from strength to strength, with every hope of a long life.

Here let it be understood, that Paine's Celery Compound cures, and will give the strength and health so much desired; but, to maintain this condition, all excesses must be avoided and nature's laws must be truly observed and followed.

If at times you feel over-worked or weary, a dose or two of the great remedy will dispel all troubles and give you perfect strength, vigor and energy. It remains for men to decide, whether they are satisfied with a short, miserable life, or whether they prefer to make life happy and long, and live like Gladstone, Tennyson and Newman so as to do good to their fellow beings.

Lindsay is Alive Yet.

Dear old Lindsay is alive yet in some respects; if the citizens cannot find work, they are bound to play and to make a business of amusement. Barron & McLaughlin, solicitors, give notice in The Ontario Gazette of application to incorporate a company to be called the Lindsay Opera House Company (limited) to erect an opera house. The capital stock of the company is $40,000, and there are 1600 shares at $25 each. Peterborough wishes the new company a full stock list and a full house for every rise of the curtain.

Will be Good for Peterborough

The most beneficial legislation passed during the late session of the Legislature was the act prohibiting the granting of bonuses by any municipality. This statute will prevent unfavourably situated towns from crippling themselves in a vain effort to become manufacturing centres, and it will cause industries to decide their location solely on the shipping and the other like facilities offered. A law which prohibits the holding out of any other inducements than these cannot but be beneficial to favorably-located places such as Peterborough, Toronto, Brantford, Galt, and Owen Sound.

The Salvationists Spike a Canon.

The last issue of the War Cry, the organ of the Salvation Army, says: "At Peterborough the Rev. Canon DuMoulin recently delivered a lecture on 'The Great Hymns of the Church.' In his address he spoke of the familiar expressions, such as 'Dear Jesus,' 'Sweet Jesus,' which were never found in the great model hymns. They (the model hymns) were a great condemnation to the flippant ballads and doggerel hymns in the cheaper collection, such as they heard in the Salvation Army. We give this fact to our many readers who know the difference between heart singing and lip singing, feeling sure that they will come to a proper conclusion as to the Rev. Canon's statement."

Hymeneal.

The following from the Montreal Herald refers to Mr. J. E. Richards, who was for a time a member of the local staff of the EXAMINER:—"Mr. J. E. Richards, of the Herald local staff, was married last evening to Miss Gertrude Goodfellow, daughter of the late Thomas Goodfellow, of Dover, Eng. The ceremony, which was a very quiet one, was performed at the residence of the officiating clergyman, the Rev. W. H. Warriner, of Zion Congregational church. The bride, who looked charming in a neat travelling costume of grey, was given away by Mr. S. P. Leet, B.C.L., and the bridesmaids were the Misses Stilwell and A. L. Adams. A number of friends of the happy couple attended the ceremony, after which an informal reception was held at the residence, 655 Lagauchetiere street. Mr. and Mrs. Richards have the best wishes of a large circle of friends and acquaintances."

Two young men from Asphodel named Thos. Collins and Wm. Stevenson were brought up before County Police Magistrate Edmison at the court house this morning, charged with putting coal in the sap buckets and cans of Samson Comego, an Indian, on Sunday, May 3rd. The defendants pleaded guilty to the charge and were fined $2.00 each, and $1 00 for damages, together with costs amounting in all to $3 60.

An Old Timer.

As will be seen by reference to our telegraphic despatches yesterday, among the sufferers by an extensive fire in Stratford on Tuesday was Mr. J. C. Anthony, boot and shoe dealer. He is the father of Mr. W. H. Anthony, of Peterborough, and carried on business here for many years. He occupied a store near McKellar & Cameron's when that block was burned some twenty-three years ago, and left town shortly afterwards. His many friends will hope that his loss is not a serious one.

A Local Bridge and Engineering Company

The last number of The Ontario Gazette contains notice of an application to the Lieut.-Governor in Council for the incorporation of "The Central Bridge and Engineering Company of Peterborough (Limited)" for the purpose of manufacturing steel and iron bridges, architectural and structurial work of all descriptions, steel railroad cars, and for the purpose of carrying on a general engineering business. The operations of the company are to be carried on in Peterborough. The amount of the capital stock of the company is $200,000, divided into 2000 shares of $100 each.

Improvements to County Offices.

Much needed improvements are now being made to the offices of Jas. A. Hall, county sheriff, and Edgar Pierce, county treasurer, at the court house. New oak ceilings have been recently put in over their offices. The handiwork and construction is very beautiful and the wood work is nicely stained and varnished. New floors are now being built to replace the old and rotten flooring. The oak flooring in the county treasurers office is already laid and oiled. To-day new floors are being laid in both the private and public offices of the sheriff. The carpenter work is being done by Napoleon Trombley and Israel Dupres. Brighter and more inviting offices cannot now be desired than the sheriff's and the county treasurer's.

A Cool and Romantic Summer Trip.

British Columbia and Alaska now claim the attention of the summer tourist. The Canadian Pacific Navigation Company (Limited) has opened up an attractive route. Their handsome, Clyde-built steamer, the "Islander," is to make five trips from Victoria and Vancouver, B. C., during the coming season, among the inlets, fiords, &c., of British Columbia, to Sitka and the great Muir Glacier. Among other places the steamer will call at Fort Simpson, Metlakahtla, Gardner's Inlet, China Hat, Fort Rupert and Alert Bay—points not visited by the other steamers that have hitherto made the trip to Alaska. In this way some of the most magnificent of the coast scenery of British Columbia will be seen, and seen from the deck of a new, well-appointed and comfortable steamer. The passage being in smooth water throughout, a great part indeed through narrow fiords where a biscuit could be thrown ashore on either side, the only drawback to such a trip is removed. Passengers so desiring can be landed at Sitka, and of course at any of the points named in British Columbia. This picturesque and interesting portion of the North American continent is very little known. An excellent description of it was given by Lord Dufferin when he visited it as Governor General of Canada, and the fact that the trip can now be made with every comfort, and at such a reasonable cost ($95 the return ticket from Victoria or Vancouver) ought to attract a number of those who desire to recruit their health and at the same enjoy a novelty in travel. Tickets and berths, etc., for this tour can be obtained from any agent of the Canadian Pacific Railway.

A Magnificent Success.

The First Ball Given under the Auspices of the Olympic Club proves a Successful Venture—A Highly Enjoyable Affair.

The first annual ball given under the auspices and patronage of the Olympic Club, which took place in the Opera House last evening, was a charming affair and a surpassing success. The Opera House was tastefully and skilfully decorated for the occasion. Banners bearing "Welcome," and "God Save the Queen," were strung across the gaily decorated pavilion at either end, while creeping up at the sides of the walls and swinging loosely in mid air, were bunting and bannerettes, ensigns and streamers. The beauty of the work and construction is due to the skilled hand and artist's eye of Mr. Alfred Kingscote.

Some eighty-five couples were present last night to participate in the various events of the evening. The guests were all in full dress, and some of the ladies' handsome and costly costumes are worthy of especial mention—were a particularization at all allowable. The music of the evening, excellent and high-class as it was, was furnished by the celebrated orchestra of Mr. J. Batcher, flanked by the addition of the Napolatino brothers, of Toronto, who played first and second violin, Mr. Park, of Toronto, playing the viola, and Mr. A. Freeman, of Norwood, the bass viol. The dancers were enthusiastic in their praise and appreciation of the music. The great event was a purely local affair; only a few were present from Toronto, Montreal, Port Hope, and Cobourg. The stewards of the evening to whom a large measure of the success of last night's entertainment can be ascribed were: L. M. Hayes, R. M. Dennistoun, J. J. Lundy, A. Stevenson, W. A. Stratton, W. Loeb, R. Stevenson, J. Fairweather, T. E. Pearse, A. Crofton, C. McClelland, Dr. Brennan, A. V. R. Young, J. Snyder, W. Montgomery, W. Hamilton, Jr. These well known gentlemen were ably assisted in their duties by President T. A. Hay, Vice-Presidents Robt. Fair and J. W. Taylor, and Secretary Frank Perry can justly claim the satisfaction and praise, expressed by the numerous guests of last night's social event. Mr. Wm. Bowman was the capable caterer of the evening and the Opera House dining hall was frequented with pleasure and delight. Mr. Bowman fully sustained his well earned record last night as a first class caterer. Mr. H. Long furnished the roses of the evening. From the opening lancers at nine o'clock until the last graceful waltz was tripped at three o'clock in the morning, the scene was one of exhilarating enjoyment. The evening's entertainment was a signal success, throughout the whole circuit of the twenty-four dances, lancers, waltz, polka, Circassian circle, waltz, schottische, quadrille, jersey, waltz, lancers, bon-ton, polka, lancers, waltz, rye, quadrille, polka, waltz, lancers, schottische (military), waltz, lancers, polka, waltz.

Does Not Care to Live
If He Cannot Have

HOOD'S

Sarsaparilla

It would be difficult to find a man better known in the vicinity of Burlington, Vt., than Mr. R. D. Wheeler of Winooski Falls, the efficient Deputy Sheriff of Burlington county. He says: "C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.:

"Dear Sirs: If Hood's Sarsaparilla cost

$10.00 a Bottle

I should still keep using it, as I have for the past ten years. With me the question as to whether life is worth living depends upon whether I can get Hood's Sarsaparilla. I don't think I could live without it now, certainly I should not wish to, and suffer as I used to. For over ten years I suffered the horrors of the damned with for if ever a man suffers with anything in this world it is with that awful disease. It seems to me as if all other physical suffering were compressed into that one. I took about everything man ever tried for it but never got a dollar's worth of help until I began taking

Hood's Sarsaparilla

I have taken it now pretty regularly for ten years and have no more pain and can get around all right. I have advised a good many to try Hood's Sarsaparilla." R. D. WHEELER, Deputy Sheriff, Winooski Falls, Vt.

Imagination or speculation has been running riot with some people. For the past ten days we have had hosts of visitors inquiring if we had seen the plans for the changes in our building to accommodate the Bank of Commerce, which it is rumoured will be placed in the store we now occupy. Incidental with this we are told with a Solomon-like look, that there are more changes to occur before long and that when the World's Fair is held in Peterborough, things will look so different that the "old residents" will find it hard to remember when and how these changes occurred. Our visitors generally finish their conversation by asking if goods are any cheaper on account of these SUPPOSED CHANGES, and, as we are always alive and ready to do business, we find Dame Rumour has been of immense benefit to us lately. We will say that what we most desire just now is

CHANGE,

Change in our cash drawer especially and for that reason we are now offering many inducements. Our facilities for doing business are greater than ever this season. LeBRUN'S OLD STAND,

GEORGE STREET.

A STATESMAN LAID AT REST.

THE remains of the late Hon. Alex. Mackenzie were laid in their last resting place at Lakeview Cemetery, Sarnia, to-day, with a dignified simplicity of ceremonial and procedure, befitting the sublimely plain and honest character of the departed statesman. The throngs of people who attended to pay the last tribute of respect, were not attracted by the idle curiosity of witnessing a lavish display of funereal pomp but by genuine admiration of the character of a public man who spent his life in promoting the good of his fellow men and the advancement of the interests of his adopted country. In him were combined the happy qualities of unswerving loyalty to the crown without sycophancy, and of unflinching loyalty to the people without disrespect to the crown. His was not a party funeral. There were present the most distinguished members of the party upon whose principles only he could build his political faith, and also members of an opposing party, who, while they opposed for party's sake, could not withhold their tribute of honour to the memory of a man, who served his country faithfully, and in the highest position of trust, suffered no temptation to turn him aside from the straightforward path of duty, one who has built in the hearts of the people of Canada a monument more lasting than brass.

Upon the shaft that mark this resting place
Engrave the words: "Here lies a Patriot."
And let it be a four-square honest shaft
Of close-knit Scottish granite,
With no vain florriture of art adorned,
But sternly upright, fronting all the world,
To match the man we knew.—Grip

An Attempted Poisoning in Verulam.

A Farm Servant Doses his Employer's Meat with Poison—Committed for Trial.

This morning the preliminary hearing in the case of David Walker, charged with attempting to poison fatally Mr. Andrew Finley, of Verulam, was concluded before Col. Deacon at Lindsay, and the accused was committed for trial. The circumstances as brought out in evidence, are these. On April 5th, Walker, who was a farm servant with Mr. Finley, got up earlier than usual, started a fire in the kitchen stove and put on the kettle—something he was not in the habit of doing. When breakfast was ready Mr. Finley noticed a bitter taste on a piece of fat meat on the plate, which Mr. Finley, on account of defective teeth, could only eat, and would be supposed to select. It was noticed that Walker reached across the plate and took a bone with very little meat on it, next to Mr. Finley and farthest from himself. The former did not swallow any of the meat he had taken into his mouth. The piece of meat he had taken on his plate was thrown to the dog, which in about fifteen minutes after swallowing it was dead. Hence the charge. The motive is supposed to have been Walker's desire to get Mr. Finley's place, he evidently thinking that he had only to get Mr. Finley out of the way in order to get the property. Walker had negotiated for farm implements in expectation, and had even gone so far as to request a conveyancer to draw up a deed, transfering the property to himself. Walker is a stranger in the neighborhood, and has been about two years off and on with Mr. Finlay, making that place his home.

Lakefield.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

An unusually large number of wild geese have been observed flying north the past week.

The ice is said to have nearly all gone out of Clear Lake, so that navigation can be considered open.

The village council as a committee of the whole made their annual tour of inspection of the streets on Monday and laid out the improvements and repairs for the coming season.

A couple of our village sports have arranged to try the speed of their respective horses for a purse of $20, on the Peterborough race track in a few days.

The busy burglar paid the clerk's office a visit last Friday night, but as the cash is all kept across the road he left empty handed, after tossing over a lot of papers, and covering the desk with the drips from a wax candle used in his search.

The Presbyterians held service and Sunday school in the town hall on Sunday. Our reeve must have thought them a hard lot to judge by the presence of a uniformed policeman at the door.

The name of the Lakefield Lumber Company's steamer is the "Undine." The "Sunbeam" is owned by Mr. George Hilliard, both have been overhauled, and the former has been up as far as the Point.

The "Golden City" Capt. Reynolds, made the first trip of the season on Good Friday, when the Captain took all who desired to go for a complimentary trip to Young's Point. A pleasant afternoon was spent.

As it was found that owing to the bonus act passed at the late session of the local house, the council could not loan Mann Bros. the amount requested, it has been arranged to do so from private sources, and they are engaged in placing the shafting and machinery and expect to have it in full running order, both customs and manufacturing departments, in about six weeks if all goes well. It is expected that the customs department will be ready in about two weeks.

The concert given on Easter Monday by the members of the Lakefield P.A.A.A. and their friends in P. C. A. Hall was fairly attended and was a decided success, although one or two from town who had promised their services failed to put in an appearance. A pleasant evening was spent and a nice sum realized.

The burglar who has so long been troubling our merchants and others has at last come to grief. On Tuesday morning when Mr. S. Nelson came down to his flour and grain warehouse he found the office window had again been forced open, and a marked bill that he had left in the till as a decoy, was gone. He at once started up street to place all the business men on their guard, but when he arrived at Webster's confectionery shop, found the bill ahead of him, having been received for cakes and candies at a late hour the previous evening from a young man named Northcott (the same who placed the obstructions on the G. T. R. track one or two years ago) and who has long been suspected. As an Act passed at the late session of the Provincial Legislature makes it compulsory to try all criminal informations before the county police magistrate, which necessitates a trip or more to town, the young scamp may get off, as Mr. Nelson does not care to spare the time, and go to the trouble now required to prosecute.

A little reflection will show our correspondent that the provisions of the law which he seems to criticize in the closing sentence of the above paragraph, is a proper one. From the nature of things, the ordinary justice of the peace is not in a position to adjudicate on criminal matters. He has not the time to devote to the study of the law nor the experience which a salaried county police magistrate is supposed to possess. The latter is salaried and directly responsible to the Government, and will presumably exercise greater care in the study of the law, and greater caution in administering it. A serious matter that may involve the liberty of an accused man for years, is very properly referred to an official specially fitted and appointed to deal with such cases.—ED EXAMINER.]

THE CANADA LIFE ASSURANCE CO'Y.

Forty-Fifth Annual Meeting of the Great Institution.

Remarkable Record for the Past Year—The Annual Report—Election of Directors.

The 45th annual meeting of the greatest of Canadian insurance institutions, the Canada Life Assurance Company, was held to-day in the board room of the Company's head office in Hamilton. There were present a gathering of the representative men of Canada, men whose names are known all over the country for solidity and business ability, with Mr. G. A. Ramsay, president of the company, presiding over the deliberations. The meeting was a most harmonious and eminently satisfactory one.

Mr. Ramsay took the chair shortly after 12 o'clock, with Mr. Roland Hills as secretary of the meeting.

President Ramsay submitted the following:

REPORT BY THE BOARD OF DIRECTORS OF THE CANADA LIFE ASSURANCE COMPANY, SUBMITTED TO THE ANNUAL GENERAL MEETING OF SHAREHOLDERS, HELD AT HAMILTON ON THE 5TH OF APRIL, 1892:

The business of 1891, being the company's 45th year, was again highly favourable. The new assurances applied for were 2,507 in number, and $5,929,088 in amount. Of these, 136 for $259,500 were declined, the lives not appearing to reach that standard of eligibility which it is in the best interest of our assurers should be maintained. Of the balance of $5,669,588, upon 2,371 lives, which were accepted by the directors, 204 for $414,562 were not carried out, leaving the actual new assurances of the year $5,255,021 under 2,167 policies, with a new annual income premium of $178,191.06.

At 31st December last there were in force $56,218,318.03 of assurances and bonus additions, upon 19,563 lives, under 26,484 policies.

The statement of receipts and payments, and the abstract of assets and liabilities, herewith submitted, show that the income of the year was $2,213,096.27, and that the assets amounted to $12,074,124.87, having being increased during the year by $1,041.684 78.

The death claims for the year were upon 192 lives under 243 policies for $511,879.11, including profits, a sum considerably under that of the previous year, 1890, when the amount was a good deal affected by the epidemic of la grippe which then prevailed, and its results.

The business at the various branches has been generally well sustained, and having last year alluded to anticipations of successful progress at the Michigan branch, it may be mentioned that these have been largely realized,

In compliance with the company's charter the following directors retire by rotation, but are eligible for re-election: The Hon. Sir Alexander Campbell, K. C. M. G., Toronto; Andrew Allan, Esq., Montreal, and Thomas Swinyard, Esq., New York State.

(Signed), A. G. RAMSAY, President,
R. HILLS, Secretary.

PRESIDENT RAMSAY'S REMARKS.

Mr. A. G. Ramsay moved the adoption of the annual report. In so doing he reviewed carefully and ably, the business of the year. He said:—

I beg to move the adoption of the directors report now before you, and although the statements which it, and the published accounts, which have been in your hands for some days, so clearly indicate the success of the past year's business, and the sound position of the company, that I need take up but little of the time of this annual meeting in adverting to them, it may be interesting, I dare say, that I draw your attention shortly to some of the features which these documents disclose. The new business of the past year amounted, you will see to $5,255,021, a sum so nearly approaching the best year we have ever had that I think we may well congratulate you upon it. It has happily been our good fortune each year for so long to be able to make a somewhat similar statement that I fear it may appear a somewhat monotonous one, for which, however, I need offer no apology. You will have noticed that the total assurances in force at the close of 1891 were $56,218,318, an amount which suggests a very large measure of public support and confidence in the company. The income continues to largely increase, and it amounted last year to $2,213,096, more than twice as much as it was ten years ago, and nearly seven times what it was twenty years ago. With the possibility of a corresponding progress in the future we may well be encouraged to continue that caution and care in the direction and in the management of the company's affairs, which in the past have made the Canada Life's name synonymous with that of integrity, liberality and stability. The large addition of over $1,000,000 was added to the companys assets last year, making them $12,074,124, or about twice what they were only seven years ago. While difficulty in obtaining satisfactory investments as they were wanted was experienced during the year, every effort and the best judgment of the board were exercised so as to make that difficulty as little felt as possible.

As you are well aware, there has of late years been a gradual reduction in the rate of interest obtainable on the best class of securities, and while our Company is of course affected by that, in common with all others, every exertion is made to diminish as far as we can any loss in that way.

The death claims during 1891 were $511,873, being a lower amount than they had been in 1890, when, largely by the grippe epidemic, they reached $603,284.

The statment of receipts and payments shows that during 1891, $316,370 was paid to policy-holders as profits, a return of nearly 20 per cent. of the year's premiums paid to the Company, a percentage of profits on premiums paid so rarely reached by other companies as to lead us to press upon intending assurers the advantages which our Company offers in that respect. In alluding to that I am very glad indeed to have the opportunity of saying that by the courtesy of the Superintendent of Insurance we were yesterday favoured with the result of the Government's quinquennial valuation of our Company's affairs. It shows that over and above the full reserve we are required by the Government of Canada to hold, and all liabilities, we have on hand a large profit surplus such as indicates no diminution in the Company's profit-making powers. You have been informed by the Director's Report of the generally favourable progress of the Company's various branches, and the efforts of our Managers and Agents are well deserving of our thanks and encouragement. Special allusion has been made to the branch established by the Company, in Michigan in 1890. Because it being somewhat of an experiment, you would naturally desire to hear specially as to it. I am very pleased to be able to say that the progress of the branch is so satisfactory as to have last year placed the Company in the fourteenth position, in point of new assurances, out of 82 companies doing business in the State. For a great deal of our success in Michigan, we are indebted to the support of the prominent and influential gentlemen who have been good enough to aid us by acting upon our Board of Reference. I am glad to tell you that we have entered upon the year 1892 with the most encouraging prospects. The new business up to the present date far exceed that of any previous year, and I trust that at our next meeting we may be able to again record a continuance of such prosperity as has already been so satisfactory to you and to our various policy-holders.

VICE-PRESIDENT GATES' REMARKS.

Mr. F. W. Gates, Vice-President of the Company, seconded the adoption of the report. In doing so he said:—

Mr. Chairman and gentlemen.—When it is borne in mind that there has been no perceptible improvement in business generally throughout the country during the past year, I think we must be compelled to admit that the statement which has been presented to-day ought to be considered highly satisfactory. It is true that the company might have done a much larger amount of business than has been done if we had been less scrupulously careful in the acceptance of risks which have been applied for. As the report shows, and as the president has pointed out, many applications have been rejected. We have exercised the greatest care in this matter in order that the company and the insured alike might be fully protected. We did not indulge in the extravagances which some companies have in order to increase our business, but have rather followed a policy of carefnl management in the interest of the company. I well remember some years ago that the president in his address referred with a good deal of pleasure to the fact that we had an income of $1,000 a day; now it is $7,000 a day, and it was easy then to invest $1,000 a day. It is not so easy to invest $7,000 now, even with the lower rate of interest, I may again refer to the remarkably small losses, and again congratulate the company upon that state of affairs. I have much pleasure, gentlemen, in seconding the motion for the adoption of the report.

President Ramsay put the motion, which was carried unanimously.

THANKS TO PRESIDENT AND DIRECTORS.

Mr. Byron E. Walker moved a vote of thanks to the President and Directors for their attention to the interests of the company during the year.

In offering the motion Mr. Walker said:—It gives me very great pleasure indeed to propose the thanks of the shareholders to our President and Directors. Reference has been made to the growth and success of the Canada Life in the past, and I consider that they are largely due to the excellent management. The big companies in the United States are beginning to realize that it may be possible to do too much business, but I am sure that if the policy which has been pursued by the Canada Life in the past is adhered to, another ten years of our career will show corresponding prosperity. I hope that our President may long be spared to direct the affairs of the company, and that he may have the advice and co-operation of such men as now constitute the directorate.

Mr. Henry McLaren—Mr. President and gentlemen, I have very much pleasure in seconding the motion.

The motion was put and carried unanimously, amid applause.

President Ramsay replied:—I expect that I shall have to reply to the motion you have just passed. I thank you very much indeed for the resolution and for the kind expressions made use of. I believe I can confidently say that every one of the Directors has done all that was in his power to further the interests of the company.

THREE DIRECTORS ELECTED.

The Hon. Mr. Justice Burton moved the appointment of Messrs. W. F. Findlay and Campbell Farrie as scrutineers of votes for the election of Directors in the room of the three retiring, and that the poll shall now be opened, and closed upon five minutes elapsing without a vote being tendered.

Mr. Matthew Leggat seconded the motion, which was carried.

The voting took a good deal of time, and while the ballots were being counted other business was proceeded with. The election resulted in the choice of Hon. Sir Alexander Campbell, K.C. M. G., of Toronto, Mr. Andrew Allan, of Montreal, and Mr. Geo. A. Cox, of Toronto. The last named gentlemen will take the place of Mr. Thomas Swinyard on the Board, the other two gentlemen being re-elected.

The usual votes of thanks were passed, and at a meeting of the directors subsequently held, Mr. A. G. Ramsay was re-elected President, and Mr. F. W. Gates, Vice-President.

A Cough and Croup Medicine.

For children a medicine should be absolutely reliable. A mother must be able to pin her faith to it as to her Bible. It must contain nothing violent, uncertain, or dangerous. It must be standard in material and manufacture. It must be plain and simple to administer; easy and pleasant to take. The child must like it. It must be prompt in action, giving immediate relief, as childrens' troubles come quick, grow fast, and end fatally or otherwise in a very short time. It must not only relieve quick but bring them around quick, as children chafe and fret and spoil their constitutions under long confinement. It must do its work in moderate doses. A large quantity of medicine in a child is not desirable. It must not interfere with the child's spirits, appetite or general health. These things suit old as well as young folks, and make Boschee's German Syrup the favorite family medicine.

Famous German Aeronaut Dead.

BERLIN, April 20.—Herr Damm, the famous German aeronaut, died yesterday in this city. He has a world-wide reputation and has frequently made ascents in the United States. During the Franco-Prussian war Damm obtained from the Prussians the balloon in which Gambetta escaped from Paris to Tours, and which was turned adrift as soon as Gambetta had effected his purpose. With this he performed many experiments and made some of his most daring voyages.

He has made arrangements for the military to aid the police if necessary.

Michael Once Again Committed.

DETROIT, April 20.—Prince Michael, Eliza Courts and a number of long-haired court attaches were in the Police Court yesterday, when the case against the "royal pair" was called, in which Mary Ellen Rawlinson charges Mills with a felonious assault upon her and Eliza Courts with aiding and abetting him.

After some formalities had been gone through they waived examination to the Recorder's Court.

They were held on $1000 bail each, with two sureties.

Beet Sugar Industry.

OTTAWA, April 20.—A large deputation of persons interested in the beet sugar industry in Quebec had an interview with Hon. Mr. Foster and other members of the ministry this afternoon and urged that the bounty of two cents a pound granted last year for two years be continued for five or ten years longer. It was represented that the quality of beets was rapidly improving and the industry promised to become highly successful.

Mr. Foster said that the matter would receive due consideration.

Telegraphic Sharks Try to Rob Buffalo Poolrooms, But Are Deceived.

BUFFALO, April 19.—There was a badly arranged attempt made to salt the local poolrooms to-day. The regular race wire was tapped and when the result of the first race at Guttenburg came it made Headlight winner, with Hannibal second. The positions should have been reversed. The operators in the poolrooms concluded there was something wrong and advised their principals not to pay. This advice was taken by the proprietors. The telegraph company was communicated with, a new wire obtained and the fraud discovered.

Ode to Mount Pleasant.

Thou fount of many mighty men
Who valiantly have borne,
Thy praises into foreign climes,
And made thy rivals mourn;
How often have I sounded
Thy praises far and wide,
From Scotia's fair and lovely land,
To the great Pacific's tide.

Like many others of thy clans,
Thy sun has ceased to shine
As brilliantly as formerly,
When trade was not so fine,
Cut up by small monopolies
And crafty rules of tick,
Whose constant repetition has Made trade and commerce sick.

Thy natured sons and daughters fair
Have wandered far away,
Where fortune seemed to sweeter smile
And help them on their way;
So now, where once was joy and thrift,
Where youth and beauty strayed,
The hum of business is unheard
And mirthfulness decayed.

The raven on Mt. Nebo's brow
Looks downward with surprise,
Till reminiscences of yore
Bring tears into his eyes;
For the rude village now so dull
And tottering in its fall;
For cruel fate which dealt the blow
That brought it to the wall.

Thy fallen state has made me sad
When to my youth I turn,
And think of joys departed,
Which never will return;
Thy doom has caused me anguish,
Thy desolation, pain,
I wish that thou could'st truly be
Thy former self again.

For about a fortnight past Mr. James Hawthorne, brother of Mr. Edward Hawthorne, deputy-reeve of Dummer, has been ill at the Nicholls Hospital, and on Saturday the dread disease from which he had been suffering, closed his life at the age of 25 years. Think of the terrible results of neglected consumption! which might be easily averted by the timely use of Nature's Great Specific, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery.

Consumption, which is Lung-scrofula, is a constitutional disease, and requires just such a thorough and effectual constitutional remedy! Taken in time, before the lungs tissues are wasted, it is guaranteed a radical cure! Equally certain in all scrofulous affections and blood disorders. Large bottles, one dollar, of any druggist. 8

Blood Will Tell.

Good blood will show its quality. So will bad blood, the one in a healthy body and ruddy complexion, the other in ill health, blotches, pimples, boils and sores, and frequently in intenser forms as ulcers, abscesses erysipelas, scorfulous diseases, salt rheum, etc. Every organ of the body depends upon the blood for force and vitality, and is but scantily nirved when the blood is impure. No remedy is so potent as a blood purifier or more rapidly produces new and healthy blood than Burdock Blood Bitters, which neutralizes the various poisons and restores the vitalizing power of this all important fluid. As an instance of this read what Mr. J. S. Neff, of Algoma Mills, Ont., says in a recent letter:

Sirs,—A year ago I was troubled with spots breaking out all over my body, the effect of bad blood. I consulted three different doctors, who gave me medicine but did not cure me. I was advised to try B.B.B., and after using two bottles I noticed the spots getting less. I continued to use B.B.B., which entirely cured me, giving me also a splendid appetite. Since then I would use no other medicine.

ANOTHER BUSY DAY'S SESSION IN TORONTO.

Many Sections Meet and Many Scholarly Papers Read—Some Clashing Between Classics and Moderns—Movements Towards Unity—A Mark of Respect to the Dead.

TORONTO, April 21.—The inspectors' section met yesterday morning at 9 o'clock. A resolution was passed that the section should stand adjourned from noon to 2.30 p.m. to give the members an opportunity of attending the funeral services of the late Hon. Alexander Mackenzie, and that the whole association be urged to take a similar course, a suggestion which was adopted by the others. Mr. D. Fotheringham of South York read a paper on "The More Thorough Professional Training of Teachers," in which he urged more professional training, a probationary year and a more thorough system of inspection. After some discussion Mr. J. H. Smith of Wentworth, ex-president of the association, read a paper on "The Education of Farmers' Sons," in which he advocated modern points of view, the acquiring of information as well as training, and the harmonizing of it with the pupils' environments. He then commended the leaving examinations of public schools as an approximation of high grade public schools in rural districts. There was considerable discussion and then the section adjourned until this morning.

The Mathematical Men.

The Mathematical and Physical Association met at 10 o'clock. The chair was taken by Principal MacMurchy. Mr. William J. Loudon, M.A., of University College read a very interesting paper on "Musical Scales," showing the intimate connection between mathematics and music. The various experiments on the apparatus brought from University College by the lecturer were thoroughly appreciated and a vote of thanks passed.

At the 3 o'clock meeting the question of forming a part of the main association came up and the opinion was expressed that such a course would be greatly to the interest of education if a fair amount of time could be devoted to the special work of the department.

The chairman was deputed to lay these views before the other associations.

Dr. McLellan will address the Mathematical and Physical Association this morning at 11 o'clock, and Prof. Baker will deliver his address on "Astronomy in Our High Schools." At 3 p.m. a general discussion will take place and the election of officers.

The Children's Friends.

Fully seventy-five kindergartners attended this, the first meeting ever held, a most gratifying nucleus. Mrs. L. T. Newcome of Hamilton, the president, welcomed the members in a pleasant speech, in which she urged them to greater unity so as to bring about a complete systematization of all the kindergarten work of the province. Mrs. J. L. Hughes then read a most instructive paper on "Reforms in Education," and Mrs. Wylie of Brantford spoke of the purport of drawing as practised in the kindergarten work. Miss Amelia Hofer of Boston was present and gave a charming talk on the spiritual idea in kindergarten training, in its development of the best in teacher and pupil alike and its influence towards the formation of a Christian character. The meeting then adjourned to meet again at 10 o'clock this morning.

A Day in Moderns.

The Modern Language Association stuck to its program, a rare virtue in conventions. At 10 in the morning Mr. E. J. McIntyre gave a specimen lesson in French, and this was followed up by Mr. L. E. Horning with a paper on "Beowulf," the early Anglo-Saxon poet. He confined himself to the philological side of the question, and pointed out the differences in dialect between the earlier and the later portions of the poem. In the afternoon Mr. A. W. Burt, B.A., read a paper upon "Supplementary Reading in English Literature," advocating a system in the high schools by which the tastes and needs of the individual student shall be met.

The Science Section.

In the morning the honorary president, Prof. Ramsay Wright, addressed the meeting on science in high schools, viewed from a university matriculation standpoint. He advocated greater thoroughness in high schools and the compulsory study of English literature in schools of science, to obviate the lack of culture that is sometimes urged against science men.

The election of officers resulted in the re-election of Prof. Ramsay Wright as honorary president, and as president, W. E. Ellis, B.A., B.Sc.; vice-president, Dr Forest; secretary-treasurer, Prof. Smyth; councillors, Messrs. Lennox, Fessenden, E. G. Smith, J. Turner and Dr. McCallum.

Papers were then read by Mr. T. H. Lennox, upon "Science Education and Modern Civilization," by Mr. Fessenden on "Experiment Work in Physics by Pupils," and by Mr. H. S. Spotton, M.A., on "Science Teaching in Public Schools," in which he urged the teaching of botany and physics in connection with drawing.

The Classical Section.

Mr. W. S. Milner, B.A. of Toronto University, opened the morning session of the classical section with a most scholarly and sympathetic paper on "The Modern Spirit in Virgil." After tracing the superficial resemblances between the Augustan age and the present century in the gap between rich and poor, and in the lack of hope and freshness, Mr. Milner proceeded to show the influence of Lucretius upon Virgil's philosophy of life, and the similarity of Virgil's attitude towards the mystery and pathos of life to the modern spirit, as shown in Coleridge, Wordsworth, Swinburne and especially Tennyson—"the English Virgil." Virgil's artistic attitude was also shown to be like that of the present. The paper was greatly enjoyed by the meeting and will probably be printed in its entirety.

Mr. J. Waugh, M.A., of Collingwood Collegiate Institute read the second paper. This was upon "The Educational Value of Language Study," and was a spirited defence of classics. After a glance at the materialistic tendencies of education he maintained the value of classics as against modern languages, and showed that they give excellent training, first in the promotion of taste and literary culture by means of translation, which as an exercise is often superior to English composition and secondly in direct mental training, the grammar of Latin and Greek being peculiarly adapted to the production of this result.

Their Officers.

In the afternoon the election resulted as follows: Hon. president, Prof. Hutton, M.A.; president, Prof. Fletcher, M.A.; vice-president, W. Dale, M.A.; secretary-treasurer, H. R. Fairclough, M.A.; councillors, Prof. A. J. Bell, Ph. D., Messrs. Strachan, M.A., E. B. Nicholson, M.A., John Henderson, M.A., J. E. Hodgson, M.A., A. Carruthers, M.A., and J. C. Robertson, M.A.

The committee on Latin Pronunciation then reported through Mr. H. R. Fairclough, outlining an exhaustive and radical system of pronunciation approximating very closely to the Roman method as opposed to the English method now in use. This was keenly discussed and finally adopted.

What Pupils and Teachers Require.

In the public school section the first paper read was by Miss Annie Hendry of Hamilton on "School Decoration," and was a strong plea for greater beauty in the school room, reviewing the dingy appearances now too often presented, and suggesting various improvements. The tone of the discussion was strongly in favor of the paper, and various means of decoration were suggested.

Capt. J. T. Thompson, public school drill instructor of Toronto, then read a paper on physical culture, arguing strongly for the training of the body as well as the mind, and showing the improvement caused by careful attention to proper modes of exercise and physical training. His lecture was charmingly illustrated by a class of pretty little girls, whose ruddy faces and lithe free movements attested the physical value of his system.

At 2.30 the teachers re-assembled, and Mr. J. G. Hume read his paper, "Physiological Psychology." In it he defined physiology as the study of the physical nature of animals and psychology as the study of the facts of consciousness, and showed how the two studies might be related so as to throw light upon each other. Inspector Hughes then took up the subject of "Modern Methods in Teaching Geography," strongly advocating the system of teaching pupils to draw maps and so learn the relative position and value of cities, rivers, mountains, etc., by the exercise of their own intelligence. The meeting then adjourned.

The Final Section Meeting.

The nearly defunct high school section met at 8 p.m., composed of members of the Science, Modern Language, Classical and Mathematical societies, and discussed the question of union with the proposed Educational Association. A general feeling towards unity was perceptible, and it is quite safe to predict that this morning a great stride in that direction may be taken, though complete amalgamation will likely be the work of a year or two.

Unknown Woman Done to Death.

DETROIT, April 21.—The body of a young woman was found on the shore at Grosse Pointe near the waterworks yesterday and indications point to murder. It was that of a woman 20 years of age with brown hair and dark features. She wore a black silk dress. Her other garments also denote good circumstances.

There was no jewelry about her person except a heavy plain gold ring on the finger of the left hand.

On the girl's left temple was a mark, which looked as though she had been struck with some heavy blunt instrument.

There were no papers or other marks of identification on her person.

It is thought the body may be that of Lizzie Brown, who mysteriously disappeared from the home of her parents, Seventh-street, Detroit, on Monday last.

QUALITY and COST.

QUALITY is a small word, but it has a big meaning.

COST is a still smaller word, but, when consistent with quality, is in every case the first consideration—especially in the purchase of Dress Goods.

Our customers are daily realizing the fact that in our Dress Goods Department, the HIGHEST quality and the LOWEST cost go hand-in-hand. Another advantage is the absolute NEWNESS of our stock. It isn't a rehash of last year's styles, however modern. The designs are the newest effects produced, with all the latest fashionable combinations of good taste.

Fancy a $16 costume being sold for $5? That's the benefit you reap by our extensive facilities in buying.

The attractions at our Millinery Parlours still keep up. In fact, you would think every day was an opening day. This may be attributed to our supplementary display of Pattern Hats and Bonnets, and later arrivals of Millinery Novelties, Jackets and Capes, Dress Silks and Fancy Dry Goods. The attraction is not only in the goods themselves, but in the BARGAINS OFFERED.

We can furnish a whole house from attic to drawing room, with new patterns of Carpets and Floor Coverings of all kinds; and we can also match the Carpets with Curtains, Draperies and Upholsteries of elegant designs in contrasting colours. Nothing is too high priced.

THE ONTARIO TEACHERS

CONCLUDE THEIR ANNUAL SESSION IN TORONTO.

Officers Elected For the Current Year—A Number of Interesting and Instructive Addresses Delivered By American Educationists.

TORONTO, April 22.—The Teachers' Convention is a thing of the past, and so also is the Ontario Teachers' Association. From henceforth there is the Ontario Educational Association, and into it is merged the old Teachers' Association and all the other associations, modern language, classical, science—even the younger mathematical and kindergarten associations. Now there will be one big association with six departments, which will include all the miscellaneous branches hitherto working simultaneously, such as the public school section, the high school section, the inspectors, the kindergartners, etc. The departments will subdivide into classical, modern language, science, etc., sections. Thus greater unity will be gained, while the individuality of each will be preserved.

These constitutional changes would be sufficient to mark this as an important convention, but in all departments it was an unqualified success. The unity and good feeling shown was remarkable, the papers were able and interesting, especially good were Mr. Milver's "Modern Spirit in Virgil," Mr. Houston's sketch of the growth of university extension and eloquent defence and exposition of its principles, and Rev. G. M. Milligan's address upon "Tact in Teaching."

The Constitution Passed.

In the morning the constitution submitted previously was discussed in a general meeting, and finally passed with slight alterations, the chief of which was the admission of the kindergartners as a department and not a section of the public school department. An invitation to separate school teachers was also given by the president. In this connection the results of the various elections which this occasioned may now be given.

Officers of the Association.

President, S. B. Sinclair, B.A., Hamilton; secretary, R. W. Doan, Toronto; treasurer, W. J. Hendry, Toronto.

High School section: Chairman, A. T. Steele, Orangeville; secretary, T. J. Birchard, Ph. D., Brantford.

Public School section: Chairman, W. Wilkinson, Brantford; secretary, A. McMillan, Toronto.

Public School Inspectors' section: Chairman, W. Atkin, St. Thomas; secretary, J.S. Deacon, Milton.

The Public School Association.

The public school section then met. Miss Hendry's paper on school decorations was ordered to be printed in the minutes. The committee appointed to outline a syllabus on practical language lessons sent in a report, which was printed without reading. The election of department officers followed, its result being given above, and the section adjourned for the noon hour.

In the afternoon the public hall was well filled, and the officers of the new Educational Association were elected in accordance with the newly-adopted constitution. Mr. Sinclair won the position of president only after a contested election, and while the ballots were being counted Mr. W. Houston reported on his visit to the Quebec Protestant Teachers' Association, giving an interesting account of the condition and difficulties of education in that province.

Miss E. Bolton of the kindergarten at Ottawa then read her paper upon "The Object of Early Training." Her paper was an earnest plea for careful watching and guidance of the little one, as it so often is in the early years that its future is made or marred. On this she based a strong protest for a higher and truer conception of motherhood, and for a greater attention to the home by fathers.

Miss Giddings of Boston then delivered in her admirable style an address upon physical culture, urging that a higher standard of physical perfection be required from teachers, and greater attention be paid to hygienic dress and conditions of life, especially in the case of young girls.

After Miss Giddings had been applauded, thanked and admitted as an honorary member, Dr. T. J. Birchard of Brantford read a vigorous paper on "Home Work," in which he protested against the practice of overworking pupils. Brain work is more fatiguing than muscular labor, and yet children and students are expected to work far longer hours than workingmen claim as the natural limit. It was utterly wrong, he said, and greater mercy should be shown the pupils. The association then adjourned after the usual votes of thanks.

Classical Association.

Mr. J. C. Robertson of Owen Sound read the first paper entitled "Formal Antithesis in the Speeches of Thucydides." This was a most carefully prepared discussion, evincing no small amount of scholarship and research on the subject of the Greek historian's style, the summing up being "as a general rule set speeches have a large proportion of antithesis, extempore speeches a low proportion; and the difference is most marked in the books carefully reviewed by Thucydides."

Mr. E. W. Hagarty of Harbord-street Collegiate Institute then read a paper, "A High School Latin Reader," in which he advocated the plan of preparing a reader of Latin selections, urging that Cæsar is at once too dull and too difficult for junior pupils. The discussion on the whole favored the use of a selection of some 15 chapters from Cæsar rather than a continuous "block" from that author.

In the afternoon Mr. F. Heap, M.A., Peterboro Collegiate Institute, read a paper on "Methods and Text Books in Elementary Latin," in which he exposed the complication of aim and treatment existing in most Latin elementary text books, and declared for a simpler method of study by which the scientific study of grammar should be subsidiary to the aim of simply teaching the pupil to read Latin, while the knowledge that is necessary for such study should be thoroughly drilled into the pupils. Mr. Heap's paper roused considerable discussion, the association showing itself largely in favor of the greater unity of treatment Mr. Heap advocated.

Mr. A. C. Macdonald, Upper Canada College, treated "Recent Homeric Criticism," giving the conclusions that recent German criticism has arrived at with regard to the present shape of the Iliad. After a paper from Prof. Campbell of McMaster University on "Greek Religion," the meeting adjourned.

The Modern Language Association.

The election of officers of their section of the new High School Department was the first thing attended to, and resulted as follows:

Honorary President—J. A. Boyd, M.A., LL.D.

President—G. A. Chase, B.A.

Vice-President—Prof. Alexander.

Secretary-Treasurer—J. Squair, B.A.

Councillors—Prof. Horning, Miss Balmer, J. N. Dales, E. S. Hogarth, W. H. Vandersmissen, W. H. Fraser, A. H. Gibbard, George Shaw.

A discussion upon amalgamation with the proposed Educational Association was then held until noon. The general feeling was wholly for union, the only questions raised being incidental ones of manner and method. The following important resolution was passed unanimously: "Mr. L. E. Embree having been attacked in the public newspapers for moving a resolution in the Senate of Toronto University making certain changes in the awarding of the Prince of Wales' scholarship, this association takes this opportunity of stating that this resolution, which was passed by the Senate without hesitation or dissent, was introduced by Mr. Embree as High School representative in accordance with a unanimous resolution of this association."

In the afternoon session Mr. M. F. Libby's paper on "Grammar and Rhetoric" was first read, a defence of the teaching of these subjects in the High Schools and a condemnation of the narrow views prevailing. Mr. G. A. Chase, B.A., followed this up with a vigorous attack on the methods of English teaching in Toronto University, and indeed in all the universities. He was in favor of greater attention to the comparative forms of languages.

Mr. M. F. Libby then made a spirited assault upon the Hight school reader, declaring that a selection like Palgrave's Golden Treasury would be far better.

The association then adjourned.

The Science Association.

Mr. T. H. Follick, M.A., opened the ball with "Science Subjects in Lower forms of H.S. Course." After holding that science should be taught in the lower forms, Mr. Follick recommended a course of study in those subjects, involving a two-years' course for the primary and junior leaving examinations, and demonstrated the benefit derived from the devotion of greater time to the present course. The discussion was in favor of Mr. Follick's scheme.

A discussion or science examination proper then followed, introduced by G. A. Smith, B.A., Parkdale Collegiate Institute. The various forms of proper and improper questions were discussed and numerous knotty points cleared up. The meeting then adjourned.

The Mathematicians.

Dr. McLellan opened the morning session with one of his peculiarly pleasant addresses, a strong defence of mathematical studies against the assaults of Sir William Hamilton and others. He thoroughly established the high quality of the mental training given by such studies and their importance in all the realms of science. He also uttered a strong protest against the present tendency in education to administer unorganized facts to children, and showed in a most amusing manner the danger and absurdity of giving facts without connection or organization. In the discussion the appointment of a mathematical inspector for the high schools was recommended by the association.

At the 2 o'clock session Prof. Alfred Baker read a very interesting paper on "Astronomy in our High Schools," making suggestions as to how great pleasure might be given to the pupils by a slight acquaintance with astronomy and at the same time without adding to the text books or number of examinations. The professor showed how the pupil might be taught to make his own instruments for measuring the movements of the planets and heavenly bodies. The lecture was much appreciated and a vote of thanks heartily given.

The election of officers was proceeded with and resulted as follows:

Hon. President—Prof. James Loudon, Toronto.

President—Dr. J. A. McLellan, Toronto.

Vice-President—W. J. Robertson, St. Catharines.

Secretary-Treasurer—Fred. F. Manley, Toronto.

Executive Committee—Prof. Bain, Cobourg; R. A. Thompson, Hamilton; Prof. McKay, Toronto; C. Fessenden, Peterboro; G. I. Riddell, Toronto.

The Kindergartners.

Yesterday was Froebel's birthday and the auspicious date was commemorated by neat roosts on the breasts of enthusiasts. The kindergarten ladies are pleased at the success of their share of the convention, which has been purely for organization. The officers are as follows:

President—Mrs. Hughes.

Vice-President—Mrs. Newcome.

Secretary-Treasurer—Miss Bowditch, Hamilton.

Directors—Mrs. Wylie, Miss Hart, Miss Bolton, Miss McKenzie, Miss Savage.

The Inspectors.

Very little was done yesterday afternoon by the public school inspectors beyond electing their officers. The only paper read was by Mr. John Dearness of East Middlesex, its subject being "The Nature of an Inspector's Report to a Board of Trustees and When It Should Be Made." After considerable discussion, which was generally favorable, the section adjourned. An unusual event was the reception among their number of Mrs. Newcome, a kindergartner, as practically an inspector. A pleasant feeling was created by this graceful act of the inspectors.

The End of It All.

It was after 5 p.m. when the strains of "God Save the Queen" were heard from the public hall, where the largest meeting was held. The convention was over, for most, if not all, the smaller meetings had already adjourned. The teachers who had assembled were improved alike by the holiday and by the solid instruction, and doubtless the perusal of the printed proceedings will furnish amusement or instruction for many an overworked pedagog's spare half hour. The convention has been a great success. May the next be as happy.

Found in Canadian Wilds.

RAT PORTAGE, Ont., April 22.—George Peters, who has been looking up lands near the boundary line on the Canadian side of the river, reported yesterday that where the river ran into Rainy Lake he came across the bodies of two dead men in a terribly decomposed state.

From papers found one of the dead is believed to be Henry Matthews of Cincinnati. The other is unknown.

A short distance from the bodies were a Winchester rifle and two small axes. About $12 were found on one of the men, with two ordinary silver watches.

As far as could be ascertained the remains were those of men about 30 to 35 years old. They were probably frozen to death.

Reading Face to Face With a Big Tie-Up.

NEW YORK, April 22.—The labor situation on the four great railroads allied under the Reading deal last night resembled a smouldering volcano; it may break forth at any time, and if the issue comes Jersey Central, Lehigh Valley, Delaware-Lackawanna and Reading will all be blocked. The cause for dissatisfaction is wholesale discharges "in the interest of cheap coal" and antagonism between President McLeod and the Brotherhood.

Bartram's Cream Horse.

BRANTFORD, April 22.—The cream horse which played so important a part in the Bartram alibi at the Heslop murder trial has been acquired by Mr. L. F. Heyd. It is said the horse was turned over to him in part payment of lawyer's fees for the defence.

It's a Way They Have.

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., April 22.—Mr. David Morrice, assistant superintendent G.T.R., London, and late station agent here, was presented with a purse of gold containing $215 and an illuminated address from the citizens and employes of the G.T.R. at this place last evening.

WHOLESALE SWINDLER.

RUN TO EARTH AT ST. PAUL, MINNESOTA.

A Horse Buyer Who Traveled Through Ontario Swindling Bankers and Tradesmen Captured at St. Paul by Ontario Government Detective Murray.

ST. PAUL, Minn., April 22.—An important arrest was made here yesterday by John W. Murray, chief of the Ontario Detective Force, in the person of E. G. Morton, alias C. H. Phalling, C. C. Cole and half-a-dozen aliases, one of the slickest swindlers and confidence men on the continent, who is wanted in various states in the Union and in Canada. The specific charge on which he was arrested and on which he is held for extradition is the obtaining of $1000 from G. W. Scott, banker of Listowel, Ont., on a forged draft purporting to bear the signature of W. L. Yode, cashier of the First National Bank at Mahanoy City, Pa., a small mining town about 100 miles from Philadelphia.

He Cut a Wide Swath.

About two years ago Morton turned up in eastern Ontario, visiting in turn Pembroke, Brockville, Belleville, Kingston and other cities. He represented himself as a member of the firm of

E. G. MORTON & CO.,
Dealers in Horses and Mules.
We buy, sell and exchange.
The largest establishment in the world.
Nashville, Tenn.; Jersey City, N.J.; Kansas City, Mo.; Philadelphia, Pa.

He made extensive purchases of horses throughout the district, agreeing to pay for them upon delivery at a later date, but when the day arrived he had disappeared along with sums ranging from $300 to $500, which he had borrowed on the strength of the purchases and pending the arrival of funds from his partners.

He finally turned up at Listowel, where he followed the same plan and succeeded in negotiating with G. W. Scott, private banker, a draft for $1000 bearing the signature of W. L. Yode, cashier First National Bank at Mahanoy City, Pa. Next day the horse buyer disappeared; when the fact of the signature being a forgery became known to Mr. Scott he communicated the facts to the Attorney-General's department.

Arrested in Winnipeg.

A few months later Morton was arrested in Winnipeg in connection with a patent right swindle and lodged in jail there. While awaiting trial he suddenly announced that he had decided to lead a new life, and, adopting the religious role, converted a majority of his fellow-prisoners as well as the turnkey. A few days later he escaped from prison.

No further trace of the accused could be obtained until a few weeks ago, when Detective Murray, who had meantime visited Mahanoy City, Pa., obtained the affidavit of Cashier Yode as to the forgery, located the accused here and this morning took him into custody.

It is thought that Morton will make a determined fight against extradition, as once in Canada his liberty is likely to be curtailed for some years to come.

A Faith Curist's Death.

TORONTO, April 22.—Yesterday afternoon Coroner Johnson opened an inquest in Parkdale Town Hall on the body of Robert J. McAuslan, who died on Tuesday last. McAuslan was an adherent of the peculiar religious body known as Christian Scientists. The members of this sect believe in the faith cure. The deceased, who had been sick for some months, had no medical attendance, the Scientists ministering to him in accordance with their doctrine.

The inquest was adjourned.

The Toronto Vacancy.

TORONTO, April 22.—At a convention of Reformers held last evening N. G. Bigelow, barrister, was nominated to oppose H. A. E. Kent, barrister, the Conservative nominee for the vacancy in the Legislature caused by the death of Mr. H. E. Clarke.

Mr. E. A. Macdonald, the Annexationist candidate, will go to the polls, and Phillips Thompson is out as a labor candidate, so that the fight promises to be a lively one.

Killed by the Blow of a Fist.

NEW YORK, April 22.—Arthur Friedhum, a well-known piano-player, went to the Allberg Theatre last night and demanded admittance. He was intoxicated and did not have a ticket, and August Bartenhauser, the doorkeeper, refused to pass him. Friedhum struck Bartenhauser in the face with his fist and knocked him down. Bartenhauser was severely injured and died before he could be taken home. Friedhum is under arrest.

Fire at Wallaceburg.

WALLACEBURG, April 22.—A farm house and contents on the eighth concession of Sombra Township, owned and occupied by John Powers, was destroyed by fire last night, Powers and family barely escaping. A little boy of 3 years was badly burned about the face and legs. A hired man with whom he was sleeping threw the boy out through the window and then escaped through the flames himself.

Burned to Death at a Camp Fire.

DUNDAS, Ont., April 22.—Mr. W. H. Moss, secretary of Valley City Lodge, I.O.O.F., received a letter Monday morning from Minden Mines, Mo., stating that Thomas Bateman, formerly night switchman at the G.T.R. here, had been burned to death through his clothes catching fire while sleeping at a camp fire.

Sawmill Burned.

SEVERN BRIDGE, Ont., April 22.—W. Christie's shingle mill and a small quantity of shingles were completely destroyed by fire early yesterday. Loss about $3000, insured for $2000.

$25,000 for Breach of Promise.

NEW YORK, April 22.—Georgine Walters, a pretty cigar-store girl, won her breach of promise suit yesterday against the rich bachelor, Louis Schultz. The jury awarded her $25,000 and $1000 costs.

Election Appeals.

POLITICAL CORRUPTION.

Our country at present is cursed and dishonoured by political corruption. It is carried on so systematically that it might be classed as one of the fine arts. Satan's insinuation against Job that he was bribed or bought was a base lie, but even the father of lies would for once tell the truth if he should now say that many in our land can be bribed and bought, and he might safely include in the statement constituencies and Provinces; and yet, in the face of this, we are expected to believe that the state of religion is improving. Look at a map of our Province and see the shape of some of the constituencies. They look as if their boundaries had been marked out by chain lightning. We all know why they are so irregular; and still professedly Christian men chuckle over it and say "It's so clever," and many of our young people are taught to believe that it is an evidence of great ability, and are encouraged to imitate the conduct of men so devoid of moral principle as to resort to such base methods to keep themselves in power, and also to deprive their fellow citizens of their just rights.—Report of a committee of the Synod of Hamilton and London.

Heroes of Unknown Seas and Savage Lands.

(From the Daily Ontario, Belleville, Ont.)

Any book portraying startling adventures and heroic deeds and strange sights will always be warmly welcomed. The king of such books is without doubt "Heroes of Unknown Seas and Savage Lands," published by the World publishing Company, Guelph, Ont. The book is written by J. W. Buel, one of the most enchanting writers of the day, and who is peculiarly qualified for such a task as this, assisted by John Clark Redpath, the greatest of American historians. It relates the romantic adventures of all the great explorers and restless rovers of the sea. It tells the startling story of the accidental discovery of America by the sea kings of the north. It gives the story of the buccaneers of the southern seas, the relentless and sanguinary pirates of the Spanish main, the romantic and bloody deeds of the conquerors of Peru and Mexico, the marvellous voyage of the Portuguese to the southern coasts of Africa and the golden shores of far off Cathay, and many other marvellous deeds of ancient discovery and heroic achievement. Here are described the real and fabled monsters of the deep, the heroism of adventures, the contact with savages on remote shores. Here are the records of Marco Polo's travels through India and China, of De Gama's voyages, of the discoveries and death of Magellan. It is a record of the author along and patient researches into fields which for centuries have been deserted, and its chief value lies in the invariable accuracy and authenticity of every statement it contains, making it a perfect mine of new accurate and interesting information. The book is splendidly illustrated with three hundred fine cuts, four double page magnificent colored plates, and handsomely bound. Altogether, it is a work of exceptional interest and merit and will undoubtedly have, as it well deserves, an immense sale. Agents wanted. Apply to the World Publishing Co., Guelph, Ontario.

JEWELRY.

Bonnet, Hat and Hair Pins as Worn by the Fashionable Woman.

One of the most popular fads in jewelry to-day is the tiny bonnet or lace pin, and probably a greater variety of styles was never devised. These pins are used in the strings of the bonnet, one on either side, and also worn in the neck of a street or house dress. In a ball dress they are stuck anywhere in order to produce an artistic effect. Some of the most beautiful of these pins are enamelled flowers, such as pansies or violets, with a brilliant in the center. Rare orchids are also reproduced in enamel with beautiful coloring and wonderful design.

Ivy and clover leaves in gold and enamel are also neat, sometimes containing a diamond like a drop of dew. To enumerate all the different designs would be well nigh impossible, but all tastes are likely to be suited. There are bees and flies and crescents, butterflies, spiders, stars, swords, and horseshoes. One of the most stylish of designs is the fleur-de-lis, which is made in jewels and gold and silver. The fleur-de-lis is very popular now in all styles of pins, as is also the bow-knot. These two styles have caught the fashionable taste at once, and they are being manufactured in more expensive designs every day. They are made of silver for one dollar, and continue to run the gauntlet of prices until they reach one hundred dollars, set entirely in diamonds. The love knots of silver, covered with black or transparent enamel, are particularly neat and beautiful. Another new design in these pins is a funny little dragon of gold, with a big head, where rubies are used for eyes, and a tiny diamond is held in the fork of his tongue. Hearts of gold, with a large jewel set in the center of diamonds or pearls, are also counted among the popular designs. It is very hard to make any choice among so many varieties to choose from, especially as the majority of them are dainty and artistic.

In long hat-pins there are also many beautiful styles, ranging from the plain silver ball to the most expensive designs in jewels. After the fleur-de-lis and love-knots, the silver and gold balls are most popular. Some of these latter are surrounded by scroll-work and also held in claws. Brooches of large size are being worn very much this season, and are generally set with diamonds. One of the most striking designs is the "Persian Sun," the center being a circle of diamonds, from which a number of rays spread, the latter also being set in diamonds. These brooches of course are very expensive as well as beautiful. Brooches are also made in enamelled silver bows about two inches long. These are fitted on the back with a catch from which a watch may be hung, and the brooches are worn below the left shoulder, with the watch suspended. They may also be suspended at the waist, which is rather more convenient than the other.

Very striking hair-pins are also made, with comb of Roman gold. These combs are set with diamonds or other gems, but the latest style is what jewellers call "pierced work." This is very like scroll-work, and the designs are intricate and beautiful. The combs do not set very high on the head, but they lend a stately dignity to the wearer, and are one of the commendable things that fashion has adopted. It seems almost as though the ingenuity of man would soon be exhausted, yet each year brings forth something new, and this season is remarkable in that way.—Harper's Bazar.

That Irish Sensation.

LONDON, April 21.—A tremendous sensation has been caused by the accusation against Hon. Patrick Emilius John Greville Nugent, brother of Baron Greville, and Deputy Lieutenant and High Sheriff of the county of Westmeath, Ireland, of having indecently assaulted a lady in a first-class carriage on the Brighton railway. The Grevilles stand high among the nobility, and Patrick has been considered the most promising member of the family. He was born in 1852, and is married to Lady Ermengarda, daughter and heiress of Augustus Ogilvy of Dumfries, Scotland, and they have one child, named Rosemary Ermengarda. Patrick was an early subject of favor on the part of the Government, as shown by his promotion to the distinguished office of deputy lieutenant. He is considered a handsome man and rather a favorite with the ladies.

The lady in the case is Miss Marion Price. The evidence at the Westminster Police Court was of a very strong character against the defendant, who, if the story told not only by Miss Price herself, but by the guard, is true, deliberately pursued the woman and changed carriages for his purpose.

The trial of Talbot and Larose has been fixed for Thursday. They will be tried jointly for conspiracy but separately for fraud.

Elder Hawkins Coming.

Elder Hawkins, the colored orator who was once a slave and sold under the auction block, will preach in the George street Methodist church on Sunday both morning and evening. On Monday night he will deliver a lecture. Elder Hawkins is an old man eighty-two years of age and possesses great musical ability. It is some sixteen years since he visited Peterborough. He preached in the George street church then, when the Rev. E. P. Rose was its pastor.

Another Midnight Burglary.

Petty burglaries are becoming quite fashionable in Peterborough of late. The craze to gain possession of another's goods still continues. Last night the house of Mr. Albert Loch, corner of Rubidge and Kirk streets, was entered by some vile miscreant and this morning Mr. Loch mourns the confiscation of a heavy winter overcoat, a pair of boots, two hats, half a dozen silver egg cups and other articles. The burglar gained admission to the house by raising a window on the north side. None of the inmates were aware what had happened during the night until they came down stairs this morning. No clue to the burglar has yet been discovered. Strange to say, the thief while taking the silver egg cups did not make off with several other valuable pieces of silverware which were on the sideboard along with the missing articles.

Junior Lacrosse Meeting.

A meeting of the Junior Lacrosse Club was held last evening. There was a large attendance of youthful lacrosse players. H. Hughes occupied the chair. A committee of R. Wasson, W. Dumble and H. Hughes were appointed to make arrangements for securing suitable suits for the season. A proposition was offered by J. Begley that the junior club pay fifty cents, each member, and join the seniors, the juniors to purchase their own sticks. The proposition will be considered and voted on to-night at a meeting of the seniors, to be held in the Olympic Club rooms at 8 o'clock. There should be a large attendance of both senior and junior members. Much good material can be obtained in Peterborough for lacrosse and doubtless both her junior and senior teams will give a creditable account of themselves before the season ends.

Court Little John Officers.

A regular meeting of Court Little John of the Canadian Order of Foresters was held in their lodge rooms, Simcoe street, on Wednesday night. A Treat in Store.

The Ottawa Daily Citizen of Jan. 11th, 1892, Says:—Mr. Douglas Bird, Toronto's tenor, again demonstrated the magnificent capabilities of his voice in two solos, probably the most attractive of which was "If with all your hearts" from Elijah, which he gave with all the force and feeling of a true artist." Mr. Bird has been engaged to assist the Peterborough Philharmonic Society at their concert in the Opera House on May 3rd. 1d95

Oddfellowship Increasing.

A Volt Defined.

A definition of a volt, which, although somewhat unscientific, may prove suggestive to readers, is given in the Chicago Evening Post, in the following terms: "The volt gives one blow of a specific force. As volts are added together the force of the blow is increased until the endurance limit is reached. It takes about twenty-five volts to make a perceptible tingling sensation. When fifty volts pass through the body the tingling sensation becomes unmistakable, but not strong, while 100 volts feels lively, 200 volts strong, 300 volts powerful, 400 volts titanic, and 500 volts will knock a man flat."

A Slight Eruption.

This morning as Mr. Jas. Snyder, clerk in the Customs House office was shaking up a coal fire the stove toppled over on the floor. The live coals strewn on the floor and the hot stove created a lively scene for a time, but a few pails of water soon quenched the burning embers. One thing was gained by what might have been a rather serious mishap and that thing was the stove is now down for the summer season, and will stay down forever, as far as the customs officers are concerned, for they will be in the new building, heated with modern appliances, before the next cold snap season comes.

Philharmonic Society's concert on May 3rd.

Hattie B. Chase in "Uncle's Darling," on May 7th

MISS M. E. GAYLORD,

MR. DOUGLAS BIRD,

MR. J. C. ARLIDGE,
The Popular Flautist.,

And a trained chorus of 50 voices (under the direction of Mr. J. Churchill Arlidge) will give some fine selections Keep the date, Tuesday, May 3rd, in the Opera House.

To-Night's Entertainment.

Leon Florestan, in the Sons England Hall, "The Merchant of Venice," "Hamlet, "Charles I." Of the gentleman who will give impersonations in the Sons of England Hall this evening (Friday) the Montreal Gazette says: "Mr. Florestan is a very fine specimen of the old conservative French school of actors, and enhanced the interest of his audience throughout. A monologue performance, even in costume, is always a most difficult one to come out with eclat, but this happy result was most decidedly accomplished by M. Florestan." M. Florestan no doubt will have a good and appreciative audience this evening. Tickets can be procured at the hall.

LeBRUN'S OLD STAND,

GEORGE STREET.

Rochester "Star" Nurseries.

Their Spring Delivery of Stock now Ready for Planting—At the Headquarters in Canada of the Nurseries, 419 Water Street—A Splendid Display of Stock Ready for Planting.

A year ago Mr. Chas. L. Trotter, Peterborough, manager of the business for Canada sprung a surprise on the tree planting public by announcing that the stock ordered for the spring planting was ready for delivery and planting, April 20th. This year the operation was repeated, and now there may be seen a grand lot of stock, consisting of fruit and ornamental trees, shrubs, roses, vines, bulbs, etc., at the Peterborough delivery warerooms, 419 Water street. This early delivering is a special feature of the "Star," and one factor in the sure-growth reputation of its stock; this is further assisted by the unusual care taken in packing, and this is again aided by the thriftiness and excellence of the stock, strong growth and abundance of fibrous roots. Each order whether it contains one or one hundred articles, is separately packed and each contains minute printed directions for the planting and care of the article. Under these conditions anything from the "Star" planted with a little more care than a fence post is sure to grow and thrive. The "Star" nurseries possess unusual facilities for packing and handling their stock. For instance the present consignment now at their delivery ware-house was lifted, packed and delivered here within four or five days. Early delivery and careful packing of stock is of vital importance, and parties in ordering stock of any kind should be careful with whom they place their orders—with a nursery like the "Star" which has spent years in bringing every department to the nearest point to perfection. To meet a growing demand for rose culture and the culture of flowering shrubs, the "Star" has made a specialty of rose propagation, and a look at their stock with its strong bright thrifty canes and fibrous roots shows the pains taken in their culture. They are therefore they have strong constitutions, bloom the first season and give satisfaction from the start. Roses and shrubs grown in the open air do not give the disappointment met by those planting the delicate and tender stock grown under glass. The shock of removal from inside to outside is generally fatal. The roses seen at the delivery warerooms by the EXAMINER representative who by the way has had large opportunities for comparison, are certainly strong vigorous plants, well rooted and certain to give the planter satisfaction. Any person with the least idea of what shrub and rose stock should be should call and see these, now at 419 Water street, north of the post office; he will be delighted, and tempted to give an order on the spot, if he does not feel inclined to purloin some of the specimens. This immense stock of bundles of roses, shrubs, as well as fruit trees to the value of $800 or $900 is only a sample of what is done in Canada, Peterborough being one of 200 points to which similar shipments are made, though doubtless Peterborough being the livest town in the centre of the finest district in the Dominion, with the manager, Mr. Trotter, the livest agent, is the most important. To cover the territory it is necessary to employ a large number of salesmen, and good openings for salesmen constantly exist, and live men wanting employment should apply personally or by letter at the office, 348 Water street, Peterborough.

The "Star" requests the EXAMINER to convey its thanks to those who have given it so liberal patronage in the past, and hope for a continuance of the same. They bespeak a cordial reception for their agents, who will begin at once their canvass for the next delivery, guaranteeing the most perfect satisfaction in every respect in all goods ordered from the agents of the "Star" Nurseries, Thos. W. Bowman, proprietor, and Charles L. Trotter, manager for Canada, 348 Water street, Peterborough.

Frederick Boscovitz.

His Exquisite and Artistic Musical Entertainment in the Opera House Last Evening.

The first rain of the season fell on the evening selected for the appearance of Mr. Frederick Boscovitz, the celebrated Hungarian pianist—last night—and in consequence there was a smaller house than the unusual merit of the performance demanded. Still the audience was an appreciative one, composed largely of those directly interested in pianoforte music, and they were richly rewarded for their attendance. The evening was indeed a rare treat thoroughly enjoyed, and those who were not present missed one of the most charming entertainments ever given in Peterborough. Our citizens, it is safe to say, never before had the pleasure of listening to such an artist, who as a representative of the modern pianoforte school, emanating from Chopin and Liszt, gave such an intelligent, sympathetic and educative reproduction of these great modern masters. With a liquid touch, round, full and rich, he combines a technique of unlimited facility and accuracy that makes the responsive key-board his slave; the velvety richness of his piano passages and the robust rotundity of his forte, vibrant and strong, yet retaining its musical quality, were characteristics of which his programme afforded excellent opportunity for display of. His programme opened with Mendelssohn's Rondo Cappriciosa followed by Handel's Harmonious Blacksmith. To this succeeded a group of Chopin's compositions and a composition of Boscovitz's own—Etude de Concert—closed the first part of the programme. This last selection was played with an artistic abandon and perfection of digitation, which provoked an irresistible recall, which the performer acknowledged by performing Liszt's Festival March. The second part opened by the playing of two historical pieces on a spinet made by Astor in 1762. These were The Carman's Whistle, by Wm. Byrde, 1612, and the King's Hunting Jig, by Dr. John Bull, 1626, the two earliest English composers. The latter was also performed on the splendid Steinway Grand, used for this concert, showing the contrast between the tinkling spinet on which Handel and the contemporary great masters developed their grandest conceptions, and the practically perfected pianoforte of the present day. The rest of the programme consisted of selections of Mascanzi, Boscovitz, and Adam, that of the latter—Noel, containing a cadence for the left hand, which was performed with wonderful brilliancy by Mr. Boscovitz. The Wagner-Liszt March, from Tannhauser, which closed the programme, was performed with an artistic fidelity, which retained the grand orchestral effects of the original, which Liszt so successfully preserves in his transcription. It is to be hoped, for the sake of the cause of musical progress as well as for the enjoyment which the masterly exposition of the pianoforte received at Mr. Boscovitz's hands, that some public-spirited citizen will give the public another opportunity of hearing him.

This morning, Mr. Boscovitz gave a private recital in the opera house for the benefit of the sisters and the music pupils of the Convent Congregation de Notre Dame. Mr. Boscovitz repeated the programme given last evening, with two added selections. It is quite unnecessary to say that the recital gave the greatest delight, and the pupils were stimulated to renewed energy in the prosecution of the study of the pianoforte by seeing what it is capable of. Mother St. Anbert, the head of the musical department of the Convent, who by virtue of her large musical culture and musical attainments is a most competent judge, is unable to give expression to her delight with Mr. Boscovitz's skill as a pianist. No doubt his visit to town will stand as an important era in the history of musical aspiration and development in town.

Lakefield's Desperado.

The Author of the Recent Crop of Petty Burglaries and Divers Erratic Acts Arrested.

(From Our Own Correspondent).

On Wednesday morning when Mr. Haslitt's men were going to work at an early hour to run a drive of logs over the dam, they noticed the steam yacht "Undine," owned by the Lakefield Lumber Company, a short distance above the dam, alongside the boom. As all was quiet and no steam up, they went out to investigate and found her adrift, and at once secured her until her owners or crew could be notified. It was then discovered that the stern line of the large passenger steamer "Sunbeam" had also been cast loose from the snubbing post and she was only held by the bow line. Suspicion was at once directed to young Northcott, who, since his detection of taking the money from Mr. Nelson's office, had not been home, but had been prowling round the outskirts of the village. Constable Doidge was instructed to capture him, but it was evening before he succeeded, as he kept hid during the day. He at once confessed to being the guilty party to all the petty burglaries during the past winter, and to setting the "Undine" adrift. He intended to serve the others the same way, but when he cast off the stern line of the "Sunbeam" she swung out and he could not get the bow rope off the post, and in his hurry to get down to the dam to see the "Undine" go over he had not time to get the "Golden City" loose, or all would have followed. The only place he denied entering was the clerk's office. On Thursday afternoon police magistrate Edmison accompanied by the county attorney came up, and court was held in the town hall, when the young man was indicted for the burglary at Mr. Nelson's, and committed to stand his trial at the assizes. He is not, there is reason to believe, in his right mind, and it is to be hoped he will be placed where he can receive proper care and be out of mischief. His parents are unable to do anything with him, so he is a source of constant anxiety both to them and the people in the village. Constable Doidge took him down to jail this (Friday) morning.

Imagination or speculation has been running riot with some people. For the past ten days we have had hosts of visitors inquiring if we had seen the plans for the changes in our building to accommodate the Bank of Commerce, which it is rumoured will be placed in the store we now occupy. Incidental with this we are told with a Solomon-like look, that there are more changes to occur before long and that when the World's Fair is held in Peterborough, things will look so different that the "old residents" will find it hard to remember when and how these changes occurred. Our visitors generally finish their conversation by asking if goods are any cheaper on account of these SUPPOSED CHANGES, and, as we are always alive and ready to do business, we find Dame Rumour has been of immense benefit to us lately. We will say that what we most desire just now is

THE CANADA LIFE ASSURANCE CO'Y.

Forty-Fifth Annual Meeting of the Great Institution.

Remarkable Record for the Past Year—The Annual Report—Election of Directors.

The 45th annual meeting of the greatest of Canadian insurance institutions, the Canada Life Assurance Company, was held to-day in the board room of the Company's head office in Hamilton. There were present a gathering of the representative men of Canada, men whose names are known all over the country for solidity and business ability, with Mr. G. A. Ramsay, president of the company, presiding over the deliberations. The meeting was a most harmonious and eminently satisfactory one.

Mr. Ramsay took the chair shortly after 12 o'clock, with Mr. Roland Hills as secretary of the meeting.

President Ramsay submitted the following:

REPORT BY THE BOARD OF DIRECTORS OF THE CANADA LIFE ASSURANCE COMPANY, SUBMITTED TO THE ANNUAL GENERAL MEETING OF SHAREHOLDERS, HELD AT HAMILTON ON THE 5TH OF APRIL, 1892:

The business of 1891, being the company's 45th year, was again highly favourable. The new assurances applied for were 2,507 in number, and $5,929,088 in amount. Of these, 136 for $259,500 were declined, the lives not appearing to reach that standard of eligibility which it is in the best interest of our assurers should be maintained. Of the balance of $5,669,588, upon 2,371 lives, which were accepted by the directors, 204 for $414,562 were not carried out, leaving the actual new assurances of the year $5,255,021 under 2,167 policies, with a new annual income premium of $178,-191.06.

At 31st December last there were in force $56,218,318.03 of assurances and bonus additions, upon 19,563 lives, under 26,484 policies.

The statement of receipts and payments, and the abstract of assets and liabilities, herewith submitted, show that the income of the year was $2,213,096.27, and that the assets amounted to $12,074,-124 87, having being increased during the year by $1,041.684 78.

The death claims for the year were upon 192 lives under 245 policies for $511,879.11, including profits a sum considerably under that of the previous year, 1890, when the amount was a good deal affected by the epidemic of la grippe which then prevailed, and its results.

The business at the various branches has been generally well sustained, and having last year alluded to anticipations of successful progress at the Michigan branch, it may be mentioned that these have been largely realized.

In compliance with the company's charter the following directors retire by rotation, but are eligible for re-election: The Hon. Sir Alexander Campbell, K. C. M. G., Toronto; Andrew Allan, Esq., Montreal, and Thomas Swinyard, Esq, New York State.

PRESIDENT RAMSAY'S REMARKS.

Mr. A. G. Ramsay moved the adoption of the annual report. In so doing he reviewed carefully and ably, the business of the year. He said:—

I beg to move the adoption of the directors report now before you, and although the statements which it, and the published accounts, which have been in your hands for some days, so clearly indicate the success of the past year's business, and the sound position of the company, that I need take up but little of the time of this annual meeting in adverting to them, it may be interesting, I dare say, that I draw your attention shortly to some of the features which these documents disclose. The new business of the past year amounted, you will see to $5,-255,021, a sum so nearly approaching the best year we have ever had that I think we may well congratulate you upon it. It has happily been our good fortune each year for so long to be able to make a somewhat similar statement that I fear it may appear a somewhat monotonous one, for which, however, I need offer no apology. You will have noticed that the total assurances in force at the close of 1891 were $56,218,318, an amount which suggests a very large measure of public support and confidence in the company. The income continues to largely increase, and it amounted last year to $2,213,096, more than twice as much as it was ten years ago, and nearly seven times what it was twenty years ago. With the possibility of a corresponding progress in the future we may well be encouraged to continue that caution and care in the direction and in the management of the company's affairs, which in the past have made the Canada Life's name synonymous with that of integrity, liberality and stability. The large addition of over $1,000,000 was added to the company's assets last year, making them $12,074,124, or about twice what they were only seven years ago. While difficulty in obtaining satisfactory investments as they were wanted was experienced during the year, every effort and the best judgment of the board were exercised so as to make that difficulty as little felt as possible.

As you are well aware, there has of late years been a gradual reduction in the rate of interest obtainable on the best class of securities, and while our Company is of course affected by that, in common with all others, every exertion is made to diminish as far as we can any loss in that way.

The death claims during 1891 were $511,873, being a lower amount than they had been in 1890, when largely by the grippe epidemic, they reached $603,484.

The statment of receipts and payments shows that during 1891, $316,370 was paid to policy-holders as profits, a return of nearly 20 per cent. of the year's premiums paid to the Company, a percentage of profits on premiums paid so rarely reached by other companies as to lead us to press upon intending assurers the advantages which our Company offers in that respect. In alluding to that I am very glad indeed to have the opportunity of saying that by the courtesy of the Superintendent of Insurance we were yesterday favoured with the result of the Government's quinquennial valuation of our Company's affairs. It shows that over and above the full reserve we are required by the Government of Canada to hold, and all liabilities, we have on hand a large profit surplus such as indicates no diminution in the Company's profit-making powers. You have been informed by the Director's Report of the generally favourable progress of the Company's various branches, and the efforts of our Managers and Agents are well deserving of our thanks and encouragement. Special allusion has been made to the branch established by the Company, in Michigan in 1890. Because it being somewhat of an experiment, you would naturally desire to hear specially as to it. I am very pleased to be able to say that the progress of the branch is so satisfactory as to have last year placed the Company in the fourteenth position, in point of new assurances, out of 32 companies doing business in the State. For a great deal of our success in Michigan, we are indebted to the support of the prominent and influential gentlemen who have been good enough to aid us by acting upon our Board of Reference. I am glad to tell you that we have entered upon the year 1892 with the most encouraging prospects. The new business up to the present date far exceed that of any previous year, and I trust that at our next meeting we may be able to again record a continuance of such prosperity as has already been so satisfactory to you and to our various policy-holders.

VICE-PRESIDENT GATES' REMARKS.

Mr. F. W. Gates, Vice-President of the Company, seconded the adoption of the report. In doing so he said:—

Mr. Chairman and gentlemen,—When it is borne in mind that there has been no perceptible improvement in business generally throughout the country during the past year, I think we must be compelled to admit that the statement which has been presented to-day ought to be considered highly satisfactory. It is true that the company might have done a much larger amount of business than has been done if we had been less scrupulously careful in the acceptance of risks which have been applied for. As the report shows, and as the president has pointed out, many applications have been rejected. We have exercised the greatest care in this matter in order that the company and the insured alike might be fully protected. We did not indulge in the extravagances which some companies have in order to increase our business, but have rather followed a policy of careful management in the interest of the company. I well remember some years ago that the president in his address referred with a good deal of pleasure to the fact that we had an income of $1,000 a day; now it is $7,000 a day, and it was easy then to invest $1,000 a day. It is not so easy to invest $7,000 now, even with the lower rate of interest. I may again refer to the remarkably small losses, and again congratulate the company upon that state of affairs. I have much pleasure, gentlemen, in seconding the motion for the adoption of the report.

President Ramsay put the motion, which was carried unanimously.

THANKS TO PRESIDENT AND DIRECTORS.

Mr. Byron E. Walker moved a vote of thanks to the President and Directors for their attention to the interests of the company during the year.

In offering the motion Mr. Walker said:—It gives me very great pleasure indeed to propose the thanks of the shareholders to our President and Directors. Reference has been made to the growth and success of the Canada Life in the past, and I consider that they are largely due to the excellent management. The big companies in the United States are beginning to realize that it may be possible to do too much business, but I am sure that it the policy which has been pursued by the Canada Life in the past is adhered to, another ten years of our career will show corresponding prosperity. I hope that our President may long be spared to direct the affairs of the company, and that he may have the advice and co-operation of such men as now constitute the directorate.

Mr. Henry McLaren—Mr. President and gentlemen, I have very much pleasure in seconding the motion.

The motion was put and carried unanimously, amid applause.

President Ramsay replied:—I expect that I shall have to reply to the motion you have just passed. I thank you very much indeed for the resolution and for the kind expressions made use of. I believe I can confidently say that every one of the Directors has done all that was in his power to further the interests of the company.

THREE DIRECTORS ELECTED.

The Hon. Mr. Justice Burton moved the appointment of Messrs. W. F. Findlay and Campbell Farrie as scrutineers of votes for the election of Directors in the room of the three retiring, and that the poll shall now be opened, and closed upon five minutes elapsing without a vote being tendered.

Mr. Matthew Leggat seconded the motion, which was carried.

The voting took a good deal of time, and while the ballots were being counted other business was proceeded with. The election resulted in the choice of Hon. Sir Alexander Campbell, K.C. M. G., of Toronto, Mr. Andrew Allan, of Montreal, and Mr. Geo. A. Cox, of Toronto. The last named gentlemen will take the place of Mr. Thomas Swinyard on the Board, the other two gentlemen being re-elected.

The usual votes of thanks were passed, and at a meeting of the directors subsequently held, Mr. A. G. Ramsay was re-elected President, and Mr. F. W. Gates, Vice-President.

"August Flower"

Mrs. Sarah M. Black, of Seneca, Mo., during the past two years has been affected with Neuralgia of the Head, Stomach and Womb, and writes: "My food did not seem to strengthen me at all and my appetite was very variable. My face was yellow, my head dull, and I had such pains in my left side. In the morning when I got up I would have a flow of mucus in the mouth, and a bad, bitter taste. Sometimes my breath became short, and I had such queer, tumbling, palpitating sensations around the heart. I ached all day under the shoulder blades, in the left side, and down the back of my limbs. It seemed to be worse in the wet, cold weather of Winter and Spring; and whenever the spells came on, my feet and hands would turn cold, and I could get no sleep at all. I tried everywhere, and got no relief before using August Flower Then the change came. It has done me a wonderful deal of good during the time I have taken it and is working a complete cure." ④

A BOGUS CROWNER'S QUEST.

Peculiar Fraud Practiced on the Northwest Government.

MACLEOD, N.W.T., April 21.—W. Johnson was arrested on the charge of attempting to obtain money under false pretences from the Department of Justice on account of an alleged coroner's inquest. It is charged that Mr. Johnson sent down the proceedings of an imaginary coroner's inquest, charging for witnesses' mileage and attendance, and for his own expenses in the accounts, which accounts were sworn and certified to as being correct. He had his preliminary examination before Inspector Davidson, J.P., and was committed for trial, bail being fixed at $600.

THEY KEPT THE BODY.

A Piece of Wood Substituted for a Corpse in a Coffin.

THESSALON, Ont., April 21.—It has leaked out that those who attended the burial of the child of Mr. and Mrs. John Struthers followed a cedar block instead of the child's remains to the cemetery, the parents having secretly stowed away the body for the purpose, it is said, of having an examination. The body was not buried for some three weeks afterwards. Those who attended the funeral, especially the officiating minister and those who dropped a sympathetic tear at the grave, are naturally indignant over the revelation.

An Alleged Elopement.

CHATHAM, April 21.—Yesterday afternoon there arrived on the K. and H. a young couple whom P. C. Dezelia, acting under instructions from Chief Young, took in custody. The man gave his name as William Arnold, 22 years of age, the girl as Norah Deline, 18 years old. The pair had been working out at Daniel Smith's, near Howard and Harwich townline, and were on their way, it was said, to get married in Chatham. Arnold is son of Mrs. Arnold of the 6th concession Chatham Township, and Miss Deline is daughter of John A. Deline of the same neighborhood. The young fellow denied the imputation and said that he was a married man. He said he was merely taking the girl home. This morning no evidence was offered against him and he was discharged with a caution.

Will Receive About $40,000.

OTTAWA, April 21.—The referees appointed to inquire into the claim of McLean, Roger & Co. against the Government for printing given out to Conservative newspaper offices, which they were entitled to receive according to the terms of their printing contract, are expected to conclude their work to-day. It is expected that the reward will amount to somewhere about $40,000 to Messrs. McLean, Roger & Co.

Lifeless at the Foot of a Cliff.

SYDNEY, C.B., April 21.—Quite a sensation was caused at Sydney Mines by the finding of the lifeless body of James Caldwell at the foot of the cliff near Battery Point in that town. The deceased had been at North Sydney last evening, but drank considerable liquor before starting for home. He was seen for the last time at Sydney Mines about 11 o'clock last night. It is quite evident that death was caused by his fall from the cliff.

A Petition in Monck.

TORONTO, April 21.—A petition was filed at Osgoode Hall yesterday afternoon against the return of Arthur Boyle as representative in the Commons for Monck. The petition was filed at 3 o'clock and served on Mr. Boyle at the Walker House at 3.20. Mr. Macdonald of Dunnville is solicitor for the petitioner.

Found Dead in the Street.

TORONTO, April 21. The body of Patrick Bain, an elderly man and shoemaker by trade, was found in George-street, near the Esplanade, at an early hour yesterday morning. Coroner Powell did not deem an inquest necessary.

Missed the Blackbird, Hit the Man.

GUELPH, April 21. — Fifteen-year-old Harry Emory fired at some blackbirds in a field near the C.P.R. station yesterday. He missed the birds, but the bullet struck Edward McCann, who was repairing some masonry, and lodged near the ear. The bullet was extracted at St. Joseph's Hospital and McCann may recover.

The success of Hood's Sarsaparilla is because it possesses true merit, and no claims made for it which is not fully supported.

Mr. J. E Humphrey, 46 Bond street, Toronto, says Burdock Blood Bitters wrought a complete cure of dyspepsia in his case after all else had failed,

For the past year I have been troubled to a very great extent with Dandruff, also a dullness of color in my hair, and through the advice of a friend (who spoke from experience) I tried your Anti-Dandruff, which, upon the application of less than a bottle of your liquid I find my head not only thoroughly cleansed but a vast improvement in the color and growth.

I have and do recommend it as highly beneficial to the profession and public generally as an agreeable and welcome innovation in the remedies put forth for public favor.

WAYS OF WOMEN FAIR.

What the Fair Sex is Doing That Makes A Stir in the World.

This is a portrait of Miss Mary Duggan, whose impersonation of Nellie Bly, in the "Vicar of Bray," at the Savoy Theatre, London, is highly praised. She looks exquisitely pretty in her bewitching costumes, and dances with fascinating ease and grace.

MISS MARY DUGGAN.

There are 58,000 women in England enrolled in trade unions.

Isabel F. Hapgood, Tolstoi's translator, has accumulated a fund of nearly $5,500 to be distributed by the philanthropic peasant Count.

Michigan has more than fifty women engaged in active newspaper work, of whom five publish their own newspapers indipendent of any associate.

The conductors on all the street cars and other vehicles for the public in a large section of Warsaw, Russia, are women, who fulfil their duties better to the satisfaction of the public than men.

Swedish women vote in the cities for Municipal Councillors and in the country for members of the County Council, and, as the latter body appoints the members of the upper chamber of the Diet, the women may be said to exercise a direct power in Swedish affairs.

Paris is agitating the organization of a woman's club whose object shall be social intercourse, afternoon tea, and gossip. Only the wives of members of the men's clubs will be admitted, and no male intruder will be admitted into the sacred precincts of the "Cercle des Femmes du Monde," as the new club will be named.

The medical education of the native young women of India is extending with great rapidity under the encouragement of the Countess of Dufferin's Association. In Bombay alone sixty-two native girls have been admitted to the Medical College within the past six years, and several of these are now qualified practitioners.

The Royal University of Ireland has conferred distinction upon two of the women lecturers of Alexandra College, Dublin, by enrolling them as members of its examining body. The Royal University has opened its degrees and exhibitions alike to men and women, and now makes most generous recognition of the ability of women.

Spain boasts of one remarkable authoress, Emilia Bazan, who is now engaged in a monthly review, of which she is herself the only contributor, although each edition contains a story, a review of the most notable books published during the month, and a disquisition on the principal topics of the day. At the same time she is finishing a novel.

Prof. Ely, of Vassar College, says of the practical work of college women: "As to the college woman's individual work in the church and in the community, ask the pastors of our churches in the various towns and villages, consult the Boards of the hospitals, training schools, and other philanthropic enterprises, and, having gathered all the statistics, decide whether, in the twenty years in which the opportunities for higher education have been offered to women, education has created a race of idle, skeptical and selfish women."

A Victory for the Women.

Women students in Leipsic have been of late greatly concerned about their privileges in the university. It seems that the law prohibits women from attending lectures, but the late Minister of Education, Von Garber, was a man of liberal ideas and had ignored the law. The attitude of the new Minister on the question was unknown, and rumors were current in Leipsic that a protest against the presence of women was to be sent in which might interdict them. Martha Foote Crow, Vice-President of the American Association of Collegiate Alumnæ, appealed to the new Minister, Von Seydewitz, through the American Consul, describing American colleges and college women, of whom there are 48,000 in colleges and universities now and several thousand that have taken degrees, and setting forth the demand for women teachers with the special training of the universities. The petition has intercepted the protest and won over the protestor, who has promised to offer no opposition to the presence of women where individual professors are willing to admit them to the lectures.—New York Sun.

O, woman, despairing and wretched,
Dreading, yet longing to die,
Hear the glad chorus that rises,
Filling the dome of the skies:

"Sisters, be glad, there's help to be had;
No longer be miserable, gloomy and sad;
Lost health regain." rings out the refrain.
"Poor creatures, be healthy and happy again."

How? By taking Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, the world's greatest remedy for all kinds of diseases peculiar to women. It brings back tone and vigor to the system weakened by those distressing complaints known only to women, which make life such a burden. It restores relaxed organs to a normal condition. It fortifies the system against the approach of diseases which often terminate in untold misery, if not in death—which is preferable to the pain and torment of living, in many instances. It is the great gift of scientific skill and research to women, and for it she cannot be too grateful. It cures her ills when nothing else can. It is guaranteed to give satisfaction or price ($1) returned. Absolutely sold on trial! b

Blood Will Tell

Good blood will show its quality. So will bad blood, the one in a healthy body and ruddy complexion, the other in ill health, blotches, pimples, boils and sores, and frequently in intenser forms as ulcers, abscesses erysipelas, scorfulous diseases, salt rheum, etc. Every organ of the body depends upon the blood for force and vitality, and is but ecantily served when the blood is impure. No remedy is so potent as a blood purifier or more rapidly promotes new and healthy blood than Burdock Blood Bitters, which neutralizes the various poisons and restores the vitalizing power of this all important fluid. As an instance of this read what Mr. J. S. Neff, of Algoma Mills, Ont., says in a recent letter:

SIRS,—A year ago I was troubled with spots breaking out all over my body, the effect of bad blood. I consulted three different doctors, who gave me medicine but did not cure me. I was advised to try B.B.B., and after using two bottles I noticed the spots getting less. I continued to use B.B.B., which entirely cured me giving me a splendid appetite. Since then I would use no other medicine.

THE WORLD'S BEST.

ALL diseases curable by Electricity can be treated at home by the Dorenwend Appliance. The Dorenwend is the only legitimate Electric Belt made which fulfils the requirements of Electro-medical science. It is a complete BODY BATTERY. It has an independent battery, which generates a mild, continuous current of Electricity (without shocks) and can be regulated to suit the strongest man or the weakest child. It is a CURRENT of QUALITY, not merely a sensation current, and the only current in the greatest curative. It is a powerful treatment for INDIGESTION, RHEUMATISM, NEURALGIA, SCIATICA, LUMBAGO, LIVER AND KIDNEY TROUBLES, WEAK BACK, SPINAL DISEASES, HEART DISEASE, NERVOUS DEBILITY, PARALYSIS, VERTIGO, FEMALE COMPLAINTS, IMPOTENCY, SEXUAL DECLINE and all diseases of the Nervous and Muscular Systems.

Remember that the DORENWEND BELT is the very latest invention in this line, and was invented by a competent electrician, and ranks as the best in the world; we defy anyone to bring proof to the contrary.

FURTHER ANARCHIST OUTRAGES IN EUROPE

France and Spain in the Throes of Mob Law - Publishers of an Anarchist Paper Arrested in London and Committed to Jail Without Bail

LONDON, April 22.—The Commonweal, the Anarchist paper seized by the police yesterday, describes itself as a revolutionary journal of anarchism and communism.

Commenting upon the recent trial and conviction of the Walsall Anarchists, it calls the Home Secretary a Jesuitical monster, who murders men because of a few head of game (referring to the execution of two poachers who killed a gamekeeper). Justice Hawkins, who presided at the trial of the Walsall Anarchists, is termed a hyena preying upon the bodies of hanged men, and whose love of the gallows a few years ago won for him the title of "Hangman Hawkins."

Continuing, the paper asks: "What of the spy, Melville, who sets agents to concoct plots which he discovers? Are these men fit to live?"

Melville, whom The Commonweal terms a spy, is Chief Inspector Melville of Scotland Yard, who arrested the Walsall Anarchists recently sentenced to various terms of imprisonment.

Nichol, the editor, and Mowbray, the publisher, of The Commonweal, were arraigned in the Bow-street Police Court today on the charge of inciting to a breach of the peace. The judge remanded the prisoners, refusing to accept bail.

Nichol admitted that he wrote the article in question.

PARIS, April 22.—Anarchists have sent the following letter to Ravachol:

"You may be condemned, but your death shall be avenged on the very day of your execution. The infamous Deibler and his assistants shall pay with their lives for taking yours. We shall be present with bombs in our pockets and we will blow up the guillotine.

BERLIN, April 21.—The Vorwaerts, the organ of the Socialists, announces that 16 halls have been secured for the purpose of holding May Day manifestations.

Germany has requested Belgium to institute a search on Belgian soil for the Anarchists Heilman and Haller, who murdered Police Councillor Rumpf in Frankfort in 1888.

MADRID, April 22. The well-known Italian Anarchist Malatesta, who has for some time past been carrying on an Anarchist agitation in many parts of Spain, is being looked for by the police on suspicion of having been connected with the plot to murder the King.

At Herrera de Rio Pisuerga, in Old Castile, a band of Anarchists to-day exploded a quantity of dynamite at a bridge and completely destroyed it. They were pursued by the Civil Guard, but made good their escape.

Another explosion occurred in Orense, in Galicia. Several arrests were made. The attack was on public property.

The scene of still another explosion was in the town of Ergobia. A public fountain situated in one of the most prominent parts of the town was blown to fragments by a charge of dynamite. No one was arrested.

ROME, April 21.—Reports having reached the chief of police that attempts would be made by Anarchists to blow up the Quirinal and the palace he at once set men to work walling up the lower windows, the openings into the areas and the underground passages. When King Humbert first learned of the progress of the work he was highly indignant.

"Thank God!" he is said to have exclaimed, "the time has not yet come when the King of the Italian people must fortify his home against them."

He sent for the chief of police at once and not only ordered the work already done demolished, but also cautioned him against taking measures likely to manifest distrust of the people on the part of the working people, the people.

A PERSISTENT PERSECUTOR.

Alexander Sharp Committed For Threatening an Actress' Life.

LONDON, April 22. A crank named Alexander Sharp was arraigned in the Bow-street Police Court yesterday on the charge of threatening to kill Miss Louie Pounds, the actress and sister of Courtice Pounds, the tenor, and remanded for trial. Miss Pounds has been annoyed for several years by Sharp.

In November, 1890, he attempted to shoot Miss Pounds with a revolver. For this he was sentenced to a year's imprisonment. Shortly after he was released he began to write letters to her requesting her to meet him.

He declared that if she did not meet him he would either shoot her or spoil her beauty by throwing vitriol in her face.

Fell From the Observatory's Summit.

LONDON, April 22.—John Harthup, the chief astronomer of the Birdstone Observatory, Birkenhead, was killed yesterday. He went to the summit of the observatory to examine the apparatus, and while there lost his balance and fell the whole distance to the ground. His neck was broken.

LAID TO REST.

Funeral of The Late Hon. A. Mackenzie at Sarnia Yesterday.

SARNIA, April 22.—There was an immense attendance at the funeral of the late Hon. Alex. Mackenzie yesterday, prominent and representative men from nearly every city and town in Western Ontario being present, while the influx from the surrounding country was very great, despite the downpour of rain which lasted until noon. St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, where the remains of the honored dead lay in state, had been draped in mourning. Business houses, public buildings, private residences all expressed in different ways the respect and esteem in which the deceased had been held and a sense of the loss which the country had sustained.

About 11 o'clock the remains were taken from the residence of Charles Mackenzie, M.L.A., where they had remained during last night, to the church. Besides the floral tributes which had accompanied the remains from Toronto there were many from local friends and admirers and also from different associations. The casket was completely surrounded with such tributes.

From 12 o'clock to 2 o'clock the body lay in state and the general public was allowed to pass through the church and take a last look at the face of the deceased. During the two hours probably 5000 people viewed the face of the dead.

At 2 o'clock the services commenced with the church crowded with thousands on the outside. The immediate relatives of the deceased occupied the first pews. The services were conducted by Rev. Professor McLaren and Rev. Professor Gregg, both of Knox College. The choir of the church rendered appropriate hymns and an anthem.

Rev. Professor McLaren offered up prayer, and an eulogy of the deceased was delivered by Rev. Professor Gregg.

The remains were then taken to Lakeview Cemetery for burial in the family plot, and the procession to the cemetery, about a mile and a half from the church, was a very large one.

Oklahoma Acres.

KINGFISHER, Okla., April 22.—The Cheyenne and Arapahoe Reservation, on whose 3,500,000 acres left open yesterday to settlement 30,000 citizens found new homes with a great rush yesterday, is in the Indian Territory between the Cherokee outlet on the north and the Kiowa, Comanche and Apache Reservation on the south. Its eastern border adjoins Oklahoma and its western the Panhandle of Texas.

Many of the boomers have found a grievous disappointment in the common and sterile character of most of the soil. They had dreamed of a fertile land of promise, which, like Canaan of old, flowed with milk and honey. But the most of it is ordinary prairie land, for which even the Indians didn't care a snap.

Better Butter Wanted for the British Market Economy in Cheese Making.

OTTAWA, April 22.—At a meeting of the Committee on Agriculture and Colonization yesterday, Professor Robertson, Dominion Dairy Commissioner, gave evidence in regard to the season's work. Since his appointment two years ago, he said, there is a growing interest taken in dairying throughout the Dominion. Cheese had been sent from the stations at Perth and London, Ont., to England, and sold well. Referring to some experiments made in connection with feed, he showed that the milk could be altered in richness and color, but not in regard to solids. Farmers in the vicinity of Mount Elgin dairy station had received 15 cents monthly for their butter on account, and the butter on being sent to England and British Columbia had yielded them 24 and 25 cents net per pound. In the course of a few years he estimated that $5,000,000 worth of butter might be sent to England. In the meantime England imported $56,000,000 worth of butter, and 40 per cent. of this came from Denmark. The Danish butter realized 10s. more per 112 pounds than the Canadian article. Our butter was equal to the Danish in every respect, with the exception of the rosy appearance and flavor, which seemed to take better in the English market.

Sell the best Clothing for the money that is possible to buy in this town, or elsewhere.

It can't be termed simply cheap clothing and passed by with a sneer, though 'tis cheap by comparison in price with the same goods for sale elsewhere, for the cloth is bought from the best makers, cut by the best talent procurable, made up in the best manner.

Then, the price is marked just a shade above the cost of manufacture, and away below the lowest price the same goods are selling for at any other store; hence our confidence that a dollar here goes as far as a half more elsewhere. Without a shadow of a doubt we give the most value for the least money.

QUALITY and COST.

QUALITY is a small word, but it has a big meaning.

COST is a still smaller word, but, when consistent with quality, is in every case the first consideration—especially in the purchase of Dress Goods.

Our customers are daily realising the fact that in our Dress Goods Department, the HIGHEST quality and the LOWEST cost go hand-in-hand. Another advantage is the absolute NEWNESS of our stock. It isn't a rehash of last year's styles, however modern. The designs are the newest effects produced, with all the latest fashionable combinations of good taste.

Fancy a $16 costume being sold for $8? That's the benefit you reap by our extensive facilities in buying.

The attractions at our Millinery Parlours still keep up. In fact, you would think every day was an opening day. This may be attributed to our supplementary display of Pattern Hats and Bonnets, and later arrivals of Millinery Novelties, Jackets and Capes, Dress Silks and Fancy Dry Goods. The attraction is not only in the goods themselves, but in the BARGAINS OFFERED.

We can furnish a whole house from attic to drawing room, with new patterns of Carpets and Floor Coverings of all kinds; and we can also match the Carpets with Curtains, Draperies and Upholsteries of elegant designs in contrasting colours. Nothing is too high priced.

HE MURDERED HIS WIFE

SHOCKING TRAGEDY AT BRAMPTON LAST NIGHT.

A Retired Farmer Crazed by Jealousy, Losses and Whisky, Shoots His Wife Dead But is Overpowered Before He Can Carry Out His Intention of Killing Himself.

BRAMPTON, Ont., April 23.—Last January James Lundy and his family came to Brampton from their farm on the first line West Chinguacousy, and they made their home in a three-story brick tenement known as the "Brampton House," in Main-street. Shortly after their arrival people began to talk of the unhappy relationship existing between Lundy and his wife, and they were said to quarrel frequently. Money matters formed a large part of the trouble and to escape having his property seized for debt it is said Lundy deeded his farm to his wife, and he claimed that his wife and her brother were trying to euchre him out of it and turn him adrift.

The Green-Eyed Monster Also

Jealously was another factor in their trouble. It is reported he drank to excess. The culmination was reached at 9.15 last night. In the handsomely furnished parlor were gathered Mrs. Lundy, her daughter, a young woman, and two sons, one of whom is a man and the other a small boy. Besides these there were James McKinnon, Mrs. Lundy's brother; T. Sellwood and his wife and William Tracey and wife.

All were spending a pleasant evening, piano going and the usual good time. The story told by one present is that Lundy came into the room behind the parlor, hidden by curtains, and began muttering in an undertone, and Mrs. Lundy went over to him and said: "Please don't come in now," and the couple withdrew to the kitchen, further back, Lundy all the while growling in an undertone.

A Pistol Shot Rang Out.

They had not got beyond the hearing of the company when a pistol shot rang out, followed by a woman's scream, and your informant rushed into the hall leading to the kitchen and another shot followed. He dashed into the kitchen and was nearly blinded by the flash of a third report.

Throwing himself on Lundy the witness held him fast, the man struggling like a maniac. Help came quickly and the revolver was secured.

Lying on the floor was the dead body of Mrs. Lundy. One ball entered the left temple and another just below the chin on the same side, penetrating the jugular vein, and death must have been almost instantaneous. That one scream was the only utterance the poor woman made.

The dead body lay parallel with the wall of the kitchen, her feet slightly apart, touching the threshold of the door—a horrible, sickening sight—in a bath of blood.

The Murderer Arrested.

Lundy was placed under arrest and taken to jail by Chief Orth. The murderer was calm and perfectly sober. The murdered woman, whose maiden name was McKinnon, was a tall, dark, finely-developed woman—a striking and stylish woman on the streets. She was about 49 years of age.

The murderer is a medium-sized man 53 years of age. He has a shifty, nervous manner, which too much liquor has not improved.

The fatal weapon is a self-acting 32-calibre Smith & Wesson six-shooter. Three chambers were loaded when taken from Lundy.

Coroner Mullin and Crown Attorney McFadden empanelled a jury, who viewed the body at 11 p.m. and adjourned until 2 p.m. Saturday, when the inquest will be continued.

Lundy's family connection in Peel is very large and the utmost excitement exists over the affair.

Glories in His Deed.

It appears Lundy has not been living at home for several weeks, but had been staying at the Revere House and about 8 30 the murderer entered the Royal Hotel and asked for some supper and he got it. It was noticed he was very pale. He then went to the Revere and got a drink and afterwards proceeded to his home, entering the house noiselessly.

The only explanation given by Lundy was he had stood it for 22 years and this thing had to come some time. He expressed no sorrow for his act, but regretted he had not been allowed to use the remaining two shots on himself.

The third bullet has been found in the wall of the kitchen. A touching scene was the grief of the daughter, a handsome girl, who threw herself on the dead body, crying, "Mother, mother!"

They Knew Him Well, But His Death is Still a Mystery.

DUNCAN, B.C., April 23.—H. O. Wellburn, coroner for Vancouver Island, held an inquest yesterday at Cowicean on the remains of an Indian named Johnny Tsair-lokan of the Clemclemalats ranch, married and aged about 25 years, who has been missing since Dec. 6 last.

The deceased's skull and several bones, together with his boots, hat and clothing, were found in the brush near the Bench-road on Monday last.

Deceased had been drinking with some friends at his own house, a short distance from where the remains were found, on the night of Dec. 6.

The evidence was somewhat contradictory and after a tedious investigation the jury returned an open verdict.

Prince Michael as a Suppliant.

LANSING, April 23.—Prince Michael yesterday made his first appearance before the Supreme Court as a supplicant. Through his attorney he applied for a mandamus to compel Judge Chambers to set aside the capias under which he was arrested after being released on bail. An order to show cause was granted returnable May 4.

A writ of habeas corpus was also granted for the release of May Webster, one of "the angels," who is being detained as a witness. It is claimed that she is held in custody without due process of law. The return day is also May 4.

Death Stopped the Purchase.

STAYNER, Ont., April 23.—Patrick Conway of Orillia arrived here two weeks ago to purchase the Queen's Hotel. Excessive use of intoxicants, resulting in heart failure, caused his sudden death yesterday.

Belonged to Norfolk.

WINNIPEG, April 23.—John McKechnie, a young farmer, who came from Norfolk county, Ont., two weeks ago and located in Brandon district, is dead. The body will be interred at Brandon.

REDISTRIBUTION BILL.

TWO NEW MEMBERS EACH FOR TORONTO AND MONTREAL.

Algoma and Ottawa County Each to Get a New Representative—Manitoba to Gain Two Seats And Maritime Provinces to Lose Two.

OTTAWA, April 23.—Sir John Thompson last night gave notice of the introduction of his Redistribution Bill. Of course its provisions will not be made public until the bill is explained in the House, but rumor has it that Toronto and Montreal will each be given two new members, that Algoma and Ottawa county will each get another representative and that several rural constituencies in Ontario and Quebec having small populations will be amalgamated so as to keep the same number of representatives from each province. Manitoba will gain two seats, which, it is said, will be given Selkirk and Provencher.

The Maritime Provinces will lose two seats, but it is not known just how redistribution will be made there.

From what can be learned and guessed about the bill it looks as if a good summer's work was cut out for the House, and it may be July or August before prorogation.

Statement of imports and exports for March and nine months of fiscal year shows that both are still on the boom and that the aggregate trade of the year bids fair to be the largest ever known. The exports for March were $3,988,337, being an increase of $722,489 over last March. For the nine months the exports total the enormous amount of $85,487,439, being $11,753,426 more than nine months of the last fiscal year. Imports for March were $10,068,016, an increase of $1,648,031, and for nine months $81,900,964, being $71,003 more than corresponding period last year. Duty collected for March was $2,001,842, being $62,268 over last March. For the nine month, however, the duty collected is $2,501,343 less than last year, which is accounted for by the repeal of the duties on sugar.

Notes of the House.

In the House yesterday Mr. Tupper's bill giving the Governor-in-Council power to renew the modus vivendi for Atlantic fisheries from year to year passed through committee with an amendment to the effect that all renewals should be reported to Parliament.

Mr. Costigan introduced his bill amending the Inland Revenue Act, which extends the act to the Northwest Territories on account of the adoption by the Territories of a license system. The act is also amended so that manufacturers of cigars are not allowed to sell cigars in packages of three, six or ten.

The House has been in supply all evening on the Department of Agriculture estimates.

Most Favored Nation Clauses.

OTTAWA, April 23.—A despatch from Lord Knutsford in reply to the addresses of both Houses of Parliament last session, asking for the abrogation of the most favored nation clauses in the treaties with the German Zollverein and Belgium, was laid on the table yesterday.

The despatch very politely but very firmly declines to entertain the proposal. It is admitted that Canada has the right to regulate her own tariff so long as it applies equally to all foreign countries but not to discriminate in favor of the Mother Country, and it is pointed out that the most favored nation clause is embodied in many treaties between foreign countries and Great Britain and her colonies and its abrogation would seriously disrupt British commerce.

It is also pointed out that recent treaties with Germany reduce duties on cereals, meats and cheese and that Canada gets the benefit of this.

PROPOSED SHIP RAILWAY.

A Deputation to Interview Premier Abbott—City May Take Possession of the Immigrant Building Site at Once.

OTTAWA, April 23.—Messrs. Kivas Tully and David Blain had an interview with Premier Abbott yesterday with reference to building a ship railway from Georgian Bay to Toronto, and also with reference to deepening the canals between Toronto and Montreal to 20 feet, and made an appointment for some day next week for a large deputation of members and others.

The Department of the Interior this afternoon wrote Mr. Donaldson, immigration agent, Toronto, to allow the corporation to take possession of the site of the immigration building required for the extension of the cattle market on condition that the corporation fits up a baggage-room with stove and other things so that it can be used by immigrants. The corporation may then pull down the immigrant building and take possession of the site pending the passage of the bill now before Parliament to sell the property to the corporation for $52,000.

The Prohibition Commission.

MONTREAL, April 23.—The Royal Commission on Prohibition has adjourned, and will probably meet again in a month, the documents, etc., to be by that time ready for discussion, and a basis of procedure to be arranged, as Sir Joseph Hickson is desirous of starting properly into a work that bids fair to cover a wider range than anticipated.

Farrow the Bigamist.

OWEN SOUND, April 23.—At the Police Court Friday James Farrow, arrested at St. Thomas on a charge of bigamy, was arraigned and committed. No. 1, who is prosecuting, is about 23 years of age. Her maiden name was Martha Holmes and she married Farrow on Nov. 5, 1888, at Wiarton. The second wife was Lizzie Carmichael of Broom County, N.Y., and Farrow was married to her at Binghamton about a year ago. It is alleged that he was preparing to marry a third woman when arrested.

Killed the First Settler.

WHITEWOOD, Assa., April 2.—Staff-Sergeant Fyfe of the N. W. M. Police, is now investigating in the Finland Colony, 15 miles north of here, what has every appearance of being a murder case, one Kautonen having confessed that he had, in 1889, done away with Johnero, who, with himself, were the first to locate there from Michigan.

After confessing to the crime Kautonen disappeared. It is thought he has committed suicide in the woods as he was in a very despondent condition.

Gen. Pelly Dead.

LONDON, April 23.—Lieut.-General Sir Lewis Pelly, K.C.B., K.C.S.I., member of the House of Commons for the North Division of Hackney, died to-day. He had a long and distinguished career, especially in India.

SMOTHERED AT PLAY.

Three Small Boys Crushed to Death Under a Heap of Sand.

TORONTO, April 23.—At 3.30 yesterday afternoon, three small boys met a sudden death in a very unusual manner. Ernest and Alfred, aged 11 and 8 years respectively, sons of Wm. H. Lucas, 360 College-street, and Harry Prittie, the 12-year-old son of Wm. Prittie, 49 Shannon-street were digging a cave, which they proposed to turn into a playhouse. The place of operation was in a newly-excavated bank on the north side of Shannon-street. The soil was soft and sandy and in a short time the vigorous little lads had dug out quite a large-sized cave. Suddenly, without the slightest warning and while the boys were still at work, the whole bank caved in, burying the boys to the depth of four feet. There they remained until Mr. Prittie's brother happened to notice that the bank had caved in. He gave the alarm, and in a short time the boys were dug out. It was too late, however, as two of the boys were dead, and the third died a short time afterwards, despite the efforts of the physicians who were summoned to attend them. The parents are stricken with grief.

No inquest will be held.

TORONTO NOMINATIONS.

All Four Candidates Will Go to the Polls.

TORONTO, April 23.—The nomination for the vacancy in the representation of Toronto in the Local Legislature, caused by the death of H. E. Clarke, took place yesterday in Temperance Hall.

Peter Ryan, returning officer, presided, and there was a fair attendance of electors. All four candidates were nominated, viz.: H. A. E. Kent, as a straight Conservative candidate, nominated by E. E. Sheppard, one of the candidates for the Conservative nomination; N. G. Bigelow, Q.C., as straight Reform candidate, nominated by Dr. Ogden; Phillips Thompson, as Independent Labor candidate, and E. A. McDonald on the platform of political union with the United States. The candidates were allowed five-minutes speeches, but all exceeded the limit. Messrs. Kent and Bigelow were received cordially by their friends, and were not annoyed by their opponents. Thompson was heard quietly, but excited no enthusiasm. Mr. McDonald was received with hisses and cheering, and his speech was continually broken with interjections and interruptions, until half way on, when he was quietly heard.

Mother and Child Drowned.

VICTORIA, B.C., April 23.—George Woods, his wife and their adopted daughter, Miss Edith Holden, started across Kootenay Lake to Five Mile Point.

A sudden gust of wind upset the sail boat and all three were precipitated into the water.

The child sank instantly and was not afterwards seen. Woods did all in his power to save his wife. He climbed on the bottom of the upturned boat and tried to raise her from the water, but before he was able to do so she had expired and sunk, leaving him so exhausted that it was with the greatest difficulty he was able to reach the shore.

Mrs. Woods was a Miss McDermott and resided in Elgin County, Ontario.

A New York Banker Weds the Woman Who Rejected Him a Generation Ago.

NEW YORK, April 23.—Twenty-one years ago E. A. de Mauriac, a broker in this city, offered his heart and hand to Miss Laura White, daughter of Judge White of Cooperstown, N.Y. He was rejected and the lady married W. E. Leavitt and went to live at Flushing, L.I. About a year ago she took up her residence in Sioux Falls, S.D., and secured a divorce from her husband on the ground of desertion and non-support.

A year before this she had been on a visit to Cooperstown, and on her return home found that her husband had locked the door against her. She returned to Cooperstown, and finally secured her divorce at Sioux Falls.

DeMauriac had been married, but his wife had died. When his former love was set free he once more appeared as her suitor, and this time was accepted.

The marriage took place yesterday in the presence of a few guests.

De Mauriac is a wealthy banker and stock broker of this city and is a member of the Stock Exchange and a prominent club man.

Robert McGreevy Sentenced.

QUEBEC, April 23.—At 2 o'clock yesterday Mr. R. H. McGreevy entered the Criminal Court in charge of High Constable Gale, and was conducted to the dock.

His counsel stated that he had just arrived from the United States, having decided to surrender and undergo the penalty of his offence.

Judge Bosse sentenced the accused to one year's imprisonment, at the same time remarking that had McGreevy not fled his punishment would only have been a six months sentence.

Prior to the passing of the sentence, McGreevy appealed to the judge for clemency.

The Mercier Charges.

QUEBEC, April 23.—There seems to be an impression abroad that Mr. Mercier and his friends are only to be tried upon the charges already laid against them, but this is a mistake. The present charges are only the opening of the ball, and the ex-Premier will in all probability be tried for the alleged offences committed in relation to his handling of railway subsidies.

Nearly a Billion Around the Tables.

NEW YORK, April 23.—The first dinner of the members of the New York Real Estate Exchange was held at Delmonico's last night. There were 240 people present, including some 20 guests. Those men who made the crowd which filled Delmonico's big dining room as full as it would hold represented, either in their own right or as agents, a thousand million dollars.

Perth's Oldest Pedagog Dead.

STRATFORD, April 23.—News has been received here of the death in Texas of Mr. Alexander McGregor, a man whose name was prominently associated with the early history of Stratford. He taught in the first school here nearly 50 years ago, among his pupils being the present Judge Woods. He was Perth's first County Treasurer. He was also Clerk of the County Court.

The Countess of Antrim.

LONDON, April 23.—The Countess of Antrim, wife of the Earl of Antrim, died yesterday. She was a daughter of the late Gen. Charles Grey, and was married June 1, 1875. She leaves two sons and a daughter.

THE BOUNDARY BRIDGES.

THE Lindsay Post thus deals with this subject:—

"The Peterborough EXAMINER, in referring to the boundary bridges bill before the Ontario legislature, pays a deserved tribute to the zeal and ability of Dr. McKay, M. P. P., in working for his constituents, but says erroneously that his cause was weakened "by the unreasonableness of some of his supporters....in not consenting to the principle of arbitration." The Victoria delegates from the first, and all through the proceedings, asked for arbitration, and carried their point. It was the Peterborough delegates who opposed arbitration. The EXAMINER'S error is singular one....Mr. John Fell, M. P. P. rendered valuable assistance in promoting the bill....We must say that Mr. Stratton, M. P. P., showed unequalled dexterity and resource in looking after the interests of Peterborough county. His long acquaintance in the house and his personal popularity give him an influence wielded by few members not on the treasury benches."

The above is correct so far as the remarks refer to the matter of arbitration in connection with Bobcaygeon bridge, but is is a fact that the representatives of Victoria's interests, distinctly and persistently refused to include the Pigeon Creek bridge in the schedule of bridges subject to arbitration. —MD. EXAMINER.

THE longer we have the National Policy, remarks the Welland Tribune, the more effective it becomes — in depopulating the country. Never was the exodus from Welland so great, or the depreciation in real estate so alarming as at the present time!

THE following is from the anecdotal life of Sir John Macdonald, issued a short time ago: "One day as the members of the Cabinet were chatting together, after the business of the council was over, Sir John was seen to look intently and seriously at Mr. Carling. At last he asked, "Carling, I wonder if the Almighty ever created a man as honest as you look?" This is the same Mr. Carling who is now sitting in Parliament in the seat belonging to Mr. Hyman.—Dundas Banner.

THE Empire, with a mildness of speech that suggests spring lassitude, remarks that "the sleuth hounds of justice seems to be getting their teeth through Mr. Mercier's garments at last." According to the style of cheek developed by Sir John Thompson, if the sleuth hounds of justice even get after him they will have to be content with "getting their teeth through his clothes," for their fangs would have no impression on the pachydermatous cuticle which his shuffling in the matter of the Caron charges shows he possesses. After his public utterances in respect to the Government's determination to detect and punish boodleism, Sir John Thompson's present attitude indicates a serious degree of either cheek-hardening or brain softening.

Rev. Wm. Hollinshed,

Pastor of the Presbyterian church of Sparta, N.J., voluntarily writes strongly in favor of Hood's Sarsaparilla. He says: Nothing I know of will cleanse the blood, stimulate the liver or clean the stomach like this remedy. I know of scores and scores who have been helped or cured by it.

The highest praise has been won by Hood's Pills for their easy, yet efficient, action.

Nothing creates more disease, discomfort, and distress than constipation of the bowels. In B.B.B. we have a remedy sure to remove and cure it.

VAST quantities of wheat are being exported from Chicago to Liverpool by way of Montreal. The rates charged for transportation are from 7 to 10 cents per bushel from Chicago to Montreal, and 8½ to 9 cents from Duluth to Montreal. The ocean steamships plying between Montreal and Liverpool have made heavy engagements for grain with grain shippers in the Western States. The rates from Kingston to Montreal have been made at 2½ to 2¾ on wheat, and this season at 2¼ to 2½ on corn. Grain from the United States is flowing through Canada in a steady stream towards Liverpool. The Grand Trunk is doing a big business in carrying American wheat from Chicago to Montreal. The building of the Trent Valley Canal would divert an immense proportion of this grain through this town and district, besides developing local resources.

The Keenly Tempered Scythe of Death Foiled Again.

A Young and Promising Life Saved by Paine's Celery Compound — Another Startling Proof of the Value of This Great Remedy—It Cures and Saves.

The grand work never ceases; wonders are being accomplished every day in all sections of this broad Dominion. Our people now recognize and appreciate the marvellous healing virtues of Paine's Celery Compound, and seem eager to make known the wonderful cures it effects. With the diseased, sick and afflicted, Paine's Celery Compound is a true talisman, a never-failing magical protector and renovator. Its fame has never been equalled in the annals of medicine, and no wonder it is, that the medical profession look on with awe and astonishment. This grand, live-saving remedy boasts of its power to raise up and cure the people that some physicians pronounced incurable. It speaks words of cheer, comfort and hope to those who are far gone in disease, and honestly promises new life.

What other remedial power known to man can do the same work? Can any other agency known to medicine show such a record? We think not; the public well know that there is no other medicine that can work such wonderful results.

Paine's Celery Compound always produces the best character of approval and proof from amongst our own people; it does not require to deal with false or imaginary cures; it has an abundance of the most convincing letters and testimonials from Canada's own people, always fresh, crisp, strong and powerful in tone and feeling.

To-day we are enabled to give the public the testimony of a well known young man of Clementsport, Annapolis Co., Nova Scotia, Mr. Wm. S. Roop. He suffered from a terribly dangerous, and often fatal disease. He was treated by doctors, and consumed large quantities of medicines, but no cure came until the great modern remedy, Paine's Celery Compound, was used. Mr. Roop very recently wrote as follows:—

"I would like to add my testimony to the effect of Paine's Celery Compound. For about four years I have suffered with neuralgia of the heart. Have taken lots of medicine from different doctors for it. Before I commenced taking Paine's Celery Compound I could not sleep, was very nervous, had pains in my left side, shoulders and arm nearly all the time. It is gone now. I have used altogether about one dozen bottles. I send you my photo with this.

"WILLIAM S. ROOP."

This is to certify that we, the undersigned, are personally acquainted with William S. Roop, and can vouch for the truth of every statement made.

JAMES H. MERRITT, W. H RICHAN, WILLIAM ROOP, } Clementsport, Annapolis Co., Nova Scotia.

All diseased, weary and suffering mortals, afflicted with troubles which may prove fatal at any moment, should deduce this moral from the testimony given above: "Act promptly by using Paine's Celery Compound when the first symptoms appear, and you will avoid suffering anxiety and care."

A Rat-Proof Floor.

A rat-proof floor for chicken houses can be made by mixing coal ashes and freshly slaaked lime. Take 20 or 30 bushels of ashes just as they come from the heap, cinders and all. Add to this one bushel of fresh lime, in the liquid form just after slacking. Mix thoroughly with a hoe. Make a floor a foot thick, or even thicker. The stuff is cheap. Ram hard with heavy rammer, at least three times, on different days. This same process carefully performed will make a cellar floor that can be scrubbed.

Testing Grass and Clover Seed.

It is well to test grass and clover seed, not only to determine if the vitality of the seed is impaired, but also to ascertain if it is adulterated with seeds of weeds or noxious grasses. Testing should never be neglected, for it is the seed not suspected that does the harm. Select a number of seeds large enough to make the test a test—at least one hundred. Count carefully. Place the seeds between woollen cloths moistened with tepid water. The cloths should be boiled before they are used, and the plate or pan in which they are laid should be scalded to avoid the growth of fungi or mould. For the same reason, only recently boiled water should be used for moistening the cloths. At least two cloths should be

Some English Nuts.

Why not grow filberts and cobnuts (so called in England) which bring big money? Fig. 1 represents a filbert or cob. Both are trimmed and trained alike, and when in training or full grown look like an embrella the reverse way to what we carry it. The body of the tree is 18 inches to 2 feet high to the limb upon the end of which the nuts grow. They are gathered in the fall and put in a chamber up over some building and picked over for market. They have been known to bring as high as 2 pounds English money ($10) per 100 lbs. These trees are cut in the spring when the little red blossom begins to appear. The raising of young trees is done as in Fig. 2. The uprights that grow out of the body below the limbs, if not wanted for young trees, are cut off. If wanted, they are bent over and one or two twists made where they go in the ground and pinned down with a hooked stick and the rest of it turned up to form a tree, leaving from 8 to 10 inches above the ground. When firmly rooted it is cut off at the twist and planted in rows until needed to set out.

Poultry Dots.

If milk is plenty make mush of meal and feed to ducklings. Nothing is better for them at a tender age. The milk should be boiled to avoid looseness of the bowels which fresh milk sometimes brings about. The secret in duck raising is in keeping them growing rapidly during the first weeks of their life.

A little process linseed meal added to the scalded feed will stimulate egg production, but impairs the fertility of the eggs, and should not be used for the breeding pens. Cottonseed meal, fed with care, also forces egg production.

Failure usually comes from attempting too much. A single variety of poultry, ducks, geese or turkeys will often pay well when many kinds would not.

A Small Colt.

A breeder of ponies near Jamaica, L.I., has a pony mare which has beaten all records. Although but one year, 11 months and four days old at the time, she foaled a filly and both are doing well. The mother is but 37 in. high, and her foal, which weighs 18 lbs., is 14 in. high.

All For Fashion.

A few years ago no one ever saw a long-tailed horse in the coach class in any of the cities of Europe. Now the "sweeping train" of a tail is getting to be the fashion over there, and in Aberdeen, Scotland, one stable has been opened to handle only American horses.

Go Hear Him Preach.

Bishop Hawkins, a coloured Bishop of the British Methodist Episcopal church, who is to preach in the George street Methodist church to-morrow morning and evening, will deliver his thrilling lecture in the same church on the following Monday evening, April 25th, at 8 o'clock. Subject — "The Story of My Life as a Slave." The lecturer will sing several plantation songs during the delivery of the lecture in old plantation style. A leading Toronto newspaper, in noticing the Bishop's recent visit to that city says: "Eighty-two years, part of which were spent in slavery and much hard work, has not taken the fire out of the old man's heart and utterances. He fairly thrilled his hearers with his stirring reminiscences and earnest appeals." Be sure and hear the old man eloquent on Monday evening. A silver collection of ten cents or over at the door.

A Shakespearean Entertainment.

Last evening in the Sons of England Hall there assembled a fair audience to hear Monsieur Leon Florestan, lately of Paris, give a dramatic Shakespearean recital. The Professor's recital partook of the nature of a monologue in each of three works of Shakespere, from which he rendered dramatic selections. He was dressed in suitable and handsome costumes, enhancing the interest and characters of the different roles which he took. The Professor stated that he could take other characters as well, but his entertainment gave greater satisfaction and interest when rendered as a monologue. Mr. Florestan impersonated "Shylock" in the Merchant of Venice, "Charles I" in Wm. G. Irving's Charles I, and Hamlet in his famous "Soliloquy on Death." The evening's programme was brought to a satisfactory close at 10.30 o'clock.

Ten years ago all our fine manufactured tobacco came from the United States. But month after month and year after year the superior quality of the "Myrtle Navy" brand has been driving the American article out of the Canadian market. The "Myrtle Navy" is now to be found in every village in the Dominion, and is as familiar to the smokers upon the Atlantic and Pacific coasts as to those of the city in which it is manufactured.

Their Second Regular Practice.

The Peterborough Gun Club had an excellent practice at Riverside Park yesterday afternoon. The birds were shot at 18 yards rise, and a strong south wind blowing militated against very good scoring being made. The following cracks took part—Messrs. R. Tivey, Harry Neill, E. B. Loucks, E. Hartley, T. Rutherford, Sam Ray, A. Terrill and others. Messrs. Tivey and Neill scored the highest number of birds, each taking 12 out of a possible 15. Five rounds were shot.

Well Deserved and Graceful Recognition.

Miss Sophia Cameron who has for some time been in the local kindergaten department of the Public School leaves for Toronto, on Monday morning to take the regular course in the Kindergarten Department of the Normal school. This morning she received a letter from several friends in the congregation, requesting her acceptance of a purse, in recognition of her past highly appreciated and valued services in the musical portion of every department of church work in St. Paul's. Miss Cameron has been a most faithful and effective member of St. Paul's choir, and her services in this and numerous other capacities, has more than merited the substantial recognition her friends have bestowed upon her, not to mention the important promotion of the interests of music she has given as a public vocalist of unusual ability. Her many friends will wish her success in her present undertaking.

Straight-Laced Law Administration

Strangles an Important Industry—Straining at a Gnat and Swallowing a Sawmill—A New Application of the National Policy.

No better illustration of the popular paraphrase of a scriptural proverb, "straining at a gnat and swallowing a — sawmill," can be given than the result of the threatened enforcement of the law in the case of the "Big Mill" of the Dickson Company. On Tuesday in consequence of Government action these mills closed down, thus throwing about 75 hands out of employment. The manager of the company received communications from the Fisheries Department of the Dominion Government threatening prosecution under the statute, for permitting the saw dust to enter and pollute the river. It was decided to shut down the mills rather than submit to the pettifogging obstruction, which police court suits would entail, for there would, judging by the policy of the Dominion Government, have been a series of such suits. The Dickson Company has made every possible provision, at great expense, to prevent the sawdust from entering the river, and was also at great daily expense to make such provisions effective. The only escape of sawdust was through the "pitman" and this was guarded with leathers and valves, every possible mechanical means being used to reduce the escape of the sawdust, as was in fact done, to the smallest possible quantity—be practically nothing. The sawdust escaping into the river from these mills bears about the same proportion to the quantity of water leaking through an ordinary dam. The enforcement of the letter of the law in this case is practically a prohibition of the operation of these mills. It is not unreasonable to stigmatize the action of government officials as gratuitously vexatious. The question of river pollution by sawdust cannot enter as an element into these threatened prosecutions. What are few siftings of sawdust that reach the water from the Dickson Company's mills compared to the volume of sawdust that entered the river when these mills, Hilliard's, the Red Mills, and the Lakefield Lumber Company's mills were in operation. It does seem a hardship that these mills should practically be closed, when the Dominion Government procures special legislation permitting the numerous mills on the Ottawa river to pour their sawdust slabs and edgings into the water. The saw dust entering the Ottawa river is tons to grains—the numerous mills on the Ottawa will cut about 60 millions each, compared to about three millions the Dickson Company would have cut during the present season if the Government had not driven them out of town. There are now sixty thousand logs in the river above the town that were to be cut here, but they will now float past the town and be worked up at Harwood, the town thus losing the benefit of the distribution of the wages that would have been earned and spent here.

It is all very well to boast of the benefits of the National Policy, to bonus factories to increase the importance of the town and promote its prosperity, but what desire is shown by the Dominion Government and its servants to help the town, when such a petty excuse is used to drive one of our oldest industries out of its borders. The excuse is a petty one—the quantity of sawdust entering the river from the Dickson Company's mills is insignificant. Such a strict enforcement of the letter of the law suggests less a desire for the public interests than a spirit of persecution. If the laws on the statute books were enforced to the letter half of our population would be in jail before night. It certainly would have been wise, and done no appreciable damage, to allow the Dickson Company's mills to run, and to save the town the loss of business, profit and prestige caused by driving an industry from our midst. The value all the fish caught in the river south of the town for a whole season, would not buy as many goods from our merchants as one week's wages of the Dickson Company's employees.

Green Goods Racket.

A Young Man From Keene Arrested for Dealing in This Shady Article—At the Police Court He Pleads not Guilty—The Case Enlarged Until Friday.

For some time past Chief of Police Rossel has been on the lookout for a young man who has been suspected for various causes and reasons to be dealing in green goods. About two weeks ago the Chief received the following letter from W. J. Edmison, Harwood, to whom it had been sent. The letter is dated on April 5th, 1892, and he directs his would be customer in the green goods line to address his letters to F. C. Austin, Box 664, Peterborough. Following is a copy of the letter sent to Mr. Edmison, Harwood, and which was forwarded by him to Chief Rossel. The letter fully explains itself.

PETERBOROUGH, April 5th, 1892.

"Confidential."

DEAR SIR:—You have been referred to me as a person in a position to handle my goods with discretion, and I have concluded to write you and if you don't care to invest, I pray you will not do me an injury. I have a very superior article in the way of counterfeit bank bills in fact the best ever handled in Canada and I defy the most expert bank clerk in the Dominion to detect them so that you run no risk whatever in handling them. They are made of genuine bank note paper and printed from negatives photographed from new genuine bills. No two bills are stamped with the same number, so that even if they were supposed to be spurious, no two bills would be found alike as regards to numbers. Photography has been brought to such a degree of excellence within the last ten years that the most expert bank officials cannot tell a printed note from a photographed one. I could, if I wished, name a certain party in your vicinity who has dealt with me for some time and who is passing these same bills in your own neighborhood, perhaps you may have handled them yourself and passed them with others, never thinking that they were counterfeits. My sizes are from one to twenty. In order that you may satisfy yourself that my goods are in every way as I represent them to you, I will (on the first order only) send $100 for $10 in good money. I do not wish to do a retail trade, and this offer is made only to introduce my goods. My prices are $100 for $1100, $400 for $5000, $1,000 for $15000.

When writing make no mention of the goods, simply the money, with the slip of paper sent you with your number on it, and I will understand you. If you send same over $10, the safest way is by express money order, but for $10 there is no necessity, as it will travel safely so short a distance in a well sealed envelope. All goods sent you will be by express and marked as merchandise. Now my friend, if you decide to avail yourself of this offer let me hear from you, as soon as possible, and in case you do not wish to invest please keep it a secret. Yours confidentially,

NO. 73.

P. S.—Please destroy this letter.

This morning the young man was arrested at the post office while receiving a registered letter addressed to F. C. Austin, Box 664, Peterborough. Chief Rossel made the arrest a few minutes before ten o'clock. The young man was brought before Police Magistrate Dumble this morning charged with dealing in counterfeit money. He pleaded not guilty to the charge, and the case was enlarged until Friday next. He gave his right name as W. J. Young. He said he has been living with his uncle, John Wood, of Keene, for the past six weeks. He gave his occupation as an artist, and said he formerly came from Warkworth in Northumberland county. The prisoner is a young man of medium height and build, fairly good-looking, and twenty-one years of age. This morning when searched at the police station the prisoner had none of the goods in his possession, nor is it likely he ever had any. Letters from American concerns dealing in green goods were found in his possession and it is likely Young is an "authorized" Canadian agent of theirs who has been duped.

Almost a Miracle

"C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.

"Gentlemen: When I was 14 years of age I was confined to my bed for several months by an attack of rheumatism, and when I had partially recovered I did not have the use of my legs, so that I had to go on crutches. About a year later, Scrofula, in the form of White Swellings,

appeared on various parts of my body, and for eleven years I was an invalid, being confined to my bed six years. In that time ten or eleven of these sores appeared and broke, causing me great pain and suffering. Several times pieces of bone worked out of the sores. Physicians did not help me and

I Became Discouraged

"I went to Chicago to visit a sister, as it was thought a change of air and scene might do me good. But I was confined to my bed most of the time. I was so impressed with the success of Hood's Sarsaparilla in cases similar to mine that I decided to try it. So a bottle was bought, and to my great gratification the sores soon decreased, and I began to feel better. This strengthened my faith in the medicine, and in a short time I was

To make a long story short, I continued to take Hood's Sarsaparilla for a year, when I had become so fully released from the chains of disease that I took a position with the Flint & Walling Mfg. In the art of Watch Repairing, there are many elements which go to make successful work. The cleaning and regulating is easily performed, but the replacing of any broken parts is far more difficult and it takes a workman of long experience and first class practical ability to make a new piece which is as well finished and fitted as the original was. MUNCASTER invariably finishes his work equal to new. The New Store is next to the "Examiner" Office.

I have one house, well built, good location, Aylmer streets, between Townsend and Rink streets—$2,300. Look it up. Will have two on Dalhousie; work now going on

THE SHINING "SUN LIFE."

There are no spots on the "Sun," according to the last annual report which appears in another column, and it is merely stating a simple fact that no company in Canada can claim such a record. The rapid, yet steady and substantial progress of the company constitutes a financial phenomenon. The statement published elsewhere shows the astonishing increase of over a million and a quarter—$1,365,515—over the previous year: making exclusive of applications rejected, accepted assurance for the year amounting to $5,343,883. There are now in force 12,611 life policies covering $19,425,411. This is a most gratifying progress, arguing an abiding confidence on the part of the public in the solid standing and equitable and careful business methods of the management. In 1872 the annual income of the company was $48,210. The last year it reached the large figures of $920,174. Another element in the popularity of the Company, is its liberal treatment of policy holders. An instance is afforded by the fact that the directorate have reduced the profits payable to shareholders from 10 to 6⅔ per cent, the policy-holders thus receiving 93⅓ per cent. of the total surplus as compared with 90 per cent. at the last division. The past record of the company is a guarrantee for the future, much strengthened by the fact of the sagacious and energetic services of Mr. R. Macaulay being retained. With such a record the Sun Life Assurance Company need fear no competition, and safe in the confidence of the public and in the prestige of such extraordinary success in the past, must go on unchecked in its career of prosperity.

Justices of the Peace and Police Magistrates.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

SIR,—Observing in your Lakefield correspondence of yesterday the following statement. "As an act passed at the late session "of the Provincial Legislature makes it Com- "pulsory to try all criminal informations "before the county police magistrate, necessi- "tating a trip or more to town, etc," and appended to this your defence of the provisions of the act referred to, founded on the assumption that the above comment is correct, I deem it proper that I should make a correction.

The act mentioned, in no way affects criminal proceedings under the Dominion Statute. The authority under which magistrates have power in criminal matters are conferred upon them by the Dominion Statutes, and this cannot be taken from them by Provincial Legislation, nor does the act referred to attempt or profess to do this. Its provisions are entirely restricted to prosecutions under Ontario Statutes such as the Liquor License Act, the act for the persecution of adulteration of milk etc, and magistrates may now as formerly entertain informations laid under the Revised Criminal Law.

My reason for trespassing on your space is that the statement made by your correspondent and your defence of the act might mislead the magistrates through the county until such time as the Ontario Statutes of the late session are placed in their hands, when they may see for themselves that the restrictions therein contained apply only to prosecutions under acts of the Ontario Parliament.

Thanking you for your valuable space,
I am sir
Yours very truly,
R. E. WOOD

Peterborough, April 22nd, 1892.

[Our correspondent honours the remarks appended to our Lakefield correspondence too highly, when he peaks of them as a defence. The comments were made to indicate in a general way, the wisdom of restricting the dealing with important cases, omitting to remember for a moment, the feature of the changes in the Ontario Statutes in reference to the jurisdiction of Justices of the Peace, to which Mr. Wood refers.

Dr. Smith received the second highest vote.

The EXAMINER heartily congratulates Mr. Harry B. Anderson, fourth son of Mr. Duncan Anderson, of Apsley, upon his having passed his final examinations in medicine at Toronto University in so successful a manner as to win the gold medal for general proficiency, the highest possible standing. This shows that merit and success do not altogether consist in surroundings and opportunities, they must rest with the man winning them. A great many whom Mr. Anderson has left far behind in the race, would slightingly speak of Apsley as "way back."

Imagination or speculation has been running riot with some people. For the past ten days we have had hosts of visitors inquiring if we had seen the plans for the changes in our building to accommodate the Bank of Commerce, which it is rumoured will be placed in the store we now occupy. Incidental with this we are told with a Solomon-like look, that there are more changes to occur before long and that when the World's Fair is held in Peterborough, things will look so different that the "old residents" will find it hard to remember when and how these changes occurred. Our visitors generally finish their conversation by asking if goods are any cheaper on account of these SUPPOSED CHANGES, and, as we are always alive and ready to do business, we find Dame Rumour has been of immense benefit to us lately. We will say that what we most desire just now is

THE SUN LIFE ASSURANCE COMPANY

The Splendid Record of a Great Financial Institution.

The annual meeting of this prosperous institution was held in the spacious Board room of its new building on Notre Dame street, on Thursday, March 24th. There was a large attendance of shareholders and others interested, the President, Mr. R. Macaulay, being in the chair. The following report and financial statements were submitted:—

DIRECTORS' REPORT.

The report which your Directors have the honour of presenting at this meeting, records the transactions of a year of much importance in the history of the company. The past twelve months has resembled its predecessors in showing rapid progress and general prosperity, and it is further remarkable in being the first spent in the substantial and beautiful building which the Company now possesses as its head office.

During the year 3,301 applications were received for Life Assurance to the amount of $5,901,521.60. This is an increase in number of 467, and in amount of $1,365,515 81 over the regular business of the preceding year, excluding, of course, the policies transferred by re-assurance from the Citizens Insurance Company. Of these applications, 3,064 for $5,343 883 39 were accepted and policies issued therefor, the balance declined or withdrawn.

On December 31st, 1891, there were in force on the books of the Company, after deducting re-assurances, 12 611 Life policies covering $19,425, 411 84

In the Accident branch, 1,897 applications for $5,090,000.00 were received, on which 1,879 policies for $5,051,500 00 were issued. There were in force in this department 2,480 policies covering $5 720 650 00. Adding these to the Life figures, we have a total of 15 091 policies for $25,146 061 84, in force at the close of the year.

The greatest care continues to be exercised in the admission of applicants, and this section is having a beneficial effect on the death losses, which are very moderate in view of the rapid extension of the Company's business. The claims which fell in during 1891, in the Life department, amounted to $168,064 08 under 96 policies.

The total amount paid to policy holders during the year in death claims, matured endowments, profits, etc., was $207 267 80., and the amount thus paid since the foundation of the Company amounts to $1,543,083.56. How often our policies have stood between the widow and orphan and want, can, perhaps, be judged from the magnitude of this sum.

The financial condition of the Company, as shown by the accompanying statements, is very gratifying. The income reached the handsome total of $920,174 57. If, from both years, the reassurance reserves received from the Citizens Co. be eliminated, it will be seen that the cash income was $140,388 75 more than in 1890. The assets also have advanced by $412,057 25, and now amount to $2,885,571 44, exclusive of subscribed but uncalled capital. The surplus, too, has largely increased, and is now $285 119 18 over all liabilities and capital stock.

The division of profits to the holders of policies which are five years old or older, is now in progress, and the results are of an extremely satisfactory character. A comparison of the quinquennium just closed with that which preceded it, will show that the surplus earned is three times as large as formerly, while the assurances in force have only doubled. This proves that the profit-earning power has much more than kept pace with the growth of the business. This is a feature which will, we are sure, be noted with special pleasure by our assured members. The directors, moreover, take pleasure in reporting that after careful consideration they have seen their way to grant a further and most important concession to the policy holders, by reducing the proportion of profits payable to the shareholders, from ten per cent to six and two-thirds per cent., the policy holders thus receiving ninety-three and one-third per cent. of the total surplus, as against ninety per cent. at the last division. The policy holders thus received the protection of a large capital stock for a merely nominal sum. Security should always be the primary consideration in connection with life assurance, and your Directors consider that this arrangement provides the safety of a stock company with practically no expense to the policy holders.

The investments continue to receive the most careful attention of the Board, and are in exceptionally good condition. They have been carefully examined by a committee of our number, whose report is annexed hereto. The debtors under mortgages have, moreover, been personally communicated with by our Auditors, as to the correctness of the amount due by them to the Company. Their certificate is also hereto appended.

The retiring Directors are Messrs. S. H. Ewing, W. J. Withall and R. Macaulay, all of whom are eligible for re-election.

The undersigned Committee of Directors, appointed to report on the Company's Mortgages, Debentures, and Real Estate Securities, certify that they have carefully examined the same in detail and have found everything in perfect order and in a thoroughly satisfactory condition, and in accordance with the Company's books and with the accompanying Statement of Accounts.

S. H. EWING,
A. MACPHERSON,
M. MCKENZIE
J. P. CLEGHORN.

MONTREAL, March 18th, 1892.

Among the speakers were the following: Mr. R. Macaulay (president,) Mr. W. J. Withall, Hon. A. W. Ogilvie, Mr. Charles Alexander, Mr. C. D. Proctor, Mr. S. H. Ewing, Mr. J. P. Cleghorn, Mr. James G. Ross (secretary,) Mr. Selkirk Cross, Charles Cushing, and others. The speeches were too lengthy for publication, but all expressed the highest admiration at the wonderful progress made by the Company, and the very excellent showing of the financial statements. All considered the year's operations are a grand success, and the results of the quinquennium as shown in the handsome surplus of $285,119.19 is to the highest degree satisfactory. The rapid advance in the assets, and their very excellent quality, as vouched for by the Committee of Directors and Auditors, was much dwelt upon. The beauty and solidity of the new head quarters, and the extremely small amount of real estate, were points in which the management were much complimented.

The company is already one of the largest financial corporations in the Dominion, but the statements show that it has in it the germs of a great future growth, and there is every reason to believe that in even a very few years, the present figures—splendid as they are—will be entirely eclipsed. The foundation rock, to which its success is largely due, is its honourable and liberal treatment of its policy holders, as evidenced in part by the issuing of an unconditional policy. The reputation of the company is already spreading far beyond the limits of the Dominion.

Ginseng.

It may perhaps be well to remind those accustomed to gather Ginseng root, that by a Provincial statute this plant cannot be taken between January 1st, and September 1st. To gather it before September 1st, subjects the party to a fine of $5 or not more than $20, and costs of prosecution, half of the penalty to be paid to the prosecuter, unless otherwise ordered by the magistrate.

Difference of Opinion Regarding Light.

The Light of Truth Being Diffused in Canada.

Philosophers are not agreed as to the nature of light. Some maintain the opinion that it is a body consisting of detached particles, which are emitted by luminous bodies in which case the particles of light must be inconceivably minute; since, even when they cross each other in every direction, they do not interfere with each other. Others suppose it to be produced like sound, by the undulations of a subtle fluid diffused throughout all known space.

In our beloved Canada a "new light" has shed its cheering rays on the people. There is no difference of opinion regarding its nature and component parts. The grand invigorating and life-giving qualities of this "light" are felt by the young and old, the rich and poor.

This "new light" leads on to health, strength and bodily robustness. The dyspeptic, the sleepless, the nervous, the rheumatic and the broken-down have to thank it for emancipation from suffering and bodily misery.

This wondrous "light" cures disease; it always conquers and leaves blessings in its paths. This "light" of Canada is Paine's Celery Compound, as precious to our suffering people as is the light of the great orb of day. This grand medicine is the people's favorite, and justly so, owing to the many marvellous cures it has effected. The people it cures are with us—in our midst—and are well known. These rescued men and women testify gladly in its favor, and recommend it. No other remedy can claim the place that Paine's Celery Compound now occupies in our land. Its work brings satisfaction, joy and increased happiness.

Mr. J. E Humphrey, 46 Bond street, Toronto, says Burdock Blood Bitters wrought a complete cure of dyspepsia in his case after all else had failed,

For the past year I have been troubled to a very great extent with Dandruff, also a dullness of color in my hair, and through the advice of a friend (who spoke from experience) I tried your Anti Dandruff, which, upon the application of less than a bottle of your liquid I find my head not only thoroughly cleansed but a vast improvement in the color and growth.

I have and do recommend it as highly beneficial to the profession and public generally as an agreeable and welcome innovation in the remedies put forth for public favor.

Yours, &c., WM. P. WOLFE.

It is curious, isn't it, that the international comity between France and Russia should be the cause of our season of fur and the Russian styles in dress that have been a feature of the fashionable world this winter?

RUSSIAN HOUSE DRESS.

It was in honor of this newly cemented friendship that Paris copied everything Russian that could be acclimated, and, without appreciating the international sentiment, we have been liberal borrowers. The Russian costume given is a pretty model for a house gown, and suitable for serving 5 o'clock tea.

The skirt is of red serge; over that is what the French call a fourreau, that is a sheath or scabbard, in fact, a sort of highly developed apron, but made an essential part of the costume. This is a fine firm sort of blue bunting or vigogne. It is slashed at the side and is trimmed with antique gold galloon; that around the bottom is placed below rows of gold braid.

RUSSIAN BLOUSE.

The body is of the vigogne, with sleeves of red serge. Red serge also forms the collar and the V-shaped opening. The bands of galloon on the body are placed as shown in the illustration, and separated by Russian embroidery in red and white.

The Russian blouse has proved one of the most valuable of the new fashions. In the design shown the blouse is of blue cloth, with coat sleeves of the gown and epaulettes of the blue cloth. It is opened at the side, with a band of fawn-colored cloth braided with gold concealing the opening. The same braided bands make the collar and trim the epaulettes. A wide wrinkled girdle of the blue cloth confines the waist.

There are evidences that the Russian blouse will prevail through the summer in thin materials, crepon, wash silks, dimity and in the cotton Bedford cords. These may be made with shallow yokes. The yoke and the close sleeve in that case are of embroidery, with the deep cape falling to the elbow made of the material of the blouse. Mutton leg sleeves, very full at the top and tight below the elbow, may be substituted for the Russian cape, which a stout person might find trying. Plain bell skirts are worn with the Russian blouse. They have a band at the bottom similar to that which trims the blouse.

Bell Telephone Man Killed.

MONTREAL, April 22.—Charles Leslie, the night manager of the Bell Telephone Company in this city, was found dead yesterday morning in the yard behind the offices of the company at corner of St. Francois Xavier and Notre Dame-streets. More Earthquakes in California.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 22.—A slight earthquake shock visited San Francisco at 9.48 yesterday morning. Vibrations lasted 20 seconds. The disturbance was felt at Sacramento, Biggs, Woodland and Chico in this state and at Reno, Nev.

At Biggs eight distinctive vibrations were felt; clocks stopped and plaster fell.

In Woodland the shock caused 50 feet of wall of the capitol to fall to the sidewalk. Other brick buildings were damaged.

At Chico lamps in buildings all over the city were set swinging. Ceilings in some places were cracked and clocks stopped.

At Benicia windows rattled and buildings swayed.

At Vacaville some shaky walls were demolished and a number of ceilings cracked.

At Winters the Masonic Hall, a two-story brick building; Bertold's two-story stone building and Humphrey Bros.' one-story stone building were thrown down. One man was badly hurt and others were more or less injured.

Dixon, Cal., reports that only two or three brick buildings in town are safe. The occupants of brick buildings who remained after preceding shocks moved out to-day. There were many narrow escapes. The people are panic-stricken and believe the ruin of the town will be complete. Every available laborer is at work to clear away the wrecked buildings, tearing down walls, etc.

Ottawa Notes.

OTTAWA, April 22.—Yesterday was a dull day in the House. The attendance was slim, for although the Ministers who attended Mr. Mackenzie's funeral returned from Toronto this morning, quite a number of members are still away and probably will not be back until Monday.

Sir John Thompson introduced his bill respecting evidence which allows a person accused of a criminal offence to testify in his own defence.

A small discussion sprang up this afternoon on Mr. Tupper's bill to amend the Steamboat Inspection Act on the question relative to the merits of metal and wooden lifeboats and buckets on steamboats. The present act requires metal boats and buckets, but the evidence favoring wooden boats, on account of the great ease in repairing, was so strong that the amendment was agreed to, leaving the question to be settled by the Governor in Council.

The House then got to work on the vote for experimental farms and the annual threshing out of the two-rowed barley question took place.

Only the Kernel of the News.

Dr. Thomas, dentist, is dead at Erin.

S. S. Applegate of Camden, N.J., inventor of the electric floor mat, is dead.

Mrs. Martin, relict of the late A. Martin and stepmother of Henry Martin, artist, Toronto, died in Guelph yesterday, aged 78 years.

Legislative Elections in Victoria.

MELBOURNE, April 22.—The results of the elections for members of the Legislative Assembly are known in 65 out of the 95 districts, and indicate a victory for the Government, which has gained 39 seats. The Opposition have won 16 seats and the Labor party 10.

From the Cloister to Comic Opera.

HARTFORD, Conn., April 22.—Lulu Wilcox has withdrawn from Mount St. Joseph's Convent to join a comic opera company. This step has caused even greater surprise than when she renounced Protestantism 15 years ago, took the veil and adopted the name of Sister Mary Celesta. She belongs to one of the most aristocratic families of this city and is highly accomplished.

Sir Edwin Arnold's Daughter to Wed.

PHILADELPHIA, April 22.—In a letter under London date to Mr. George W. Childs Sir Edwin Arnold announces the approaching marriage of his daughter, Katharine Lillian, with Hamilton Edward Leonard Earle. The ceremony will take place at St. Mary Abbott's, Kensington, April 30.

Another Advance in Sealskins.

VICTORIA, B.C., April 22.—Sealskins took another rise yesterday in the local market, and the owners of sealing schooners are consequently jubilant. C. D. Ladd, a San Francisco buyer, has been here for a few days past, and yesterday closed deals for nearly every sealskin on the market at $12 apiece, an advance of 20 per cent. over the rate of a week ago. He purchased in all about 2000 skins, and the deal represents about $25,000

"Fat Doctor Bills Make Lean Wills." but Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy costs less than one doctor's visit. Catarrh is a loathsome, dangerous disease, and the time has come when to suffer from it is a disgrace. No person of culture and refinement cares to inflict upon his friends his offensive breath, disgusting hawking and spitting and disagreeable efforts to breathe freely and clear the throat and nose—hence the cultured and refined use Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy. And no wise and prudent man cares to run the risk of leaving his family without a protector, by letting his "slight catarrh" run into serious or fatal throat and lung troubles, hence the wise and prudent use Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy. The proprietors of this remedy are so confident of its curative properties, that they have made a standing offer of a reward of $500 for a case they cannot cure.

Blood Will Tell.

Good blood will show its quality. So will bad blood, the one in a healthy body and ruddy complexion, the other in ill health, blotches, pimples, boils and sores, and frequently in internal forms as ulcers, abscesses erysipelas, scrofulous diseases, salt rheum, etc. Every organ of the body depends upon the blood for force and vitality, and is but scantily served when the blood is impure. No remedy is so potent as a blood purifier or more rapidly produces new and healthy blood than Burdock Blood Bitters, which neutralizes the various poisons and restores the vitalizing power of this all important fluid. As an instance of this read what Mr. J. S. Neff, of Algoma Mills, Ont., says in a recent letter:

SIRS,—A year ago I was troubled with spots breaking out all over my body, the effect of bad blood. I consulted three different doctors, who gave me medicine but did not cure me. I was advised to try B.B.B., and after using two bottles I noticed the spots getting less. I continued to use B.B.B., which entirely cured me, giving me a splendid appetite. Since then I would use no other medicine.

Unsightly pimples, blotches, tan, and all itching humors of the skin are removed by using Dr. Low's Sulphur Soap. dw would use Kemp's Balsam for the throat and lungs. It is curing more cases of coughs, colds, asthma, bronchitis, croup and all throat and lung troubles than any other medicine. The proprietor has authorized any druggist to give you a sample bottle free to convince you of the merits of this great remedy. Large bottles 50c. and $1. dw

HE STOLE NEARLY TWO MILLION MARKS

The Money Used in Speculation by the Frankford Rothschild's Cashier—Bismarck Sued for Slander Astronomer Proctor's Widow Again Married—General Polly Dead

BERLIN, April 23.—It has been learned that the sum stolen by Jaeger, the defaulting chief cashier of the Rothschilds at Frankfort, amounts to 1,700,000 marks. He had used the greater part of the proceeds of his robberies in speculating in fruit in Berlin and Odessa. These speculations turned out badly, and when he thought they would probably be discovered he fled. The opinion gains strength that he has committed suicide. Search is being made for him in every direction. In addition to his luckless ventures, he speculated in corn, and much of the stolen money was lost in this way.

Jaeger's frauds have extended over a series of years. He falsified his accounts, and, as no regular examination of his books was ever made, he escaped detection. He not only robbed the Rothschilds, but he also appropriated to his own use the money of two widows.

Jaeger mailed a letter to the house from Darmstadt acknowledging his guilt and saying he was about to commit suicide. The police have been unable to find any trace of him, living or dead. There is a strong suspicion that Jaeger made provision to have this letter mailed from Darmstadt in order to throw the authorities of the scent while he sought escape in another direction. Rothschilds do not apparently believe Jaeger had any intention of killing himself. On the contrary, so confident are they that he is still alive, that they have offered a reward of 1000 marks for his arrest.

To Blow Up the Holy Coat.

PARIS, April 23.—M. Pouget, editor of the Anarchist paper, Pere Poinard, was arrested Friday and his paper seized. The police searched the offices of Prince Krapotkin's organ, Revolt. Correspondence seized at Argenteuil Friday reveals the existence of a May Day plot to blow up with dynamite the town hall, the police office and the church in which is kept the renowned Holy Coat.

At St. Etienne 30 Anarchists were arrested, at Dijon five, at Amiens eight, at St. Quentin ten and at Lyons 24. The papers found included no important documents, but numerous revolvers and daggers were found and seized.

Mrs. Proctor Again Married.

LONDON, April 23.—Richard A. Proctor's widow married her third husband Friday in the Scotch Presbyterian Church, Regents-square. His name is Dr. James Cammac Smythe of Belfast.

The Ex-Chancellor Must Answer for Talking Too Much.

BERLIN, April 23.—Herr Fuschnazel of Bushum has commenced a suit against Bismarck asking damages for libel. The suit is based on a certain speech made by Prince Bismarck in which he declared that Herr Fuschnazel in making charges against Herr Boare was inspired by a selfish motive and that he was probably in the pay of foreign countries.

Policemen Threatened to Strike.

PARIS, April 23.—The outlook for May Day took a new aspect Friday, which gives promise of affording the Anarchists and other lawless characters opportunity to make trouble. The police threaten to strike. The Dix Neuvieme Siecle to-day publishes the proclamation signed by a number of policemen, in which they detail their grievances and threaten to strike on the eve of May Day unless their wages are increased.

Talbot is Missing.

OTTAWA, April 23.—Horace Talbot, who with Larose was to have been tried at the assizes Friday for boodling, is missing, and is not expected back.

On the first day of the assizes he released his bail of eight sureties in $100 each by surrendering at the court, and his bail was not renewed, though he was allowed his liberty.

It is said Larose had decided to turn Queen's evidence.

A BURNING SORE LEG

Ulcers Form. Hospitals and Doctors useless. Crazed with Pain. Cured by Cuticura Remedies.

About eight years ago I wrote you from Wilkesbarre, Pa., describing how your wonderful remedies completely cured me of a terrible case of eczema or salt rheum. I must now tell you what CUTICURA REMEDIES have again done for me. On the 22d of last September, I had the misfortune to bruise my leg, and I put a piece of sticking plaster on it. Inside of a week I had a terrible leg. My wife became frightened and advised me to go to a surgeon. I went, and doctored for two months, but no good was done me, beside costing me big money. My leg had by this time formed into an ulcer, and got worse every day. I could not stand it any longer, and made up my mind to go to a hospital and see if I could be helped. I went to several here in the city, in turn, but none could do me any good. I had a terrible leg, with a hole in it as big as a dollar, and pain that almost set me crazy. I got scared about it, and determined to try CUTICURA REMEDIES. I obtained a set, and inside of five weeks my leg was healed up as well as it ever was, except the terrible scar it left for a reminder of what was once a terrible sore leg. These REMEDIES are worth their weight in gold.

Sell the best Clothing for the money that it is possible to buy in this town, or elsewhere.

It can't be termed simply cheap clothing and passed by with a sneer, though 'tis cheap by comparison in price with the same goods for sale elsewhere, for the Cloth is bought from the Best Makers, out by the Best Talent procurable, and made up in the best manner.

Then the price is marked just a shade above the cost of manufacture, and away below the lowest price the same goods are selling for at any other store; hence our confidence that a dollar here goes as far as a half more elsewhere. Without a shadow of a doubt we give the most value for the least money.

Every Boy's Mother should see our Boys' Clothing. We believe we can interest the most critical people in Boys' Suits. Good Pocket Knife or Bat and Ball free with every Boys' Suit.

THE BRAMPTON MURDER

THE VERDICT OF THE CORONER'S JURY.

Lundy Committed for Trial—He Treats the Matter With Indifference, Showing No Feeling Whatever—No Motive for the Crime Yet Discovered.

BRAMPTON, April 25.—The inquest on the death of Clementina Lundy was resumed before Coroner Mullin in the Concert Hall at 2 p.m. Saturday. W. H. McFadden, County Attorney, appeared for the crown, W. S. Morphy for the prisoner.

The evidence of Dr. Heggie and Dr. Hall, who made the post mortem, showed that either of the wounds would have caused death.

Eleven witnesses were examined and their stories agreed in every particular with the account given in The World Saturday morning.

The jury had some trouble in bringing in a verdict, and went back twice to consult before arriving at a satisfactory decision, and their verdict was:

That the said Clementina Lundy came to her death by pistol shots discharged by the hands of James B. Lundy, and that we find the prisoner, said James B. Lundy, guilty of murder.

The prisoner does not seem to be greatly concerned about his position. He might be the defendant in a dog shooting scrape for all the anxiety he displays.

Lundy was taken back to jail, where he will lie until the fall assizes.

No motive that could justify the murder has yet been developed.

AFTER MANY YEARS.

A Robber Makes Restitution Through the Confessional.

PORT DALHOUSIE, Ont., April 25.—Five years ago two young men named Atkinson and Harrison were convicted of robbing a sailor named John Messmore, jr., and sent to the penitentiary for a term, which they served, the latter man protesting his innocence and coming back with a broken-down spirit and to this hour proclaims his innocence of the crime.

It is now said that Messmore was during the last Easter week handed back by a clergyman of the Roman Church $30 in the shape of conscience money from a man now living in Northwestern Ontario and who was supposed to be in Port at the time the robbery was committed.

If this story is true reparation as far as possible is due Harrison and Atkinson, who suffered for a crime of which to this hour they declare they are innocent.

Paid For the Insult With His Life.

KINGSTON, April 25.—Michael Sherbonneau, who was shot a few days ago in the neighborhood of Stoco, East Hastings, has since died at the Hotel Hieu Hospital. The young man was employed as a teamster at the Rathbun Company, and told a reporter he had been drinking and insulted a woman. She ordered him away, and when he was about to start she got her husband's shotgun and blazed away at him. It was loaded with fineshot.

Joins the Church of England.

KINGSTON, Ont., April 25.—Rev. W. H. Barnes, late minister of the Reformed Episcopal body in Belleville, withdrew last week from connection with that body very soon after the offer of an increased stipend. Mr. Barnes was originally a Methodist minister, then joined the Reformed Episcopalians, and is now desirous of entering the ministry of the Church of England.

Willie Freehan Lost His Life in Killing a Cat.

ST. JOHN, N.B., April 25.—Willy Freehan, 12-year-old son of Patrick Freehan of Rocky Point, P.E.I., went down to the shore to drown a cat. Taking an old boat that was near he pushed it off some distance from the shore. The boat, being old and leaky, soon filled with water and upset, and the little boy was thrown out in about eight feet of water and drowned before any one knew of his danger.

Montana Aroused on the Silver Question.

HELENA, Mont., April 25.—A non-partisan mass meeting was held Saturday to organize a free silver club in this city. The act demonetizing silver was denounced as a criminal one, which was carried through Congress by a trick, and it is now an open question whether one out of five silver mines in this country can continue.

NATIVE REVOLTS LIKELY

OPPOSITION TO BRITISH AUTHORITY IN INDIA AND WEST AFRICA.

Settlements on the Gold Coast Threatened—The Abdication of a Rajah May Lead to Trouble—Revolt of the Lushai Tribesmen.

LONDON, April 25.—Advices from Lagos, capital of the British colony of that name on the Slave Coast of West Africa, report a serious state of affairs there. For 30 years the trade of Lagos to and from the interior of Africa has been interrupted and in many instances stopped by the King or "Awujali" of Jebu, one of the interior countries of the colody of Lagos. The King levied heavy tolls upon all produce passing through his country, and, moroover, compelled the Yebubas to sell to him, thus acting as middleman to the traders of Lagos. The same policy was adopted in regard to goods passing from Lagos to Yoruba. A similar policy was followed by the Abeokutans, who represented the Egba race in the western part of Yoruba.

Friendly negotiations to settle the difficulty resulting in nothing. A short time time ago Captain Denton, acting Governor of Lagos, was insulted while visiting Jebu on a friendly mission, and the trade route were closed entirely. This result in energetic action on the part of the British, and the King of Jebu was forced to sign a treaty which provided that in return for the annual payment of the sum of £500 the King should keep the roads and rivers of the country free to all persons who desired to pass through Jebu, either from the interior to Lagos or from Lagos to the interior. The treaty also provided that no tolls, fees or imposts should be levied upon trade.

It now appears that the Jebus, who are acting in concert with the Egbas, have broken the treaty, and their combined forces threaten to attack Lagos and the British settlements on the Gold Coast. Trade is completely suspended, and there is considerable uneasiness in Lagos. A native force commanded by British officers has been dispatched to the assistance of Lagos.

CALCUTTA, April 25.—The situation in the Lushai country is becoming more threatening, and the tribesmen are now in open revolt. As before stated in these dispatches, the trouble grew out of the refusal of the natives to obey certain orders of the British political officers. The Cachar frontier is now condoned with British troops. The Luchais made frequent raids upon the tea gardens They recently descended upon the Boorooncherra tea garden, killing 32 soldiers and carrying off 13 others. In consequence of these raids a force of military police and a detachment of the Bengal Infantry, commanded by a European officer, were dispatched to patrol the exposed gardens. They have had several engagements with the tribesmen, and have repulsed them. The British primitive expedition under command of Colonel Shakespeare has advanced further south. A strong Indian force has been sent to act in concert with the Indo-Burmese force on the other side of the Lushai Hills.

The Rajah of Sikkim, a small British-protected state in Northeast India, has abdicated and fled to Thibet. It is feared that his abdication, for which no reason is given at present, will lead to serious border troubles, as the Thibetans are certain to make raids across the border into Sikkim. The British garrison at Quatong will be strongly reinforced.

LONDON, April 25.—A despatch that has been received here from the United States stating that England had intimated her readiness to join a conference to bring about an enlarged use of silver has caused much surprise in city circles.

No belief is put in that part of the report which states that the basis of a conference was formulated here.

Many telegrams of enquiry have been received by The London Times which says it is not easy to understand what enlarged use can mean. The Times adds: "A decided majority of those competent to judge regard the issue of notes based on silver with great disfavor.

"A certain amount of silver could be employed to increase the intrinsic value of our token currency, which at the present price of the metal is over valued to an extent considerably greater than necessary or desirable, but the general sense of the community is steadfastly opposed to anything like an attempt to rehabilitate silver The result of the employment of the American treasury as a pig silver warrant storehouse has not been so satisfactory as to encourage imitation."

The Daily News thinks such a conference would not be likely to attain practical results. The English delegates, it says, would have to go into it with their hands tied.

It further says that Mr. Goschen, the Chancellor of the Exchequer, cannot well go beyond the plan already proposed to increase the proportion of silver held by the Bank of England against notes.

RUSSIAN DAN'S FATE.

Escaped an Officer to Meet Death by Drowning.

VICTORIA, B.C., April 25.—The impression seems to be gaining ground that the Indian, Russian Dan, who managed to escape arrest on Thursday, when his mate was taken in for being drunk, has been drowned. He was very drunk when last seen and was in possession of two bottles of whisky, which he had purchased from a Chinaman. The Indians have searched for him in every conceivable place and they are of the opinion that he fell into the bay and was drowned.

Set Fire to Her Curls.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., April 25.—Bertha Schmidtetter, 17 months old, died last night, after being badly burned while playing with her 5-year-old brother Willie. The two children were left alone for a short time. Willie applied a blaze to one of Bertha's long golden curls and again to her clothes. When the neighbors, attracted by the child's screaming, rushed in and extinguished the flames, curls and clothes had disappeared and Bertha was soon a blackened corpse.

ALMONTE, Ont., April 23.—An unknown laborer was instantly killed on the C.P.R. track near Chaplean. The victim was middle-aged, had on dark clothes and had $11.35 in his pants pockets.

Gladstone on Female Suffrage.

LONDON, April 25.—The only matter of interest discussed during the week has been Mr. Gladstone's letter on woman's suffrage, which is bringing in floods of protests from woman suffragists.

Mr. Gladstone's own organ, The Speaker, says:

"The letter will strike a heavy blow at the woman suffrage movement, which has been permitted to attain rather formidable proportions, chiefly owing to the reluctance of politicians to express their opinions on the subject. This strong 'whip' against the Woman Suffrage Bill betokens a distinct awakening of our politicians of all parties to the danger of an agitation the success of which will bring us face to face with a new order of society."

James Spurgeon to Preach in the Tabernacle.

LONDON, April 25.—At a meeting in the Metropolitan Tabernacle Saturday it was resolved to invite James Spurgeon to occupy the Tabernacle pulpit for three months, and to request Dr. Pierson to conclude his American visit as quickly as possible and preach in the Tabernacle for one year. In addressing the meeting James Spurgeon said the Tabernacle was never in a more flourishing condition.

The Austrian Emperor Unveils the Colossal Radetzky Statue.

VIENNA, April 25.—A drizzling rain and a leaden sky marred the pleasure of the great crowd that assembled Saturday to witness the unveiling of the colossal equestrian statue of Marshal Radetzky in Amhof square.

The scene was enlivened by a splendid array of troops and officers and deputations of veterans who fought under the marshal.

The Emperor, who also served under Radetzky, arrived at about noon with a brilliant escort. The Emperor made a short speech, in which he eulogized the marshal's deeds.

The monument is on the exact spot where the revolutionists of 1848 hanged Count Latour, the war minister.

The ceremony was made the occasion of an exceptional military spectacle and display of color.

Over 100 Austrian and Hungarian generals and 2000 other officers took part in the march past the statue. The Princesses and ladies of the court and many children, all attired in the loveliest of spring toilet, witnessed the ceremony.

Cholera in India.

CALCUTTA, April 25.—A virulent epidemic of cholera is raging in Benares. The mortality is very great. Yesterday there were reported 180 new cases and 135 deaths from the disease. Dr. Gregg, the Sanitary Commissioner for Bengal, recently issued a report upon an outbreak of cholera that occurred at Terampor, a few miles northwest of this city. Over the whole affected area he found that tanks of various shapes, sizes and depths had been dug and that all contained very dirty water. Low foul jungles, reeking with bad smells, surrounded these tanks, the surfaces of which were almost completely hidden with thick decaying water plants, with here and there a clear place, where the inhabitants washed.

PARIS, April 23.—Considerable anxiety has been occasioned here by the report of an outbreak of cholera near Paris.

A man living near Puteaux, a village seven miles west of Paris, has been admitted to Beaujon hospital. Where the doctors pronounced the disease, from which he is suffering to be cholera. Three other men from Neuilly and Courbevis, both of which places are only a few miles from Paris, were subsequently admitted to the hospital suffering from the same disease. One of the men has died. No other cases are known.

BRUSSELS, April 25.—Fox and Barrowe, shot at each other yesterday afternoon at Nieuport, Bains, a seaside resort near Ostend. No damage was done except to clothing of Mr. Fox's being pierced, but he escaped bodily hurt. From Ostend Fox went to Brussels. He will come to England to-night. The Belgian police made frantic efforts to capture the party, the penalty for dueling in Belgium being a month's imprisonement and a fine of 40 pounds.

LONDON, April 25.—William Morris, poet and Socialist, went $500 bail for Mowbray, tailor and Anarchist. This enabled Mowbray to attend the funeral of his wife, who died an hour before his arrest. The funeral of his wife to-day was largely attended, but there was no disturbance.

ONE ANOTHER'S BURDENS.

The Annual Sermon Preached to The Oddfellows Yesterday.

In the St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church—Rev. A. S. McWilliams Preaches a Forcible and Refreshing Sermon on the Text, "Bear Ye One Anothers' Burdens"—The Brethren of the Local Lodges Turn out in Large Numbers—Men's Great Duty to Man Urged upon all Present—The Preacher Advises all to be More Sympathetic and Christ-Like in Spirit.

The annual sermon to the Oddfellows of Peterborough was preached in St. Andrews Church last evening by the pastor, Rev. Alex. S. McWilliams, B. A. The members of Otonabee lodge, No. 13; Peterborough lodge, No. 111 and Canton Peterborough, No. 10 turned out in large numbers. The brethren assembled at their respective lodge rooms on George street shortly after six o'clock, and at a quarter to seven marched in a body, headed by the Canton, to St. Andrew's church, where a large congregation was awaiting their arrival. The Canton was twenty members strong, and the lodges turned out a force of 140 brethren. The visitors occupied the central pews of the church which they completely filled from pulpit to porch. Rev. A. S. McWilliams, B. A., read the sixth chapter of Revelations as the Scriptural lesson. He based his remarks upon the words found in Galatians vi. 2:—"Bear ye one anothers' burdens and so fulfil the law of Christ."

"BURDEN BEARING" THE LAW OF CHRIST.

Having a few weeks ago while preaching to the Canadian Order of Foresters, expressed my views of secret societies, of these, therefore, I have nothing to say to-night, but will preach a regular Gospel sermon. You will notice that the Apostle addresses the Galatian church as a "Brotherhood." He says, "Brethren." The Christian church is the greatest of all Brotherhoods having God for its head, the Bible for its constitution and the Holy Spirit for a living bond uniting all the true members to the Great Head and consequently to one another. Now if any member was overtaken in a fault, that was, to trespass under sudden and powerful temptation, the spiritual minded were to restore such an one in the spirit of meekness, etc; and then an additional reason to that of being brethren is added, "Taking heed to thyself lest thou also be tempted." They too, were liable to such temptation, and so might fall. Then in the words of my text, the Apostle still thinking of the "trespass," says, "Bear ye one anothers burdens and so fulfil the law of Christ." And with a touch of irony, he adds, "For if a man thinketh himself to be something when he is nothing, he deceiveth himself." This was a keen thrust at the vain-glorious who exalted themselves above the weaker brethren, refusing to bear their burdens and regarding themselves as above the need of any assistance. To such the Apostle says, "Let each man prove his own works," that is, let him test his works by the true standard—God's law—and not be measuring himself by his weaker brethren as many were doing. Pharisee-like, they were in effect saying, "God, I thank thee that I am not as other men," even as these poor transgressors. Prove your own works by the proper standard and "then shall he have his glorying in regard of himself alone and not of his neighbour." The meaning is, having thus proved his works he would find that by the grace of God he had been able to a certain degree to walk in the paths of righteousness. This would be a true ground for glorying. It would be glorying because of obedience to God's law, and not because he was better than his weaker brethren. Therefore, "his glorying was in regard of himself alone, and not that of his neighbor." But having made this honest test of his own works, while finding reason for glorying, he would also find great cause for regret, past sins and follies, loss of opportunities, wasted powers, etc., would all loom up and would lie a mighty burden upon the soul, a burden which will last during time and which no human arm can assist to bear. Hence the Apostle says, "For each man shall bear his own burden." This analysis will render the apparent paradox all clear. "Bear ye one, etc.....Christ."

My text naturally divides itself into two propositions,

FIRST THE INJUNCTION, SECOND, THE REASON, which is also a consequence and an incentive, "In so doing ye fulfill the law of Christ."

Let us consider these as time will permit. 1. The injunction, "Bear ye one another's burdens." From the analysis of these verses we have seen that there are some burdens which we may help our brethren to bear, but there are also others which the individual soul must bear alone. We may assist the poor to bear bear the great burden of poverty. Poverty is occasioned by many causes, indolence, improvidence, sickness, rash speculation, etc. If occasioned by indolence, it seems to me that there ought to be in every municipality a suitable place for such characters where they would be constrained to labour, receiving proper remuneration. This would be a righteous way of bearing the burdens of such. But there is another class of poor truly deserving, and whose condition appeals to and touches a tender cord in every true Christian soul. Bear ye their burdens. These are two-fold, lack of the necessaries of life and sense of shame because of their circumstances. Bear their burdens by supplying their wants, and by a loving sympathy that will make them feel that they are not despised because of their poverty. Ah! how how often do we forget to roll away the whole burden. Again, bear the burden of the sick and afflicted. Do so by providing anything that will minister to the physical, mental or spiritual comfort. Many are the inventions to alleviate the sufferings of the sick chamber. So far as necessary supply these, and procure a skilful physician to prescribe for their ailments. Remove, if possible, all cause for mental anxiety from an afflicted child. Also calm and cheer the spirit by pointing them to the Lamb of God who beareth away the sins of the world, to the celestial city, and, as did Christ, to the resurrection morn. Thus you will smooth the pillow for the aching head, calm the mind and clear the spirit.

BEAR THE BURDEN OF THE BEREAVED.

Restore the deceased to life again, we cannot. God alone can do this. But we can bear the burden in various ways. Is it a husband that has been called hence? Then bear the burden by making the husband's provision. Is it a mother? Then bear the burden by tenderly and affectionately caring for the orphans. But again, is the departed a child of God? Then bear the burden by letting the light of God's word flood their desolate souls. Point these bleeding hearts to the house of many mansions, the new Jerusalem, the celestial city. Point them to the glorious condition of the departed, freed from sin's limitations, knowing as they are known, and seeing as they are seen, yes, point them to the resurrection morn, when the body shall be raised incorruptible, glorified, a spiritual body, whom they shall meet and embrace again, to part no more for ever. By so doing you will bear the burden of the bereaved so far as this is possible to an arm of flesh. Bear the spiritual burden of the needy. There are many in sparsely settled districts who are unable of themselves to provide Gospel ordinances. Bear ye their burdens by supplying them with the means. In our own church we have what is called the Augmentation Fund for this very purpose, but I am sorry to say that contributions to this fund are not so liberal as the necessities demand. We who are in these large centres enjoying all the blessings of the sanctuary, forget the golden rule, to do to others as we would that they should do to us. Let us then in the future do our duty in relation to these, that they may have the Gospel ordinances. Bear ye their burdens. But again, there are the heathen, who know not the truth regarding the Lord Jesus Christ, the Saviour of mankind. Then bear their burden by furnishing them the Gospel of the glory of the blessed Lord and heralds to proclaim to them the good news. Listen! the dying wail of millions as it comes wafted to us across the ocean, is "Come over and help us." Dying they are eternally for lack of the Bread of Life. Lost! Lost! Lost! Shut out from God and heaven forever, without a ray of hope to penetrate the dense gloom, Lost! O, bear their burdens by carrying to them the Bread of Life, of which if they once eat they shall never hunger more.

ONE ANOTHER'S BURDENS.

But once again, bear the burden of the transgressor—the fallen child. This is the burden referred to pre-eminently in my text. His burden is remorse of conscience, pain of guilt, sense of shame, and it may be at times exclusion from the ordinances of God's house. Now God's word says to the brethren "Bear ye one another's burdens." This means far more than merely to have patience with one another's faults, nor does it mean to palliate or deny sin. It means that by mutual love and sympathy we enter into the feeling of remorse, guilt and shame and by so doing thus for them roll the burden from their soul to our own. It is a moral weeping with those that weep. You have seen some member of a family, even a Christian, through sudden and unexpected temptation fall to terrible depths. Sometimes we find all the other members of the family, disown and unrighteously with an iron heel, tramp the guilty soul to the grave. Ah! how the burden is often thus increased; But usually instead of such unchristian conduct, we find every member of the family with true love and sympathy for the faller, entering into a feeling of guilt and shame,

THERE IS A MORAL WEEPING TOGETHER,

and thus the burden is in a true sense rolled from the soul of the guilty and shared by every member of the family. Ah! this is Christ-like! My text then says to all the members of the Christian brotherhood—the church of Christ, "Bear ye one another's burdens." Did we all give heed to this injunction, ah, how much unnecessary pain, guilt and shame would be rolled from poor bleeding souls within the pale of the Christian church! But let us know that when we have done all that is possible to an arm of flesh in removing burdens, that the greatest of all burdens still lies heavily upon the soul, the load of sin and condemnation in relation to God. This burden is beyond the power of man, yea, of an angel to remove, only the God-man, the mighty to save, can roll this load from the soul. His almighty arm is made bare when there is true repentance towards, and faith in the Lord Jesus Christ. "Believe on the Lord Jesus Christ and thou shalt be saved." But even when the soul feels that by faith its burden of guilt has been rolled upon, "the lamb of God that beareth away the sin of the world," there is still a burden that no man of flesh can help to bear and which Christ Himself does not remove, which the soul must endure while time with it shall last. The knowledge past sins and follies, of neglected opportunities and of wasted powers, shall ever lie as a burden of regret upon the soul until time is no more and all these are forgotten amidst the glories and joys and visions in the Golden City in the midst of which is the throne of God and the Lamb. Therefore when man, in obedience to the Divine command has borne all the burdens possible to an arm of flesh, and when even the God-man has Himself borne away the mighty burden of guilt, there still lies heavily upon every meditative soul a burden of regret as long as time shall last. Hence the terrible truth, "For each man shall bear his own burden." Then then leads me to my second proposition. The reason; "In so doing ye fulfil the law of Christ" Bearing one another's burdens is the law of Christ. It is His law as revealed in nature, in the blessed volume and in His own life. In nature this law is manifested everywhere. The plant by means of vegetable life takes from the soil and air, and assimilates it, converting it into plant food. Thus the soil bears the burden of the plant. Certain plants sink their roots into other plants, and so feed and live upon the food of these, thus the one plant bears the burden of the other. Then again many animals live upon vegetables, etc, the vegetable life thus bears the burden of the animal, while some carnivorous animals exist upon flesh, thus the one animal bears the burden of the other. Then again man's food is both vegetable and animal, and thus these bear his burden in this sense. It is then the

LAW OF CHRIST CLEARLY MANIFEST IN NATURE

that the one bear the other's burden. It is a law, even as seen in nature, far too deep for our finite minds to fathom. The goodness and wisdom of one animal preying upon another is hard for us to understand. But again it is the law of Christ as revealed to us in the Bible. One must bear the burdens of the other. The burdens of the poor are to be borne by others. Hence God commanded the Jew that he was not wholly to reap the corners nor pluck all the grapes, etc. saying, "Them shalt leave them for the poor," (Lev. 19, 9 10). Again portions of the tithes and sacrifices were to be given the poor, (Dent. 14, 29), usury was strictly forbidden in relation to the poor, (Ex. 22, 25). Every Sabbatic and seventh year the produce of field and vineyard was to belong to the poor, (Ex. 23, 11. On the year of jubilee any possessions taken by reason of poverty, was restored, (Lev. 25, 25 28. Then again Christ as the Incarnate Son, says, "He that hath two coats let him impart to him that hath none, and he that hath meat let him do likewise." From these and many other passages it is clearly the revealed law of God in relation to the poor. Their burdens must be borne, while the wise man lifts up the red signal of danger, saying, "He that oppresseth the poor reproacheth his maker," (Prov. 14, 31). But it is also the revealed law of Christ in relation to the afflicted and bereaved. Hence James says, "Pure religion and undefiled before God and the Father is thus to visit the fatherless and widows in their affliction and to keep himself unspotted from the world, (James I, 27.) Again, this was one of the functions of the elders "to visit the sick." (James v, 14) Then Jesus says, 'I was sick and ye visited me." He commends it most highly and regards it as done to Himself. (Matt. xxv, 36) Then again, when the good Samaritan tended to the man that fell among thieves, binding up his wounds, taking him to the inn, and remunerating the landlord, Jesus says, "Go and do likewise. I need not multiply texts and examples. It is clearly the law of Christ in relation to the sick that we bear their burdens. Christ Himself set us a glorious example by ever bearing their burdens when morally possible. So it is the revealed law in relation to the bereaved. Christ thrice rolled the great burden from bereaved souls by again restoring their dead to their embrace. But this might not always be done, for "the body is dead because of sin." But in a powerful sense He always bore their burdens by revealing to them great truths regarding the future, truth regarding His present relation to them in their bereavement, the father to the fatherless; truths regarding the House of many mansions, the glorious condition of the soul in Paradise, and the resurrection of the body bye and bye. Yes, Jesus bore their burdens by giving them the sufficient grace, the angel to strengthen in their garden of Gethsemane. But again, it is the revealed law of Christ that we bear the

that we carry to all the Word of Life. This law Christ lived as Divine and as the Incarnate Son. As God, He preached the first Gospel that was ever heard by human ears, when He said to our first parents, "The seed of a woman shall bruise the head of the serpent." So again as he speaks as the angel of the Covenant, or from the cloudy pillar, or from Mount Sinai. He is living out this law. More especially however, did He live this law while as the Incarnate Son he trod our earth as the Great Missionary from Heaven to declare to us the word of life Then before He ascended, leading captivity captive, He said to the Apostles and all present, "Go and disciple all nations, carry to them the glorious truths that He brought us." Thus it is the law of Christ that we bear the spiritual burdens of our fellowmen. But it is the revealed law of Christ that we bear the burden of a fallen brother. This, my text definitely enjoins. Bear it then. By mutual love and sympathy roll the burden as best you may from their laden souls to your own. This will greatly relieve their bruised and bleeding hearts. Thus far the human arm can lend assistance in burden bearing, but no farther. God Himself by the very limitations placed upon our finite natures cries, hault! Yet still the greatest of all burden, that of guilt and condemnation in relation to God, lies heavily upon the soul. Ah! just here we can see that burden bearing is the law of Christ in a sublime sense, When the burden far transcends the possibilities of an arm of flesh, then we find this Christ Himself bowing His back 'neath the infinite load of sin and forever bearing it away on His own Almighty shoulders. Listen! for us He became the Incarnate Son, for us He kept the law, magnifying it and making it great, for us He sweat drops of blood in the garden, for us He was tried, condemned, scourged, nailed to the accursed tree. Listen then O soul, to these words sweeter than honey and the honey comb, "He who knew no sin has made sin for us that we might be made the righteousness of God in Him." "He was wounded for our transgressions." "He bore our sins in his own body on the tree." Yes, listen, O, soul immortal to the great Burden Bearer exclaim after six long hours upon the cruel tree, bearing our sins:

"IT IS FINISHED! IT IS FINISHED!"

and as His head drops He says: "Father into thy hand I commit my spirit," and His spirit, liberated from the earthly tegument, flies home to the Father's bosom, while adoring angels welcome Him back, and striking their harps sing in full chorus, Worthy is the Lamb that was slain to receive all honor and dominion, majesty and power, for ever and ever, world without end, amen and amen.

But I must conclude. Then as we believe that the object of the Oddfellows's Society—the brotherhood present with us to-night—is to bear one another's burdens, to minister to the poor, to alleviate the sufferings of the sick and bereaved, and by love and sympathy to roll the burden from an erring brother, while not attempting to palliate it or deny the offence; and inasmuch as we believe that as a brotherhood you have been eminently successful in accomplishing your designs, we therefore extend to you a hearty welcome to St. Andrew's church to-night. What more need I say? Go forward in your work of faith and labor of love. Care for the poor, knowing that giving to the poor is lending to the Lord. Minister to the sick, alleviating their sufferings in every possible way, knowing that prudence in the sight of God is the death of the saints and that every time you smooth the pillow for the aching head, or wipe the perspiration or wipe the cold sweat from the pale haggard brow, Christ says, 'ye have done it unto me." Comfort, O comfort the desolate bleeding souls by being a husband to the widow and a father to the fatherless, yea, by pointing them to the New Jerusalem, the celestial city, the home of the soul; by telling them of Christ, the resurrection and the life, and the glorious resurrection morn when Christ shall descend from heaven with a shout, and the voice of the archangel, and the trump of God, and these bodies shall be raised, glorified spiritual bodies, when hand shall clasp hand, lips press lips, and hearts respond to hearts as in days of yore. Yes! bear the burden of the fallen brother and saint. By love and sympathy roll his burden as far as possible on your own soul. Then when you have done all that is possible to an arm of flesh, still it shall remain written in indelible characters by the divine pen, "each man shall bear his own burden," But thanks, thanks be to Jehovah Jesus, the strong man, the great burden bearer, that He has intervened and has borne away the load of sin. Bear then, O bear one another's burdens, knowing that it is the law of Christ, the law of Christ as manifest in nature, as revealed in the Holy word, the law under which Christ lived and died; and as the praise and gratitude from myriads of redeemed souls daily ascend to the great burden bearer as He sits enthroned on the throne of His glory, so shall the benediction of the poor, the sick, the bereaved, the erring rest upon you; and as the eternal Father welcomed His Son home to the celestial throne after His day's work was done, saying, "Sit thou on my right side until I make thine enemies thy footstool." So when your work of faith and labour are o'er, and the angel of the covenant declares that time with you is no more, the same Loving Father will also welcome you to your reward, to Home, sweet Home, and in the presence of admiring angels, will say, Well done! Well done! while affectionate hearts with grateful remembrance of your goodness, will drop tears of sorrow, and with loving hands will continue to strew lilies over your tomb in the silent city of the dead, while your spirits are basking in the sunshine of God-love in the House on high. "Bear ye one another's burdens and so fill the law of Christ."

After the service the procession of Oddfellow's re-assembled and under the marshalling of Bro. A. McIntosh, P.G., marched down Brock to George, down George to the lodge rooms of Otonabee Lodge where they congregated. Bro. F. D. Mackay, N.G., occupied the chair and a vote of thanks was moved by Bro. D. H. Moore, G.C.P., and seconded by Bro. J. Nugent, D.D.G.M., that the thanks of the Oddfellows are due to Rev. Mr. McWilliams for his able and instructive sermon, to the trustees for the use of the church, and the choir for special music. After a few remarks by Bros F. Morrow, N.G., and Dr. Bell, P.G., the brethren sang "Praise God from whom all blessing flow," and dispersed.

More Green Goods Dealers.

Wm. Leeper, who forwarded the letter containing $10 for $100 of the "queer" and addressed the letter to F. C. Austin, box 364, Peterborough, who was arrested on Saturday while receiving the money at the post office, was also arrested yesterday afternoon at the village of Roseneath, by Chief of Police Runkle, of Cobourg. Constable Adams left last night and will bring the prisoner to Peterborough this afternoon. It was doubtless Leeper's intention to secure the green goods from Austin and deal in the money making scheme. Austin had sent one of his letters to Leeper, and that gentleman seeking a bonanza in the glaringly worded epistle, at once struck the scheme as being a grand money making one, and forwarded the $10 in question to Austin for a consignment of the goods. The result of the letter is that both Austin (whose real name is Wm J. Young, of Keene) and Leeper are both behind the bars. Leeper will be brought up before the police court to-morrow morning charged with dealing in that shady article, "green goods."

An Unfortunate Accident.

A sad and unfortunate accident occurred at noon to-day. A daughter of Mr. John Milliken, Bethune Street, was out in the yard burning rubbish when her clothes accidentally caught fire. From the strong wind which was blowing, all at once she became enveloped in flames and rushed into the house. Her mother succeeded in smothering the flames but not before the young lady was severely if not fatally burned. Mrs. Milliken's hands were also severely burned in putting out the flames. Dr. Clarke is in attendance and has hopes of his patient's recovery, although she is badly burned about the body and hands.

Church Chimes.

Rev. Mr. Jones, of Port Hope, will conduct the services in St. Andrew's Presbyterian church next Sunday.

Collections for the Superannuated Ministers Funds were taken up in all the Methodist churches yesterday.

Love-feast and Sacrament of the Lord's Supper will be held in the George street Methodist church next Sunday.

The members of the local branch of the Emerald Beneficial Association to the number of about fifty turned out yesterday morning and attended Holy Communion at 8 o'clock mass in St. Peter's Cathedral.

The committee appointed by the Methodist churches of the town to select a site for a mission church in the southern part of the town, and which was to have reported this morning, met at the office of Mr. A. L. Davis and adjourned for a week.

Miss Sophie Cameron sang a parting solo in St. Paul's Presbyterian church last evening entitled "Unanswered." It was pleasingly and effectively rendered. Miss Cameron left this morning to attend the Kindergarten department of the Normal School.

Rev. Geo. Edwards, pastor of the Charlotte street Methodist church, preached the re-opening services in connection with the with the Lakefield Methodist church yesterday before large congregations. The church has been altered and renovated throughout, adding much to its beauty and accommodation.

Rev. Mr. Bartlett, of Lakefield, preached both morning and evening in the Charlotte street Methodist church yesterday to large and interested congregations. His morning text was from the words found in the 3rd chapter of Collosians, 3rd verse, "For ye are dead and your life is hid with Christ in God. In the evening he spoke from Philippians, 1st chapter and 21st verse, "For me to live is Christ and to die is gain." Both sermons were in keeping and touch with the glad Easter tide.

The music at St. Andrew's church last night was of a special character. Miss Clarke ably presided at the organ. The opening anthem was pleasingly rendered, Miss Harris taking the first solo part, Miss Hubcok and Miss Carey the duet, and Miss Hannah Hagerman the second solo. A quintette entitled "Seek the Lord while he may be found" was well rendered by Mr. J. H. and Miss Ketchum, Mr. and Misses Hilliard Jones and Mr. Pickles.

A large congregation heard their beloved rector, Rev. J. W. McCleary, in St. Luke's church last evening for the last time. The edifice was crowded to the doors. Mr. McCleary spoke earnestly from the subject "Enoch walking with God." At the close of his discourse the preacher addressed a few words to the congregation, thanking them individually and as a people for the kindness and attention they had ever shown him during his three years ministry among them. He did not believe in preaching a farewell sermon as it was hard enough to part without going through that ordeal. Failing health necessitated him retiring from the pulpit, but he thanked God for all his goodness and kindness to him as a pastor and the many blessings He had showered upon the congregation as a people. He would always remember them in spirit and in prayer. The congregation will meet to-night in the church to confirm the choice made by the committee appointed to select a successor to Mr. McCleary. The retiring rector during his charge has won many friends who admire his kindness of heart, his firmness of purpose and his many noble qualities of head, heart and hand.

F. Johnston, D. W. Dumble, R. E. Wood, John Burnham, Q.C.

THE GRAND JURY

was empanelled as follows:—

Jas. Stewart, foreman, Wm. Blackwell, D. H. Burritt, Aaron Comstock, Aaron Cox, Peter Connal, Geo. Elliott, R. H. Fertye, Benj. Shortly, Francis Burett, Jeremiah Murphy, J. G. Armstrong, Alex. Scott, Chas. D. Crawford, John Ichister, Jas. Cummings, J. J. Harper, Arthur Dewdney, John Edwards, Evans Hare, Robt. Ferguson, J. W. Ratcliffe.

His Lordship in addressing the grand panel said there were four parties to be charged before the jury, and he defined the duties of the grand jury with great minuteness, and very clearly defined the nature of the criminal charges which would come under their notice. Referring to the vagrants confined in the jail, His Lordship said it was for the people of the county to say whether they would continue to maintain the court house as a poor house, and he continued, pointing out the hardship of treating poverty as a crime, and meting out to old age, decrepitude and poverty, the penalty of the gaol and prison garb.

Miss Etta Hilbert of Lawrence, Mass.

Her Parents were in Despair

But She Was Brought Into Healthy Girlhood by

HOOD'S Sarsaparilla

Mr. Edward Hilbert, of 183 Broadway, Lawrence, Mass., sends us the following:

"Ten years ago our child was born. Having lost six children we were naturally anxious as to the health of this one. What was our dismay and sorrow to find that she was apparently doomed to the same fate as the others. She had little strength as a baby, and did not improve as she grew older. When about 2 1-2 years old she began to have

Fainting Spells,

dropping wherever she happened to be. At these times she would turn black and appeared at the point of death. Doctors told us she was in a very bad way from

Heart Trouble

Nothing that we gave her did any good until, in utter desperation, we began giving her Hood's Sarsaparilla. She gradually began to improve, the fainting fits became less and less frequent and finally ceased entirely. Her general health improved until at the end of a year, having taken seven bottles, we stopped giving it to her. At this time she was 4 years old, and, although anxious lest the troubles might return, we ceased to worry, she seemed so well. She is now 10 years old and is as a child as you will find anywhere and has never shown any indication of a return of the heart difficulty. During the past 6 years perhaps she has taken 3 bottles in all, we only giving it to her irregularly at times when she has complained of feeling tired in the spring and early summer. We feel that we owe a great deal to and cannot say too much in favor of it." EDWARD HILBERT, Lawrence, Mass.

Healthy and Rugged

A Politician's Confession!

A True Story.

The writer happened to be in London, Ont., on the day of election of a member for the House of Commons. The candidates, Carling and Hyman, were both very popular men; and each side had hundreds of willing workers doing all that men could do to reach victory.

The writer while going along Dundas street, about mid-day, met an old friend—an ardent politician—who was openly displaying his party's colors, by wearing a small piece of red ribbon in a buttonhole of his coat.

The politician expressed some surprise at meeting the writer, and said: "My dear fellow, I have just time to make a confession and will do so in a very few words. I know you are deeply interested in Paine's Celery Compound, therefore my story will be interesting to you. Three months ago I was in a sick bed, and had no idea that I would be in a condition to take part in an election contest today. I was suffering from dyspepsia and rheumatism; I was weak and broken down, and could not obtain the rest I so much needed. I had sense enough to use Paine's Celery Compound, instead of seeking a physician's advice and treatment, and to-day you see my condition; I am now fit for any work, as I feel as strong as ever before in my life. Instead of working for political friends, I should be amongst the sick and suffering, recommending Paine's Celery Compound."

The politician referred to, is a living example of what can be accomplished by the use of this grandest remedy of modern times. There is no other agent that builds up the broken-down man so quickly; no other remedy can bestow the glow of health, and give the vim and vigor that Celery Compound gives. It is the only medicine that can thoroughly eradicate the poison of disease, cleanse the blood, and give a new existence.

The young men's rally on Saturday evening was addressed by Mr. E. A. Mannell on the topic, "What is my Idol?" and was handled in a practical and attractive manner and aroused much interest in all present. The singing was led by the orchestra in a helpful manner. A precious after-meeting was held.

Mr. Herbert Fife conducted the Bible study and consecration meeting yesterday morning with much pleasure and profit to all present.

The personal purity meeting in the afternoon was addressed by one of our most active workers, whose life bears out the earnest and practical words of soberness and truth he gave those present to the power of Christ to save, keep and use young men in saving others. The singing led by the band, was hearty and helpful.

Mr. Wm. Might gave a thoughtful and impressive address at the gospel and song service last evening, which made a marked impression on all present.

The Glorious Gospel.

Bishop Hawkins Thrills Large Audiences in the George Street Methodist Church Yesterday by his Earnestness and the Vigor of His Appeal for all to Accept Christ as Their Saviour.

Large attendances were at the George street Methodist church yesterday, both morning and evening, to hear the renowned colored orater, Bishop Hawkins, preach. Elder Hawkins is a colored bishop of the British Methodist Episcopal church. His home is in Chatham, and he has been preaching the gospel for several years past. It is sixteen years since he has visited Peterborough, when he preached in the George street church under the pastorship of Rev. S. P. Rose. Many who were present to hear the colored divine yesterday noted the wonderful change in the old man which has taken place during that period. Bishop Hawkins is now bowed and stooped with age. The frost of eighty-two winters have enfeebled his limbs and weakened his eyesight. It was with serious difficulty yesterday that he was able to read the scriptural lessons, dread cataracts growing on his eyes are obscuring his vision. The old man is about five feet six inches in height, and of medium build, is coal black, and a typical negro in every respect. His utterances, while forcible and earnest, are delivered in a rather jerky and disconnected style. Yet he has his subject fully in hand and preaches with a glorious hope, an enthusiastic appeal and a firm belief.

In the morning he chose as his text, II Corinthians, 5th chapter 1st verse, and Revelations 21st chapter and 25th verse:—"For we know that if our earthly house of this tabernacle were dissolved, we have a building of God, a house not made with hands, eternal in the Heavens."

"For there shall be no night there."

The rev. gentleman in a few introductory remarks landed the people who were Christians. He found them in Canada and all over the world. For years he had given himself entirely up to Christ and was making an appeal for all men to turn to Christ and be saved. Every Sabbath brought forth with it a great many complaints why people could not attend church. There were complaints all around, frivol and nonsensical about the service. Every Christian was responsible whether the service in the house of God was a failure and devoid of blessing or whether it was a time of the glorious downpouring of the Holy Spirit and a success. Each one had a

PERSONAL RESPONSIBILITY TO DISCHARGE

in the matter. Try me, God says, and see what I will do. If this privilege was carried out and earnest appeals made, there would be many souls saved every Sunday. We were living in an age of criticism, and hence, the speaker said, he was subject to criticism. Those who spent their time in criticising others, would often do well to stop and take a look at themselves. As for himself he had no time for criticism. It took all his time to obey the commands of God, and discharge all the duties he had agreed to do. We had two mighty problems to deal with, Live and Death. Nobody would attempt to deny this. Men forget God and their responsibility to Him, and played with His word as a little child would with a plaything. They denounced the word as false, untrue and exaggerated. Surely God was greater than His word, as the architect was greater than the building, for it was he who planned and made the building and was the great originator of it. The Christian had a building not made with hands eternal in the heavens. Many men were building their hopes upon riches but it was only a momentary hope, as man was a momentary being. The speaker advised all to build their hopes upon God and lay up for themselves treasures in heaven. Then when death with its peculiar sensations, its chilling feelings and unpleasant tread knocked at the heart, then with a man would ascend in that great by and by, where all sorrow was changed into joy and remorse, and trouble into gladness everlasting. Man was as the Psalmist said, fearfully and wonderfully made. He was the highest and noblest creature of God's omnipotent creation. The speaker said he did not believe that any man ever lived who did not recognize somewhere that there was a being higher than himself. Man by knowledge and faith could be changed from death unto life. Faith made a man feel happy, bright and cheery, even in the hour of death when, the blood was cold and the eye dim. The preacher said he never had more implicit faith in God's goodness and mercy than at the present time, and he closed with an earnest and spirited appeal for all to accept Christ as their Saviour and live.

SMILE OF GLORY AND A HOPE ETERNAL,

Bishop Hawkins at the close of his discourse, by request, sang "I'm near my home to-day I have been before," the congregation joining in the chorus. The bishop has a full rich and well-toned tenor voice, and captured his hearers by the sweetness and melody it possesses.

In the evening Bishop Hawkins preached to a congregation which filled the large edifice to its utmost capacity. Every available seat was taken. The old man eloquent, spoke earnestly and appealingly from the words found in John, 9th chapter and 14th verse: "I must work the works of Him that sent me while it is day, the night cometh when no man can work." The colored divine sang two sacred songs in fine voice and with good effect.

Imagination or speculation has been running riot with some people. For the past ten days we have had hosts of visitors inquiring if we had seen the plans for the changes in our building to accommodate the Bank of Commerce, which it is rumoured will be placed in the store we now occupy. Incidental with this we are told with a Solomon-like look, that there are more changes to occur before long and that when the World's Fair is held in Peterborough, things will look so different that the "old residents" will find it hard to remember when and how these changes occurred. Our visitors generally finish their conversation by asking if goods are any cheaper on account of these SUPPOSED CHANGES, and, as we are always alive and ready to do business, we find Dame Rumour has been of immense benefit to us lately. We will say that what we most desire just now is

THE CANADA LIFE ASSURANCE CO'Y.

Forty-Fifth Annual Meeting of the Great Institution.

Remarkable Record for the Past Year—The Annual Report—Election of Directors.

The 45th annual meeting of the greatest of Canadian insurance institutions, the Canada Life Assurance Company, was held to-day in the board room of the Company's head office in Hamilton. There were present a gathering of the representative men of Canada, men whose names are known all over the country for solidity and business ability, with Mr. G. A. Ramsay, president of the company, presiding over the deliberations. The meeting was a most harmonious and eminently satisfactory one.

Mr. Ramsay took the chair shortly after 12 o'clock, with Mr. Roland Hills as secretary of the meeting.

President Ramsay submitted the following :

REPORT BY THE BOARD OF DIRECTORS OF THE CANADA LIFE ASSURANCE COMPANY, SUBMITTED TO THE ANNUAL GENERAL MEETING OF SHAREHOLDERS, HELD AT HAMILTON ON THE 5TH OF APRIL, 1892 :

The business of 1891, being the company's 45th year, was again highly favourable. The new assurances applied for were 2,507 in number, and $5,929,083 in amount. Of these, 136 for $259,500 were declined, the lives not appearing to reach that standard of eligibility which it is in the best interest of our assurers should be maintained. Of the balance of $5,669,583, upon 2,371 lives, which were accepted by the directors, 204 for $414,562 were not carried out, leaving the actual new assurances of the year $5,255,021 under 2,167 policies, with a new annual income premium of $178,-191.06.

At 31st December last there were in force $56,218,318.03 of assurances and bonus additions, upon 19,563 lives, under 26,484 policies

The statement of receipts and payments, and the abstract of assets and liabilities, herewith submitted, show that the income of the year was $2,213,096.27, and that the assets amounted to $12,074,-124.87, having being increased during the year by $1,041.684 78.

The death claims for the year were upon 182 lives under 245 policies for $511,879.11, including profits, a sum considerably under that of the previous year, 1890, when the amount was a good deal affected by the epidemic of la grippe which then prevailed, and its results.

The business at the various branches has been generally well sustained, and having last year alluded to anticipations of successful progress at the Michigan branch, it may be mentioned that these have been largely realized.

In compliance with the company's charter the following directors retire by rotation, but are eligible for re-election : The Hon. Sir Alexander Campbell, K. C. M. G., Toronto ; Andrew Allan, Esq., Montreal, and Thomas Swinyard, Esq , New York State.

PRESIDENT RAMSAY'S REMARKS.

Mr. A. G. Ramsay moved the adoption of the annual report. In so doing he reviewed carefully and ably, the business of the year. He said :—

I beg to move the adoption of the directors report now before you, and although the statements which it, and the published accounts, which have been in your hands for some days, so clearly indicate the success of the past year's business, and the sound position of the company, that I need take up but little of the time of this annual meeting in adverting to them, it may be interesting, I dare say, that I draw your attention shortly to some of the features which these documents disclose. The new business of the past year amounted, you will see to $5,-255,021, a sum so nearly approaching the best year we have ever had that I think we may well congratulate you upon it. It has happily been our good fortune each year for so long to be able to make a somewhat similar statement that I fear it may appear a somewhat monotonous one, for which, however, I need offer no apology. You will have noticed that the total assurances in force at the close of 1891 were $56,218,318, an amount which suggests a very large measure of public support and confidence in the company. The income continues to largely increase, and it amounted last year to $2,213,096, more than twice as much as it was ten years ago, and nearly seven times what it was twenty years ago. With the possibility of a corresponding progress in the future we may well be encouraged to continue that caution and care in the direction and in the management of the company's affairs, which in the past have made the Canada Life's name synonymous with that of integrity, liberality and stability. The large addition of over $1,000,000 was added to the companys assets last year, making them $12,074,124, or about twice what they were only seven years ago. While difficulty in obtaining satisfactory investments as they were wanted was experienced during the year, every effort and the best judgment of the board were exercised so as to make that difficulty as little felt as possible.

As you are well aware, there has of late years been a gradual reduction in the rate of interest obtainable on the best class of securities, and while our Company is of course affected by that, in common with all others, every exertion is made to diminish as far as we can any loss in that way.

The death claims during 1891 were $511,873, being a lower amount than they had been in 1890, when, largely by the grippe epidemic, they reached $603,884.

The statment of receipts and payments shows that during 1891, $316,370 was paid to policy-holders as profits, a return of nearly 20 per cent. of the year's premiums paid to the Company, a percentage of profits on premiums paid so rarely reached by other companies as to lead us to press upon intending assurers the advantages which our Company offers in that respect. In alluding to that I am very glad indeed to have the opportunity of saying that by the courtesy of the Superintendent of Insurance we were yesterday favoured with the result of the Government's quinquennial valuation of our Company's affairs. It shows that over and above the full reserve we are required by the Government of Canada to hold, and all liabilities, we have on hand a large profit surplus such as indicates no diminution in the Company's profit-making powers. You have been informed by the Director's Report of the generally favourable progress of the Company's various branches, and the efforts of our Managers and Agents are well deserving of our thanks and encouragement. Special allusion has been made to the branch established by the Company, in Michigan in 1890. Because it being somewhat of an experiment, you would naturally desire to hear specially as to it. I am very pleased to be able to say that the progress of the branch is so satisfactory as to have last year placed the Company in the fourteenth position, in point of new assurances, out of 32 companies doing business in the State. For a great deal of our success in Michigan, we are indebted to the support of the prominent and influential gentlemen who have been good enough to aid us by acting upon our Board of Reference. I am glad to tell you that we have entered upon the year 1892 with the most encouraging prospects. The new business up to the present date far exceed that of any previous year, and I trust that at our next meeting we may be able to again record a continuance of such prosperity as has already been so satisfactory to you and to our various policy-holders.

VICE-PRESIDENT GATES' REMARKS.

Mr. F. W. Gates, Vice-President of the Company, seconded the adoption of the report. In doing so he said :—

Mr. Chairman and gentlemen.—When it is borne in mind that there has been no perceptible improvement in business generally throughout the country during the past year, I think we must be compelled to admit that the statement which has been presented to-day ought to be considered highly satisfactory. It is true that the company might have done a much larger amount of business than has been done if we had been less scrupulously careful in the acceptance of risks which have been applied for. As the report shows, and as the president has pointed out, many applications have been rejected. We have exercised the greatest care in this matter in order that the company and the insured alike might be fully protected. We did not indulge in the extravagances which some companies have in order to increase our business, but have rather followed a policy of careful management in the interest of the company. I well remember some years ago that the president in his address referred with a good deal of pleasure to the fact that we had an income of $1,000 a day ; now it is $7,000 a day, and it was easy then to invest $1,000 a day. It is not so easy to invest $7,000 now, even with the lower rate of interest. I may again refer to the remarkably small losses, and again congratulate the company upon that state of affairs. I have much pleasure, gentlemen, in seconding the motion for the adoption of the report.

President Ramsay put the motion, which was carried unanimously.

THANKS TO PRESIDENT AND DIRECTORS.

Mr. Byron E. Walker moved a vote of thanks to the President and Directors for their attention to the interests of the company during the year.

In offering the motion Mr. Walker said: —It gives me very great pleasure indeed to propose the thanks of the shareholders to our President and Directors. Reference has been made to the growth and success of the Canada Life in the past, and I consider that they are largely due to the excellent management. The big companies in the United States are beginning to realize that it may be possible to do too much business, but I am sure that if the policy which has been pursued by the Canada Life in the past is adhered to, another ten years of our career will show corresponding prosperity. I hope that our President may long be spared to direct the affairs of the company, and that he may have the advice and co-operation of such men as now constitute the directorate.

Mr. Henry McLaren—Mr. President and gentlemen, I have very much pleasure in seconding the motion.

The motion was put and carried unanimously, amid applause.

President Ramsay replied :—I expect that I shall have to reply to the motion you have just passed. I thank you very much indeed for the resolution and for the kind expressions made use of. I believe I can confidently say that every one of the Directors has done all that was in his power to further the interests of the company.

THREE DIRECTORS ELECTED.

The Hon. Mr. Justice Burton moved the appointment of Messrs. W. F. Findlay and Campbell Farrie as scrutineers of votes for the election of Directors in the room of the three retiring, and that the poll shall now be opened, and closed upon five minutes elapsing without a vote being tendered.

Mr. Matthew Leggat seconded the motion, which was carried.

The voting took a good deal of time, and while the ballots were being counted other business was proceeded with. The election resulted in the choice of Hon. Sir Alexander Campbell, K.C. M. G., of Toronto, Mr. Andrew Allan, of Montreal, and Mr. Geo. A. Cox, of Toronto. The last named gentlemen will take the place of Mr. Thomas Swinyard on the Board, the other two gentlemen being re-elected.

The usual votes of thanks were passed, and at a meeting of the directors subsequently held, Mr. A. G. Ramsay was re-elected President, and Mr. F. W. Gates, Vice-President.

A Conductor Killed.

MONTREAL, April 22.—A body found at Lachine yesterday was recognized as that of George Clay, a Pullman car conductor of the C.P.R. running from Montreal to Vancouver. He went out with a friend from Lachine to shoot muskrats.

In the evening of the same day Clay's friend came back to Lachine and said that he had missed Clay when he was about a mile from Lachine.

Nothing was heard of Clay till this morning, when he was found lying dead near the C.P.R. bridge at Lachine. One side of his face was terribly bruised and one of his eyes was put out. Near the body lay a double barrelled gun with one barrel unloaded.

A Railway Rumor.

HAMILTON, April 23.—Work has not yet been commenced this year on the completion of the double tracking of the Toronto branch, and it is currently stated among railway men that the work is suspended pending the result of the meeting of shareholders on the 27th. The story has got abroad that the Canadian Pacific is dickering for the purchase of the southern division or part of it and that something definite will be done at the meeting in question. If the C.P.R. took over the Toronto branch, the Niagara Falls and Sarnia line and the N. and N.W. division, the Grand Trunk would still have the air line from Port Erie to Windsor for through business between Chicago and New York.

A Terrible Tenement Fire.

ST. PETERSBURG, April 23.—A fatal fire occurred here yesterday in a three-story tenement occupied by a large number of people. When a search was made of the ruins it was found that nine of the occupants had been burned to death. Their bodies were almost unrecognizable. Fifteen others are missing, and it is thought they are buried beneath the debris.

Rosenfeld's Last Shot.

NICE, April 23.—Charles Rosenfeld, the American diamond merchant, whose winnings at Monte Carlo made a sensation second only to those of C. H. Wells, returned to the Riviera a little time ago and began losing heavily and continuously. He continued till a day or two ago, when he left for Paris, having lost all the money he had with him. He also cashed checks to the tune of $30,000 or $35,000, which he also lost. He returned to Paris and yesterday shot himself.

MELBOURNE, April 23.—The trial of Deeming for the murder of his wife opened to-day, and at the request of counsel for the prisoner was adjourned until April 28 in order that time might be given for the arrival of witnesses.

Decrease in Failures.

NEW YORK, April 23.—There in no material gain in the volume of general trade as reported to Bradstreet's, notwithstanding Chicago and a few other northwestern cities continue to report a volume of traffic in excess of that in April a year ago.

In the Canadian Dominion business is not very active. At Toronto the volume is not large, with an advance in dyed cottons and limited demand for wheat to export.

The outlook is more favorable than previously at Montreal, owing to the opening of navigation.

Bank clearings at four Canadian cities aggregate $15,810,000, a decrease of 22 per cent. contrasted with the week before.

There were 21 Canadian business failures reported to Bradstreet's this week, in the week last year the total was 60 and last week it was 33.

Welland Nominations.

WELLAND, April 22.—James A. Lowell, Niagara Falls South, Reformer, and John Lawson of Thorold, Conservative, were today nominated as candidates for the Dominion Parliament. There was no speaking.

INTENSE SUFFERING!

Mr. William Buchanan, 24 years engineer in the Cunard Steamship Company's service, 8 St. John's Road, Kirkdale, Liverpool, Eng., writes: "I suffered two years of agony from an affection in the head which six physicians pronounced incurable.

They were divided in opinion as to whether it was acute neuralgia of the head or rheumatic affection of the brain, but all agreed that I could never recover. In my paroxysms of pain it needed two and sometimes three men to hold me down in bed. When at death's door, was applied to my head. It acted like magic. It saved my life. I am well and hearty, and have had no return of the trouble."

ST. JACOBS OIL

"ALL RIGHT! ST. JACOBS OIL DID IT."

THE BEST FAMILY PILL IN USE

FOR SALE BY ALL DEALERS

Keep the Works in good order.

NORMAN, Ont., January 15, 1890.

W. H. COMSTOCK, Brockville, Ont.

DEAR SIR,—Your "Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills" are the best regulator for the system that humanity can use. Life is as the time piece: frail and delicate are many of its works. A tiny particle of foreign substance adheres to the smallest wheel in the works, and what is the result?—at first only a slight difference is perceptible in its time-keeping, but wait you; as the obstruction grows, the irregularity becomes greater, until at last, what could have been rectified with little trouble, in the beginning, will now require much care in thoroughly cleansing the entire works. So it is in human life—a slight derangement is neglected, it grows and increases, imperceptibly at first, then rapidly, until what could, in the beginning, have been cured with little trouble, becomes almost fatal. To prevent this, I advise all to purify the system frequently, by the use of Morse's Pills, and so preserve vigor and vitality.

Yours faithfully,
H. F. ATWELL.

THE BEST DAIRY BUTTER.

Practical Observations on How This Product is to be Obtained.

The best butter has the least done for it, or that least is done at exactly the right time. Other things being equal, butter from the ordinary breeds should be the same if made in the same manner. It is the maker that makes poor butter. Again, the market demands a certain kind of butter, but instead of supplying it, many of us try to force the market to accept what we make. It wants only fancy butter, and will pay well for it. Fancy only means well made. The cow must be well fed and well housed. The milk should not be left in the stable a minute after it is drawn. Set as soon as possible. At 92° all of the constituents of milk except the butter fats are liquid. Below that they begin to solidify and the specific gravity keeps changing, bringing the fat globules to the surface.

Set the milk in a room where the temperature can be controlled. It must not vary, as this changes the specific gravity of the milk and thus stops the cream from rising. I use an oil stove, with a burner something like the Rochester lamp, in a milk room 12 ft. square. This keeps the temperature at exactly 62° for 5c per day. Take off the cream before the milk is sour. The trade calls for aroma in butter and, as near as I can figure, pays about 10c per lb. for it. This is the only way to get it. Four hours before the milk shows the slightest sign of souring to the eye tiny threads of fibrin have made a complete network through the pan and will effectually stop any butter globules from rising. You will get all the cream you can, and the aroma with it. Let the cream ripen to pleasant acidity. Just before churning strain and bring to 70°. Cream in the pail forms into strata and stirring only arranges the strata in spiral form. Straining mixes it thoroughly and takes out all the lumps. There are only two churns I can recommend, the revolving and the swing, and the former is the better of the two. A combination of the two would be better still, the swing to use until the butter breaks and the revolving afterward. A thin cream makes a better concussion. If the cream is too thick add water at the right temperature. This is better than milk.

The less buttermilk in butter the better it keeps. Stop churning when the butter globules are as small as pin heads. Put salt water of fair strength in the churn before the buttermilk is taken off. This makes the specific gravity of the mass greatear and the butter comes to the surface like a cork. After three or four such washings the butter is free. Now as to salting. With the average farm dairy there is no necessity of a butter worker. Modern churns do the work better. Butter workers will not do the work and will also get rancid. The hot water used in cleaning only works it in deeper; also throw away the butter paddle. Substitute a maple four-tined fork. Half an ounce is all the salt that butter, with the normal amount of water in it, will dissolve. More than that must be worked in solid. Water will dissolve 100 per cent. of salt. Make a strong brine and mix thoroughly with the butter granules. To allow for the water in the butter, sprinkle a little salt in the churn. Use brine enough to a little more than cover the butter. This should be at 60°.

In packing use 64lb. butter pails. The trade seems to take to these the best. To pack the butter into these the hand is the best implement. Wrap a piece of muslin around the hand and wet it with brine. Then press the butter into the pail with the fist. Don't put in more than a pound at a time and pack. Don't smooth the top off. It gives a salvy appearance, when you have as good and grainy butter as is put on the market. It hurts the sale. Round over the top a little and cut off a flake with a thread. This gives an elegant appearance. Put on a new muslin top and cover with parchment paper. This makes a tight cover and will keep out the light; 60 is the right temperature for packing.—John Gould, in Farm and Home.

Man or Woman, Ghost or Human.

We cannot say what will cure ghosts, but many men and many women who look like ghosts rather than human being, through sickness, would regain health and happiness if they would try the virtues of the world-renowned remedy, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. Torpid liver or "biliousness," impure blood, skin eruptions, scrofulous sores and swellings, consumption (which is scrofula of the lungs) all yield to this wonderful medicine. It is both tonic and strength-restoring, and alterative or blood-cleansing. a

Blood Will Tell.

Good blood will show its quality. So will bad blood, the one in a healthy body and ruddy complexion, the other in ill health, blotches, pimples, boils and sores, and frequently in intenser forms as ulcers, abscesses erysipelas, scorfulous diseases, salt rheum, etc. Every organ of the body depends upon the blood for force and vitality, and is but scantily served when the blood is impure. No remedy is so potent as a blood purifier or more rapidly produces new and healthy blood than Burdock Blood Bitters, which neutralizes the various poisons and restores the vitalizing power of this all important fluid. As an instance of this read what Mr. J. S. Neff, of Algoma Mills, Ont., says in a recent letter:

SIRS,—A year ago I was troubled with spots breaking out all over my body, the effect of bad blood. I consulted three different doctors, who gave me medicine but did not cure me. I was advised to try B B B., and after using two bottles I noticed the spots getting less. I continued to use B B B, which entirely cured me, giving me a splendid appetite. Since then I would use no other medicine.

Use gouty pimples, blotches, tan, and all blotchiness outside of the skin are removed by using Dr. Low's Sulphur Soap. dw

"WEEDY" BRITISH SOLDIERS

One Knocks Out Ten German Sailors Before He is Overpowered.

KINGSTON, Jamaica, April 25.—Thirty seamen from the German training-ship Moltke created a disturbance in a liquor shop on Saturday night, the result of which is that two of them are now in prison awaiting trial and several persons are lying seriously wounded in the hospital. The trouble arose out of a discussion as to the relative merits of German and British naval men. One of the Germans was boasting loudly of the superiority of his countrymen over the British, and the barmaid contradicted him, whereupon the sailor threw his glass and hit the barmaid on the head. This caused a general fight. A constable was badly cut about the head and body with broken bottles and probably would have been killed had not a British soldier came to his rescue. The soldier knocked out 10 of the Germans, but was finally overpowered and beaten down, and while unconscious he was beaten and kicked so badly that his arm was broken and his leg fractured. The constable had both his arms broken. A posse of police finally arrested several of the Germans. The rest of them escaped. The rum shop in which the fight occurred was sacked.

The three men and woman were arrested for vagrancy during the preceding month, and in compliance with the law they were placed on the auctioneer's block and sold. One sold for $7 for 60 days' work and the other for $4 for 30 days work. The woman was sold at a high figure, for she was known to be a good cook.

LUNDY, THE WIFE MURDERER, BREAKING DOWN.

Funeral of His Victim — Killed While Wrestling — Found Dead on the Track —Sequel to an Elopement — Young in Years but Old in Crime.

BRAMPTON, Ont., April 26.—James Lundy, the wife murderer, has engaged Walter S. Murphy, Brampton's criminal lawyer to defend him and sensational developments are promised when the case comes on for trial.

Meantime Lundy has lost much of the coolness which he exhibited immediately after his arrest, and the strain is also telling on him physically. The jail officials say that he cannot sleep and last night opiates had to be administered to him.

There are two or three hours of time immediately preceding the commission of the murder during which Lundy's movements cannot be traced, and the opinion is freely expressed that he had been on a still hunt for an individual whom he suspected rightly or wrongly, of being the destroyer of his happiness in that interval.

Lundy was in Guelph all day Friday, where it is believed he purchased the revolver—an old-fashioned 6-barrelled 32 calibre of the Smith & Wesson pattern. He returned to Brampton on the 6.45 train, and an acquaintance who boarded the train at Georgetown and occupied the same seat with him the remainder of the journey remarked that he was in unusually good spirits. When he turned up at the Revere House and partook of supper, 1½ hours later, it was noticed that he was deadly pale. Where he had been in the interval may develop at the trial.

"Only a Pansy Blossom."

The fact that a small party was being held at the house when Lundy put in an appearance has already been chronicled. When the shot rang out which ushered the victim's soul before her Maker, one of the lady guests was seated at the piano singing the concluding stanza of "Only a Pansy Blossom."

After the shooting and while in charge of the constable in the room where the body lay Lundy offered $50 to any man who would hand him a revolver to kill himself with. "I owe no person a cent," he continued. Suddenly noticing the proprietor of one of the local papers near the door he put his hand in his pocket with the remark, "I owe you $1 for the paper; that will pay you up till next November."

Funeral of the Victim.

The funeral of Mrs. Lundy took place yesterday, Rev. Mr. McKay, Baptist minister, conducted the services, and fully 1000 persons followed the hearse to the cemetery.

The couple were married about 25 years ago. At that time Lundy was a clerk in Brampton and leader of the brass band. Miss McKinnon, who was a daughter of Squire McKinnon of Halton, taught school at Norval, and subsequently conducted a dressmaker's establishment in Georgetown. After their marriage the couple kept a hotel at Edmonton, Peel County, for a time, subsequently removing to a farm of 70 acres, which Lundy's father gave him. Fifty acres of this farm was deeded by Lundy to his wife some time ago, and a few weeks since he sold the balance to her for $300, she assuming the $500 mortgage on the place. Of this $300 he had expended all but $30, which was found in his possession when he was arrested.

The Lundy family has broken up house and left town, going to reside with relatives.

Where Did He Get the Gun?

GUELPH, April 26.—Constable Hurst of Brampton is in the city working on the Lundy murder case. Lundy was in this city on Thursday, the day before the tragedy took place. He visited one of the hotels, when it is said he was slightly the worse of liquor. It has not yet been learned where Lundy procured the revolver with which he is alleged to have shot his wife, and this is one of the points that Hurst is trying to unravel.

A Notorious Crook.

CHATHAM, Ont., April 26.—Albert Grayson, aged 21, a machinist by trade but a thief by inclination, is in Chatham jail awaiting trial, having consented to return from Port Huron, where he was arrested by Sheriff Bernaty, without the formality of extradition.

Grayson was in 1889 convicted at Wallaceburg of larceny and sentenced to 23 months in the Central Prison, Toronto. He served his full time and was liberated in November last. He lingered around Toronto for a few days and then decided to pay another visit to Wallaceburg, and as a gentle reminder of his presence, burgarlized a store, securing considerable swag. After this he spent a short time visiting in the States, but returned again to the scenes of his depredations, where he was arrested. His trial quickly followed and he was again sentenced to serve 23 months, but escaped from the lock-up.

Immediately after his escape Grayson attempted a burglary in the same town on a larger scale than ever. Early one night he entered a hardware store and loaded up with the most valuable things in stock, including several revolvers. Later on the same night he was caught in the act of going through a dry goods store. The revolvers he secured at the hardware store stood him in good stead and several shots from these soon cleared an avenue for escape and he eluded arrest until last week.

Maclean, proprietor of The Toronto World, who was defeated by Mr. Mackenzie at the general election by 28 votes, was chosen as the standard-bearer. The Liberals will meet in convention on Monday next to choose an opponent to Mr. Maclean.

Small Fire at Georgetown.

GEORGETOWN, April 26.—About 10 o'clock last night a fire caused by a lamp exploding occasioned $400 damages in the block owned by Dr. Ross and occupied by J. Kopman, drygoods.

Found Dead on the Track.

ST. CATHARINES, April 26.—The dead body of James Crawford was found lying on the track near the iron bridge over the new canal yesterday. He had been drinking heavily and apparently died from exposure.

KILLED THE INFORMER

AND BLEW HIS RESTAURANT TO SMITHEREENS.

The Man Who Surrendered Ravachol to the Authorities Blown Up With Dynamite—Another Startling Explosion in Paris—Canada and the Behring Sea Arbitration

PARIS, April 26.—The restaurant of Very, who on March 30 delivered Ravachol, the anarchist, into the hands of the police, was utterly wrecked at 9.40 o'clock last night by a bomb explosion.

Since Ravachol's arrest M. Very has frequently been threatened with such a disaster.

The force of the explosion was terrific and widely felt and an enormous crowd quickly gathered about the shattered buildings.

The Informer Killed.

The police on entering found M. Very lying on the floor of the restaurant in the midst of heaps of debris groaning with fright and pain. One of his legs had been broken, and he was sent to a hospital, where it whas found necessary to amputate the injured member. He died a few hours later. A granddaughter of M. Very was also injured and two ladies living in rooms located over the restaurant were badly shaken and bruised.

Very's wife was not injured, but she has lost her senses owing to the severity of the shock she suffered and is raving like a maniac.

It is believed the explosion was designed to terrorize the jurymen in Ravachol's case, which opens to-morrow.

The police think the bomb was thrown into the basement of the building through a grating.

M. Gozel, prefect of police, M. Goron, chief of the Municipal Police and M. Raynard, secretary of the Ministry of the Interior arrived on the scene soon after the explosion—the Boulevard Magenta.

Three persons have been arrested on suspicion of being implicated in the affair.

Gathering in the Reds.

In this city and in St. Etienne renewed arrests of Anarchists are taking place. Stringent precautions are being taken at the Palais de Justice to prevent any manifestation being made to-morrow by the Anarchists during the trial of Ravachol. Few applications are being made for seats, as the people are fearful of dynamite outrages being perpetrated in the courtroom and deem it safer to remain away while the proceedings are going on. It has been decided by the authorities that the trial will last only one day, even if it is found necessary for the court to sit all night to finish up the case.

Canada and Behring Sea.

LONDON, April 26.—The House of Commons resumed its sessions Monday. In reply to a question asked by James Bryce Mr. Lowther, Parliamentary Secretary of the Foreign Office, stated that a complete accord had been arrived at with the United States in regard to the Behring Sea modus vivendi. Mr. Lowther added that the Government was taking steps to consult Canada regarding the persons by whom Canada wished to be represented in the arbitration. The names of the British arbitrators had not yet been decided upon.

MUSTACHE AND MATCH OFF.

Abraham Tecoli's Future Happiness Wrecked by a Careless Barber.

NEW YORK, April 26.—Abraham Tecoli does not know which to mourn the loss of most—his mustach or his bride. He lives in Williamsburg and to-day was to have been his wedding day. Saturday night he went into Isaac Cohen's barber shop to spruce up for the event. Amid his happy musings he fell asleep.

Tecoli had, when he sat down, magnificent long mustaches which curved down to his chin and an inch or two below it. The bride-elect had often told him that these were what attracted her maiden fancy to him. Abraham's horror may be imagined when he awoke to find that the barber had taken off this hirsute treasure from one side of his face and was preparing to take off the other. There was nothing to do then but have the other side shaved off.

Abraham hastened to pay his last bachelor call on his bride to be with many misgivings. "What will she say?" he repeated as he halted on the door step. The bride shrieked when she recognized him at last and then stormed. Nothing would she have to do with a man with a face like that. "Begone!" she shouted, "I can never be your wife."

Abraham's grief turned to rage against the barber. He asked Justice Goetting to have the Figaro barber punished. "So he shall be!" said the court. "Come to-morrow and I'll give you a warrant for him."

PEASANTS WANTONLY SLAIN.

The Chinese Imperial Troops More Cruel Than the Rebels.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., April 26.—News just received from Shanghai outlines cruel acts of barbarism during the recent warfare with rebels. Innocent villagers were simply mowed down by the repeating rifles of the Imperial troops.

The estimate of lives thus wantonly sacrified ranges as high as three thousand, and persons who have seen the dead in some parts of the disaffected regions say their dress is that of the ordinary peasant of that locality.

As the returning troops passed along on their way back to Tientsin, it was noticed that not a few were loaded with booty in the shape of women's silk garments, put on under their outer blouses and that their arms were covered with valuable bracelets. Boys and girls of 10 to 14 years of age, whose parents had been killed, were also among the "booty."

Men traveling over the country shortly after the Imperial troops had passed in the wake of the banditti found the uniform testimony of the villagers to be that the troops were much more cruel and wanton than the rebels. The rebels, they said, took what they wanted and went their way, but the troops took what they wanted and then destroyed all they could, even to turning over kettles in which they had just cooked the food they had seized and knocking holes in the bottom, thus leaving the people often in the most destitute condition.

PANIC IN AN INDIANA CHURCH.

Artificial Flowers on the Altar Set on Fire by a Gust of Wind.

FORT WAYNE, Ind., April 26.—At St. Mary's Church yesterday morning, while the edifice was filled almost to suffocation, a gust of wind blew a bunch of paper roses against a lighted taper and in an instant the whole front of the church was in flames. Children screamed, woman fainted and the entire congregation, panic stricken, made a wild rush for the doors. Many were trampled under foot and a number were more or less seriously injured.

The priests finally calmed the frightened congregation. The decorations were torn from their places as quickly as possible, but not before the priest and a number of his assistants were quite severely burned about the hands and arms.

Nature's Phenomena.

HAWESVILLE, Ky., April 26.—There is great excitement in the Duncan neighborhood over a shower of plums that fell during the storm Wednesday morning.

When the news first reached this city it was not believed, and a number of persons went to the scene and found about a 12-acre strip of land covered to a depth of several inches with the plums, and barrels could easily be filled.

The plums are about the size of a small marble, and filled with small seed and are different from any fruit ever known in this country. They are thought to be a berry brought here by the powerful cyclone that morning from some tropical country.

JOHN DILLON'S ANSWER.

He Explains What Became of the Fund for Evicted Tenants.

DUBLIN, April 26.—In speaking at Slane yesterday John Dillon answered the recent statements of the Parnellites, as regards the National fund for evicted tenants. In the last six months, he said, £13,607 had been paid out to aid families forcibly dispossessed. Michael Davitt advised the holding of Home Rule Convention directly after the Belfast Unionists Convention.

The Government forces suppressed Mr. Flynn's meeting at Mallow to denounce officers, informed Mr. Flynn that he might speak but must not refer to the farmers. As the "grabbers" were to be the subject of Mr. Flynn's addresses, he preferred to omit the meeting altogether.

KIDNAPPERS KILL EACH OTHER.

They Had Stolen Two Boys From Saginaw, Mich.—Three Dead.

FAIRMONT, W. Va., April 26.—Two days ago three tramps, who had kidnapped two boys from Saginaw, Mich., came here and camped near town, keeping the boys in confinement.

Last evening the gang was joined by a man named Tracy of Dunbar, Pa. A row was started and the gang turned their pistols on each other. Tracy was killed, one tramp was shot through the nipple and another had his jugular vein cut. All are dead. The boys gave the alarm.

Died With Her Cat.

NEW YORK, April 26.—Mme. de Fenelon, 50 years old and a teacher of elocution, was found dead in her room on the top floor of No. 107 East Thirty-first-street, yesterday morning suffocated by gas, which was escaping from a small gas stove in the room.

There was no apparent motive for suicide, and the police are inclined to believe that death was accidental.

Lying beside the dead woman was the body of a large black cat, which had also been suffocated. The animal had been her pet for years.

No Mails By Dominion Line.

MONTREAL, April 26.—The Dominion Line Steamship Company has ceased to carry the Canadian mails. Last winter the Allans took a contract with the Government for the mails at £500 per round trip. They were to put on two out of five boats in winter and three out of six in summer. They divided this contract equally with the Dominion people. Lately the Allans proposed to allow the Dominion people only one boat. The latter company refused to do it unless they got two regular boats and have withdrawn from the service.

His Arm Cut Off.

CHATHAM, April 26.—Frank Hick, aged 24, of Bothwell boarded the G.T.R. accommodation at Glencoe to go home. After the train passed Bothwell he was found seated on the platform with his arm crushed to a jelly. He had jumped from the train while in motion and fallen under the wheels.

Farmer's Son Killed.

BELLEVILLE, April 25.—A young man named Garrett, whose father lives near Roslin, was on Saturday afternoon so seriously injured by the running away of a team which he was driving before a seed drill that his death will probably result.

A Scrutiny Will Decide It.

MILTON, April 26.—A bylaw granting a bonus to Winn & Co.'s to establish a shoe factory here was voted on yesterday. The result is in doubt and will probably have to be decided by a scrutiny.

A Great Deal of Talk Done but Very Little Business Accomplished—Resolution of Condolence in Reference to the Death of Hon. Alex. McKenzie—The Proposed Changes in the Fire System Discussed at Length and Referred back to the Committee—Important Recommendations by the Street and Bridge Committee—Reports of Several Other Committees Received and Several Accounts Passed.

A special meeting of the town council was held at the council chamber last night. There was a large attendance of spectators. The following councillors were present:—Messrs. Cahill, Best, Winch, Kelly, Young, Bradburn, Davidson, Ferguson, Meldrum, McIlwain, Dennistoun and Mulhern. Before proceeding with business Mr. Cahill moved in a neat and graceful speech the following resolution, which was seconded by Mr. Dennistoun in a few well chosen words.

HONORING THE DEAD.

That this council representing the people of the town of Peterborough, of all shades of political feeling, record upon our minutes our sense of the loss this country has sustained by the death of the Hon. Alex. McKenzie, one of the fathers of Confederation and ex premier of Canada. A man who dedicated the best portion of his life to the service of this country, and died respected by all alike, and that a copy of this resolution be forwarded to Mrs. McKenzie by the town clerk. The resolution was carried by a standing vote. The clerk then read the minutes of the previous meeting which were received and adopted.

COMMUNICATIONS.

The following communications were then read:—

A petition signed by J. W. Roper, J. McClelland, R. Le Brun, A. Mercer and others asking that the Street and Bridge Committee give attention to the bad state of Downey street between Hunter and Simcoe streets, and that the same be graded, levelled, gravelled, etc., in view of they being large tax payers and very little improvements having ever been made thereon.—Referred to Street and Bridge Committee.

From H. Rush and others asking the council to put in an electric light on the corner of Brock street opposite Sheridan terrace.—Referred to Fire, Water and Light Committee.

From Andrew McNeil asking that a sidewalk be constructed on the east side of Homewood Avenue around the crescent to connect with the walk in front of the property at present being constructed by the Rutherford estate.—Referred to Street and Bridge Committee.

From George Cairns asking the council to construct a sidewalk to be built on the south side of Patterson street, as the petitioner and his tenants are suffering from lack of sidewalk accomodation.—Referred to Street and Bridge committee.

From E. B. Edwards, town solicitor, stating that he had prepared a by-law to license and regulate the owners of trucks and carts.—Received.

From G. L. Schaffer, local manager of the Bell Telephone Company, submitting for approval in addition to the present fire alarm system the following, viz:—One automatic electric tower striker and one eight inch gong in fire hall on the same circuit to strike repeatedly the number of the ward at the same time. The company will place and and connect and instal with the necessary line one galvanometer and battery to operate the line in first class manner at the rental of $150 per annum.—Referred to Fire, Water and Light Committee.

From S. W. English and others, asking that an electric light be placed on Charlotte street, between George and Aylmer streets. The street is much travelled over, and in total darkness.—Referred to Fire, Water and Light Committee.

From W. H. Hill and others, asking that a hydrant be placed on the corner of Bethune and Smith streets, as they had no fire protection and water was much needed in that locality.—Referred to Fire, Water and Light Committee.

From John Wilkins, asking that his taxes be remitted, as he was a poor man, had suffered sickness and was out of work.—Referred to Court of Revision.

From Mr. D. Barr, District Manager of the Edison General Electric Company, Toronto, to the town clerk, stating: "I am in receipt of your letter of the 29 h inst, addressed to Mr. E H. D. Hall, regarding the signing of the electric railway contract by the syndicate. You are not aware that some very great changes have taken place in our companies within the last two months, and on account of these changes we have not been able to close the matter as between ourselves. My opinion is that the next thirty days will settle matters definitely and that we shall be in a position to sign the contracts and commence operations. I would like, therefore, to have the council hold the matter open until the 1st of May, when, if we are not in a position to close, we will consider all negotiations off. I regret the delay exceedingly, but until it is positively settled as to what the future policy of our company is to be, you can readily understand our natural reluctance to enter into a large contract as individuals such as building an electric road in Peterborough.—Received.

From Wm. Corkery, calling attention to a report of the Street and Bridge Committee presented to the council last year, recommending that a sidewalk be laid on Perry street, which report was duly adopted. As nothing has since been done, the work of the same should be proceeded with at once.—Referred to the Street and Bridge Committee.

From Dumble & Leonard, solicitors for W. J. Mason, who met with a serious accident some weeks ago on Murray street, east of the Collegiate Institute. The communication calls attention to the dangerous condition of the walk, the number of accidents which have occurred there, and how in October last Mr. Mason called the attention of Street Inspector Pope to the dangerous condition of the walk. Compensation is claimed for the injury and expense which Mr. Mason suffered because of the accident. If claim is not settled action will be taken to recover it.—Referred to the town solicitor.

From E. B Edwards, town solicitor, stating that he had prepared a bylaw, as instructed, amending bylaws No. 395 and 597 respecting the size of bread.—Received.

From Dr. Clarke, Medical Health Officer, stating that numerous complaints had been made in reference to the Edison drain on Rink street, and that he had made an inspection of the same. As soon as warm weather comes this drain cannot fail to become a nuisance on account of the flow of the sewerage. He recommended that part of the drain on Rink street be enclosed as soon as possible. The drain had been cleaned out once but would soon be bad again.—Referred to the Street and Bridge Committee.

From Robt. McWhinnie and others asking that the open drain on McDonnel street between Aylmer and Bethune be covered similarly to that part of the same drain on Aylmer street between McDonnel and London streets. A great many accidents and a drowning case have occurred here.—Referred to Street and Bridge Committee.

From H Rush and others asking that a sidewalk be built on Parnell street.—Referred to Street and Bridge Committee.

From H. Dunne in reference to moving of the sidewalk out from his property, corner of Benson and George streets.—Referred to the Street and Bridge Committee with power to act.

Your Committee would further recommend that the sum of $200 be granted to the Fire Brigade band, to be paid quarterly, with the usual conditions as to the playing in the Park.

With reference to the application of the band for increased band stand room, your Committee would recommend that the matter be left in the hands of the Property Committee to inspect and report thereon.

All of which is respectfully submitted,
R. M. DENNISTOUN,
Chairman.

Mr. BRADBURN thought that it was illegal to pass the account of Mr. Edwards, and that report ought to be referred back to committee to be reconsidered.

Mr. MELDRUM thought that the amount was not large. They had agreed to pay Mr. Edwards for his services only, and his claim was not unreasonable. He was in favour of the report.

After considerable discussion the report was adopted on motion of Messrs. Dennistoun and Mulhern.

STREETS AND BRIDGES.

To the Mayor and Town Council of Peterborough:

GENTLEMEN—Your Street and Bridge Committee beg leave to report and recommend as follows:—

1. That Wm. Cooke be allowed to continue numbering newly-erected houses as heretofore at 15 cents each.

2. That the Town Solicitor be instructed to write to the G.T.R. Company requesting them to have their siding to the Royal Oil Company's works removed off Bethune street.

3. That the council pay to the owners of the lots 6 and 21, plan 85, the sum of $280, when they convey said lots to the corporation, this amount being one-half the price of said lots, the lots to be used for a street and for the line of the proposed sewer in that section of the town.

4. That the town engineer be instructed to run the lines of the proposed extension of George and Aylmer streets, and make a profile of the same.

5. That the town engineer be requested to strike the grade of Benson street.

6. In reference to the petition of A. L. Davis and a number of others asking for a continuation of the drain on Park street to Waller street, along the valley west of Park street. Your committee recommend that the Commissioners of the Town Trust be respectfully requested to give to the Council the proceeds of the sale of some town property recently sold in the south end to be applied for this purpose, that the council contribute $703, and that the balance required for the completion of the work be levied against the property chiefly benefited under the Local Improvement Act or Drainage Act.

7. That a crossing and sidewalk be built on the east side of Water street south from Charlotte street about half the length of the block.

8. In reference to the adoption by the corporation of William, Thomas and John streets, and Hart, LaFayette and Jackson avenues, your committee are of the opinion that the laying out of narrow streets is not desirable, as in this instance in the case of Hart avenue, where the street runs only half way across the block to a dead end. Your committee, however, recommend that the bylaw at present before the council in reference to the streets be allowed to pass.

All of which is respectfully submitted.
THOS. CAHILL,
Chairman.

Mr. DENNISTOUN was not in favour of clause 6 in reference to the drain on Park street. The report of the Sewerage Committee would be presented at the next meeting of the council on May 2nd. Nothing would be done in reference to that part of report anyway before a week.

On motion of Messrs. Cahill and Meldrum, Mr. A. L. Davis was heard. He said they did not require the continuation of the drain from selfish motives. They had no outlet for the water. They proposed putting down a drain on Walton street without charging the town a cent. There had been a great deal of diptheria of late years, particularly on Elm street owing to the lack of proper drainage. Even if a system of sewerage were put in it would only reach George street and the sewer would not reach them. He thought there should be no serious objection on the the part of the council to pass the clause as it was a matter of the expenditure of only $2 000 or $3 000. They intend to use the drain for the drainage of the land only.

Mr. MELDRUM suggested that no action be taken until the commissioners paid over the $1,000, and the ratepayers knew what they were going to do.

After considerable discussion Mr Cahill moved and seconded by Mr. Meldrum that the portion of the $1,000 or the $700 be herein recommended to be expended until the parties interested in said drainage comply with the provisions of the report—Carried.

CROWNING THE "COPS."

To His Worship the Mayor and Council of the town of Peterborough:

GENTLEMEN,—Your Committee on Supervision of Police beg leave to recommend that the policemen be provided with proper helmets and the chief with a suitable cap, and that the committee have power to act in regard to the purchase thereof. All of which is respectfully submitted.

T. KELLY.
Chairman.

The report was adopted.

CORPORATION WAGES.

To the Mayor and Council of Peterborough,

GENTLEMEN:—Your Manufacturers' Committee, to whom the Labour Petition was referred, beg leave to report after having met a deputation of the petitioners in committee, recommending that the maximum of wages to be paid by the corporation for a days work of nine hours be $1 25, and that the grading of wages be left with the Street Inspector. Your committee also recommend that all parties contracting with the corporation be requested to base their calculations on nine hours for a day's work. All of which is respectfully submitted,

T. E. BRADBURN,
Chairman.

The report was adopted.

LOCAL LICENSES.

To His Worship the Mayor and Council of the Town of Peterborough,

GENTLEMEN:—Your License Committee beg leave to report and recommend that the application of Henry Wills for a reduction of the license fee charged for a two horse truck be not granted, your committee being of the opinion that the charge at present made is not excessive. With regard to the dog by-law your committee would report that everything is now in readiness for the enforcement thereof on and after May 1st next, and instructions have been given to the town officers to see that the same is strictly enforced. With reference to the application of the bakers for a change in the present by-law for the seizure of bread, your committee after being interviewed by a deputation of the bakers and after a careful consideration of the whole matter would recommend that an allowance of two ounces be made in the weight of bread after twelve hours baked, instead of after twenty four hours as provided in the present bylaw. With reference to the application of Mr. O'Brien and others respecting non-resident carters, your committee is informed by the town solicitor that we cannot prohibit them from carting provided they pay the required license fee. With reference to the carters' stand on Hunter street and the communication of W. H. Moore on behalf of clients in regard thereto your committee is informed by the town solicitor that the council has power to remove the carters from their present stand and locate them elsewhere. The town solicitor being advised that the present by-law is defective, a new bylaw has been prepared and will be submitted to you. All of which is respectfully submitted,

H. A. MULHERN,
Chairman.

The report was adopted.

TOWN BUILDINGS CLEAN.

To His Worship the Mayor, and Council of the town of Peterborough:

GENTLEMEN,—Your Health Committee beg leave to report that they have examined the different premises in connection with the town buildings and found the same clean, well kept, and in a good sanitary condition, with the exception of the cellar underneath the Fire Hall, which we would recommend be thoroughly cleaned. All of which is respectfully submitted.

A. DAWSON,
Chairman.

The report was adopted.

AN IMPORTANT REPORT.

To His Worship the Mayor and Council of the Town of Peterborough:

GENTLEMEN.—Your Fire, Water and Light Committee beg leave to report that they have carefully considered the question of a thorough re-organization of the fire department with a view of placing the same in a more effective position, in order that there can be no possible grounds for complaint either from the Underwriters' Association or the ratepayers of the town. With this end in view the committee has been in correspondence with the Underwriters' Association and inquired into the methods and workings of the fire department of the cities of St. Catharines, St. Thomas, Brantford, Brockville and Belleville, places of about equal population with our own. The Committee has further had the benefit of the advice and knowledge of the Chief Engineer of the Fire Brigade, who has requested and approves of the additional appliances and changes proposed as necessary to be made in order to bring this about.

Your Committee would therefore recommend that the town buy four good horses, employ two good men, and that the whole department be under the control and supervision of the Chief of Fire Brigade. One man and team while working on the streets to be under the supervision of the street inspector, the other man and team to be constantly in the fire hall at the call of the firemen. Your committee in order that the arrangement might, if sanctioned by the council, be carried out, and in view of the fact that the contract with Terrence Smith expired on 31st of March 1892, decided to have him notified before that date of the expiry of his contract and to request that he would continue on at the same rate per day until such time as the council should decide the matter. The result is that the contract has been entered into with the town by Mr. Smith for one month at the same rate as before, which contract will expire on the 30th instant. With regard to the request of the fireman for a new outfit of rubber clothing, your committee for inspection of the old clothing decided that their request should be granted, and after asking for quotations from the leading dealers in such goods recommend that the offer of the Gutta Percha & Rubber Co., of Toronto, for the following accounts and that the prices named be accepted, namely—

Twenty firemen's coats, (best quality) at $4 25 each.

Twenty pair firemen's knee boots at $3,75 per pair.

Six rubber fire brackets at $2 each.

With regard to the request of the brigade for new beds, mattresses, etc. in their sleeping rooms, your committee decided to recommend that their request be granted and that the committee have power to act in regard to the purchase thereof. With regard to the numerous complaints that are being made on account of the inefficiency of the present public alarm, your committee recommend that the matter be left in the hands of the chairman of the committee, with power to act to have the necessary arrangements made in order that a more satisfactory alarm may be given.

With regard to street watering, your committee, after careful consideration of the matter, decided to recommend to you that the following should be the streets and the limits thereof, on which street watering shall be done during the ensuing year, namely:

On George street from Murray street to C.P.R. railway station.

On Water street, from Brock street to Charlotte street.

On Charlotte street, from Water street to the G.T.R.

On Simcoe street, from Water street to Aylmer street.

On Hunter street, from Queen street to Aylmer street.

On Brock street, from Water street to Chambers street.

All of the above watering to be done by one of the teams used in the fire hall.

Your Committee in view of the large expenditure for lighting the town buildings, and believing that a better service and at a considerable saving and cost to the town, can be effected by the use of the electric light in lieu of gas, are negotiating with the Light and Power Co., and I trust to be able to give you a favourable report thereon at your next meeting.

We have also to inform you that on the 25th of March last, 31 of the new arc electric lights were started in the all-night service, and that the remainder were commenced on the 14th inst, the whole system being now in operation, pursuant to the contract entered into by the Peterborough Light and Power Company.

All of which is respectfully submitted.
W. H. MULDRUM.
Chairman.

The report was considered clause by clause.

Mr. MELDRUM in answer to Mr. Dennistoun, said that the Underwriters' Association required that one team and a man be in the stables all the time. If this were done the town would be ranked in Class B.

Mr. CAHILL objected to the purchase of horses. He would oppose this clause. He thought the fire system was as good as that of the average town.

Mr. MELDRUM said the committe had nothing to say against Mr. Smith—he had done his duty faithfully. It was a question whether the street watering should be done with the town team or the work let out by contract. He did not think it fair that one part of the town should be watered at the expense of another.

Mr. FERGUSON asked if other towns got efficient fire systems from hiring horses, why could not Peterborough do the same?

Mr. DENNISTOUN objected to buying horses. The present system was good enough.

The correspondence on the subject with other towns was read. Brockville and Brantford owned their own horses, Brockville's fire protection cost $4 500 per year, while Belleville cost $11 000, including the use of the hydrants, this city had their horses hired at a cost of $1 35 per day.

Mr. YOUNG was opposed to the purchase of horses. It would be a great expense. He suggested the use of drop harness.

Mr. MELDRUM explained that the hall was not roomy enough for drop harness. The chief of the fire department said it was impossible to train horses that were out working on the streets all day.

Mr. DENNISTOUN pointed out that the contract with Mr. Smith for five horses and two men cost the town $1,473 per year. Horses owned by the town would be much more expensive with one team in the stables. The street watering now done could not be done.

Mr. KELLY said the present system of street watering gave satisfaction, the other would be very costly. We were now getting for $2 000 as good fire protection as other towns of the same size paid $4 000 for, with street watering included.

THE CHIEF EXPLAINS

Mr. T. RUTHERFORD, chief of the fire department, was heard. He thought the town should own its teams. He could then have the horses better trained with the men. Under the present system we had no control of the horses. It would be cruelty to animals to call out the horses for training after a day's work on the street. The town's agreement with the underwriter's association called for a team in the stables all the time. Four horses were enough. The engineer could take care of a team. He had no fault to find with Mr. Smith, he had done his work well. The chief concluded by saying that Peterborough had as fine material for a first class fire brigade as any town in the Dominion, but the trouble was that the system was run too cheaply.

Mr. WINCH thought it was unreasonable to expect horses to work both day and night.

Mr. DENNISTOUN showed that it cost Peterborough $7 513 for its fire system, including use of hydrants and snow cleaning, while Belleville paid $11,000 for fire protection and use of hydrants alone.

Mr. MELDRUM favoured the sale of the fire engine, and the purchase of a chemical engine instead. If we had this, and a team standing in the stable all the time, our insurance rating could be raised to class "A," and thus save 5 per cent. on insurance. The street watering should be handed over to the Street and Bridge Committee.

Mr. Dennistoun moved, seconded by Mr. Ferguson, that the report be referred back to the Committe with instructions to comply with the requirements of the Underwriters' Association, and to make further suggestions as to the best means of doing the street watering on the same plans as formerly.—Carried.

The council then adjourned to meet at the regular meeting on May 2nd.

Pale or sallow girls should use Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. They bring a rosy redness to the cheeks. Miss Jennie Bass, New Boyne, says:—I had been sick for two years and had lost my strength, was continually troubled with sick headache, and palpitation of the heart, unable to get rest at night; got no relief until I began the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and after three boxes, I feel a new girl. All dealers, or by mail on receipt of price—50 cents a box or six boxes for $2 50. Address Dr. Williams' Med. Co., Brockville, Ont., or Morristown, N.Y. dw

Blood Will Tell.

Good blood will show its quality. So will bad blood, the one in a healthy body and ruddy complexion, the other in ill health, blotches, pimples, boils and sores, and frequently in intenser forms as ulcers, abscesses erysipelas, scorfulous diseases, salt rheum, etc. Every organ of the body depends upon the blood for force and vitality, and is but scantily served when the blood is impure. No remedy is so potent as a blood purifier or more rapidly produces a new and healthy blood than Burdock Blood Bitters, which neutralizes the various poisons and restores the vitalizing power of this all important fluid. As an instance of this read what Mr. J. S. Neff, of Algoma Mills, Ont., says in a recent letter:

SIRS,—A year ago I was troubled with spots breaking out all over my body, the effect of bad blood. I consulted three different doctors, who gave me medicine but did not cure me. I was advised to try B.B.B., and after using two bottles I noticed the spots getting less. I continued to use B.B.B., which entirely cured me, giving me a splendid appetite. Since then I would use no other medicine.

MINISTERS lawyers, Teachers and others whose occupation gives but little exercise, should use Carter's Little Liver Pills for torpid liver and biliousness. One is a dose. Try them. dw
